Spot Men's Wear Fabrics Wanted.

The men's wear division of the piece goods market is getting quite a few inquiries, but in the main these are requests for spot goods. It is, therefore, the opinion of selling agents that road orders received by the manufacturing clothiers were better than expected and make necessary the purchase of additional supplies. Accompanying this demand for materials from stock is, of course, the request for the lowest price, but, as the mills are having some difficulties in meeting the spot demand, it is thought likely that price will not be so important a consideration in the near future.

Store Directories Necessary.

The reason given by one customer, and it is probably the reason of many more, for favoring a certain local store is the ease with which the various departments can be found. The store in question is well supplied with directories, not only close to the elevators, but throughout the different departments. For this reason there is very little congestion noted, as most customers know where they are going and make their way promptly to the desired spot. The generous display of directories is furthermore said to release many of the aisle men from the duty of answering inquiries concerning the location of various departments, so that their time may be put to more profitable work.

New Woolen Prices Imminent.

Buyers of men's wear woolens, who have been promised the first word on the new prices to be quoted for surplus suitings owned by the leading factor, did not hear yesterday of the changes which were expected to be made known today. It was thought yesterday that tomorrow might furnish the desired information. Reliable estimates place the company's surplus at 30,000 pieces, which is said to be a conservative figure. With the naming of new prices on these goods, it is said that the quotations will be guaranteed against lower Fall opening prices, refunds to be made if values offered later are lower.

Fall Dress Goods Prices Coming.

Although it is understood in the trade that one of the leading lines of corporation dress goods for Fall would not be priced this week, it was learned from a reliable source yesterday that another line, equally as promient, would be opened tomorrow. With many important wholesalers in town to attend the meeting of the Jobbers' Association of Dress Fabric Buyers, it was expected that heavyweight lines would be opened generally. Business in the secondary end of the market is none too active at the moment. A fair demand, principally for tricotines, is reported from the cutters-up, but salesmen now on the road find the retailers to be buying very cautiously.

Gray Goods Do Well Here.

Gray goods, particularly printcloths, had another active day here yesterday. Near-by deliveries of Southern 39-inch 80 squares were sold at 11⅝ cents, with similar business done in 39-inch 68-72s at 9⅞ cents. Buyers paid 8 cents for February-April lots of 38½-inch 60-48s. Nine cents was the price reached by Eastern 38½-inch 64-60 printcloths for near-by shipment, with the same deliveries of Southern makes of that construction sold at 8¾ cents. Near-by 5.50-yard sheetings fetched 6⅝ cents.

Clothiers Buying Specialties.

The improved condition of the clothing trade of late was again reflected yesterday in the way the manufacturers bought sateens, twills and similar merchandise, in the unfinished state, in this market. Both warp and filling sateens sold freely. Among the business in the former that was put through during the day were sales of 42½-inch 96-56, four-yard goods, for February-March shipment, at 11¼ cents. The general asking price of these goods is now 12 cents. Fourteen cents was again paid for 39-inch 64-104, 4.20-yard sateens for near-by deliveries.

Pique Coming Back for Spring.

Pique promises to make a strong comeback for Spring in women's neckwear, and, from present indications, will not only be seen in the form of collar and cuff sets, which were so popular a few seasons back, but will also be used in natty waistcoats, &c. At the other extreme will be seen attractive "lacey" effects in a wide variety of styles. For the most part the solid colors are not being shown, but touches of color are often applied in novel embroidered patterns, worked out principally in dots.

Current styles in women's outer garments are said by sellers of neckwear to fit in very well with the modes in the latter, and, with business improving in all lines, a very satisfactory neckwear season is looked for.

Fixed Prices Help Sales.

Several of the local retailers bear witness to the fact that they are having less difficulty in selling branded lines of merchandise, particularly those on which retail prices are fixed when business is normal, at the current reduced prices than in disposing of goods about which the public is not so well informed. A sample of this, that was cited by one retailer yesterday, concerned a well-known brand of men's half hose which, although the manufacturer's ticket bore a plainly printed price of 65 cents, the retailer was selling at 40 cents with considerable success. An unbranded line, which he had been selling as high as the branded one before the slump came, was barely moving at 23 cents a pair.

FOX DAY AT FUR AUCTION.

Yesterday was fox day at the fur auction, in the Masonic Hall and, with the exception of kolinsky and civet cat, the entire day was given over to them. The prices obtained were characterized by buyers as "good" to "excellent," the present condition of the fur market considered. One of the outstanding features of the sale so far, and one which was especially noticeable yesterday, from all accounts, has been the small amount of bidding in.

The demand for blue fox marked the morning session, which was opened with the sale of gray fox at prices running up to $3.30 each. Sundry foxes followed and brought these price ranges: Patagonian, $1 to $2.70; Indian, 12 cents to 55 cents; Anatolian, 25 cents to $1; Spanish, $2.60; Macedonian, $2.20 to $3.80; French, $1 to $2.30; Karagun, 25 cents to 80 cents; Asia Minor, $1.10, and kitt $1. A collection of nearly 1,000 blue foxes brought out active bidding, and the best skins sold up to $130. Twenty-four blue fox tails brought $12 each, a figure which surprised most of the buyers present. White fox was met with good bidding, the best pelts bringing $29. Cross foxes touched $110.

The offering of silver foxes, which was said to be up to the usual standard, did not attract much attention, and the attendance dwindled somewhat while they were on the block. The best ones brought $310 each. Kolinsky and civet cat completed the day's selling program. At the end of the afternoon session the total realized for the day was unofficially put at $140,000, which brought the grand total for the first two days up to $740,000.

	Low Price.	High Price.	Decline. Per Ct.
Gray fox	$ .80	$3.30	40
Blue fox	7.50	130.00	40
White fox	5.00	29.00	47½
Cross fox	4.00	110.00	45
Australian fox	.01	2.60	45
Silver fox	1.00	310.00	50
Kolinsky	.25	2.20	55
Civet cat	.04	.38	60

Badger will be the first article offered today, when selling will begin at 10 A. M. After it is sold red fox will be put on the block, followed by Persian lamb, chinchilla, leopard and skunk.

STABILITY NEEDED IN FABRIC PRICES

PROPER PROTECTION ASKED

The Need Is Also Urged of Dealing Only With Reputable and Responsible Sellers.

The outstanding feature of the annual meeting of the Jobbers' Association of Dress Fabric Buyers, an auxiliary of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association, convened at the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday, was the decision taken to oppose speculation in the present market [illegible] every influence to bear to [illegible] prices to true levels rather than [illegible] advances. A resolution [illegible] association members [illegible] was passed. In order to [illegible] required stability of prices, [illegible] of woolen goods and kin[illegible] were asked, in another resolution, [illegible] naming prices for next Fall [illegible] danger of further down[illegible] is removed. On the [illegible] meeting reflected an optimis[illegible] idea being that it is [illegible], but to go ahead carefully.

[illegible] remarks Bentley P. [illegible] of the organization, re[illegible] during the year past [illegible] the point that the buy[illegible] of 1921 will be one of man[illegible] that success will be meas[illegible] quickly he can adjust his [illegible] new order of things. [illegible] Nilsson, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company, delivered an address on the financial situation, in which [illegible] the many favorable [illegible] with the few bearish factors. [illegible] were in an optimistic tone. [illegible] Walsh, editor of The Economic World, speaking on the cotton situation, [illegible] quite so certain of what the future [illegible]. The point he stressed was [illegible] real improvement in trade [illegible] restoration of the economic [illegible] between the producing [illegible] classes and countries.

Be it resolved, therefore, That we express our disapproval of the manner in which the [illegible] situation was handled last Fall, when [illegible] the slightest consideration was given to the general interpretation of the trade as to what stock protection meant, and furthermore, we disapprove of this interpretation of stock protection because it has established a precedent in the market which is being used by other concerns as [illegible] refusing to adjust their quotations [illegible];

Whereas it has become the habit of so-called dry goods brokers to quote fictitious prices [illegible] well known brands of woolens in the hope of filling their orders from distress goods in the market, and

Be it resolved, That we decry this custom [illegible] as a menace, not only to our own industry, but to good business in general, where similar methods might be employed.

Further resolved, That we undertake a campaign [illegible] our trade to the [illegible] growing importance of dealing with reputable concerns who have not only [illegible] at stake but also the financial [illegible] to guarantee satisfactory [illegible].

Further resolved, That we request the [illegible] and selling agents to give [illegible] consideration to this question and to [illegible] assistance in their power to help [illegible] such practice.

[illegible] the sensitive con[illegible] present market and the far[illegible] of every disturbing element, [illegible] That we ask the manufacturers of woolen dress goods and kindred lines to refuse to name their prices for Fall until the time when they can make such prices as [illegible] practically impossible a [illegible] revision.

Clothiers' Association Action.

The Executive Committee of the National Association of Clothiers will meet today to discuss the threatened disruption of the organization through the withdrawal of the Chicago and New York markets. This will be followed tomorrow by a conference of those who direct the activities of the credit department operated by the national association, and which would be dissolved if the national body passed out of existence. By the withdrawal of Chicago and New York, the only two important markets which remain members of the national association are Rochester and Boston. Something of a mystery is attached to the resignation of the two major markets and, though some quarters are inclined to believe the severance may be due to differences in labor policies, it is understood the price guarantee is at the bottom of the trouble.

DENIES MRS. RISK ALIMONY.

Court Doubts That Her Aged Husband Caused Separation.

Papers filed in the Supreme Court yesterday on an application by Mrs. Florence Risk for $1,200 a month alimony and $5,000 counsel fees pending a suit for separation from James Risk, aged banker and knit goods manufacturer, show that the two were married in June and parted in October, and bore out Mr. Risk's prophecy before marriage that "June and December could not blend." His wife is 40 years of age and has been twice married. He had not married before.

Mrs. Risk said she could not live on less than the sum asked for, but her husband told Justice Finch that he was allowing her $200 a month, which he thought sufficient for her needs. Justice Finch refused both alimony and counsel fees, because he did not believe Mrs. Risk had proved that the separation was due to her husband and had not shown that she was without funds.

Mrs. Risk said she met her husband in the Fall of 1919 and he became attentive at once. He wrote many letters hinting at marriage, and in one of his letters, referring to his proposals, he said:

"But with these came other thoughts, such as, 'You silly old man, how do you expect to blend December and June when there is snow on the mountains and sunshine in the valley?' I don't. They are simply the reflections of one who has gone further up the mountain as he glances in appreciation into the valley."

ELEVATED TRAIN KILLS MAN.

Brother Denies Police Report That Louis Olshin Was a Suicide.

Hundreds waiting yesterday for trains at the 135th Street station of the Ninth Avenue elevated saw Louis Olshin, a woolen merchant, fall or jump in front of a downtown express and die almost instantly. While the police reported the death as suicide, J. W. Olshin, a brother of the dead man, said that he had found witnesses who saw his brother trip and fall from the platform while endeavoring to regain his hat, which was blown off.

Mr. Olshin, who lived at 536 West 152d Street, left his house at 8 o'clock to go to his office, in Bleecker Street. The police say he stood on the platform's edge until an express train came along, then threw himself under the first car before the train could be halted.

Blasts of the whistle brought Policeman Sucher of the West 135th Street Station and an ambulance from Columbus Hospital, and passengers aided in extricating the body. Identification, partly made through Elks and Masonic cards, was completed in the station house by the merchant's mother-in-law, Mrs. Anna Etklowsky, who lived with him. The merchant leaves two young children.

Tenement Investments.

The two four-story tenements at 1,688-1,690 Avenue A, between Eighty-eighth and Eighty-ninth Streets, have been sold by Thomas J. O'Reilly for the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank to an investor. The plot is 40 by 60 feet. The holding price was $20,000.

G. Tuoti & Co. sold for M. Roberts to A. Di Leo the four-story brick tenement with stores at 2,005 Second Avenue.

The Sixty-fourth Street Holding Corporation (Jacob Hirsch, President) has sold to David Goldstein the three five-story flats, plot 75 by 100.5, at 27 to 31 West Sixty-fourth Street.

Louis Sentschner has sold to Israel Hager 294 Third Avenue, a four-story tenement, 20.8 by 100.

The four-story store tenement, 20.9 by 100, at 97 Henry Street, has been sold by Thomas F. Shea, as executor, to Rose Wolozin for $20,000.

Links Pittsburgh to Gulf by Water.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 18.—Waterway traffic between Pittsburgh and New Orleans will be inaugurated with the arrival here Feb. 5 of the river steamer Queen City. Regular schedules between the two cities are to be maintained [illegible].

ROCKEFELLERS BUY WEST HARLEM PLOT

Tract Opposite Morningside Park May Be Used for Home Development Plan.

CONTAINS SEVENTEEN LOTS

Bought by Empire Mortgage Company, Which Has Acted for Rockefeller Interests.

A large vacant plot on the north side of 123d Street, between Morningside and Amsterdam Avenues, which has just been acquired by the Empire Mortgage Company, is reported to have actually been purchased for the Rockefeller interests. The Empire Mortgage Company has hitherto acted as the holding concern for Rockefeller properties. It is affiliated with the realty firm of William A. White & Sons, which has represented the Rockefellers in many of their recent large transactions, notably in the purchase a few years ago by John D. Rockefeller Jr. of the Billings estate on upper Washington Heights and adjacent property overlooking the Hudson, and which Mr. Rockefeller offered to present to the city to form an eastern section of the Interstate Palisades Park on the opposite side of the river. Title to that property was taken in the name of the Empire Mortgage Company.

While the recent purchase by the latter company was confirmed by William A. White & Sons, it was said that no details regarding the sale were known, nor was any information forthcoming as to the probable use of the property. It was rumored that it would ultimately be utilized for a housing development plan.

The property was formerly part of the large Pinkney estate tract, and for several years has been used as a city corporation yard. It was acquired last October by Everett Jacobs, who proposed to erect moderate-priced apartment houses. In the recent sale by Mr. Jacobs the White Company acted as brokers, and associated with them were Charles Griffith and Eugene Moses & Co. It is said that Mr. Jacobs resold the tract at a very substantial profit.

The property contains seventeen lots, each 25 feet front, making a total frontage of 425 feet by 100.11 in depth. It occupies the greater part of the northerly block front. The easterly 100 feet, including the Morningside Avenue corner, is occupied by four old five-story flats, and on the westerly end are five six-story apartment structures, covering a total frontage of 275 feet, taking in the Amsterdam Avenue corner. The northerly end of Morningside Park is directly opposite.

The vacant lots comprised in this tract include the largest unimproved plot ready for high-class development with homes in that locality. The high ground west of Morningside Park, including the Columbia University buildings, has been well built up in recent years with fine apartment structures, making the neighborhood one of the choice residential areas in the city.

Commercial Leases.

The Brett & Goode Co. have sold the lease of the building at 409 West Thirty-sixth Street for the Kanouse Mountain Water Company to the Watson Elevator Company.

Charles F. Noyes Company leased a large portion of the ground floor and the entire second floor of the new Union Indemnity Company Building at 100 Maiden Lane to Francis Merges & Co., for ten years, at an aggregate rental of about $250,000.

F. & G. Pflomm have leased, for the estate of Henry Steeger, the store at 129 East Twenty-third Street, to Griffin & Co., opticians; also for the Daly estate the house at 112 East Twenty-ninth Street to E. J. Minor, and the house at 117 East Twenty-eighth Street to Mary McGuire.

APARTMENT TRADING ACTIVE

Chateau Thierry, on the Drive, Repurchased by Former Owner.

Apartment house trading was a strong feature of yesterday's real estate market. On the west side the Suzzaro Court apartments at 148 to 154 West Ninety-fifth Street were purchased by a client of the law firm of House, Grossman & Vorhaus from the Monterey Property Company, formed several years ago by the late Isaac Mandelson to hold title to his real estate investments. The structure, which is nine stories, stands on a plot 72 by 100.8, located 253 feet east of Amsterdam Avenue.

Another deal in the same vicinity involved the Château Thiery, at 127 Riverside Drive, which has been repurchased by Joseph S. Ward through Edward C. H. Vogler, as broker. It consists of an eight-story elevator apartment building, 27.5 by 96.4 irregular, and forms the southeast corner of Eighty-fifth Street. Gustav Sandblom, the present seller, who acquired the realty from Mr. Ward in 1918, valued the property at $300,000.

Joseph Simmonds sold the six-story elevator apartment known as the Regina, at 82-84 West Twelfth Street, on a plot 41.8 by 103.3, and the seven-story elevator loft building at 136-8 West Twenty-second Street, on a plot 41.8 by 90.9, to the City Construction Corporation.

The properties rent for about $45,000 and were held at $300,000. Stafford Bros, Inc, acquired the buildings last February, and in October gave them in part payment for the twelve-story offices at 15-17 East Fortieth Street. Spotts & Starr, Inc., were the brokers in all of the transactions.

The two six-story apartment houses known as the Bolton, occupying the block front on the west side of Amsterdam Avenue, between 176th and 177th Streets, have been sold by the Greenwald Realty Company to Jacob Rubser. They stand on a plot fronting 200 feet on the avenue and 100 feet on each street. The property was conveyed subject to a mortgage for $321,000.

Huberth & Huberth sold 343 to 347 West Fifty-eighth Street, a 50-foot tenement and a single apartment, forming a plot 75 by 100, to Albert Beyer, a plumbing contractor, who, it is understood, is planning the erection of a warehouse for that trade. The property is separated by one house from the plottage recently completed by William Randolph Hearst.

Bankers Buy on Wall Street.

J. & W. Seligman & Co., bankers, bought the building at 54 Wall Street, opposite the National City Bank, which they have been occupying under lease. It was bought from the Central Union Trust Company, which occupied it previous to its amalgamation with the Union Trust Company.

The structure is nine stories and covers a frontage of 50 feet, extending back toward Pine Street 117 feet on one side and 114 feet on the other.

Private Dwelling Buyers.

John H. Pierce sold for Sylvester H. Elliott the four-story limestone building at 114 Edgecombe Avenue, 17.6 by 85, to Edward H. Hinckson, who will occupy.

The four-story dwelling, 16.8 by 75, at 2,121 Fifth Avenue, northeast corner of 130th Street, has been sold by the Justrite Realty and Mortgage Company to Meyer Densky.

Jacob Gundlich sold to Fred W. Spohn 250 East Fifty-second Street, a three-story dwelling, 15 by 100.5.

Martin H. Goodkind sold to Alice F. Koch 149 West Tenth Street, a three-story dwelling, 22 by 72.11.

Porter & Co. sold for Elizabeth C. Hall and others to a client, for investment, the three-story brownstone dwelling 236 West 130th Street.

Edward C. H. Vogler sold for the estate of William J. Klauberg the three-story and basement dwelling 153 West Eighty-first Street, on a lot 17.6 by 100, to a client, who will occupy.

The three-story dwelling 54 East 123d Street, 18.9 by 100.11, has been sold by Joseph P. Day for Isadore Koplik. It was held at $15,000.

Fitz Howell sold for the Donald Holding Company the three-story dwelling, on lot 16.8 by 99.11, at 260 West 133d Street to Fred W. Simpson, and also, for the Elizabeth Realty Company, the three-story dwelling at 222 West 130th Street, on lot 17 by 99.11.

Suburban Trading.

Moffatt & Schwab sold for Louis M. Robertson the dwelling on Rice Avenue, Castleton Corners, Staten Island, to Henry H. Sonntag.

George and Ilona Weber have purchased from the Dann Realty Corporation the property fronting on Sheepshead Bay, 336 feet west of Leonard Avenue, consisting of nine one-family stucco houses, for $100,000.

Buys Madison Factory.

J. E. Clarey Jr. has purchased the factory building at Madison, N. J., Kings Road, from Miller Brothers. The plot is 40 by 145 feet. The building is two stories in height and contains about 10,000 square feet of floor space. The first floor will be occupied by The Madison Eagle, publishers and printers, and the second floor by Goodman Brothers of Morristown and New York, silk underwear manufacturers.

Grand Central Palace Alterations.

Plans have been filed with the Bureau of Buildings for altering the twelve-story Grand Central Palace on Lexington Avenue, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh Streets, into offices and stores by Robert M. Catts, who recently acquired control of the property. The cost is estimated at $400,000 by Warren & Wetmore, the architects, who prepared the plans. Mr. Catts also intends improving the block to the west with an eighteen-story structure, to be connected with the old Palace building.

Realty Notes.

The annual dinner of the Harlem Property Owners' Association will be held on Wednesday evening, Jan. 26.

The Bank for Savings loaned to Minnie E. Young $150,000 for five years at 6 per cent. on the four-story house at 19 and 21 East Fifty-fourth Street, 41.8 by 100.5, recently leased for forty-two years to Lucille, Ltd., for a net rental varying from $35,000 to $30,000.

The tenth annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce of the Borough of Queens will be held this evening at the Hotel Commodore. Nicholas Murray Butler and Job Hedges will be the principal speakers.

Plans have been filed for a two-story garage, 175 by 100.5, to be erected at 625 to 637 West Forty-ninth Street by the estate of Bradish Johnson. Maynecke & Franke, architects, estimate it to cost $100,000.

Charles R. Sommer stated yesterday that negotiations had not been closed for the sale of 222 and 224 East Fifteenth Street to the People's Hospital.

Instruction.

If your employer offered you $10 a week more to work FOR HIM an extra hour a day, you'd accept, and do that extra work to increase HIS earnings. Why not put in that hour a day WORKING FOR YOURSELF, increasing YOUR earnings and earning power? An hour a day of your spare time can train you in a few months as a
JUNIOR ACCOUNTANT
and in twelve or fifteen months a
SENIOR ACCOUNTANT.
Let's talk it over. Call day or evening, or phone or write,

FAIL TO PRODUCE BRINDELL'S BOOKS

Don't Know Where They Are, Officers of Building Trades Council Testify.

SECRETARY STILL MISSING

Untermyer and Littleton Reprimanded by Justice McAvoy After Clashes at Trial.

Officers of the Building Trades Council, testifying yesterday in the trial of Robert P. Brindell, showed complete ignorance of the whereabouts of the minute books and cash books of the organization although they had been subpoenaed to produce them. They did not know whether the books were in the safe or whether the safe was locked. They could throw no light on the disappearance of Roswell C. Tompkins, Secretary of the council, and Richard Fike, a walking delegate.

Brindell is being tried in the Supreme Court on the charge of extorting $5,000 from Max Aronson for calling off a strike on a building erected by Aronson.

Charles Burns, Acting Secretary of the council since Dec. 29, 1920, asked by Samuel Untermyer to produce the books, cash books and minutes he had been subpoenaed to bring, pulled from his pocket an envelope containing some papers. In answer to questions he said he never saw the books of the organization and did not know where they were.

"Is the safe in the office locked?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"I think so," he answered.

"Are the books in it?"

"I do not know."

"Is that the contents of your office?" Mr. Untermyer asked, indicating the envelope.

Martin Littleton, counsel for Brindell, protested that the question was grossly unfair to the accused as it presented "the picture of a ship dismantled, of men who have fled and of books that are withheld." He was overruled by Justice John V. McAvoy.

Thought Tompkins Was Sick.

Burns said that after a recent meeting Tompkins telephoned him and asked him to take charge of the secretary's office. He did not know where Tompkins could be found but thought he was "at home sick." Asked if Tompkins had communicated with him, the witness replied, "I believe he has." He could not give the day of the telephone message or tell where Tompkins was when he spoke.

On cross-examination Mr. Littleton brought out that the papers produced by Burns were all he had used since assuming Tompkins's place. Then Mr. Littleton turned to Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger and asked him to produce the council's books that were taken to the Lockwood committee by Tompkins. Berger said he would comply with the request.

Patrick Crowley, Secretary-Treasurer and walking delegate of the Marble Cutters' Union, was the other official who professed ignorance of the books. Crowley is Vice President of the council and said he had presided recently at several meetings in the place of Brindell. He did not know where the books were nor where Tompkins could be found.

Justice McAvoy reprimanded Mr. Untermyer and Mr. Littleton after one of many verbal clashes in which counsel engaged and promised to call them to task at the end of the trial for every "reprehensible" deviation from the business occupying the attention of the court.

The incident occurred during the testimony of Jacob Fradus, a contractor, who told of losing a contract for about $300,000 after Brindell called a strike on his job and of refusing to pay the labor leader a bribe of $75,000. Mr. Fradus, who is unable to read or write English, spoke with a foreign accent. Once he said he recognized Brindell "by his neck" when he caught a glimpse of the labor leader seated in an automobile.

"Your Honor, I think it is about time we tore the disguise off this witness," exclaimed Mr. Littleton impatiently shortly after this reply.

Mr. Untermyer jumped to his feet and objected.

"I submit there is more Weber and Fields on the other side than on this," rejoined Mr. Untermyer.

"There is no Webber and Fields here," bristled Mr. Littleton.

Justice McAvoy then stopped the outburst.

On direct examination Fradus said that Brindell demanded $75,000 from him for settling the strike, as his organization was not run "on chalk." Subsequently he lost the contract, and described the efforts he made to continue in business. Although Brindell demanded $75,000, he agreed to take $25,000, he said.

George Tompkins of 509 West 157th Street testified that he saw his father last on Dec. 27 or 28, but he could not tell where to find him. He knew that his father planned to leave home, but did not know where he was going.

During the cross-examination of Joseph Russo, a detective, it became known that a warrant for the arrest of Pike had been issued on Dec. 4, 1920, and Mr. Littleton remarked that he had "pulled the mask" off the claim of the prosecution that Pike was wanted as a witness.

Soon after this incident there was a debate between the lawyers in which Mr. Untermyer called Mr. Littleton a "whirlwind" and the latter called his opponent a "whirling dervish."

William Zaranko, head of the House Wreckers' Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, said that in 1905 house wreckers got 50 cents an hour before they were organized. They are now paid $1 an hour and work forty-four hours a week.

There will be no afternoon session of the trial today, as Mr. Untermyer will appear in Albany in connection with the business of the Lockwood committee.

BRINDELL LOSES APPEAL.

Court of Appeals Refuses to Grant Change of Venue.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Robert P. Brindell, indicted for extortion in connection with building operations in New York City, lost his appeal for a change in the place of trial today. The Court of Appeals declined to grant a stay in the trial now being held, and sustained the lower court in dismissing his appeal for a change of venue.

Martin W. Littleton, counsel for Brindell, applied for the stay upon the grounds that public opinion in New York City was so prejudiced as to prevent Brindell obtaining a fair trial.

FEDERAL COURT FINES SAND AND GRAVEL MEN

Four Corporations and Eleven Individuals to Pay a Total of $40,000.

Four sand and gravel corporations and eleven individual sand and gravel dealers pleaded guilty to violation of the Sherman anti-trust law in the United States District Court yesterday and fines totaling $40,000 were imposed by Judge Learned Hand. These fines were the first penalties inflicted by a Federal Court in prosecutions growing out of disclosures before the Lockwood Committee. The indictments were found on Dec. 29 upon evidence submitted by Special Prosecutors Joseph Kaufman and Henry A. Guiler.

By pleading guilty, the defendants bound themselves to refrain from entering any other similar conspiracy in restraint of trade. Judge Hand signed a decree dissolving the Sand and Gravel Dealers' Board of Trade, the organization through which prices were alleged to have been fixed and maintained.

The fines imposed were as follows:

$5,000 each—The Goodwin-Gallagher Sand and Gravel Corporation, the Manhattan Sand Company, Incorporated; the Lenox Sand and Gravel Company, Incorporated, and the Colonial Sand and Stone Company.

$4,000—Peter C. Gallagher, Treasurer of the Goodwin-Gallagher Corporation.

$3,000—Frank F. Gallagher, Secretary of the Goodwin-Gallagher Corporation.

$2,000 each—Eugene P. Clark, Executive Secretary and manager of the Sand and Gravel Dealers' Board of Trade, and John J. Gallagher, Vice President of the Goodwin-Gallagher Corporation.

$1,500 each—William Mahoney, President of the Lenox Sand and Gravel Company; Frank Rowsey, manager of the Manhattan Sand Company, and Lawrence Rukeyser, President of the Colonial Sand and Stone Company.

$1,000 each—Joseph Gallagher, Secretary-Treasurer of the Manhattan Sand Company; Richard A. Scanlon, Secretary of the Lenox Sand and Gravel Company, and Thomas Lanigan and Martin Lanigan of Lanigan Brothers.

Edgar T. Bracket, former State Senator, counsel for the defendants, asked that light fines be imposed on the ground that the offenses alleged are not flagrant violations of the Sherman law and few in number.

Judge Hand said he considered the interstate feature of the defendants' transactions had been insignificant and only sufficient to give the Federal court jurisdiction. Judge Hand said he believed the prosecution should have been in the State courts instead of the Federal courts, because most of the business of the defendants had been done without crossing the State's boundary line.

The special Federal Grand Jury to investigate alleged combinations of dealers in and manufacturers of building material, which was sworn in on Monday, will meet tomorrow to take evidence for the first time. William Rand and Isidor Kresel, named by Attorney General Palmer to conduct this investigation, conferred yesterday with R. H. Williamson, Ben A. Matthews, Joseph Saphiski and John M. Minton, who will act as their assistants.

CALL GERMAN BLUFF ON REPARATIONS, LOUCHEUR ADVISES

French Minister Says Germany Can Pay 10 Billion Francs a Year, but Shams Bankruptcy.

FOR ALLIED RECEIVERSHIP

BRIAND TO OUTLINE POLICY

Will Tell Deputies Today of Plans to Get Treaty Executed Without Using Violence.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—Louis Loucheur, the new Minister for the French Devastated Regions, says that Germany can pay 10,000,000,000 francs indemnity annually. Four-fifths of this, he says, could be paid in coal without crippling German industry.

M. Loucheur, who is rated as the richest man in France, is one of the country's leaders of industry. He was a member of the French Peace Commission and took a prominent part in drafting the financial clauses of the Treaty of Versailles.

Since M. Loucheur is going to take part in the interallied conference which will meet in Paris next Monday, his opinion on how much and how Germany can pay is timely. It is his belief that the Allies must take radical action to collect the indemnity.

"The German game is clear," he said in an interview today. "It is to drive the republic to bankruptcy. The bosses in Berlin figure that in letting the economic situation continue to get worse, in making no real effort to better the financial situation, in snapping their fingers at the deficit which increases daily in the public services, and in constantly depreciating the mark by daily emissions of paper money, they can in several months say to the Entente: 'We've had enough of this. You take charge of our affairs.'

"In my opinion we ought not to wait for this invitation. We may find ourselves facing a situation impossible of solution. We must have a detailed summing up, and then trifle and discuss no longer. We have only to take account of the situation in Germany and say: 'All right. The Entente will take charge of Germany. Germany will find in us honest liquidators. We are just as much interested as her leaders in her economic recovery, but we are going to have more courage in taking the necessary measures.'

Reforms Loucheur Would Enforce.

"Now, I will tell you what measures I mean.

"First, cut the mark into four or five, give it real value. What is the use of talking about billions when the monetary unit has lost its buying power?

"Then, put some order into the public services. Is it admissible that the operation of the railroads should show an annual deficit of 20,000,000,000? We French have increased our railroad rates. Why shouldn't the German people bear the same burden? The same reasoning applies to the postal service, which also shows a deficit. We should then control a carefully worked out German budget, and we should see that, as the treaty provides, the taxpayer across the Rhine would pay as much as the French taxpayer, and we should take measures so that the taxes were paid.

"I believe that to allow the latter to be paid entirely in manufactured products would be a great mistake. Our own industry would suffer. The only possible solution I can see at this time is payment in coal. I have examined carefully the figures of German coal production for the last forty years. I have calculated the needs of Germany's industries and that of the neutrals of which she is the natural furnisher. Taking account of these elements, I figure that Germany can turn over to us annually 8,000,000,000 francs' worth of coal. We can easily find 2,000,000,000 francs more in her chemical products and taxes on exports—a total of 10,000,000,000 francs.

"We have talked enough. The Germans must pay. It is France, sure of her right, who must give them formal assurance that they are going to pay."

Berlin Talks of Allied "Proposal."

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—The Tageblatt says that the German Government, despite serious objections to the Anglo-French reparation proposal providing for a temporary arrangement according to which Germany in the next five years shall pay 3,000,000,000 gold marks annually, the total to be fixed afterward, is willing to meet the Entente's demands as far as possible. But the Tageblatt declares that an annual installment of 3,000,000,000 gold marks cannot be seriously considered, for even in France and England it must be known that such large payments would kill German commerce and industry, and that the demands must therefore be reasonably reduced.

Furthermore, it says, Germany cannot enter any such arrangements until the following five questions have been answered satisfactorily:

What will be the fate of Upper Silesia?

What is to become of German property in foreign countries?

What will be the cost of the allied armies of occupation?

What about freedom of trade?

How much shipping tonnage will Germany be allowed to retain?

If on these five points an understanding is reached, Germany, in order to re-

Long Beach Was Forgotten When Census Was Taken

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Discovery has been made by the Census Bureau that the Village of Long Beach, N. Y., was not included in the 1920 decennial census, no enumeration of population having been taken there, Director Rogers today informed Representative Siegel of New York. EUROPE RELUCTANT TO DROP LEAGUE

Growing Signs of Coolness to Harding's Expected Plan of New Association.

ASSAILED AS AN ILLUSION

Paris Midi Scoffs—Viviani Declares Form of the League Must Stand.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Indications are multiplying that the Harding plan for an association of nations, disregarding the League of Nations, is not going to receive the welcome he must hope it will obtain. It is pointed out that the League of Nations exists. It is tied up to treaties vital to the European nations. It has forty-seven members and it is something that Mr. Harding must reckon with whether he likes to do so or not.

For some time a good many European statesmen have been in a more or less unhappy frame of mind over Mr. Harding's world plans. With a Disarmament Commission existing under the League of Nations, they hear about American world disarmament plans. With a world court about to be established and $300,000 appropriated for it, they hear about Mr. Harding's new court. They have their troubles with one league, which they credit to one American President, and they hear every day of another league planned by another American President. They feel something like shouting across the ocean: "You've got to stop kicking our dog around."

Because of the intense desire not to displease America, there has been little publication of these views and the official attitude has been that France was very much open to any American suggestions. The Government press has given considerable prominence to Mr. Harding's plans without comment.

Ironical Criticism of Harding.

However, the Paris Midi today rather raises the lid and on its front page prints an article entitled "The Illusions of Mr. Harding." It says:

"We hear that Mr. Harding, the President-elect of the United States, intends to convoke soon representatives of the powers in Washington to examine his project of international arbitrament. When they go there—if they go—these envoys of the civilized world, hat in hand, will be told, no doubt:

"'Gentlemen, an American President named Wilson (Woodrow) induced you just two years ago to create an international organization called the League of Nations. America having changed her President, it is fitting that we should change this organization and replace it by another institution which I will proceed to explain to you. Please bear in mind that if by chance a Democratic President should come into power four years from now the civilized world will naturally have to change its plans again.'

"In other words, our job is to sneeze eternally at the bidding of the Americans. But that is not all, for the project of an international organization which Mr. Harding is going to present would have some strange consequences. His idea appears to be to constitute groups of nations according to continents. There would be on one side the American nations and on the other side the European nations. One court of arbitrament would dominate all. In this way the United States would not be obliged to intervene in the political affairs of Europe without breaking all links with the Old World.

Predicts South American Dissent.

"This is an ingenious plan, but will it suit everybody? One can gayly bet one's hat that sooner than accept such a project the nations of South America would prefer to ally themselves with China. The Monroe Doctrine has always appeared to them a nice excuse given by the United States for salting them before eating. To consent to enter into a purely American group in which the United States would be all-powerful would be for the South Americans to throw themselves benevolently into the jaws of a wolf.

"And what will the people in Washington say when Japan proposes in her turn to form a group of nations of the extreme Orient? In this group it would be understood beforehand that neither the United States nor any European State would be a member. But who would dominate then the extreme Orient and what would become of the American policy of the open door in China?

"The more one thinks about it the more one is convinced that the Harding project, if it should ever become definite, would end by sinking into ridicule. The League of Nations is a living thing. Having taken the trouble to give it

HARDING POSTPONES CABINET DECISIONS TILL AFTER CRUISE

DENIES ANY 'DRIVE' IS ON

TALK OF SHIFTING LATTER

Suggestion That He Be Made Attorney General and Root Head State Department.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Jan. 19.—No announcement of the next Secretaries of State and Treasury will be made in advance of the rest of the Cabinet, according to a statement dictated to correspondents by Mr. Harding today. The President-elect added that no Cabinet matters would be decided until after his return to St. Augustine the first of February from a twelve-day cruise.

In what was the longest and is regarded as the frankest statement by Mr. Harding on the Cabinet situation, he said:

"I had thought originally to name two or three places of the Cabinet in advance, to permit the parties named to take up informally the work that is to be theirs. But I have found it so difficult to fit in an administrative organization that I am not disposed to make definite tenders and have men accept until I myself have made up a complete organization.

"There is no semblance of any marked drive either for or against, either in support of or in opposition to, any individual. There is the natural current of both political and personal recommendations and the natural cross-currents of personal, individual and factional opposition.

"This is all normal and does not keep me awake nights. I am thinking all the time of getting an organization best fitted to serve this country. I am a partisan. I believe in party government, and I am going to have a Republican Cabinet, but no selection will be made because of party organization without consideration for the best service of the country."

Factors of the Problem.

In the light of recent developments these seem to be the chief points of the Cabinet problem which Mr. Harding will attempt to solve in Florida.

1. Renewed pressure is being brought to bear in favor of Mr. Root as Secretary of State.

2. Although Mr. Harding regards Mr. Hughes as eminently qualified for a Cabinet post, he is understood to have received warning that some Senators would refuse to work with Mr. Hughes as Secretary of State.

3. Toward Harry M. Daugherty Mr. Harding might be considered lacking in gratitude if he did not offer him a Cabinet post.

4. Mr. Harding's promise today that "no Cabinet selection will be made because of party organization without consideration for the best service of the country."

It was suggested in some quarters tonight that Mr. Harding might try to settle his difficulties over the Cabinet by a transfer of some members of his original slate, shifting Daugherty and Hughes to make place for Root. A common reward for a political manager has been appointment as Postmaster General. Some think a way lies open to offer Hughes the office of Attorney General and make Daugherty Postmaster General, leaving the post of Secretary of State for Root.

The President-elect's statement today is taken to show that Mr. Harding is fully aware of the Senatorial drive to displace Hughes with Root as Secretary of State. But when asked this afternoon concerning the efforts of influences friendly to Root to displace Hughes from consideration or the place he said that to these activities he attached "no special significance." In connection with the recent visit of Senator Wadsworth of New York, who recommended both Root and Charles D. Hilles for the Cabinet, it is understood that pressure was brought to bear upon Mr. Harding, with the result that Root was then thought in some quarters to have precedence over Hughes. Last week, however, Mr. Harding gave a strong intimation that he intended offering the State portfolio to Hughes.

Daugherty Still a Favorite.

The President-elect's confession that he has found it difficult to "fit in an administrative organization" is thought likely to give further impetus to the drive for Root, already encouraged by the postponement of an early Cabinet announcement.

Mr. Harding's announcement that he sought a Republican Cabinet best fitted to serve the country, and that "no selection would be made because of party organization," may, it is felt, have a bearing on the appointment of political leaders to the Cabinet. That Harry M. Daugherty, who will accompany Mr. Harding on the Florida houseboat cruise, will be invited to the Cabinet is generally accepted as a certainty.

Mild opposition to appointment of political managers has been developing, according to information from Washington, particularly in view of the impression that Mr. Harding has no obligations arising from the election or the national convention. Leaders friendly

Court Hours Here Shock Justice Tompkins; Arrives at 9 A. M. and Finds Doors Locked

Early and long court hours in General Sessions were suggested yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins, who went to the Criminal Courts Building at 9 o'clock prepared to open Part 6, to assist the staff of Judges of General Sessions to dispose of the accumulation of business that threatens to clog the calendars. He found his courtroom door locked against him, and the only others present were the watchman and custodian of the building. The Justice had waited around for an hour when he got his first official greeting, from District Attorney Swann.

"What time does court open here?" queried the Justice. When the District Attorney replied that the hour was usually 10:30, Justice Tompkins remarked: "I think I can do better than that. We start work earlier up in Nyack, where I come from. What time do the courts close?" Informed that they adjourned at 4 o'clock, the Justice said: "Well, I guess I can sit a little longer than that and help to clean up some of the cases."

Justice Tompkins was assigned from the Supreme Court by the Appellate Division at the request of the Judges of General Sessions, who have a record list of 1,800 cases waiting to be tried or otherwise disposed of. There are only five of the seven Judges now at work. Judge Wadhams recently resigned and Judge Mulqueen is recovering from illness.

MAIL THIEVES GET $700,000 IN LOOT

Part of It in Cash and the Rest in Securities That Are Negotiable.

BIG HAUL AT CHICAGO

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Approximately $700,000 was stolen from the United States mails in two recent robberies, the one at the Union Station last Tuesday evening and the earlier one at Mount Vernon, Ill. Of this $197,000, practically all in currency of small denominations, was taken in the Mount Vernon robbery. The largest bills were $20 ones.

Official figures of the Union Station robbery are still lacking, but revised estimates placed the loot between $500,000 and $550,000. A considerable portion of this was in cash, but most of it was in bonds and other securities easily negotiable.

Original estimates had placed the value of the Mount Vernon robbery loot at only $55,000 and that of the Union Station haul as low as $76,000. It was learned the estimates given out for publication had been purposely kept low by officials, who feared the possibilities of mail robberies would become too attractive.

New impetus was given the search for the mail robbers today when five New York insurance companies offered $5,000 reward for their capture. In addition the companies offered 10 per cent. of any portion of the loot which might be recovered to all engaged in the search for the stolen mail.

The facts as to the Tuesday robbery were partly disclosed today when the Chicago manager for Blair & Co., New York brokers, reported that bonds aggregating $61,000 sent from the company's office here were part of the loot. Ames, Emery & Co., brokers, reported a loss of $8,000 and the Harris Trust and Savings Bank $7,000, in the stolen pouches.

An account of the robbery at the Union Station on Tuesday was given today by Philip Cahill, who is employed by the Chicago, Minneapolis & St. Paul Railroad as a mail handler. He said his first intimation that anything unusual was to happen was when a young man wearing a soldier's overcoat came close to him while he was helping unload the mail, and said:

"I've got a gun here, old top, and if you make a move except as I tell you, I'll fill you full of lead."

Cahill said he started to throw up his hands, supposing that was what the robber expected, but as soon as he made a motion in that direction, the young fellow said: "Keep them down and act natural."

Obeying his instructions to the letter, Cahill behaved as though he were engaged in the ordinary job of unloading, dumping the sacks of registered mail into the robbers' car when the young man so ordered him.

Police and Federal authorities tonight admitted that none of the eighteen suspects taken could be definitely linked with the robbery. All but seven were released, according to Inspector Germer. The others were held for further investigation. Federal agents checking the contents of the stolen pouches said it would be several days before their report would be complete.

The securities which were stolen from mail pouches at the Union Station, at Chicago, on Tuesday, and which belonged to Blair & Co., Inc., of New York and Chicago, were worth, at par value, $61,000. Blair & Co. have issued a circular, giving a description of the securities and are advertising for the bonds. The trustees of all of the bonds have been notified of the loss and transfer has been stopped, and all parties are cautioned against negotiating them.

At the offices of Blair & Co. in this city it was said that the firm's interests were entirely protected, because the bonds, in addition to having been sent by registered mail, for which Blair & Co. holds a receipt, the shipment was entirely covered by insurance.

The securities listed by Blair & Co. are:

$10,000 Standard Oil Company of New York Serial Debenture 7s, 1926, Nos. 467-8, 1438-9, 1688-92, 2709.

CARPENTIER FIGHT IS OFF, SAYS BRADY

Says Cochran Also Has Withdrawn as Backer of $500,000 Bout With Dempsey.

NEW CONTRACT POSSIBLE

"The $500,000 world's heavyweight championship bout, in which Jack Dempsey was scheduled to defend his title against Georges Carpentier, is definitely off, as far as I am concerned," said William A. Brady, one of the promotion triumvirate identified with the international bout, to a NEW YORK TIMES reporter yesterday. "The contracts have not been mutually observed, and, for that reason, I am withdrawing from further participation in the contemplated match for $500,000 and the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

"As American representative of Charles B. Cochran, London promoter, who is associated with Tex Rickard and myself in this enterprise, I authorize it to be recorded now that he is through with the original plans for the match, too," continued Mr. Brady. "You can say that as far as Promoters Brady and Cochran are concerned their interest in the proposed match is ended. The deal is over.

"The story published in THE NEW YORK TIMES this morning is true in every detail," added Mr. Brady. "After reading it I communicated with the Central Union Trust Company. F. J. Fuller, an official of the company, to whom was assigned the duty of accepting and recording the deposits stipulated in the contract, verified THE TIMES story that the deposits had not been made. Mr. Fuller informed me that the only deposit he had was Mr. Cochran's, of which, by the way, I was perfectly familiar, since I had deposited it, and an assignment from Dempsey of the champion's interests in the battle. This was done by Dempsey, I believe, to protect himself against a possible lawsuit. Robert Edgren, who was accepted as arbiter of differences which might develop between the signing of the contract for the bout and the time the men entered the ring, telegraphed from California today for information on the deposits, and Mr. Fuller gave him the same information that he gave me.

Withdraws With Cochran.

"When the articles for the bout were drawn up the signatories to the contract bound themselves to abide by its provisions. The agreement has not been kept, and I therefore, with Mr. Cochran, for whom I am authorized to act in the matter, withdraw from the affair. I entered into a contract which was binding in every particular. I observed my part of the bargain, but others did not. The contract is then automatically abrogated, and naturally there can be no $500,000 world's heavyweight championship bout.

"The situation, summarized, is this: Promoter Cochran, before leaving for England, wrote a check to me for his one-third of the promoters' deposit of $100,000 stipulated in the contract. This was duly deposited before the time specified. Promoter Rickard and myself were bonded for our respective shares and the bonds intrusted to Attorney Nathan Vidaver, acting for the promoters in the proposed bout. Attorney Vidaver went to the Central Union Trust Company on or before Nov. 20, as the contract provided, intending to deposit the bonds of Promoter Rickard and myself. There he found that no deposit had been made by either Dempsey or Carpentier, and, accordingly, he did not deposit the bonds.

"There was a wait of a week in which no word came either from Dempsey or Carpentier on the subject. Finally a cable came from France saying that Carpentier had deposited in Paris the equivalent of $30,000, in French gold, but that the French Government refused to permit its shipment to this country because of the money stringency in the French Republic. There was another wait of a month, in which there was no word from Dempsey and Carpentier's money was tied up abroad. Finally the time arrived when it was necessary to name a date for the battle, and the deposits were missing. Under the circumstances, I washed my hands of the whole affair, and as far as Promoter Cochran and myself are concerned, everything is off with the original arrangements.

May Draw New Contract.

"Of course, while I am authorized to talk for Mr. Cochran concerning the present situation, I cannot discuss whatever future plans he might have. These are his to decide, and I am in the dark as concerns his future activities. Possibly he may sign the men to a new contract under different conditions. He is perfectly at liberty to talk business on such a proposition at any time. I

Captain Denies Accepting Pay for Giving Protection in Printing Strike.

NEW INDICTMENT PROMISED

Whitman Says That Extortion From Commercial Houses Is Widespread.

TO SIFT PRIVATE AGENCIES

Police Captain Percy M. Du Bois was indicted yesterday by the Whitman Grand Jury on the charge of accepting a gratuity of $100 from the Publishers' Printing Company of 207 West Twenty-fifth Street for improving police protection against strikers in the Fall of 1919.

Captain Du Bois was the second Captain to be indicted, the first having been Captain William A. Bailey, former commander of the West Thirtieth Street Station, who was indicted last week on the charge of accepting private fees for furnishing "protection" to fur manufacturers. A third Captain may be indicted on Friday on a similar charge.

The printers' strike lasted eleven weeks. Ex-Governor Charles S. Whitman said yesterday that statements to him showed that the employing printers had spent money for protection during that period at the rate of about $5,000 a week, although full protection should have been furnished as part of the routine police work. The investigators have not yet traced the disbursement of the fund in detail and could not say what proportion went to the police and what proportion to private detective agencies. Leo Gambardelli, a former policeman and now head of a detective agency, was in charge of much of the private policing, but told Mr. Whitman that he did not know of any fees to policemen.

Captain Du Bois pleaded not guilty and furnished bail of $2,500 on arraignment before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain in General Sessions. He was represented by Terence J. McManus, who said:

"Captain Du Bois is absolutely innocent and will prove it when the time comes."

Among the witnesses before the Grand Jury were Aaron Gantz, Secretary and Treasurer of the Publishers' Printing Company; Ralph Bartholomew, the sales manager, and Charles Eliscu, the auditor of the company. The payment of $100, described in the indictment, is said to be one of a great many similar transactions.

Protection Fund Raised.

The explanation made by printers who were called to his office by Mr. Whitman was that police protection failed in the first days of the strike and strikers resorted to sabotage and violence. A large fund was thereupon created by some of the printing houses. After that the police protection was satisfactory to the employers and much complained about by the strikers. Some of the "protection" furnished after the alleged transactions were described by Mr. Whitman as "vehement."

In an interview yesterday Mr. Whitman said that the character of police grafting today was totally different from that uncovered in his investigation after the Rosenthal murder. Then, he said, graft was collected entirely from lawbreakers, whereas most of it today appears to come from legitimate business men.

"During the time I was District Attorney," he said yesterday, "not a single case of this kind ever came to my attention. The idea of demanding money for performing police duty was unknown. I can't remember a single complaint bearing any resemblance in principle to the cases we now have under investigation."

"Does grafting prevail today on a scale comparable to that in the Becker days?" he was asked.

"It is different, but the indications are that it is as large or larger," was the answer.

When he was asked whether the so-called "commercial" graft, or the extortion of money from business houses, seemed to consist of individual isolated acts, or to be organized, he said:

"It is widespread. I don't want to go any further than that. It is entirely new to me. I did not know of its existence until I started this investigation."

In many of the "commercial" graft transactions laid before Mr. Whitman, the first move was made by the business houses. In several instances, it was learned, business men wanted special police service and approached policemen with offers to pay well for more activity. Some firms are said to have induced the police to change from neutrality between strikers and employers to a benevolent attitude in favor of employers. In other cases, firms unwilling to take pot luck with the rest of New York in the ordinary protection furnished by the police during the crime wave are alleged to have paid to have policemen stationed near their places of business as special watchmen.

Agencies Close to Police.

"One significant thing," Mr. Whitman said, "has been the tremendous increase in the number of private detective agencies in recent years, nearly all of them run by ex-policemen."

Many business men who have been interviewed by investigators connected

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Jan. 19.—A band of Apulian brigands held up the Adriatic Express ten miles from Foggia last night.

By switching the express onto a sidetrack they caused it to collide with a freight train. The locomotive of the express and the nearest cars were derailed. While one group of brigands rifled the luggage vans others with pointed revolvers demanded money and jewelry from the passengers.

A squad of carabinieri acting as escort on the express engaged the train wreckers in a battle until, in answer to a telegraphed appeal for help, a troop train arrived on the scene from Foggia. The bandits then began to disperse toward the hill country, covering their retreat with repeated volley firing.

BROADEN CITY FIGHT AGAINST FARE RISE

ACCEPT BROOKLYN LEAD

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The revolt within the Legislature against the muddled transit conditions in New York City and the "perpetual" Federal receiverships was broadened today to comprise representatives from every borough of the city.

Lawmakers from Manhattan, the Bronx, Queens and Richmond took the initiative in calling a meeting of all the New York City members of both Senate and Assembly to be held next week. The Brooklyn members, already organized, have been specially invited to join their colleagues from the other boroughs at Tuesday's conference.

The call for the meeting was drafted by Assemblyman George N. Jesse of the Twenty-third Assembly District in Manhattan. Mr. Jesse led the fight on the Jenks higher fare bills in the Assembly last year and made a two-hour speech which will live long in the memories of those who heard it. Other signatories are Assemblyman Steinberg, dean of the Republican delegation from New York City in the lower house; Assemblyman Charles D. Donohue, leader of the Democratic minority in the Senate; Ward V. Tolbert, Republican, of the Twentieth District in Manhattan, and George H. Taylor, Republican, from the Twenty-third District in the Bronx, and Assemblyman Thomas Cosgrove of Richmond and Peter A. Leininger of Queens, both Democrats.

One object of next Tuesday's meeting is to bring about a general investigation of the transit situation in the entire city and not alone in Brooklyn, as proposed by the protestants from that borough, headed by Senators William T. Simpson and Alvah W. Burlingame Jr. The new movement was launched by some of the Republican Assemblymen from Manhattan for the purpose of enabling them to present a solid front against prospective fare increase legislation.

Few of the Brooklyn members were here today, but it was learned that their efforts will be focused on putting an end to the Federal receivership in that borough, which they say has rendered the B. R. T. and Brooklyn City Railroad lines practically immune from the State regulation to which other lines in the city, not enjoying the protection of the Federal courts, are subjected.

Senator Simpson, Chairman of the Brooklyn group of lawmakers, today named a number of lawyers as aids in the various shares of an investigation the Brooklyn legislators are setting on foot over the week-end for the purpose of determining conditions surrounding the franchises under which the Brooklyn lines operate and the cost of the receivership. This is said to be exceptionally costly as a result of the calling in of highly paid experts to direct the operation of such lines as still are doing business.

Senator Simpson today sent out an appeal to civic organizations in his borough and made tentative arrangements for a meeting to be held in the Aldermanic chamber at the Borough Hall Saturday afternoon, at which a number of Senators and Assemblymen from Brooklyn will attend and speak if it should be decided to hold it. In the meantime another meeting of the lawmakers from Brooklyn is to be held in the Assembly parlor at the Capitol prior to the legislative session Monday night.

PROPOSE POLICE 'DEAD LINE'

Government Club Urges Hylan to Adopt New Regulations.

The Government Club, whose complaint regarding police conditions following the robbery of one of its members, Mrs. Thomas W. Edgar, in Central Park on Dec. 17, brought a request from Mayor Hylan for a concrete plan for improvements in police regulations, submitted a plan in detail to the Mayor yesterday.

The club would have all persons who have been convicted of "any major offense" kept north of Fifty-ninth Street. They would also have a card index of all persons over twenty-one years old, more restrictions on the obtaining of taxi-cab licenses and fingerprinting of all persons who buy firearms. Deportation of all criminals who cannot prove citizenship is further suggested.

UNTERMYER PLEADS FOR WIDER POWERS IN HOUSING INQUIRY

CALLS SITUATION SERIOUS

SEES A CHANCE FOR RELIEF

If Loan Market Conditions Are Uncovered—Not Planning a Wide City Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Samuel Untermyer, chief counsel of the Lockwood committee, appeared before the Senate Finance Committee and Assembly Ways and Means Committee at a hearing this afternoon on the resolution to give the committee power to look into the affairs and financial operations of insurance companies and banks, and served notice on the Legislature that, unless this power was given to the committee, its investigation into housing conditions must halt uncompleted on the very threshold of its most important phase.

To break up illegal combinations impeding building, Mr. Untermyer said, would avail nothing if, when those had been broken up, as they had been, there was no loan market to which builders could resort for the financing of their operations. The loan market, the lawyer added, had been depleted through the surtax on large incomes diverting the funds of rich estates and persons of wealth to investments in bonds and securities exempt under the income tax law.

The insurance companies and banks alone, he added, could afford relief in the present emergency, and to devise the proper legislation to force them into coming to the rescue of the State the thorough investigation the committee had proposed was essential.

To illustrate what he had in mind in making this statement, Mr. Untermyer said that information had been sought from the State Superintendent of Banks regarding the salary of certain Presidents of banking institutions. The committee had failed to obtain it because that official had questioned his right under the existing law to divulge such data.

Tells of High Salaries.

"Yet we will want it," Mr. Untermyer added, "for all we know there are salaries of men administering not only their own moneys but the money of the masses, responsible to no authority whatever, self-constituted guardians of this money, and members of self-perpetuating boards who receive salaries far in excess of what they should receive. There are men in such positions whose salaries, if they were brought to a reasonable sum by legislation that we might suggest if we thought the facts warranted it, would leave enough over for the creation of something of a fund for industrial purposes."

Mr. Untermyer described the housing situation as desperate and growing worse.

"It is desperate beyond description," he said. "It is growing more desperate all the time. We are fast approaching not only a crisis, but a cataclysm that is going to affect not only the morals but the commercial supremacy of our community. We are confronted with not only the possibility but the probability, of wholesale foreclosures, and thus alone a money market would be created."

Mr. Untermyer was the only speaker at the hearing. There was no one on hand to appear in open opposition to the committee's proposal for more power. Mr. Untermyer remarked on this, saying that he had hoped to meet his opponents face to face. It was intimated by Senator Charles J. Hewitt, Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, who presided, that legislative procedure might be reversed and the opposition get its inning later.

Questioned by Lusk and Machold.

Senate Leader Lusk and Speaker Machold of the Assembly, both sat with the committee of their respective Houses, interested listeners at first, but later interrogators who cross-questioned Mr. Untermyer rather sharply on his proposal for more power. A colloquy between Chairman Hewitt and Mr. Untermyer at the opening of the hearing indicated that the temper of the Finance Committee was all that it has been represented to be in Albany newspaper dispatches.

After the hearing the two committees went into executive session and informally discussed the demand for power to investigate banks and insurance companies. Subsequently they called in Mr. Untermyer, Deputy Attorney General Samuel A. Berger and Leonard M. Wallstein of counsel for the Lockwood committee, whom they questioned further.

After the secret session advocates of the broader powers were a trifle more hopeful than they had been that emasculation of the resolution would not go as far as seemed likely a week ago. Fear was expressed in some quarters, however, that the old game of "playing one house against the other" might be resorted to by the opposition, and the proposal thus go down to defeat. Senator Lusk impressed some of the advocates of extended powers as more friendly to their proposal than he had been, while Speaker Machold refused to commit the Assembly to any line of action on the Lockwood resolution.

The hearing was held in the room of the Senate Finance Committee, Mr. Un-termyer, when called upon to speak, suggested that, in accordance with the legislative rules governing public hearings, the opposition be heard first.

"This is not a general hearing," said Chairman Hewitt. "It is only to give you an opportunity to tell the committee why you want this extended power."

Wants to Smoke Out Opposition.

"We would like to have some one here to tell us why we should not have that power," said Mr. Untermyer. "I assume, then, that there is no outside opposition, and that, if there is any at all, it comes from within the committee. We would like to smoke out the opposition, if there is any, and know where it comes from."

"Why assume there is any?" asked Chairman Hewitt.

"When opposition is covert and underground you generally can see the signs of it, even when you cannot see the opposition itself," was the retort of Mr. Untermyer. "I thought as this public hearing had been annnounced some one inside or outside the Legislature must have the courage to come forward and state why he opposes our demand. I suppose this will be the only hearing."

"I am not prepared to say that," said Mr. Hewitt.

"Then, if there is any opposition that develops, may we have an opportunity to come here, face to face with the opposition, regardless of this hearing?" asked Mr. Untermyer.

"I am not prepared to say that," the Chairman replied.

Disavows General City Inquiry.

Discussing the merit of the committee's request for broader powers, Mr. Untermyer at the outset disavowed any intention of investigating the Government of the City of New York if the broader powers were granted, or, as had been suggested in some quarters, "explode the whole financial system of the City of New York."

"As for the city investigation," he added, "when it was suggested we said we would not listen to it because to go into a political or semi-political controversy would cripple the standing usefulness of the committee, and no intention to unsettle financial affairs lurks anywhere in this committee. On the contrary, our purpose would be to avoid such a catastrophe; but such a cry of alarm always goes up and great activity in these underground ways is always exhibited whenever a proposal is made for restrictive legislation affecting the financial interests."

Mr. Untermyer said the demand for power to investigate business construction as well as residential housing was due to the fact that the rent laws enacted last year appeared to have stimulated the construction of office buildings and lofts at the expense of dwellings. The committee wanted to frame legislation to remedy this situation.

Then Mr. Untermyer took up the demand for power to grant immunity to witnesses.

"A comprehensive investigation of this subject will necessarily involve a provision of this kind," he said. "We are to inquire into illegal combinations, and our witnesses in many instances are members of these who must be given immunity to induce them to testify, else they will plead their constitutional privilege and refuse to answer questions. Of course, no such witnesses will be given immunity except by vote of the committee, so the whole thing hinges on whether you trust your committee."

Calls Power Too Limited.

Mr. Untermyer declared the most substantial part of the Lockwood resolution was the clause broadening the power of the committee to investigate the affairs of insurance companies and banking institutions. At present the committee had power only to inquire into their investments. These could not be properly investigated without power to go into the entire standing and conditions of the financial institutions in question. It was through these institutions alone that relief in the housing situation could be obtained.

"It is quite natural," Mr. Untermyer said, "that rich estates and men of large wealth should withdraw their money from the loan market when they have to pay from 40 to 60 per cent. by way of income tax, leaving them only from 2.6 to 3.4 per cent. net return, when they can go in and buy tax exempt city and county bonds that will yield from 5 to 5½ per cent. And there is no prospect of the heavy surtax being materially reduced for many years to come. Public sentiment would be against taking the surtax off heavy fortunes. What are we to do to replace existing mortgages held by estates? And, more particularly, what are we going to do to stimulate building loans, so much needed at the present time?"

Mr. Untermyer said the banks and insurance companies afforded the only way out of the difficulty. He referred to the holdings of fire insurance companies which were not affected by the Armstrong insurance laws, that prescribed the character of investments for life insurance concerns.

"The fire insurance companies today have a large share of their investments in stocks of corporations," said the lawyer. "I am not going to characterize these stocks. Some are high class, others not so good, still they are permitted to invest a large part of their money in stocks and have practically no money in bonds and mortgages, and yet every dollar that they see is drawn from building. Real estate mortgages are liquid enough for the savings banks, from which every dollar of deposits can be drawn upon sixty days' notice, while a fire insurance company is required to pay only sixty days after proof of loss by fire, and the whole country is not going to burn at once."

"Misled," Lusk Asserts.

Mr. Untermyer had gone only a little further when Senator Lusk interrupted with the remark:

"I don't see how this lecture bears on the question. We can get on faster if I can call your attention to the questions that are troubling the committee. I think, to begin with, that you have been misled by the newspapers. This controversy was created by them. It is a straw man. Every member of the Committee on Finance and of the Ways and Means Committee, and of the Legislature, so far as I know, has always been willing to extend to this committee every power to make a full and complete and sweeping investigation of this subject."

Mr. Lusk said he had very grave doubt whether the Legislature could grant power of immunity except in connection with a bill, because a resolution did not go to the Governor, and the Governor was part of the lawmaking power.

The question has not been raised in the Legislature, although such powers were given by resolution to the Lexow and Mazet committees investigating New York City affairs, and more recently to the Merritt committee, which investigated lobbying activities in the Legislature itself.

Mr. Untermyer said he had been over the subject and had no doubt. Congress, he declared, always extended power to grant immunity in the way it had been proposed to extend it to the Lockwood committee. He could see no harm in passing a statute as well, but did not regard it as necessary.

Senator Lusk said he did not think there was any general opposition among the lawmakers to the immunity clause in the Lockwood resolution.

"Do you want power to make a general investigation of banks or insurance companies, or do you simply want power to make an investigation bearing upon their relation to housing?" asked Senator Lusk.

Predicts Opposition at Every Step.

"That is the crux of the whole thing," said the lawyer. "All we would be likely to use would be the power to investigate that relation. But we are going to be opposed at every step by the keenest legal minds in the land, and if we have got to go to court every time to determine whether or not the particular thing we want is directly related to the housing situation, we are simply going to pile up a bundle of litigation and no evidence."

"You can stand it as long as the other fellows can, if we finance you and give you plenty of help, as we have so far," said Senator Lusk.

"I do not want to make a life work of this; I want to get through," said Mr. Untermyer.

"You would be sustained by the courts if you were right," suggested the Senate leader.

"But it puts the burden of proof on the committee every time," said the lawyer. "We would always be on the defensive. That means no investigation. I have been through all of this for Congress again and again, and I know the necessity for having broad powers. If you don't trust us, then you should have a new committee. We haven't any earthly intention of making a general upheaval of financial institutions and a general investigation. Anybody who tries that will be a long time at it, and he will kick up so much mud that he won't be able to settle it for a long time to come."

No Objection to Housing Inquiry.

"There is no objection to this committee going ahead with the housing investigation," said the Senate leader. "We doubt the wisdom of collateral investigations from two standpoints. We think you are doing too good work to quit housing for something else. And if we authorize a lot of collateral inquiries we do not know where we are going to land. I saw the questionnaire your committee put out. I went over it carefully, and found that you were asking for over half a million schedules under Exhibit A."

"Senator, you went off half-cocked," said Untermyer. "That questionnaire was sent out before we knew it. The man who put it out has been severed from the committee and the questionnaire withdrawn. Other questionnaires we have put out are already answered by 65 per cent. of the institutions."

"Have you tried to get something and failed to get it because you lacked powers under the present resolution?" asked Speaker Machold.

"We haven't touched the branch of the investigation we are now preparing to enter—that of the loan market," said Mr. Untermyer. "We haven't called a witness on it. Before we go into it we have got to have the power, and we haven't the power, and if we haven't the power we are not going into it. We are not going to make a fizzle of that important branch of the investigation. I understood that a meeting has already been held by some of these corporations to question the power of the committee under the existing resolution."

"Might you state some of the specific things you seek to find out from the insurance companies?" asked Senator Knight of Wyoming.

"I would rather not," said Mr. Untermyer.

"We haven't got along this far by exposing our case."

Mr. Untermyer said one thing the committee wanted to find out was why fire insurance rates and workmen's compensation rates in this State should be four times what they were in New Jersey.

At the opening of the hearing Senator Lockwood filed resolutions from the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce and the Citizens' Union indorsing his resolution. The City Club has gone on record against it.

It was said tonight that the Senate Finance Committee would act on the resolution next Tuesday.

BRINDELL ACCUSED OF LABOR TYRANNY

Robert P. Brindell, Chairman of the Building Trades Council, on trial in the Supreme Court on an indictment charging extortion, attempted to dictate how a construction contract valued at $275,000 should be handled, threatened to deprive the contractor of all work in New York City, and suggested an arrangement whereby the cost of the work was to be increased about $125,000, according to the testimony of witnesses yesterday.

The contract in question was one awarded to Jacob Fradus, an excavator, by the Garment Center Realty Company, and called for the demolition of two blocks of houses on Seventh Avenue, between Thirty-sixth and Thirty-eighth Streets, and the digging of the foundation.

Fradus, his former lawyer, Franklin Nevius of Kellogg & Rose, and George H. Clark, a civil engineer of Holbrook, Cabot & Rollins, testified to Brindell's operations. The witnesses also swore that Brindell took an active part in introducing a contractor, Pierce, on the job after the Garment Center Realty Company canceled Fradus's contract because of a strike called by Brindell. In attempting to intercede with Brindell on behalf of Fradus, Clark was told by the labor leader that he, Brindell, wanted $7,500 from Fradus. Brindell pointed out to Nevius that as the Garment Center Realty Company did not engage a general contractor for the work they were saving money, and suggested that if Fradus consented to permit his friend Pierce, another contractor, to do part of the work the price should be increased from about $275,000 to about $400,000.

On cross-examination by Martin Littleton, counsel for Brindell, Fradus testified that he has brought suit for $345,000 against the Garment CenterRealty Company and Brindell, charging that they drove him out of business. He admitted asking for Brindell's aid in obtaining damages against the Garment Center Realty Company, but denied offering him $2,000.

Mr. Clark, who followed, said that Fradus called on him last April after the cancellation of the contract and suggested that he see Brindell. He visited the latter, who told him Fradus could have the contract if he paid $7,500 to him.

"Did he say why he wanted the money?" asked Samuel Untermyer, for the prosecution.

"He said he wanted it for himself. He said that the Garment Center Realty Company was saving money by not having a general contractor on the job and he wanted some of that money."

"What did he say would happen if he did not get it?"

"He said Fradus could not have that job or any other job in New York City."

"Yes," said Clark. "He said if Fradus paid the money he could have the job. If he didn't, he couldn't. The job had to go on, he said, and whatever arrangements were to be made had to be made immediately."

The session concluded shortly after noon to permit Mr. Untermyer to go to Albany on behalf of the Lockwood committee. The trial will be resumed at 10 A. M. today.

RENT CASES ARGUED IN COURT OF APPEALS

Array of Counsel Represents Tenant and Landlord—Early Decision Looked For.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—The disagreement as to the effect of the Emergency Housing laws enacted by the Legislature on Sept. 27, 1920, is to be settled by the Court of Appeals, which today heard arguments in nine test cases involving all phases of the question. In every step heretofore, except in a single instance, the landlords have lost their contentions. This was when the First and Second Appellate Divisions disagreed as to the right of the Legislature to take away powers vested in the Supreme Court in ejectment cases. The First Department of the Appellate Division held that the law was unconstitutional, while the Second Department ruled it constitutional.

All nine cases were in ejectment proceedings and covered various points which the landlords and leasing companies had brought forward to prove their stand. There was a big array of legal talent in the court when the cases were called. It is expected that the court will expedite the cases and that a decision will be reached possibly in two weeks, otherwise the determination will be held up until the next recess, the early part of February.

The cases were highly technical. As the arguments progressed members of the court asked many questions to clear up some points in the argument.

SERIES OF FIRES SWEEP WORCESTER

Losses Reach $1,800,000 When 50 Business Places and 20 Tenements Burn.

NIGHT WATCHMAN ARRESTED

His Sanity Questioned—Police Report Evidence of Incendiarism in Many Buildings.

WORCESTER, Mass., Jan. 19.—William N. Taylor, night watchman of the Marrifield Building, destroyed by fire early this morning, was arrested tonight and was sent to the Worcester State Hospital for observation as to his sanity.

The arrest followed an epidemic of fires in Worcester which began before 3 o'clock this morning and continued throughout the day and night, causing damage estimated at $1,800,000.

The police say tonight that evidence of incendiarism was discovered in a score of the buildings destroyed or damaged. The latest fire, in the Oscar Will & Co. women's clothing store, in the lower floor of the State Mutual Building on Main Street, was set in three places, according to Chief Avery of the Fire Department.

At midnight, when the police relief went on duty, orders were read from Chief Hill that "firebugs were at work," and patrolmen were ordered to arrest all suspicious characters.

Every semi-public and public building in the downtown section is under police guard.

Score of Tenements Fired.

In the first fires, early this morning, two business buildings on Main Street, heavily stocked with goods, were burned out, and a few blocks south of City Hall a score of tenements were set on fire. Guests of the Bancroft and New Park Hotels, between the business and tenement districts, prepared to follow the tenement dwellers into the zero temperature of the streets, but both hotels were saved.

While this epidemic of flames to the south engaged all the city's apparatus another blaze developed several blocks northeast of City Hall, at North Foster and Union Streets, where the woodworking plant of the M. K. Smith Corporation was burned, with a loss of $100,000.

The fire area was too great to be adequately covered by the city's firemen, and Boston, Clinton, Millbury and Westboro were called on to send additional apparatus. All responded, a motor engine coming over the forty-four miles of bleak road from Boston in quick time.

The flames skirted the building of The Worcester Evening Post, but were kept away by a curtain of water. The consequent cellar flood, however, put the pressroom out of commission and spoiled a large quantity of newsprint paper.

The first fire started in the Knowles Building, at Main and Chatham Streets, apparently in the top floor of the seven-story brick structure. Embers fell into the elevator well and wind whipped the flames back through the salesrooms, offices and apartments on upper floors. From roof and windows a high northwest wind picked up the embers and scattered them over the centre of the city.

Sparks lodged in the William H. Sawyer Building across Main Street from the Knowles Block and the four stories of that building, occupied by stores and offices, were burned quickly.

Wooden roofs of the tenement district beyond developed blaze after blaze, while the people they had sheltered turned out into the streets in night clothing, shivering in the icy northwest wind.

With a score of buildings burning at one time in the district bounded by Millbury, Ward, Lamartine, Assonet, Gold and Harding Streets, the firemen's lines became thin and the danger of a conflagration great. At this point help began to come in from outside, and it was timely.

New Blaze a Mile Away.

North of City Hall, a mile away, another fire was reported, and depletion of the forces engaged on the first fires was necessary to prevent the new blaze spreading from the plant of the M. K. Smith corporation to other woodworking plants and lumber yards in the vicinity of North Foster and Union Streets. This fire was controlled after a time, with only minor damage outside the Smith plant.

The fire was free of fatalities or serious injuries. Several firemen sustained hurts from falling glass, smoke, slippery ladders and toppling ruins, but none was injured severely. Those who left their homes in fear of the flames suffered somewhat from exposure, but they were under cover again by daylight in most cases.

Fifty business places, including six retail stores, six manufacturing plants and a large number of offices of dentists, doctors, music teachers and others, were wiped out.

The principal sufferers were S. S. Kresge Company, 5 and 10 cent store; S. Marcus Company, furriers and cloak dealers; Guy Furniture Company, Lewis Cleansing and Dyeing Company, Williams Book Store, C. F. Monahan's Sporting Goods Store, M. K. Smith Corporation, builders' finish; Henry Brannon & Sons, cabinet makers; Larkin & Sear, machine works; Mackin Oil Gauge Company, Worcester Gear Works and Beacon Enamelling Company.

The Bijou Theatre at Millbury and Lamartine Streets, a mile from the Knowles Building, caught fire, but the damage was slight. Plate glass windows in the Park Trust Company Building at Main and Franklin Streets were shattered by heat from the Knowles Building.

Mayor Sullivan arranged today to have the local National Guard companies mustered at their armories tonight ready for duty in case of an emergency, because of the exhausted condition of the firemen.

Governor Cox sent word to Mayor Sullivan that the State stood ready to supply troops or any emergency equipment necessary to assist the city. The Mayor replied that Worcester felt it could care for the situation without outside help.

Three more fires gave hard work to the weary firemen tonight. The R. P. Robb Power Company's foundry in Albany Street was destroyed, causing a loss estimated at $50,000. Five firemen were injured when the roof fell. Chief Avery sprained his ankle but refused to leave the scene.

The storehouse of a metal working plant on the outskirts of the city was burned early in the evening. Chief Avery said he believed this blaze was of incendiary origin.

Late tonight the firemen were called to fight a threatening fire in the State Mutual Building in Main Street.

STUDENT CONFESSES ARSON

St. John's Cadet Says He Burned School Building to Get a Vacation.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUCE, Jan. 19.—Austin L. Ingersoll, 17 years old, a freshman cadet at St. John's Military School at Manlius, and son of a prominent Elmira druggist, confessed today that he had set fire to three of the school buildings because he "hoped the cadet battalion would be dismissed for the rest of the year and he could go home."

Immediately after his confession to District Attorney Frank P. Malpass, Ingersoll was indicted by the Grand Jury on three separate counts of arson, third degree. The three buildings which were fired by the cadet were the Academy Building, on Nov. 14, which was destroyed with a loss approximating $200,000; the chapel, which was set on fire Jan. 5, with slight loss, and Huntington Hall, a fire in which on Jan. 14 caused little damage.

CONFESSES KILLING ANNAPOLIS NURSE

Negro Tells How He Waylaid Her on Academy Grounds and Hit Her on Head.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 19.—Breaking down after twenty-four hours of the severest kind of third degree and after his alibi had been shattered by detectives of the Baltimore city force, Henry Brown, mess attendant in the United States Navy and deserter from the service, this afternoon confessed the murder of Miss Harriet Kavanaugh of Buffalo, the nurse who was found in a dying condition last Friday night after she had been attacked within the bounds of the Naval Academy reservation.

Brown deserted from the navy on Dec. 22, and since that time had been without work. He returned to Annapolis on the day of the murder and spent some time around the town. Then he went to the Naval Academy, entering by the Oklahoma gate, which is on King George Street. On account of his naval uniform he had no difficulty in gaining admittance; it was merely a matter of saluting the guard who stood at the entrance. From the gate he went to the grand stand on Worden Field.

Behind this stand he found a pile of junk from which he selected the short piece of pipe with which he killed Miss Kavanaugh. Following this he walked along the road to the College Creek Bridge, which is a hundred yards away, and crossed to the Naval Academy Cemetery. There he hid himself behind a tree and waited for some one to pass.

Thus it became known that Brown's act was directed not against Miss Kavanaugh in particular, as had first been surmised, but any person passing along the same road.

He waited behind the tree until Miss Kavanaugh approached. From the point where he stood he would have been able to see her while she was yet on the bridge, and he watched his victim coming fearlessly to the trap that he had laid for her.

When the nurse reached the spot he leaped out and struck her on the head with the pipe. She fell with the first blow and without an outcry. After that Brown is said to admit that he hit her on the head one more time, although there were three distinct fractures of the skull, when the body was found. He is understood to have adhered to his tale of two blows.

The negro then grabbed her handbag and ran. He recrossed the bridge and followed College Creek along the edge of the water in the direction of St. John's College. This way led behind the houses of naval officers stationed at the Naval Academy and was out of sight of the road. Arriving at the Naval Academy wall on King George Street, the murderer waited for his chance and climbed the wall. At the point where he must have scaled it the wall joins College Creek, and this part of King George Street is dark.

Once more on the street, Brown crossed it and climbed a low fence to the rear campus of St. John's College. It was here that he said he opened the small purse which he had found in Miss Kavanaugh's handbag. From the purse he took about $8 and then threw it into the bushes. The purse was found two days ago at the place where he said it had been thrown.

The trial of the murderer may be held either as a naval court-martial or before the United States District Court of Baltimore. The latter is the more probable.

84% OF FAILURES DID NOT ADVERTISE

G. A. Cullen Tells the Fact in Advising Fruit Farmers.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—"A few days ago one of the financial agencies (either Dun's or Bradstreet's) gave out the information that of all the failures recorded in 1920, 84 per cent. were of firms which did not advertise."

This was the statement of George A. Cullen, Vice President of the North American Fruit Exchange and Vice President of the Lackawanna Railroad, in an address to the New York Agricultural Society at its meeting just ended here.

"That is rather significant," he continued. "Dun's and Bradstreet's reports do not cover the apple growers of New York State.

"You apple growers sitting before me furnish one of the most striking examples in this country of intelligent men failing to make use of the one thing that could turn disaster into success. Why do California growers successfully invest $750,000 in advertising to create an appetite for the citrus fruits, while New York growers invest practically not a cent to create an appetite for some of the finest fruit produced on the face of the earth.

"Think of the Pacific Coast raisin growers investing $500,000 a year in advertising, and the prune growers $350,000, while the New York State farmers apparently try to keep it a secret that they produce the finest of seed potatoes and maple syrup.

"There is a further and exceedingly important use for advertising by the grower. That is in constantly keeping the consumer informed when his products are available or to be available, when they are abundant and when they are or should be relatively cheap at retail. This has real practical value in stimulating consumption.

"Why then does not the grower keep his public informed daily of the state of the market? Why should the department stores use about one-third of the space in each day's papers to tell their public about their goods while the grower leaves it to some Government agency or other belated crop report source to print the market quotations on perishables (of all things!) in some obscure corner of one page?

"The answer, of course, is why the farmer does not advertise is the same as that to why he does not standardize and why he does not provide himself with the proper system of distribution. It is because he does not organize."

BOSTON MAN HELD UP.

Followed Home From New York by Thieves, Who Get $4,200.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 19.—A trio of crooks who followed Allie Finkelstein of 46 Thornton Street, Revere, from New York last night, attacked and robbed him of $4,200 at his own door early today. The money was the proceeds of a business deal in Manhattan.

The victim managed to catch a glimpse of one of the robbers as he turned to flee and he recognized him as one of three men he saw on the train from New York.

Finkelstein left the trolley car at the corner of Broadway and Thornton Street, Revere, and started along Thornton Street toward his house. He was within a few feet of it when three men confronted him, one with a revolver.

Finkelstein resisted. The man holding the weapon did not shoot, but aided his companions in holding Finkelstein's arms in order to expedite the search. The robbers obtained the money then ran along Thornton Street and disappeared around the nearest corner.

Chinese-Siberian Negotiations Off.

PEKING, Jan. 18.—Negotiations between the Chinese Government and M. Yourin, head of the Far Eastern Republic's mission in this city, are reported virtually to have been abandoned, owing to the failure of the Far Eastern Republic to satisfy China as to the safety of the lives and property of Chinese residents in Siberia. Continual complaints of ill treatment and confiscation of property have been received here, and these had a bearing on the conversations that were being carried on.

PENNSYLVANIA CUTS EXPENSES A TENTH

Drastic New Order Explains Wholesale Dropping of Men and Decrease of Hours.

ROAD'S BUSINESS HARD HIT

Department Heads Have Discretion in Making Reduction—May Cut Passenger Service.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—A new general order for another 10 per cent. reduction in expenses of the Pennsylvania Railway system, making a 20 per cent. cut since November, is the explanation given for the widespread movement to lay off employes or decrease the hours of employment.

Ways and means of effecting the reduction in expenses are left to the discretion of heads of departments and superintendents. All classes of railroad employes are affected—clerks, trainmen, yardmen, shopmen and maintenance of right of way men.

The seniority rule will prevail in the elimination of employes, and in many cases the reduction will be made by lessening the number of hours of employment each week, rather than by discharge of employes.

A falling off in freight traffic of 20 to 22 per cent. from the peak haulages of August and October is given as the reason for the drastic step now taken.

Statement by President Rea.

President Rea issued the following statement today:

"By reason of the continued falling off in business, the management of the Pennsylvania Railroad has instructed all departments to effect a further reduction in expenses of 10 per cent., as compared with the expenses in November, 1920. This is in addition to the 10 per cent. reduction previously ordered to be necessary.

"There is no arbitrary rule adopted. The principle on which the reduction will be made is to secure the utmost economy consistent with safety and efficiency. The Vice Presidents, however, have been directed that in carrying out these instructions they shall do so in the manner best adapted to avoid, as far as possible, unnecessary disruption of the organization or individual hardship.

"It is to be hoped that the reduction in business will continue for only a brief period. The management of the Pennsylvania Railroad sincerely regrets that uninterrupted employment cannot be assured to every faithful man on its payroll. But the situation is a practical one, and no way has as yet been devised in such climaxes as these now existing to avoid a reduction in expenses and working forces.

"As indicative of the severity of the conditions confronting the management, it may be pointed out that the Pennsylvania Railroad system now has on its lines 58,000 idle freight cars, which is about 20 per cent. of the number owned, and that the idle cars are increasing daily. Freight traffic has declined 20 per cent. to 22 per cent. as compared with the early Fall, and all available information as to the prevailing conditions in the productive industries and general commerce indicates that a further slowing down in the freight movement must be anticipated before recovery can reasonably be expected. Regrettably, there is, therefore, no course open to the management except to curtail expenses accordingly."

Will Affect 15,000 Men in East.

It is figured that several hundred clerks in the Broad street station will be affected by the new order, and that throughout the Eastern Division a total of 15,000 men will lose employment or work fewer hours per week.

This official statement covering the changes was issued:

"The option was given employes to choose which method appealed to them, as it was thought it would make for more stable conditions if the men would work only five days a week instead of a large number being laid off to join the ranks of the unemployed."

Reports that the railroad was contemplating reductions in rates of wages were denied by officials, who pointed out that most of the employes were working on rates of pay fixed by agreement and by decisions of the railroad labor boards.

Absolute economy in usage of material, from rubber bands and pencil stubs in the clerical departments to material in use on the roadways, has been ordered, in furtherance of the economy plan.

It is stated that in the section from the Atlantic Ocean to the Alleghany Mountains many clerical employes have petitioned department chiefs to let them take a day off each week instead of reducing the force and this plan has been followed. In shop and track maintenance departments reductions are made in the number of men employed.

No concerted action has been taken by the Reading railway system as to laying off workers, but about 1,000 men were laid off several months ago. Division superintendents were instructed to bear in mind at all times the policy of rigid economy and to eliminate all men whose services were not necessary. Retrenchment over the entire system is the watchword of the Reading Railway.

May Cut Passenger Service.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19.—Reductions in the forces of the Baltimore Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad are being put into effect this week. This will bring the number of employes dismissed since Fall up to 800. The force was 6,800 when dismissals began.

It is said here that the Pennsylvania is contemplating taking off some passenger trains, both express and local. This, it is said, is being worked out in the general offices in Philadelphia.

OTHER ROADS DROPPING MEN.

But No Plan to Decrease Working Time Is Considered Here.

A canvass of local railroad offices yesterday showed that a majority of the lines did not contemplate a reduction in working days. Opinion on the Pennsylvania announcement, however, was divided. Some railroad men said that the company was offering to keep its employes if the latter would agree to a shorter working week. Others felt that this was not the time to do anything that might further raise the question of wage agreements.

While no reduction in working days is contemplated by the Baltimore & Ohio, Delaware & Hudson, Lehigh Valley, New York Central and New Haven roads, it was explained officially for all of the companies that there had been a material reduction in working forces as traffic had fallen off.

This dropping and taking on of some classes of employes is an elastic affair and it is influenced by the demands of business on the individual roads.

LONG ISLAND R. R. DROPS 900.

Some Trains May Be Taken Off if More Men Are Let Go.

Nine hundred of the 9,000 employes of the Long Island Railroad have been laid off since Jan. 1 and more will follow unless the road gets permission to increase its fares, according to a statement made yesterday at the offices of J. H. Savage, General Manager.

It was said that the 10 per cent. cut, while it affects all departments, was so handled that no passenger trains were taken off. This may be necessary if there is a further reduction.

N. & W. TO LAY OFF 2,000 MEN.

Drop in Business Since Jan. 1 "Serious," Says President.

ROANOKE, Va., Jan. 19.—About 2,000 employes of the Norfolk & Western Railway Company will be laid off Saturday, according to information given out today at the general offices of the company. The cut is effective over the entire system and affects practically all shop departments. About 900 men will be laid off in Roanoke.

This reduction will make the total number of men laid off recently to about 3,500.

President N. D. Maher said that the cut was made necessary by a decrease in the company's business, which, he stated, had been "very serious since January."

BROOKLYN LABOR HOPEFUL.

Five Firms Increased Staffs, but 30% of Workers Are Unemployed.

Reports received by Grant E. Scott, industrial secretary of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, who has been surveying the labor situation in Brooklyn, indicates that of the workers employed on June 1, 1920, 30 per cent. were unemployed at the beginning of this year. Mr. Scott's investigation was largely of individual plants, which, under normal conditions, employ about 250,000 workers.

Despite prevailing conditions, Mr. Scott found optimism among employers and workers. Five large concerns reported that they had recently increased the number of their workers. In most cases employers were doing all they could to keep their employees at work by the adoption of half-time and other measures, and the workers were contributing generously to aid those out of employment.

CITY'S SHIVERS CEASE AS COLD SPELL ENDS

The grip of arctic weather relaxed gradually yesterday, so that by last midnight the worst of the cold spell was over. The thermometer slowly struggled up from 6 above, at 3 in the morning, to 22 at 3 in the afternoon. Thereafter it wavered within a degree or two, but lost no material ground, the last report issued from the Weather Bureau, at 11 o'clock last night, fixing the official temperature for that hour at 21 above.

The prediction for today is "unsettled and much warmer Thursday and Friday; fresh south winds." An earlier and more ample report said that "the change to warmer, following the cold wave, is marked and widespread, and has advanced as far east as Cincinnati and Detroit. In this vicinity the temperature will rise decidedly tonight and tomorrow, with increasing cloudiness and probably rain or snow Thursday. Fresh northerly winds will shift to southeast."

Low temperatures of the last few days have resulted in unusual opportunities for skating on hard, smooth ice. The red ball was up in Van Cortlandt Park and hundreds went there. The Morris Canal was frozen over from Paterson to Mountain View, offering a stretch of ice fifteen miles long and as smooth as a billiard table. Many took the Erie to Mountain View and skated all the way back to Paterson.

STERN JUSTICE IN CHICAGO.

Hold-Up Men Get Sentences of From Ten Years to Life Terms.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—With fifteen Judges, or more than double the usual number, trying criminal cases at top speed today the wheels of justice revolved at unusual speed in Chicago.

In Judge Kersten's court Thomas Sloaznik and Stephen Kreeway were sentenced to the penitentiary for a term of from ten years to life—the maximum penalty for robbery. The two pleaded guilty to robbing an express company messenger of $17,500 last July. Two other robbers figured in the attack. One of them was shot and died later. The other, pleading not guilty, is now being tried.

DU BOIS INDICTED AS POLICE GRAFTER

with the Whitman inquiry have told of reporting burglaries or sabotage to the police, and added:

"All the police would do was to recommend a private detective."

In some cases where a private detective agency was employed, it was said, that the private detective charged large fees, but succeeded in having all or most of his work done by members of the Police Department paid by the city.

Mr. Whitman indicated yesterday that the relations between private detective agencies and the Police Department would probably be the most important part of his investigation. His view is that this form of graft is worse than that which flourished in the period which culminated with the Rosenthal murder, because the alleged victims today are legitimate business men while the prey of the police grafter of 1912 were gamblers and white slavers. The outlaws who paid protection in 1912, it was pointed out, were persons of limited means, and could not finance graft on a great scale, whereas the treasuries of fur manufacturers, big printing houses and other industries to be disclosed later offered much greater possibilities.

GOV. MILLER INVITES PRESS CO-OPERATION

Courts Criticism as Well as Approval, He Tells Publishers.

SEES VALUE OF PUBLICITY

He Assures Convention of State Editors That They Will Not Find Him "Thin-Skinned."

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Governor Miller made a frank appeal today for cooperation of the press in directing the glare of publicity on his administrative program in a speech to the State Publishers' Association in convention here.

"I court your approval and support of just those things we undertake which appeal to you as being right," he said. "If we undertake anything you do not think is right, I want you to tell us so."

The Governor told the publishers he realized fully the importance of publicity.

"We have quite a program ahead. Part of it has been outlined and the rest will follow. We cannot get very far without the backing of public opinion and we must rely upon you to inform the public correctly so it can form an intelligent opinion.

"Practically all of my life I have been engaged in a vocation in which I avoided publicity. It is a new experience to me where publicity is required. The people who surround me think I do not develop fast enough in the arts of publicity, but I assure you I am trying my best. I want the newspapers to be very free to comment as they see fit and to point out what they please."

The Governor declared he welcomed co-operation of the press and added: "If at times this means criticism, do not think I am thin-skinned."

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—The State Publishers' Association, the membership of which includes the owners of fifty-two daily newspapers in the State, today went on record as opposed to any reduction of hours in the mechanical departments of their papers.

This action resulted from the announcement by officials of the Stereotypers and Electrotypers' Union that, beginning May 1, the union would demand a forty-four-hour week, a reduction of four hours from the present working week.

In formal resolutions adopted today the Publishers' Association says:

"It is an un-American theory that it is a proper function of labor to exact a maximum toll of profits regardless of conditions."

The resolutions further state that "a marked reduction of output with a rapid enhancement of the cost of production and an extension of the vicious circle of rising prices will be the immediate and inevitable result of such a course.

"In view of the business conditions today labor costs cannot be advanced. The forty-eight-hour week is the economic limit beyond which under present conditions in the newspaper industry it is not possible to go."

Frank E. Gannett of The Rochester Times-Union was re-elected President.

MILLER WARNS WOMEN OF RULE BY GROUPS

Governor Tells Them His Administration Is Going to Be a Partisan One.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Governor Miller, addressing Republican women of the State gathered here in conference tonight, warned them against Government by groups, declaring that aggressive minorities should always be subservient to the majority.

The Governor told the women of his economy and retrenchment program. He reminded them that while a Judge of the Court of Appeals he upheld the statute prohibiting night work for women, but said he did so because the law was constitutional and not because "it was desirable."

"The law was mainly intended to protect mothers and the health of women in industry," said Governor Miller, "but unmarried women who were forced out of employment suffered from its provisions. There is much agitation for social and industrial welfare laws, but there is little true understanding of the social and economic conditions they are intended to effect."

The Governor declared for equal opportunities in industry for women with men. He warned, however, that "there are those who utilize these efforts to accomplish betterments for women to gain some ulterior purpose which has nothing to do with either health or welfare."

"I believe in partisanship, and this is going to be a partisan administration," the Governor said. "I do not want to be misunderstood about this. It has nothing to do with politics in the sense of politics, because doing the right thing is always good politics. We have too much group government. There has been a disintegration lately with no official party mediums to declare principles, and of late there have been influences too good to enroll under party banners."

The women also heard George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee; former Senator Henry M. Sage of Albany and Majority Leader Clayton R. Lusk.

INSISTS POST FREED TREASONABLE ALIENS

WOULD REPEAL SPY ACT

Debs Among 130 Convicted Persons Being Considered for Clemency by the President.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — Attorney General Palmer, testifying today before the Senate Judiciary Committee, asserted that in enforcing the wartime laws of the country the Department of Justice had at all times been careful not to overstep the bounds of its authority and in all instances accused persons received the benefit of all doubts, as far as the department was able to direct such consideration.

Discussing the deportation cases which followed raids by the department in all parts of the country, the Attorney General again asserted that in many instances Assistant Secretary of Labor Louis Post had decided in favor of aliens against whom, in his opinion, the evidence was conclusive as regarded the treasonable activities of such aliens.

The total number of cases handled by the department in its efforts to enforce the wartime laws, the Attorney General said, was about 17,900, and of this number 5,720 had been disposed of by conviction in the courts, and 9,259 cases were still pending, while 2,924 cases had been disposed of otherwise than by conviction.

The greatest number of cases involved violation of the Selective Draft law, the total cited not including minor delinquencies, such as selling liquor and other offenses, under Sections 12 and 13 of the Draft law. Of the draft cases, convictions have been obtained in 4,812 cases, 2,144 cases have been disposed of otherwise than by conviction, while 8,846 cases are still pending in the courts. Under the Espionage act there have been 381 convictions, 315 cases are pending, while 736 cases have been disposed of otherwise than by court action.

Fewer Than 600 Punished.

The careful consideration that the department had given to all cases under the Espionage act, the Attorney General argued, was proved by the fact that fewer than 600 persons had been punished for violating the law. Several cases were cited in which complaint had been made that the department had exceeded its authority.

In one case it was alleged that a prisoner had been maltreated by Department of Justice agents, and a photograph was produced showing the accused with a black eye. Mr. Palmer explained that he had investigated this case, and that a photograph taken by the Government at the time of the arrest showed the accused with two very good and clear eyes. Two other cases cited by Senator Walsh of Montana, the Attorney General said, could not be charged against him, as one was disposed of before he became Attorney General, while the other was an immigration case.

Senator Walsh did most of the questioning, his inquiries being for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the department had, on occasion, directed arrests without due process of law, and also whether or not search warrants had been issued for the purpose of obtaining evidence concerning persons against whom at the time there was no evidence that they had committed a crime.

The status of the Communist Party and of the Communist Labor Party came in for discussion during the examination. The Attorney General pointed out that the deportation law assigned to the Secretary of Labor the duty of deciding what organizations and persons were proscribed, and that in line with this duty the Secretary of Labor had decided that the Communist Party as an organization sought the overthrow of the Government of the United States and therefore alien members of that party were subject to deportation.

Subsequently, the Secretary of Labor decided that the aims of the Communist Labor Party were identical with those of the Communist Party, and as a result the Department of Justice did its best to take into custody aliens identified with the movement to overthrow the Government, after arrest transferring the prisoners to the Department of Labor, to which department the law leaves the final decision in matters involving deportation.

Under the Sabotage act there have been seven convictions, four cases are pending and one case has been decided without recourse to court action. Under the Trading With the Enemy act there have been six convictions, fourteen cases have been disposed of without court action, and twenty-six cases are still pending in the courts.

Many Persons Pardoned.

In answer to questions as to the number of pardons by the President, Attorney General Palmer said that from July 2, 1918, up to Jan. 15, this year, the President had pardoned or commuted the sentences of 199 persons convicted under the Espionage act and that 130 other cases involving possible executive clemency were being considered by the Department of Justice. He added, in answer to a question by Senator Borah, that the case of Eugene V. Debs was among the cases now under consideration.

Whether Debs will be pardoned or not is as yet undecided," the Attorney General said, "but a pardon has not been refused."

The Attorney General opposed a general amnesty proclamation and said that the department was fast disposing of all cases that might be affected by such a proclamation.

"If you don't want the laws enforced, the best way to settle the matter is to repeal the laws," said the Attorney General. "I have favored for some time the repeal of the Espionage act."

ZAYAS WINS ELECTION CASE.

First Cuban Decision on Contests Favors His Candidacy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Jan. 19.—Dr. Zayas's followers were elated tonight over the first judicial decision on the recent election in Santa Clara, but the Liberal adherents of General Gomez did not consider that the decision affected the final result. The decision is summed up thus:

"The Supreme Court has rendered its first decision in the appealed election cases which were decided by the Provincial Board of Santa Clara Province, and the result is that Alfredo Zayas gets the decision, which practically assures the electoral vote of that province for the National League. In this case it means that there is little hope for the appellants to secure enough decisions.

"The Liberals asked for the annulment of elections held in the precincts of Aguas Claras, Rancho Veloz, Guanillas, San Vicente and Santa Fé. In Santa Fé there must be a new election, but this will not be sufficient to change the general result, as far as the national issue is concerned. The reports of the Provincial Electoral Boards are favorable in all the other precincts, and that about settles the matter as far as Santa Clara Province is concerned."

General Crowder is making no comment, but an official statement is expected from Dr. Zayas soon.

COMMENDS HARDING LETTER

London Paper Says It Excludes an Anti-British Policy.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Daily Chronicle, in an editorial appreciation of President-elect Harding's letter to the governors of the Sulgrave institution, regards it as giving a forecast of Mr. Harding's Presidential policy.

"These declarations," says the paper, "exclude the idea that America under Mr. Harding's leadership will play a lone hand in world politics. They exclude equally the idea of her playing an anti-British hand."

The Chronicle proceeds:

"It is given out that one of Mr. Harding's first acts after his inauguration will be to summon a conference of international representatives to discuss the limitation of armaments. That problem is the most urgent immediately confronting the powers, but as it cannot easily be solved in isolation from the others we imagine that the others will be also on the agenda.

"To such a conference Britain would send her representatives in a spirit of cordial co-operation and good-will. She is perfectly conscious of the extent to which the success of any world-wide peace machinery depends upon Anglo-American harmony. Her own feeling toward the United States is different in kind from that toward any other power, and while she does not for a moment claim to occupy in America's regard the same sentimental position which America occupies in hers, she knows very well how much more initial affinity to their own ideals and practices American statesmen will find in British statesmanship than in that of people who have not shared the common English-speaking traditions.

"Mr. Harding is entirely right in saying that such assets of natural kinship should be used in the service of the world as a whole 'not for the exclusion from brotherhood of others, but for a better brotherhood flowing toward others.'"

PALMER ANSWERS UNTERMYER ATTACK

Hints Lawyer's Criticism May Date From "Conviction of His Friend"

UNDER ALIEN ENEMY ACT

Also Says He Refused to Appoint Untermyer Special Assistant in Housing Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Attorney General Palmer replied in a statement tonight to the criticisms of him made by Samuel Untermyer at a dinner at the Hotel Commodore, New York, last night. The Attorney General says he courts fullest investigation into his department.

Statements are made by Mr. Palmer that Mr. Untermyer protested many times when requests of his "clients and friends" were denied by the Alien Property Custodian. Another statement is that Mr. Palmer "did not fall in with Mr. Untermyer's plan to the extent of designating him as Special Assistant Attorney General" in investigating the building trade in New York.

Mr. Palmer closes his statement by saying he does not know how far Mr. Untermyer is actuated in his criticisms "by the recent conviction of his friend and former associate, a member of the New York bar, for conspiracy to violate the Trading With the Enemy act," in a case in which Mr. Palmer asserts Mr. Untermyer asked him to defer action.

No explanation of this veiled reference was made by Mr. Palmer, and he could not be reached tonight to amplify it.

The statement of the Attorney General follows:

"I have just seen an account of the speech of Samuel Untermyer, criticising the administration of the Department of Justice during the last eight years and my administration of the office of Alien Property Custodian.

Palmer Courts Inquiry.

"I have been Attorney General for approximately twenty-three months, and before that I was Alien Property Custodian for a period of about sixteen months. I am perfectly willing to accept responsibility for the administration of these two offices during those periods and court the fullest investigation into the administration of each. In fact, they have both been the subject of numerous and almost constant investigations by the committees of an unfriendly Congress.

"While Alien Property Custodian it was my business to take over all the enemy-owned property in this country. This did not picase Mr. Untermyer, who on many occasions protested against my course and whose requests on behalf of his clients and friends I was repeatedly compelled to deny.

"On one occasion, in the office of the Alien Property Custodian in Washington, Mr. Untermyer concluded an interview by a threat of just the sort of attacks which he has made upon me since. He declared that he had hoped 'for my sake' that I would act otherwise in the matter then pending; 'for,' he said, 'you ought to be more careful about opposing the wishes of men with bitter tongues and vitriolic pens.'

"Mr. Untermyer's criticism of the Alien Property Custodian's office is chiefly a criticism of the act of Congress under which the custodian operated. He never approved of the taking of enemy property as a war measure, much less the sale of any of it to American citizens as authorized by law.

Denies Use of Patronage.

"His allegation of the use of patronage in that office for political purpose, confessedly based upon rumors, is wholly without warrant or justification in fact. This charge has been made before, and I filed with a committee of Congress a list of the names of the directors and attorneys appointed by me, serving the corporations whose enemy-owned stock I had taken over, and this list showed that 85 per cent. of them were Republicans. Many of them served without compensation, and such of them as were paid received their pay from the enemy property which they managed. These properties were uniformly managed with financial success by these American directors so appointed. They were, of course, compelled to pay attorney's fees, but in no case was any charge made against enemy property except for actual legal service rendered, at the rate, and frequently far below the rate, then prevailing in the community where the property was situated.

"No property was sold except at public auction to the highest bidder, and unless the character of the purchaser, the amount of the purchase price and the expenses connected therewith first received the approval of an Advisory Sales Committee consisting of Judge George L. Ingraham, Cleveland H. Dodge, Otto T. Bannard, Ralph Stone and Benjamin H. Griswold.

"Not even Mr. Untermyer, I think, would have the temerity to charge that committee with improper conduct. Charges of this same nature were made before the Judiciary Committee of the Senate when my nomination as Attorney General was pending. They were met by the facts and the charges were utterly exploded so that my confirmation by a Senate whose majority was Republican was made practically without dissent.

Record as Alien Property Custodian.

"The fact is that during my administration as Alien Property Custodian I took over and managed with the powers of a common-law trustee, under conditions without precedent, the property of more than 40,000 enemy persons aggregating about $600,000,000 in value. This was done at a cost to the Government of about one-seventh of 1 per cent. of the principal—a record for economical administration never approached by any trust company in the country.

"I welcome—and I am very sure that Francis P. Garvan, my successor, welcomes—the most critical and rigid examination into the entire conduct of the office of Alien Property Custodian from beginning to end, though I express the hope, in the public interest, that if such investigation be made under the guidance of counsel of the sort Mr. Untermyer describes, that counsel should be one who was in sympathy with the loyal American purpose in the enactment and enforcement of the Trading With the Enemy act.

"As to anti-trust cases, everybody knows that during the war they were suspended. Arguments on appeals in those cases were continued in the Supreme Court, and in the lower courts all cases were held for further action after the war. Since I came to the office of Attorney General we have argued all the anti-trust cases pending in the Supreme Court, and we have continued the investigation and trial of the cases in the lower courts, as well as bringing a large number of new suits.

"When the investigation of the New York building trade situation was proposed I did not fall in with Mr. Untermyer's plan to the extent of designating him as Special Assistant Attorney General, but I did direct the department's representatives in New York to cooperate with him and appointed special assistants for that purpose. When a situation developed which seemed to warrant a larger organization, I appointed Mr. Rand and Mr. Kresel as special assistants, giving them an absolutely free hand to proceed in all these matters in any jurisdiction in the country and promising them all the organization that under the law and within the department's appropriation I could consistently give.

"I make no comment upon the charge that the Bureau of Investigation of the Department of Justice before and during the war did little except to rely on the British secret service, because I had nothing to do with the conduct of this department during that period.

"How far Mr. Untermyer is actuated in his present attack by the recent conviction of his friend and former assistant, a member of the New York bar, for conspiracy to violate the trading with the enemy act in a case in which Mr. Untermyer very earnestly pressed me to withhold action at the beginning, I do not know."

BLOW AT DRUG RING IS SEEN IN ARRESTS

Four Prisoners Believed to Have Been Long Active in the Bowery District.

Through the arrest yesterday of three men and a boy on charges of trafficking in narcotics, Dr. Carleton Simon, Deputy Police Commissioner in charge of the Narcotic Division, believes that he has broken up a band which for three months has been selling drugs to addicts in the Bowery district.

Early in the day Policeman Wittenberg of the Fifth Street Station saw Anthony Buonarri, 29 years old, of 248 Elizabeth Street, in conversation with Frank Casselli, 36 years old, of 219 Christie Street, at Rivington and Christie Streets. He later told Magistrate Sweetser in the Essex Market Court that he saw Buonarri turn over to Casselli two packages of heroin. Casselli then gave Buonarri some money, he said, and he arrested both. The Magistrate held each in $500 bail for examination on Jan. 21. Wittenberg then reported to Commissioner Simon.

Detectives Kirley and Kuhn of the Narcotic Squad were sent to round up other members of the band, and at the same corner arrested Collogues Mattina, 33 years old, of 207 Forsythe Street, after he was alleged to have offered Detective Kuhn two packages of heroin for $2. Detectives Moffett and Salis later arrested Joseph Milno, 16, of Port Jefferson, L. I., who they charged sold them four packages of heroin for $4.

Justice Collins in the Children's Court announced that he would appeal to the Italian Consul to aid the police and the Federal authorities to prevent wholesale smuggling of drugs from Italy, and Commissioner Simon by Italians in the disposal of the drugs. He also said that a ring of Italians were selling narcotics here, brought from Italy.

PROTECTING CUBA'S HEALTH

Commission Sent to Investigate Diseases in Oriente.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, Jan. 19.—Following a conference at the Palace, President Menocal tonight dispatched a special commission to the extreme eastern end of the island to investigate and report upon a situation that is declared in news reports to be "alarming." The situation is said to involve the public health and to have resulted from an influx of immigrants who have spread contagious diseases.

Dr. Domingo Mendez Capote, Secretary of Public Works, heads the commission. He left on a special train, and will make personal investigations in other interior parts, besides the State of Oriente.

A committee of planters from Camaguey and Oriente has complained to the Secretary of Agriculture that Haitian and Jamaican laborers brought for the sugar areas are refusing to work, are spreading discontent and are likely to become public charges and endanger the public health.

The tour through the eastern provinces will include a special study of the water works system which, it is said, has become polluted in some districts. In Santiago it is said that health is endangered because of the failure of the water plan.

A quarantine has been established against Haiti due to smallpox.

MUST WEAR SING SING GARB.

Silk Shirts and Fancy Cravats Denied Prisoners by Warden.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, Jan. 19.—Warden Lawes has issued an order that hereafter all prisoners shall wear the gray uniform prescribed by Sing Sing regulations. Some of the wealthier prisoners have been in the habit of wearing only the gray trousers of the uniform, displaying silk shirts, stiff collars and fancy cravats.

The object of the new order is to put all men on the same level, regardless of their private means. At the same time, it is believed it will make it more difficult for convicts who escape to pass themselves off as civilians. There are a few prisoners who are fond of wearing flowers. The new order does not forbid them.

ATTACKS COAL BILL AS PRICE FIXING

Vice President of Coal Association Tilts With Senators at Hearing.

DENIES EXCESSIVE PROFITS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Provisions of the Calder bill for Federal regulation of the coal industry were denounced as "revolutionary" in their application to existing relations of American government and industry," by J. D. A. Morrow, Vice President of the National Coal Association, today before the Senate Manufactures Committee. Another witness, Huston Thompson, Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, appearing late in the day, however, began an endorsement of the measure, which was cut short by adjournment until tomorrow, when he will resume.

Mr. Morrow's stand was far from being unchallenged by members of the committee. When he remarked that the committee "between three days" was passing upon a proposal for price fixing, and a measure that was "barely short of nationalization of coal mines," Senator Jones, Democrat, New Mexico, retorted that members of the committee had "spent months and years in study of the situation."

When Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts, raised the question of high prices paid in New England for coal last year, suggesting that the Government and the industry had failed to cure the difficulty "by placing an embargo on export coal, as Great Britain did," Mr. Morrow countered with the assertion that New England was a manufacturing district and that "coal producers are willing to stand embargo when other producers using coal to make things for export are willing to stand it." Senator Walsh responded with the statement that coal and milk were commodities that the Government ought to prepare to take charge of first in emergency.

Chairman La Follette switched the examination to bear upon the association itself, and Mr. Morrow cited its annual expenses as about $300,000, covering some activities which he said in recent years were "abnormal," and his own salary at $18,000 per annum. All this, Senator La Follette observed, "had to come out of coal production costs," and Senator Reed promptly pointed to officers of the Mine Workers' Union, attending the hearing, and suggested the miners had "some organization costs to come out of coal, too." Mr. Morrow agreed to both suggestions.

Senator Reed drew from the witness numerous statements that coal resources of the United States were immense in extent, and that continuing shortage of supply was impossible. Mr. Morrow prefaced his statement on this bill with the statement that mine operators generally had not taken excess profits during the coal shortage last year.

"We have collected statistics upon 100,000,000 tons of production made prior to Oct. 1," he said, "and show the high average selling price at the mine to have been $3.47 a ton, and the cost of producing $2.76. That left a margin of 71 cents, which does not represent profit, because the overhead costs, depletion charges and taxes have to come out of it."

Basic coal prices since 1914 have increased about 100 per cent., due to advances in supplies, increased depletion charges, and higher wages, the last being the most important, Mr. Morrow said.

"The base rate in the Pittsburgh district now for mine day labor is $7.50 a day," he added. "In the Southwest it is about $8."

Eight hours constituted a day in nearly all coal production, Mr. Morrow said, and the day workers would constitute 25 per cent. of the total of mine employes.

Present prices on coal at the mines "are below cost of production," said Mr. Morrow, reading a series of reports from districts, made on Jan. 13, ranging from $2.10 to $3.60 per ton.

Those prices illustrate the fact that where you have a sufficiency of transportation and a normal supply you don't have to worry about prices at the mine," Mr. Morrow concluded.

THOMAS WARD FROZEN TO DEATH IN ALASKA

President of Copper Company Lost His Way on Dogsled Trip From His Camp.

NOME, Alaska, Jan. 19.—Thomas Ward, President and General Manager of the Ward Copper company of New York, was found frozen to death a few miles from Teller, Alaska, Jan. 12, according to word reaching Nome today.

According to the report, Mr. Ward left the company's mining camp in the inner Seward Peninsula with an Eskimo man and woman and two dog teams en route to Teller, a reindeer station on Grantley Harbor. After reaching the top of the divide above Teller the three became lost in the darkness. The Eskimos said they decided to go back to a cabin they had seen, but Ward proceeded alone.

For the next two days, the Eskimos said, they were stormbound in the cabin and on the third day battled their way to the station, only to learn that Ward had not arrived. A searching party started out the next day and found Ward's sled and dog team on Dewey Creek. There were evidences that Ward had spent the night there. The temperature during the night had been 20 degrees below zero and Ward was known to have only a robe to protect him from the cold.

Members of the searching party said Ward had evidently left his team on the morning of the 12th and started for Teller, ten miles distant. He probably became confused, they said, and headed in the wrong direction. The body was found on the Teller side of Grantley Harbor, about twenty miles distant from Teller.

100 DIE IN MEXICAN TORRENT

Poisoning From Chemicals in Water Adds to Pachuca Victims.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 19.—More than 100 persons were drowned and more than 200 others were injured in the disaster yesterday at Pachuca, where two dams above the city broke and torrents of water swept through the lower sections of that big mining centre. A thousand persons were rendered homeless.

Several mines were flooded, and it is believed that the death list will be added to considerably when the shafts are cleared.

The dams held back water used in the chemical treatment of ores, and many of the deaths were due to the victims being poisoned by swallowing this water.

Rents Cut at New Britain.

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Jan. 19.—The Hardware City Loan Corporation, controlling thirty-nine tenement houses accommodating more than 117 families, announced today that owing to the industrial depression a flat cut of $5 per month in rents will be effective Feb. 1.

EUROPE RELUCTANT TO DROP LEAGUE

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

birth, Europe is not going to bury it in order to make easier the fulfilment of the political promises of Mr. Harding."

Viviani Defends Form of League.

It would not be sound to present the Midi editorial as representing the opinion of the French Government. One does not have to depend as to this on newspaper editorials or the talk at the Quai d'Orsay, important as either may be. Yesterday René Viviani, a member of the French delegation to the Geneva Assembly, who is one of the two men who will be Premier of France if Briand falls, reported formally on the Assembly meeting. In his report he said:

"In several weeks we are going to see what official interpretation will be given to the pact on the other side of the Atlantic. We French are ready to take conciliatory steps in good conscience. It cannot be permitted that technicalities shall separate us from America. I refer to Article X. But I believe there is a more fundamental difference.

"Article X. is evidently dangerous for honest people who wish no bluff in their relations with other nations. It was against Article X. that I opposed the admission of the Baltic States and Georgia to the League, because if these nations were attacked by the Bolsheviki we would not be in a position to give them aid. It may be in America that they fear the duty of sending armies to Europe. In given conditions we can well afford to review Article X.

"But that is not the only point at issue. Even the existence of the covenant is threatened. Mr. Harding speaks of an association of nations. We speak of the League of Nations. Now if it were only a question of words it would not be important. But it is not merely a question of words.

Covenant's Link With Treaties.

"There are two conceptions of the League. In the first conception the pact has been put at the head of treaties, not only preceding the articles of the treaties, but serving as a moral preface. There is an appeal to international honor, then there is the covenant and then the articles of the treaties. The League is tied up to the treaties, so that if the League disappears many articles of the treaties disappear. What would become of the whole mandate system?

"There is another conception. It is that which Argentina manifested at Geneva, when she proposed nothing less than to destroy the pact. No one else agreed with her. This argument is that on one side there exists the treaty, whole in itself, and on the other hand the pact, which is something else. This is a conception which we cannot accept."

M. Viviani then went on to say that there was a wide field for changes in the League covenant and that changes should be made, but that the technical form of the League must stand. He argued that it formed the only practicable machinery of international co-operation now, and said:

"Be generous. What great work in the history of humanity has been achieved in one day? Do not despair of the League. It is a absurd to say that the League has only to shake its finger to save the world from all ills. But wait. Let it grow. It will become, little by little, not the supergovernment we have heard about, not a superparliament, but a great moral arbiter.

HARDING POSTPONES CABINET DECISIONS

to appointment of political managers to the Cabinet regard delay of selections as giving time for more organized opposition.

Mr. Harding's attention was called to a dispatch in an Ohio paper, saying that Will Hays as Postmaster General was his first Cabinet selection, Mr. Harding said that the report was news to him and that he would like to know "where the authoritative announcement came from." After publication of this report Mr. Hays was invited to Marion, and rode with the President-elect to Cleveland Monday, but it is known that during their three hours' conversation Mr. Harding made no Cabinet tender to the Chairman.

Mr. Harding's positive declaration that he would appoint a "Republican Cabinet" appears to dispose of all speculation about George E. Chamberlain, Democratic Senator from Oregon, as Secretary of War. This speculation arose largely from remarks of Mr. Harding concerning his regard for Senator Chamberlain.

Mr. Harding Gives Up Editorship.

MARION, Ohio, Jan. 19 (Associated Press).—Mr. Harding attended to various personal matters today preparatory to departure from Marion tomorrow night. All of tomorrow will be given over to packing and putting his private business affairs in order.

Definite announcement was made tonight that the President-elect would return to Marion before the inauguration. He will spend only one day here, however, arriving on March 2 and leaving the next day for Washington.

Mr. Harding resigned tonight as President of the Harding Publishing Company, and thus relinquished the active direction he has exercised for thirty years over the editorial policy of The Marion Daily Star. He did not sever his connection with the paper, however, accepting the Chairmanship of the Board of Directors with the understanding that his duties are to be more or less perfunctory while he is in the White House.

FALL GOING WITH HARDING.

Senate Feeling Against Hughes and for Root Still Growing.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Senators Fall of New Mexico and Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, two of President-elect Harding's closest friends, will leave Washington tomorrow for St. Augustine to join Mr. Harding. Mr. Frelinghuysen is to be the host of the President-elect and Mrs. Harding on his houseboat during their Florida vacation. Mr. Fall is going at Mr. Harding's invitation, and it is supposed that he desires to consult the Senator concerning the makeup of the Cabinet and other matters.

Mr. Frelinghuysen is reported to favor the appointment of Hughes as Secretary of State. So far as has appeared, no other Senator is advocating Hughes's selection for this post. While the general impression in the Senate is that Mr. Harding has virtually made up his mind to offer the place to Hughes, the hope is growing in the Republican Senate ranks that he will not do so.

It is realized that Elihu Root is the only Republican of prominence who has a chance of displacing Hughes. Senator Knox, whose appointment would have pleased party men generally, took himself out of consideration.

The same thing is true of Senator Lodge. He and other New England Republicans are anxious that ex-Senator Weeks shall be a member of the Cabinet. It is obvious that the President-elect would not be inclined to appoint two Massachusetts men to his council of advisers. Nothing has appeared to indicate that Mr. Lodge would care to leave the Senate, although he has been regarded as one of the few men likely to be in the President-elect's mind with reference to the Secretaryship of State. In the general understanding that Mr. Weeks will enter the Cabinet, those inclined to favor Mr. Lodge for the premiership have not brought his name to Mr. Harding's attention.

Senators who favored the appointment of Dr. David Jayne Hill of New York to the senior place in the Cabinet are said to have abandoned their efforts in his behalf. This leaves only Hughes and Root on the available list, with Hughes having the better chance. Sentiment in favor of Root's selection is growing in the Senate, and it is expected that Mr. Harding will soon be aware that his preference for Hughes is not pleasing to many Republicans, in the Senate and out.

Information which came to THE NEW YORK TIMES that Senator Penrose had protested to Mr. Harding against the appointment of Hughes and Hoover to the Cabinet was denied today by Mr. Penrose. He indicated that he believed it was Mr. Harding's business to choose his own Cabinet and he himself did not intend to interfere.

FOLLOW LINCOLN INAUGURAL

Congressional Committee Plans for Very Simple Ceremony.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19. — A photograph of the inauguration of Lincoln was used as a guide today by the Joint Congressional committee in adopting plans for the inauguration of President-elect Harding. Chairman Knox said that in simplicity the arrangements for March 4 would almost duplicate those in '61.

The President-elect's views were given to the committee by Elliott Woods, superintendent of the Capitol, who went to Marion several days ago to discuss the matter with Mr. Harding. The committee then decided that the small stand to be built at the top of the steps on the east portico would be made large enough to accommodate the President-elect, Chief Justice White, who will administer the oath, the Inaugural Committee and a few other officials.

All spectators except the official party and possibly a few working newspapermen, will stand during the ceremony, according to present plans, but parts of the portico and steps may be roped off for members of Congress and others.

gain her ability to pay, must insist that the total indemnity be not fixed after five years, but during those five years; otherwise, says the Tageblatt, German enterprise would be seriously handicapped, to the sorrow of the Entente.

Forecast of Briand's Declaration.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The Cabinet tonight put the finishing touches on the Ministerial declaration to be made in the Chamber of Deputies tomorrow. It will declare that the financial question is entirely dominated, even conditioned, by the chief problem of reparations due from Germany. While striving to realize a vast plan of economy and endeavoring to adapt expenditure to revenue, the Government will devote its efforts to obtaining from Germany the execution of the treaty without violence, if the German Government shows itself disposed to fulfill its engagements, both as regards disarmament and payment for the destruction caused by Germany.

The declaration will add that the maintenance of alliances sealed on the battlefield are essential, both as regards Germany and to assure continuity of France's entire foreign policy, particularly in the East, where France will endeavor to maintain her acquired rights in conformity with age-long tradition.

As regards Russia, the declaration will say that the French Government, while permitting Frenchmen to trade freely with Russia, will not resume political relations with the Soviet Government as long as it abstains from giving guarantees that it is ready to respect the free expression of the will of the Russian people and international engagements of preceding Russian Governments.

Premiers' Conference in Paris Monday.

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Foreign Office definitely announced today that Premier Lloyd George was going to Paris Saturday evening or Sunday for the conference of allied Premiers. It also stated that the conference had been fixed for Monday. The British Premier is frankly in accord with the new French Government on many questions, notably the reparations plan, the disarmament of Germany and the revision of the Sèvres Treaty.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—British official circles declare untrue the reports from Berlin that the British and French representatives have arrived at a new basis for negotiation of the reparations question. It is stated that the allied "lump sum" policy for reparations remains in force, but that a plan for five annual payments is being discussed in order to obtain a partial payment immediately.

The Allies will reserve the right to present Germany's total indemnity bill at any time, and it is declared that there is no likelihood of a compromise on other sections of the treaty, such as German retention of Upper Silesia, or a reduction in the armies of occupation as a reward to Germany, even if the annual payment plan is adopted.

MIND OF FARRELL AFFECTED BY TRIP

Lieutenant Unable to Attend Court of Inquiry, Where Hinton Tells Whole Story.

HIS CASE LIKE SHELLSHOCK

Lieutenant Stephen A. Farrell was reported by navy surgeons to be too ill to appear yesterday before the court of inquiry at the Rockaway Air Station to challenge, if he wished, the testimony of Lieutenant Walter Hinton bearing upon the words and actions of Farrell when the balloon crew was lost in the Canadian wilderness.

The anxiety of the four days the three Lieutenants struggled against the arctic cold has temporarily affected Farrell's mind. Physicians described his condition as due to "exhaustion psychosis." Testimony to this effect was read into the record by Lieutenant Julius F. Neuberger, senior medical officer at the air station. He compared the case to shell shock.

Whether Farrell's affliction would have a permanent effect, Lieutenant Neuberger was unable to say, but hoped that the results would soon pass and that he might get the officer before the court this afternoon. But it is probable that Farrell may not be able to leave the sick bay for several days because of tonsilitis, with fever.

The medical officer told the court that his examination of the men when they returned disclosed that the four days in the wilderness had left its deepest imprint upon the mind and physique of Farrell, who, at 45 years, was the oldest of the three.

Lieutenant A. L. Kloor, the 23-year-old commander, stood the strain easily. Hinton lost twenty-one pounds and complains of severe pains. All three men had their noses slightly frozen.

According to the medical record, Farrell reported that he had several fainting spells in the wilds after he drank water from moose tracks. Strain also told upon the Lieutenant's heart. The examining physician found danger spots on the lungs of both Farrell and Hinton.

"In addition to these symptoms the patient showed the mental symptoms known to medicine as exhaustion psychosis," Lieutenant Neuberger testified. "I believe this condition to be due to severe exhaustion, prolonged anxiety, worry and extreme exposure.

"He also shows extreme restlessness and irritability, slight confusion of thought, and a degree of perplexity. He suffers from extreme excito-motor excitation, a prominent symptom of exhaustion psychosis, making the patient active and inclined to violence. This condition is similar to shell shock and represents extreme mental and physical symptoms."

Although the members of the court of inquiry have been inquiring daily about the Lieutenant's condition, their first request for formal presentation of facts came yesterday, after Hinton began his narrative of Farrell's remarks and acts in the wilds and touched upon the row with Farrell at Mattice.

Hinton Tells His Story.

Hinton did not repeat any of the phrases used by him in letters to his wife, but he retold every detail of his story virtually as he presented it in the letters, publication of which angered Farrell. There was no direct questioning on this phase of the testimony, and there was some discussion among members of the court about admitting it to the records in view of the absence of Farrell. It was decided that he could read those parts of the record and then tell his side of the story.

Hinton said that Farrell was tired by his struggles through the snow two hours after they abandoned the balloon on the afternoon of Tuesday, Dec. 14.

"On Thursday, Dec. 16, at 11 A. M., Farrell was very tired," said Hinton slowly. "We stopped for an hour's rest and built a fire. At 12:20 Farrell fell from exhaustion several times.

"It would be unfair for me to state the remarks that were passed while he was in this exhausted and fainting condition. But I called Kloor and discussed the advisability of taking the knife from Farrell and going on, as suggested by Farrell, with the only hope in mind that we could find assistance—as I had stated my conviction several times that a small stream we found led to a river and that there was a house just around the corner. Farrell gave me his money, $94, and said: 'You keep it. If any one gets through you will.'"

In telling of the row at Mattice, where Farrell struck Hinton after learning of the publication of letters written at Moose Factory, Hinton described in detail their arrival at the railroad. He said that he and Kloor, proceeding ahead, had found instructions for them from the Secretary of the Navy.

"I volunteered to convey these to Farrell, who was in a house near by," said Hinton. "I requested him to return with me to the car, as we had some very important telegrams which concerned him. He flew into a rage and made statements which I do not consider fair to repeat. Due to his overwrought nerves and condition I did not consider him responsible for what he said or did.

"I left the house and returned to the car. Farrell came over about fifteen minutes later and all differences were made right and there was no further controversy on the matter."

26 MEDALS AWARDED FOR ACTS OF HEROISM

Carnegie Commission Announces Honors and Pensions—9 Recognized Who Lost Their Lives.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 19.—New York and New England awards predominated at the seventeenth annual meeting of the Carnegie Hero Commission, held here today, when twenty-six acts of heroism were recognized. One silver medal and twenty-five bronze medals were awarded. Nine of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of four of these pensions aggregating $3,420 a year were granted; to the dependents of four of the others who lost their lives the sum of $3,250 was granted, to be applied as the commission may sanction. In addition to these money grants, in eleven cases awards aggregating $17,600 were appropriated for educational purposes, while in six other cases awards aggregating $5,500 were made for other worthy purposes. The cases in New York and New England were as follows:

Samuel Strauber, deceased, 1,582 Madison Avenue, New York City; bronze medal to the father. Strauber was 17 years old, and a garment cutter. He died attempting to save Helen Gottfried, aged 14, from drowning at Coney Island on July 2, 1920. Miss Gottfried was saved when two or three men took hold of her and got her to shore.

Wallace R. Brewster, deceased; bronze medal to the mother, Canastaota, N. Y. He was aged 13, a student. He sustained fatal injuries in attempting to save John E. and Carl F. Robison, aged 8 and 11, respectively, from a runaway at Canastota on June 28, 1919. Brewster was stepped on by a horse and one of the wheels went over him. Neither of the boys was injured, but Brewster died of his injuries five days later.

Stanislaw Kristoff, deceased; bronze medal to the father, Box 338, Bridgehampton, L. I. Kristoff was a schoolboy, aged 13 years. He died attempting to save Charles Dambkowski, aged 8, from drowning at Sagaponack, N. Y., on Aug. 14, 1920.

Howard E. Shepard, Montour Falls, N. Y.; bronze medal. He was a student, aged 17, and saved Bertram F. Schwert, aged 18, a student, from drowning at Bloomville, N. Y., on June 2, 1918.

Frederick F. Reynolds, 148 Main Street, Dansville, N. Y.; bronze medal. He was aged 22, a shoe cutter, when he saved Archie C. Mann, aged 22, a mechanic, from suffocation at Dansville on June 10, 1917, after two men had refused to go to the rescue.

John C. Giles, 209 Boiling Springs Avenue, East Rutherford, N. J.; bronze medal. He was a clerk, aged 38 years, when he saved Henry J. Dreher, aged 6 years, from being killed by a train at Rutherford on Oct. 19, 1918. The rescuer was badly bruised.

Henry C. Bell Jr., 487 Main Street, Portland, Conn.; bronze medal. He was a schoolboy, aged 11 years, when he saved N. Bernice Tryon, aged 12, from drowning at Portland on Aug. 13, 1918.

Farris F. Branan Jr., 1,080 Raynor Street, Memphis, Tenn.; bronze medal. Branan was aged 14, a student. He saved Gladys E. Kehew, aged 16, from drowning at Winthrop, Mass., on July 13, 1916.

Arthur T. Rossier, deceased; bronze medal to the widow, Newport, Vt. Rossier was aged 26 years, a farmer. He died in attempting to save Napoleon E. Mailhot, aged 18, a farmer, from drowning at Westmore, Vt., on Aug. 31, 1919.

SAYS CAPTAIN SOLD TUG WITHOUT LEAVE

Col. Bradley Testifies Authority Rested With Himself and Washington Officials.

Colonel John J. Bradley, Assistant Chief of Army Transport, Hoboken, testified at the court-martial of Captain Ramon B. Harrison on Governors Island yesterday, charged with the sale of the tugboat Grover Cleveland for $2,500 when an offer of $10,000 was in hand, that Captain Harrison had no authority to sell the tug. All authority, Colonel Bradley testified, reposed in himself and officials at Washington.

At 4 o'clock on the afternoon of Sept. 29, after Captain Matthew P. Quigley, acting as the agent of the City of Newark, had been informed by Captain Harrison that the tug had been sold, according to the former's statement, Lieutenant Otto Runde Jr. conferred with Colonel Bradley about the $2,500 offer from Ernest Rudolph and told Colonel Bradley that it was the best offer the Government had received for the tug.

Colonel Bradley said that he certainly would have withheld approval of the sale of the tug to Rudolph had he known of a larger offer.

"My part in the conduct of the affairs of the office were not perfunctory," Colonel Bradley told the court. "I went over the details of every transaction, and I am sure Washington did not give approval to Runde. I would have received and transmitted to Washington any other offer had I known of one, and would have held up approval of the Rudolph offer."

William J. Livingstone, bookkeeper of the First National Bank of Hoboken, where Captain Harrison had an account, submitted a true copy of Captain Harrison's ledger account showing that on Sept. 24 the officer deposited $1,250 in cash, and $303.38 on Oct. 8. Major William A. Turnbull, Judge Advocate, made no attempt to show that Livingstone's testimony had any bearing upon the sale of the tug, and the introduction of the bank official into the case was vigorously objected to by Captain Harrison's counsel.

J. W. Millard, naval architect of this city, told the Court that he had appraised the Grover Cleveland for the city of Newark and that the tug was worth between $20,000 and $24,000.

ENRIGHT PROMOTES 28.

Six Lieutenants Advanced to Replace Last Four Days' Resignations.

Six lieutenants, seven sergeants and fifteen patrolmen were promoted by Police Commissioner Richard E. Enright yesterday. Lieutenants Michael Flattery, James Walsh, Phillip W. Auer, Michael T. Ahearn, Cornelius Carmody and John E. McGrath were advanced to captains, and Sergeants William F. Sullivan, Charles Brummerhop, James F. McGrath, John Lenahan, William C. McKay, Patrick J. Noble and John W. Frazer were made lieutenants.

Captain Flattery was sent to command the Simpson Street Station in the Bronx, Captain Walsh to the Prospect Park Station, Captain Carmody to the Snyder Avenue Station, Brooklyn; Captain Auer to the Madison Street Station, Captain McGrath to the West Forty-seventh Street Station and Captain Ahearn to the Traffic Squad. They were promoted to take the places of six captains who retired from the force within the last four days. Commissioner Enright also assigned Lieutenant Archibald McNeill of the East 104th Street Station, who heads the eligible for promotion list, to command the Flushing Station in Brooklyn as an acting captain.

It was learned at Police Headquarters yesterday that Commissioner Enright contemplates renumbering all the city precincts consecutively after he has abolished precincts and inspection districts, which he feels can be combined with others.

COMPLAIN OF RUM TRAFFIC.

Families of Inebriates Write Letters to Magistrate Simms.

Since his remarks in Jefferson Market Court Sunday about the failure of the authorities to stop illegal liquor traffic in this city Magistrate Charles E. Simms has received a dozen or more letters giving information concerning the illegal sale of intoxicants. The writers volunteer their services in running down the offenders. The writers, for the most part, are the innocent victims of the traffic. The addresses of fifty saloons will be turned over to the Federal authorities by Magistrate Simms as the result of these letters.

Scores of similar letters are received every week at the offices of Federal Supervising Prohibition Agent Daniel J. Chapin.

Two agents on the staff of Supervising Agent Chapin were arrested yesterday afternoon by detectives of the East Twenty-second Street station on charges of extortion preferred by William Brady, a saloonkeeper at 410 Second Avenue. The men are Alfred Ketcham, 26, of Farmingdale, L. I., and Charles Walters, 45, of 422 East Eighty-second Street, Manhattan. They were locked up at Police Headquarters last night.

DENIES DRY LAW STRAIN.

Williams Says Revenue System Does Not Face Breakdown.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Denial that the Federal tax gathering machinery is on the verge of a breakdown as a result of saddling the Internal Revenue Bureau of the Government with the enforcement of the Volstead act was made today by Commissioner of Internal Revenue Williams.

He admitted that the enforcement of the Federal prohibition laws had imposed a severe burden on the Internal Revenue Bureau, but insisted that the machinery for gathering Federal taxes was never in better condition than now. However, he emphasized the importance of simplification of the present tax laws, of adding no increased administrative difficulties to the work of the bureau, and of sufficient Congressional appropriations to enable the Government to retain in its service its experienced and valuable men.

'No Blue Sunday League' Chartered.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The No Blue Sunday League, Inc., was incorporated with Secretary of State John J. Lyons today. The corporation, according to the statement filed, was formed to promote activities which shall restrain the making of "annoying, harassing and unfair blue Sunday laws." The incorporators were William C. Appelberg and Daniel F. McCallum of New York City and C. F. White of Brooklyn. The corporation has a capital of $5,000.

LENIN EXPERIMENT SEEN AS FAILURE

State Department Officials Convinced American Policy of Non-Recognition Is Vindicated.

RED PLEDGES WORTHLESS

Doubt British Government and Soviet Will Ever Reach Effective Agreement on Trade.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—All the information reaching State Department officials relative to the progress of events in Russia, it was learned today, has confirmed them in their opinion as to the correctness of the American Government's Russian policy of non-recognition of the Moscow régime and refused to have any official dealings with the Lenin régime.

They are not only convinced of the failure of the Communist experiment in Russia, but satisfied that the Moscow Soviet Government, the leaders of which have never abandoned their program of world revolution, is insincere in its professions of friendliness to outside powers. On the basis of latest reports received officials feel that the American Government has been vindicated in its policy of refusing to deal with a Government that seeks the overthrow of the American and other Governments by direct action and revolution.

Doubt is expressed here that the British Government and the Soviets will reach any effective agreement relative to plans for trading. Two weeks ago the State Department was informed that the negotiations between Leonid Krassin, the Bolshevist negotiator at London, and the British Government had reached an impasse and that Krassin was proceeding to Moscow. It is not known definitely whether the negotiations between London and Moscow have failed completely, but the departure of Krassin from London is understood here to mark a fresh rift between the Bolshevist authorities and those British officials who were seeking by negotiation to reach an agreement placating and circumscribing Soviet Russia.

Nicolai Lenin, the Bolshevist Premier, recently declared to the Congress of Soviets in Moscow that England would be made to submit to what Soviet Russia wanted and would be "forced to her knees," according to official advices received here, and the present activities of the Bolsheviki in Asia Minor are thought to influence the British Government to tie Russia's hands with a commercial treaty, in an effort to prevent the Soviet leaders from prosecuting their propaganda and military movement toward the East. It is believed the British authorities now realize that Moscow's promises never were and never will be given with any intent to observe them, and that the conclusion of such a treaty as Moscow demands would only tend to serve the interests of the Bolsheviki.

Moscow, on the other hand, is thought to have weighed the advantages from the Soviet political viewpoint of a continuance of the Bolshevist activities in the Near East as an existing force in the program for precipitation of world revolution, and to have set up counter-conditions which the British Foreign Office could not accept, so as to leave Soviet Russia entirely free to carry on its warlike movement in the East.

The best opinion here is that Soviet prestige has been enhanced, both in Russia and abroad, by the British overtures and later negotiations for which Earl Curzon, one of England's foremost experts on Near Eastern affairs, is considered mainly responsible. His policies in both Persia and Mesopotamia, aiming to make England's position paramount in the Near East, are believed to have failed for the moment, mainly on account of Bolshevist and American opposition.

MAJOR CHURCHILL TELLS OF MISSION IN EUROPE

He Is Co-ordinating the Work of American Military Attaches on the Continent.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, Jan. 18.—"My mission in Europe is to bring all American Military Attachés into closer touch with the Military Intelligence Office at home," said Major Marlborough Churchill, speaking to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent. He is now in Rome after having visited Holland, Scandinavia, Finland, Esthonia, Lithuania, Poland, Germany, Switzerland and Spain.

"I hope this visit of mine will perfect and co-ordinate the work which was started by the conferences held at The Hague in 1919 and in Rome and Coblenz in 1920. Our aim is to organize our Military Attachés all over Europe into a corps of officers, all working harmoniously to the same end. That end is the scientific gathering of military information. I am expected to start for America on June 1 after having visited Cairo, Greece, Turkey, Serbia, Rumania, Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, England and Belgium."

Major Churchill has been received by Generals Diaz and Badoglio, with both of whom he had long, cordial conversations.

General Evan Johnson, the American Military Attaché at Rome, gave an allied military dinner of twenty-four covers in honor of Major Churchill. Among those present were General Badoglio and the chief staff officers of the Italian Army.

TO PETITION FOR BUSES.

Board of Estimate Appointed Committee by Mayor to See Governor.

Mayor Hylan yesterday appointed every member of the Board of Estimate as a committee to go to Albany and present to Governor Miller the resolution recently adopted by the board to petition the Governor and Legislature to enact legislation giving the city the right to operate buses.

"I note with satisfaction the attitude of the members of the Legislature from Brooklyn, irrespective of party," said the Mayor, "and congratulate them on the fact that they have at last given heed to aroused public sentiment on the treatment accorded to the people of the city by the traction interests and their sympathizers.

"If the legislators of the greater city would unite and demand legislation giving the Board of Estimate the right to purchase and operate up-to-date, commodious, sanitary automobile buses, we would have 5,000 buses in operation in this city in less than a year with a five-cent fare."

Secretary Joseph Haag of the Board of Estimate was instructed to write to the Governor asking for an appointment.

Gas Fumes From Auto Kill Owner.

While working on his automobile in the garage in the rear of his home at 264 Sixth Avenue, Astoria, Charles Mehler, 67, a cheese merchant, was killed by gas fumes. He was found unconscious last night and doctors from St. John's Hospital worked in vain on him with pulmotors for two hours, when they pronounced him dead.

MUTINY AND STORMS ENLIVENED LINER'S TRIP

Crew Fired Shots From Portholes, One Died and Gale Smashed Wireless.

The passengers and crew of the New Rochelle of the Baltic Steamship Company heaved sighs of relief when the vessel docked yesterday at Brooklyn, after a trip marked by hurricanes, accidents and mutiny among the crew. With all these troubles the steamer attempted to go to the aid of a vessel signaling for help by wireless.

The New Rochelle, bound to this port from Danzig, left Hamburg sixteen days ago. The first day out the vessel met a hurricane which battered the port lights and broke the deck railing. As the storm increased the wireless was put out of commission and for two days the steamer was without means of communication.

Regarding the trouble among the crew, passengers said that some of them had obtained liquor and firearms, which they had brought on board. Several shots were fired out of portholes, and one seaman who got on deck had a gun taken away from him. During the storm Joseph Robinson, a New Yorker, was fatally injured when he was thrown against the bulkhead. As he was about to be swept overboard, Axel Johnson, the boatswain, pulled him to safety. Robinson died a few hours later and was buried at sea.

Soon after the wireless had been repaired the steamer received a call for help from a Norwegian ship, the name of which could not be deciphered. The message stated that the Captain had broken two ribs and both his legs, several members of the crew had been seriously injured and the vessel had a list of 40 degrees. Although the New Rochelle was almost disabled, Captain McMurray started for the rescue. Some hours later the New Rochelle picked up a message from an oil tanker saying that she was going to the Norwegian ship.

The New Rochelle had thirteen stowaways on board. At the pier customs men under Inspector Hokenson made a search for weapons. It was said that they also searched for professional smugglers among the crew, who, according to information, had brought valuable jewelry with them.

ROYAL PAIR WON'T TAKE BRIDAL JOURNEY HERE

Prince Carol and Princess Helen Will Tour Europe—Wished to Visit California.

ATHENS, Jan. 18.—Crown Prince Carol of Rumania and Princess Helen, daughter of King Constantine, who are to be married soon, probably before the end of the month, would like to spend their honeymoon in California, but because of its distance from Greece, would probably be compelled to confine their tour to European countries, the Crown Prince said today. He was in the United States himself last Fall on his way home from a world tour.

"It would be very pleasant to go to America again," said the Crown Prince, "but it is too far. We shall probably spend a little time in Tatoi, later go to the Summer palace at Sinai, Rumania, and then motor through Italy and Spain."

King Ferdinand and Queen Marie of Rumania may come to Athens for the wedding, but nothing definite has been decided as to this, according to Prince Carol. Many pressing problems at home might prevent Queen Marie from visiting the United States this year, as she had planned, the Crown Prince said.

The Prince is living in Constantine's palace, but complains it is overcrowded with Princes. Playing tennis and motoring with his fiancée and her sisters occupy much of his time.

FEAR GREAT INVASION OF UNDESIRABLES

State Department Agents Confirm Report of Vast System of Passport Forgeries.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Reports of a widespread continental system of passport forgeries reaching from Paris to Warsaw, with ramifications through intervening European countries have been confirmed by State Department agents abroad, and while measures are being taken to detect and circumvent these frauds, officials are not aware how many thousands of immigrants have already entered this country on the basis of presentation of spurious passport papers.

Because of lack of legislation giving proper authority to American agents abroad, it is asserted that there is nothing to prevent the return to America, with fraudulent passports, of those persons deported on the Buford to Russia, from Finland, Poland, or any of the countries between the Baltic and France.

It has been discovered that undesirable Europeans who have not obtained passports to the United States have arrived in Canada and later crossed the border into this country clandestinely.

WRIT TO HALT CABLE OF THE WESTERN UNION

Temporary Order Granted Government Pending Hearing on an Injunction.

Federal Judge Augustus N. Hand granted a temporary restraining order to the Government yesterday preventing the Western Union Telegraph Company from linking its cable at Miami Beach, Fla., to the British cable from Barbadoes. The order will hold good until 2 P. M. tomorrow, when argument on the Federal application for an injunction will be heard.

The Government, through United States District Attorney Francis G. Caffey and Assistant United States District Attorney Earl B. Barnes, began a suit in equity on Tuesday, alleging that the link would work against the interest of American wire companies, because the British company had a monopoly of communication into Brazil.

51 TO GO WITH MARTENS.

Deported Bolshevist Agent to Sail Saturday for Sweden.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Russian Soviet agent in this country, who recently was ordered deported, will be accompanied by fifty-one other Russians when he sails Saturday from New York.

With Martens will be his wife and two children and employes in this country of the Russian Soviet Government who have been recalled. They include Gregory Weinstein, Chancellor of the Soviet Bureau, who has been arrested on a deportation warrant; Boris Roustam Bek, military adviser of the bureau, and a number of other officials and employes.

2,000 POSTMASTERS NAMED.

More Appointments Sent to the Senate by President Wilson.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Nominations of approximately 2,000 Postmasters were sent today to the Senate by President Wilson.

This swells the already enormous list of nominations made at this session, and on which Republican leaders have determined not to act except where an emergency exists

The Children's Teeth Watch Them Carefully

AFTER the baby teeth go, nature provides a second and larger set. But with this nature is through. This second set is all there is to come. Guard them carefully. If these are lost, science offers but feeble substitutes.

Good milk is a splendid protection for growing teeth. The generous supply of calcium, and other mineral salts, in which milk is so rich, are the very things needed to build good, strong, lasting teeth.

Milk keeps the tissues sweet and alkaline. It helps to keep the mouth wholesome and the breath sweet. Give the children all the milk they'll drink. You owe it to them.

PHOTOGRAPHER ENJOINED

Justice Callaghan in Supreme Court today after trial granted a permanent injunction restraining Edwin E. Mersereau from conducting a photographing studio at 375 5th Ave., Manhattan, under the name Mersereau, and competing with "Mersereau," a corporation which conducts a similar establishment at 480-2 Fulton St., this boro. Mersereau conducted the Fulton St. establishment prior to 1918, when he sold it for $5,000 to Louis Kadison. The sale included the right to use the trade name Mersereau, which the owner of it had made famous in portrait photography. Notwithstanding the conditions of the sale, Mersereau opened a place in Manhattan, using the name Wynn Mersereau and later using merely his last name. Kadison claimed that although Mersereau had been paid for the studio name, the trade developed and the equipment, he entered into an extensive advertising campaign which reached some of the customers whose patronage he had sold.

In order to conform to the above decision the studio of Mr. Mersereau at 375 Fifth Avenue, New York, will be conducted under his full legal name—Edwin E. Mersereau.

Lord's Day Alliance Secretary Says It Aims at Sunday Baseball and Movies.

WILL HELP GROCERS CLOSE

Organization Will Tell Albany Legislators Toilers Need One Day's Rest in Seven.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19. — The Rev. John Ferguson, State Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, came today to the Capitol, where he was commended to newspaper correspondents by a representative of the New York Anti-Saloon League as "a man with red blood and with no blue streak in him."

"I guess that's a pretty good description of what sort of a man I am and where I stand with regard to blue laws," said the Rev. Mr. Ferguson. "The Lord's Day Alliance, which I represent, is not, and never was, the advocate of blue laws of any kind. The Rev. Dr. Bowlby, our General Secretary, has been cruelly and shamefully misrepresented in recent interviews which have appeared in the newspapers. I wish I knew where all this blue law talk in the newspapers comes from."

Mr. Ferguson said that, as far as the Lord's Day Alliance had perfected its legislative program for the present session, it contemplated nothing more than the repeal of the Sunday baseball law and the law permitting moving picture exhibitions on Sunday.

"We do not intend to go beyond that," Mr. Ferguson said, "except to help the grocers in their movement to keep their stores closed all day Sunday and the news dealers to get a half holiday on the Lord's day. We do not contemplate any legislation against the Sunday newspaper. Personally, I think the Sunday editions could just as well be prepared in advance. It would be better if the Sunday papers were sold on Saturday afternoon instead of on Sunday forenoon.

"Delicatessen dealers who keep open on Sunday are not to be attacked at the present session of the Legislature, Mr. Ferguson said.

"We are not going at this on religious, but on civic grounds," he added. "We maintain that the toilers are entitled to one day's rest in seven, and that preferably the first day of the week should be the day off."

So far no out-and-out blue law bills have been introduced, but many are sure to be put in before the session is much older. Mr. Ferguson is regarded here as merely the advance guard of a small army of legislative agents representing organizations dyed in even deeper blue than the Lord's Day Alliance, and who regard the up-State domination of the legislature as a happy augury for their cause.

FOR ONE-MAN LABOR BOARD.

Leaders Expected to Approve Reorganization of Industrial Commission.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Reorganization of the State Industrial Commission into a single-headed commission, in accordance with recommendations of Governor Miller, was recommended today by the Knight-Brandt Legislative Committee, which has investigated the commission.

Under the proposed new plan, which legislative leaders are expected to approve, the single-headed commission will be appointed to supervise enforcement of the labor law and administration of the department. An industrial board of three is to be appointed to handle the judicial and legislative work of the commission. The proposed new commission will take over the present administrative organization, with power to create and consolidate bureaus and abolish and consolidate such offices as "in his judgment may make for efficiency in the administration of the work." The Legal Bureau of the Department of Labor is to be abolished.

The committee declares that the present commission is inefficient "because of the combination of legislative, judicial and administrative functions."

The Legislative Committee contemplates recasting amendments to the Compensation law. The entire plan is to come up for a public hearing of the Senate and Assembly Committees on Labor and Industry Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 26.

HITS AT DAYLIGHT SAVING.

Assembly Committee Will Report Repeal Bill as Party Measure.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Repeal of the State daylight saving law was advanced one step today when the Assembly Committee on Agriculture reached an agreement to report the measure out at its next meeting as a committee bill. It was pointed out that such action would make it a party measure and would materially assist in its enactment, in view of the declaration of the Republican State platform and Governor Miller's advocacy of repealing the law.

PROPOSES MORE JUSTICES.

Bill Would Add Six to Supreme Court Bench Here.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Demand for six additional Justices of the Supreme Court for New York and Bronx Counties is contained in a measure introduced today by Senator William Duggan and Assemblyman DiPirro of New York. The bill proposes that the constitutional limit of one Justice for every 80,000 of population shall be attained. Claim is made that there is in fact no counties now only one Justice to every 80,000 persons.

The full quota of Justices is needed, Senator Duggan says, to properly cope with the flood of litigation.

QUAKE SHAKES LAKE GEORGE

Earth Tremors Rattle Crockery There and at Corinth.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 19.—What are believed by residents to have been earthquake shocks were felt today for three minutes at Corinth and Lake George.

The first shocks were felt at Corinth at 5 o'clock and two hours later they were felt at Lake George. Houses were shaken so that dishes rattled on their shelves.

The vibrations first were attributed to the cold, the temperature being 15 degrees below zero here today. Later the reports were received from places throughout this section and the cold theory was abandoned.

Passports Set a Record.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Figures made public by Acting Secretary of State Davis today show that during the calendar year 1920 the State Department issued 104,334 passports, an average of 13,796 a month. This volume of passport business was 001 per cent. greater than was handled in 1913. The fees totaled more than $500,000.

Ford's Recount Gain Now 1,872.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—Recount by the Senate committee of the ballots in the Michigan Senatorial contest at the close of today's work showed a net gain for Henry Ford of 1,872 votes, with 1,235 of the 2,232 precincts recanvassed. Senator Newberry's plurality was 7,868.

PUBLIC WORKS HEAD

Senators Accept Governor's Appointee After Democrats Attack Him as Railroad Man.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 19.—Before the confirmation of his nomination in the Senate today by a vote of 30 to 9, Charles L. Cadle of Rochester, Governor Miller's appointee for State Superintendent of Public Works, was attacked by Senator James J. Walker of New York, leader of the Democratic minority.

Senator Walker said he was compelled to oppose confirmation because Mr. Cadle had been affiliated with the New York Central Railroad, chief competitor of the barge canal, which is operated by the Superintendent of Public Works, and would bring to the management of that waterway a fatal "railway point of view."

"It is a well-known and acknowledged fact that every obstacle it has been humanly possible to create has been placed in the way of progress in the construction and operation of the State's canals by the railroads," said Senator Walker. "Has the time now arrived when the prophecy of Commodore Vanderbilt that even in his time he would live to see grass grow in the bed of the Erie Canal to be fulfilled? This can only be accomplished by a railroad atmosphere brought into the management of the canals."

Mr. Walker pointed out that Mr. Cadle had been Chief Engineer of the New York State Railways Association, controlled by New York Central interests, and with the New York & Harlem Railroad, another New York Central subsidiary.

"What impression does the appointment of a railroad man as Superintendent of Public Works make in the minds of possible investors and people who had hoped to interest themselves in canal transportation enterprise?" asked Senator Walker. "While Governor Miller may be commended for his loyalty to corporate interests with which he had been associated, yet it appears to us as logical and as serviceable to the people to place a railroad man at the head of our $200,000,000 barge canal as it would be to place Von Hindenburg in charge of world disarmament."

Senator John B. Mullan of Monroe praised the high progressive qualifications of Mr. Cadle and pointed out that Mr. Cadle had never owned a share of stock in any of the companies that had employed him for engineering work.

"I pity the man who, appointed by Governor Miller, does not give wholehearted service to the State," said Senator Lusk, President pro tem. of the Senate. "I would hate to be in his place."

All the Democrats present and Edmund Seidel, Socialist, from the Bronx, voted against confirming the nomination of Cadle.

DIVORCE DECOY SUSPECTED.

Court Orders Investigation of Woman Witness as "Voluntary Corespondent."

A supposed "professional vampire," who appears to make a specialty of being a voluntary corespondent in divorce cases, is believed to figure in two such actions which are now before Supreme Court Justice Kelby in Brooklyn.

One of the suits came up yesterday, and the defendant's husband, denying that he had been guilty of misconduct, told of a "mysterious dark woman" who had tried to trap him at the Hotel Imperial, Manhattan. He asserted that the suit was the result of a "frame-up."

The similarity of the description of this woman and her ways with that of the corespondent named in another suit which the Court had before him for decision led Justice Kelby to order an inquiry to determine whether the same woman figured in both cases.

BOMB FOUND IN LEGHORN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Jan. 19.—In Leghorn, where the National Socialist Congress is still debating with tremendous and turbulent vigor the future tactics of revolutionary propaganda, an attempt has been made to blow up the headquarters of the military command.

By lucky chance some civilians passing by late at night sighted two lengths of piping filled with nitroglycerine, to which a long fuse was attached, and thereby averted an explosion. Extra troops have been drafted into the town.

At Pola, where a recent police raid revealed the transformation of a Socialist club into an arsenal, searches in the houses of prominent local anarchists brought to light 600 pounds of nitroglycerine.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—The members of the Reichstag rose to their feet today as a manifestation of respect when the President of the chamber announced the recent death of Karl Legien, the labor leader, who was long a member of Parliament.

When the brief eulogy had been concluded the President proceeded to read the name of the former Chancellor, the late Dr. von Bethmann Hollweg, whereupon the communists sat down with pronounced ostentation. There were cries of "Shame! shame!" hurled at the extreme left side of the house by the others, whereupon Deputy Malzahn of the communists interjected: "He was one of those responsible for the war."

Adolf Hoffmann seconded by shouting: "Three million dead!"

$40,000 BULL UNDER GUARD.

Prize Animal Has Armed Watchman at Its New Quarters.

Special to The New York Times.

MONTGOMERY, Jan. 19.—Guarded by an armed watchman a pedigreed bull just purchased by Julius Schmid, wealthy New York importer for $40,000, arrived today in a special express car at his country place in Montgomery, Orange County. Before it started from its former owner's stable in Ellendale, Minn., the bull was insured at a cost of $4,000 against accident or death for his full value.

The bull is 2 years old and weighs 2,000 pounds. It cost the new owner $20 a pound. The bull was transported on fast trains in a heated express car. It will be closely guarded in its new quarters.

Fire in St. Regis Rouses 300.

A smoldering basement fire in the St. Regis Hotel, Fifty-fifth Street and Fifth Avenue, early yesterday, caused some excitement among guests, but did very little damage. The fire was in a storeroom and was discovered about 4:30 o'clock by Frank Killen, a timekeeper. Samuel Adams, night clerk, and Malcolm Grimes, telephone operator, reassured the 300 guests of the hotel, who had begun to be aroused by smoke which trickled into the various rooms.

Southern Railway Drops Trains.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Discontinuance temporarily of eight interstate passenger trains in the South before the end of the month was announced today by the Southern Railway. Other trains largely duplicate the service of those discontinued, the announcement said, adding that it was hoped that there would be an early return to normal passenger travel which would justify a restoration of the service.

OPPOSING MR. HUGHES.

The sudden flaring up in the Senate of a revolt against the appointment of Mr. HUGHES as Secretary of State is described as "an eleventh-hour" protest. It would be more accurately timed at eleven o'clock and fifty-nine minutes. For weeks the selection of Mr. HUGHES has been regarded as a certainty, both at Marion and in Washington. It was with this in mind that Senator PENROSE was supposed to have made his haughty statement that it made no difference who was Secretary of State—the Senate would control in all matters of foreign policy anyhow. Now it appears that several influential Republican Senators are objecting in the strongest way to the naming of Mr. HUGHES. Though they at first opposed Mr. ROOT as Secretary, they would now much prefer him to Mr. HUGHES.

Observe the two left-handed compliments implied in this. One is for Mr. ROOT. He would be more pliable than the unbending HUGHES. If his opinions didn't suit the Senate, they could be altered. This is, of course, a caricature of the real ELIHU ROOT, but is it not the exact picture of him which those Senators are drawing who say that they could get on with him much more easily than with Mr. HUGHES? The other dubious compliment is to the President-elect. What a low view the Senators must take of Mr. HARDING if they think that he will consent to retreat from a deliberate choice merely because they threaten to make trouble for him! At Marion it is stated that he feels that he cannot now "gracefully" rescind his decision. It is not a question of grace, but of dignity and firmness. Of course, having freely sought the advice of Senators, Mr. HARDING is bound to consider it if it does not come to him too late and in a way to involve a personal humiliation for himself.

The original Senatorial objection to Mr. ROOT was that he had committed himself to the League of Nations. In his single campaign speech last year he openly declared for the policy of the United States joining the League, after the American amendments to certain parts of the Covenant had been agreed to by the other Powers. But this is, in fact, very little different from the attitude of Mr. HUGHES. Perhaps the Senators have been looking into his record and have found that he is as truly a friend of the League as is Mr. ROOT. From first to last Mr. HUGHES criticised various sections of the Covenant, but always favored a general plan. On July 24, 1919, he wrote to Senator HALE:

> There is a plain need for a League of Nations. * * * There is merit enough in the proposed plan to make it desirable to secure it if proper safeguards can be obtained.

In his campaign speeches of 1920, while Mr. HUGHES made a strong technical attack upon Article X., he did not conceal his generally favorable disposition toward the League. Speaking in New Haven on Oct. 28, after Mr. ROOT had spoken in New York, Mr. HUGHES said:

> It is not likely to be difficult, as Mr. ROOT has said—and no one knows better than he—to secure the consent of other nations to the modifications and amendments of the Covenant which we desire. We are not antagonizing the aspiration for a society of free nations to promote peace.

With Mr. HUGHES and Mr. ROOT so nearly in agreement on this subject, it is cause for special wonder that the bitter-enders in the Senate should wish either, or prefer one over the other. It is certain that they are making the biggest mistake of their lives if they fancy that they can readily "manage" ELIHU ROOT. The managing would be the other way about. This is so well known that hidden motives are naturally looked for in the Senatorial breast. Perhaps the plot is, having used HUGHES to kill off ROOT, now to use ROOT to kill off HUGHES, and then make a determined drive on HARDING to persuade him to appoint some amiable and colorless futility as Secretary. This is the thing that the President-elect must resist at every hazard. He made a vow to the country to surround himself with the ablest men he can induce to sit in his Cabinet. Either ROOT or HUGHES in the Department of State would be regarded by the public as a carrying out of Mr. HARDING'S pledge. And, of course, Mr. ROOT'S long experience in international affairs, his reputation as a distinguished jurist, and his great abilities remove all questions as to his fitness for the place. But if the President-elect were now to be driven by the Senate opposition to take up with some mediocrity or nullity, it would show that he was ready to admit himself the captive of the Senate's bow and spear.

LARGE ENOUGH.

Well judged and sensible was the action of the House of Representatives yesterday in voting against any increase in its membership. The Reapportionment bill based upon the new census would have increased the membership from the present total of 435 to 483. An amendment against the increase was adopted by 198 to 77. A majority of two and one-half to one indicates with sufficient emphasis the conviction of the House that it has members enough.

No State would gain any substantial advantage through a mere numerical increase in its representation in the House. No benefit would accrue to the nation at large. The laws would not be better or more just. Nothing would be added, probably, to the sum total of the wisdom of the House of Representatives. In no way could an increase in the membership promote the orderly and expeditious transaction of business—doubtless the result would be quite otherwise.

Readjustment of representation may at times become necessary to remedy inequalities revealed by successive census reports of population. But we cannot go on enlarging the membership of the House every ten years. At that rate, before the middle of the century we might have a thousand Representatives. That is too many; the present number is large enough. The country will pray that the House of Representatives will not let itself be talked out of the decision it reached yesterday.

EXPORT TRADE FINANCE.

The weakness of the case for the revival of the War Finance Corporation despite the manifest need of promoting our export trade lies in the settled opinion that trade is primarily a matter of private concern, and that the entanglement with it of Government finance in any degree is undesirable. The Treasury expressed the official opinion to that effect. The failure of the corporation to function after it was revived in accordance with a political mandate attests rather the unsuitability of the corporation to the needs of the case than the lack of demand for similar accommodations by private agencies.

The strength of the case for the establishment of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation lies in the contrary conditions. It is the result of a meeting of 500 representatives of the banking, industrial and agricultural interests of the country in Chicago. The meeting was called by the American Bankers' Association, with the support of many civic organizations. While the start of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation is auspicious, there remains much to be done. The first thing is to provide that corporation itself with funds. No application for public funds is intended. The Treasury will not have to float any sort of Government paper, of which there is already too much in the banks. The difficulty to be overcome is not the lack of banking funds, for there are several billions of banking credit unused because it cannot be used in the foreign trade for lack of something resembling the rediscount system in domestic trade. The problem substantially is the turning of short credits into long credits by means of a revolving fund in the hands of judges of credit abroad and at home, with confidence in each other. Just as the Federal Reserve Banks are banks for member banks, so the corporation organized by President MCHUGH will use the funds paid into its treasury to carry credits for longer terms than are suitable for domestic banks, but which are essential in foreign trade. This business cannot be done in pounds sterling, for pounds are no longer sterling, and London has not the ample credit available here for approved applicants. This is the only centre where it is a matter of indifference whether applicants want accommodation in either goods or gold. The time will return sooner than most expect when London can supply either as freely as formerly. It is not possible to help a portion of world trade without helping the rest. If we help England's customers to pay their debts to England, we help England to pay its debts to us. If we help our own customers to buy here, that is a domestic benefit from foreign trade about which it ought not to be necessary to say more. Unfortunately, that is not universally appreciated. Too many imagine that foreign trade is important to Americans only in the small proportion that it bears to domestic trade. In fact, there is a relation between each dollar spent in foreign trade and each dollar spent in domestic trade. The exported portion of our production fixes both the profits and the prices made on the domestic business, with scant exception of neighborhood business.

Happily, the farmers see this, and appraise the tariff on imports of their products as about as valuable economically as the sawdust in a doll. One of the spokesmen for the farmers, GRAY SILVER of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said yesterday:

> Americans can take their choice of extending a one-billion-dollar credit to Central Europe or writing off a loss of three or four times that amount in impaired values and loss of buying power at home. Our farms produce a surplus of 8 to 10 per cent. over our domestic requirements. This must be marketed abroad or it is a total loss.

That is why American farmers should welcome the new corporation. Other Americans will find their benefit in the assistance of the farmers to pay their bills. There will be poor reports of domestic trade until there are better reports of the foreign trade.

AN ALMANACH DE GOTHA MATCH.

Is it some Tyrolean warbler with a feather in his hat and head and some unexpected magic crowns in his pocket who puts into a newspaper the marriage want advertisement reciting that a "charming Archduchess, "accomplished musician, with knowledge of several languages, brought "up in luxury and now tired of a "miserable existence without money, "would marry rich and refined American or English gentleman, about 38 "years old"? Money can't be so easy nor humorous irony so bubbling in this Winter of discontent. Archdukes and Archduchesses, so long expensive and sometimes grotesque fringes of the Hapsburg purple, are in the bread line. Europe, and especially Switzerland, is full of unemployed Kings, Queens, Princes, and a whole ragtag and bobtail of high-born unemployed. Archduchesses used to have the privilege of picking their partners at a dance, about their only privilege under strict family rule. The Archduchess ELIZABETH, FRANCIS JOSEPH'S favorite granddaughter, was even allowed to choose her own husband. She made about the worst choice she could, selecting the Prince of WINDISCH-GRAETZ, a typical good-for-nothing and patrician "beat," who made ducks and drakes of her money.

Warned by such examples, pining in second-class pensions, why shouldn't a genuine Archduchess look for a marriage of convenience? And money, the first ancient and modern convenience, is painfully lacking in the installations of most former Austrian swells. A Duchess of ROCHEFOUCAULD said that her family dated from 300 years before ADAM. The Hapsburg family tree is at least respectably ancient, and if anybody wants to swap gold for genealogy now is the time and the chance. Only rich and refined American and English gentlemen need apply. "Parvenus and individuals of other nationalities" are ruled out. It isn't necessary to suppose that the lady has an invincible prejudice, born of the unification of Italy and the war, against Italians. Italy, too, is richer in blood than money. The same is true of France and Spain. Death duties and the income tax have put a majority of the English patriciate on the list of ineligibles and detrimentals. Profiteers would not be "refined." An American is the lady's only hope. He is a member of the sovereign people. The accomplished advertiser won't derogate in marrying him.

Democracy recognizes eugenics. The importation of azure blood would be welcomed by sociologists. By economists, also, for it will do a little something to restore the balance of trade. American Princesses, Duchesses, Countesses and so on have been exported in quantities to suit. If NAPOLEON I. had not declared the marriage of his brother JEROME with a Baltimore lady null, there might have been an American Queen of Westphalia. Monarchs driven out of business are now so common that an American sovereign ought to be able to find plenty of desirable matches. Two or three years ago King TINO, as he hates to be called, emitted some polite badinage about going over to the United States and growing up with the country. At present that inveterate humorist has another job, possibly neither a good nor a permanent one, in Athens. Instead of winning a King, the United States lost, if not a Queen, at least a Princess, ANASTASIA, so called after the martyr saint of that name. Well, etymologically, a martyr is a witness; and our American Princess witnesses abroad that money will tell.

There are gains for all our losses, and here is an opportunity to begin an Almanach de Gotha immigration movement, limited, and make the current of international marriage set toward instead of away from the United States. The Archduchess is a patient Griselda in her way. She strives to please. No objection to immigration, and will change her religion if necessary. What royal bride could say more? Evidently she has no prejudices. She will not ask a rich and refined American to stop smoking, drinking or going to the "movies." "An interview might be arranged in Switzerland." It should be. Rich, refined American romantics within the age limit, please preserve and observe.

NO POLITICS IN ROAD BUILDING.

Colonel FREDERICK STUART GREENE'S voluntary retirement as Highway Commissioner of New York State and the announcement from Albany that HERBERT S. SISSON, the present head of the State Excise Department, which is about to be abolished, will be appointed to supervise the road-building activities of the Empire State, present a regrettable object-lesson of so-called political expediency. A few years ago the appointment of a man who had no previous practical knowledge of road building would have occasioned little surprise. In recent years, however, public opinion regarding the type of men qualified to assume the responsibility of providing the best possible roads for the increasing transportation needs of the country has undergone a decided change. The rapid development of motor transportation, the dependence of its success upon good roads to give the greatest benefit to the community from the more intensive highway usage, and the recognition of the weighty problems of modern road construction and maintenance created by the remarkable automobile growth in America, have taught every practical thinking person interested in the improvement of our highway transportation facilities that the prime requisite to obtain these essentials is the appointment and employment of men who are more deeply versed in the principles of road engineering than in political manipulation.

Governor MILLER, in his recent program of economy and cutting out political sinecures, has given such a satisfactory view of managing the financial and political affairs of a big State that, to say the least, it seems unfortunate to witness the placing of an official who, although credited with a good record in his present place, has no expert knowledge of the countless problems which, according to their solution, will make or mar the future highways of New York State.

In offering to resign the office to which he was appointed for five years, of which he has served about twenty months, Colonel GREENE has shown in an exceptional manner that he meant what he said when, in accepting the Highway Commissionership of New York State, he declared that it would be conducted solely in the interests of good roads and not as a medium for political preferment or favors. Colonel GREENE has the distinction of being the first Highway Commissioner of New York who has resolutely kept his word in this respect. He did excellent service overseas during the war as one of our leading engineers in road building in France. Despite the fact that his work has been hampered for more than a year owing to the high cost of, and difficulty in obtaining, materials and labor, he is closing his official career with an excellent record. Approximately 700 miles of new pavement was completed in 1920, some of which necessarily was reconstruction work. His department now has plans prepared and estimates made for building more than 600 miles of new highways.

Good highways affect the business interests and welfare of a greater number of citizens than at any previous time, and the building of highways which will stand up under the increasingly heavy traffic to which they are subjected demands the care and attention of thoroughly trained engineers who are free from political affiliations.

ADMIRAL SCHEER'S BRIEF.

Admiral SCHEER, who commanded the German High Seas Fleet at Jutland, might refer posterity to his book on the battle to convince it that the British Grand Fleet suffered disastrous defeat, but he is more concerned just now to persuade the friends of Germany in all countries that Admiral JELLICOE was an impostor in claiming any advantage for the British. "The Allies," says the German Admiral in an interview, "robbed "us of our navy, but the British "press cannot rob us of our glory." The navy of which the Allies "robbed" the Germans might have gone out in 1918 and met its fate fighting bravely, as Admiral CERVERA'S squadron did at Santiago, but the High Seas Fleet had no morale left and could not be coerced by high-spirited officers into preferring battle to humiliating surrender.

There was glory for the German fleet in the Battle of Jutland or Skagerrak, but it was not the glory of victory. Instead of traducing the British press Admiral SCHEER would better try to refute Chief Gunnery Officer VON HASS of the battle cruiser Derfflinger, whose narrative gives a vivid account of the damage done the battle cruiser squadron by the British fire. The Derfflinger was hit by twenty 15-inch shells, most of her big guns were put out of action and she dropped out of the fight at 7:37 P. M. The Lützow was abandoned and torpedoed by her crew during the night. The Seydlitz was struck by twenty-eight shells, and it was necessary to flood the magazine to save her; she was beached in a sinking condition, to be refloated later and put in dry dock. The Moltke and Von der Tann were heavily raked by shell fire, and it took six weeks to patch them up. "The losses sustained by our fleet," wrote the naval critic, Captain PERSIUS, in the Berliner Tageblatt, "were enormous. In "spite of the fact that luck was on "our side; and on June 1, 1916, it "was clear to every one of intelligence that this fight would be and "must be the only one to take place. "Those in authority have often admitted this openly." Apparently the German press must share the odium of robbing "us of our glory."

"We came out again on Aug. 19," says Admiral SCHEER in his interview, "for the purpose of attacking Sunderland, in the hope of infuriating "Great Britain and forcing a new "battle." It is true that the Germans were out on Aug. 19, but not to fight the Grand Fleet. The Admiral endeavors to show by an extract from The London Times, which he does not identify in any way, that JELLICOE with the Grand Fleet ran away from the enemy's submarines on Aug. 19, leaving him in boastful possession of the North Sea. The British Admiral; on the contrary, says in his book, "The Grand Fleet," that he proceeded to sea on the day before because "an unusually large number of submarines" had been reported in the North Sea, "a phenomenon which "had been observed shortly before "the Jutland battle," and that on Aug. 19 he endeavored to join battle with the High Seas Fleet, but found it elusive and unwilling, if ready to risk some of its submarines. Reports received from directional stations showed that at 4:52 P. M. the German fleet was returning to its base. The British light cruiser Nottingham was torpedoed in a skirmish. The conclusion is unavoidable that the Germans, while planning to do as much damage as possible with a far-flung screen of submarines, never intended to risk the High Seas Fleet in battle on Aug. 19, or at any other time after they were handled so roughly off Jutland.

AN IRISH "WORKERS' REPUBLIC."

But little attention has been paid in this country to the Irish Labor Party. It has been working with the British Labor Party to bring about the withdrawal of troops from Ireland, yet has all along been playing its own hand. What that is was plainly declared by Mr. JOHNSON, the representative of Irish Labor at the recent Labor Conference. He said: "I don't want to "deceive you. If the right of self-"determination were given us, we "would determine, if we could, for a "Workers' Republic in Ireland."

That means a Soviet Government, with the confiscation of all private property and the nationalization of all industry. What have Irishmen with a stake in their country to say to this? What will the Catholic hierarchy think about it? The latest news is that the impatient Irish Labor Party is calling upon the British Labor leaders to resort at once to "direct action" in order to force the Government to get out of Ireland. This is the Lenin program. It is the revolution against the Irish bourgeoisie. The whole thing looks more and more as if the Labor Party cared very little about the wrongs of Ireland, and was perfectly willing to make use of them in a way to delight the heart and further the projects of NICOLAI LENIN.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Statistics Variously Interpreted.

One of the city's humorists wrote the other day that only two classes of Americans were dissatisfied with prohibition as it is working out—the wets and the drys. That is true, as all good jokes must be, but the discontent of the wets seemingly has been decreased by the figures just given out from the Magistrates' Courts regarding arrests for drunkenness here in 1920—figures over which they are rejoicing as for a gleam of sunshine in their desolate lives—while the drys apparently find their gloom increased.

As a matter of fact there is not in these statistics much either of joy or of sorrow for the one or the other group, and will not be until much more is known than now as to what the figures mean. Taken as they stand, they prove anything anybody wants them to prove, and every deduction from them is unsafe.

Though the arrests were a little more numerous than in 1919, the difference is so small as to be negligible, and when the wets emphasize it as demonstrating the impracticability of enforcing prohibition, the drys can point to the fact—carefully ignored by the wets—that the 1920 arrests were much less than those of 1918 and only a third of those in 1917.

The number of arrests made for any crime or misdemeanor in a given year may vary, however, not in accord with the frequency of commission, but with the greater or less energy shown by the police in hunting offenders of that particular sort. On the other hand, the 5,813 arrests for drunkenness in 1920 may show, not that 156 more people drank to excess in that year than in 1919, but simply that what they drank so affected them as to compel attention from the police. If that be true, it only indicates that under prohibition intoxicants deteriorate in quality, however it may be as to quantity.

Where to Seek It.

Nobody proposes to repeal—nobody even criticises adversely—the existence of laws penalizing murder and theft merely because in the last year there has been an increase all over the country in the number of cases in which those two crimes were committed in combination. The increase is not ascribed to the existence of the law prohibiting the crimes, and such success as the police have had in apprehending such criminals—Commissioner ENRIGHT says the success has been unusually great—is not instanced as indicating that they are making a hopeless fight against public sentiment. Instead, they are exhorted to increased activity and blamed for not doing more than they have done.

The place, or a better place than the Magistrates' Courts, for finding the results of prohibition is in any shop, factory or office where workers for wages and salaries are employed in numbers large enough to be significant. There the report is always the same—always to the effect that prohibition has made an appreciable improvement in conditions, and at least once the report has gone the length of crediting it with producing "a new world."

That, obviously, was an exaggeration, but at least it had more basis in fact than does the conclusion from arrests for drunkenness, or from an increase in the number of patients in Bellevue treated for alcoholic insanity, that prohibition is a failure.

Nobody Calls It "Meddling."

There have been times, and not so long ago, when there would have been much shaking of heads and even a few gloomy prognostications as to the fate of the Republic, if the wife of a President publicly had expressed an opinion on a controverted question of political policy and had tried to use such "influence" as she had to guide voters in their action on that subject. Even for the wife of a President-elect to have done the same thing would have educed grave criticism and feeling references to "the place of woman."

But all that is changed. Mrs. HARDING shows, and need show, no hesitation about writing a letter to the women who are attending the meeting of the Southern Tariff Association in Atlanta, or about revealing in her letter that she is with them in advocating and supporting the protection of American industries from foreign competition.

This she can safely do now, for while in other days she could and would have written only as the wife of the President-to-be, at present hers is the pen of a voter—of a citizen with as much power as well as with as much right as anybody else to have and to urge her views on the tariff or whatever seems to her interesting or important.

One notices that more cautious than some protectionists, Mrs. HARDING refrains from an exact definition of what she wants in the way of duties. She announces only her belief in "a properly adjusted protection," and leaves whoever will to say how "high" or "low" that is. Not without acquisition of wisdom has she lived long in a political atmosphere.

English Books Wanted in Vienna.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Having noted that you frequently open the columns of your valuable paper to appeals for relief of the stricken people in Central Europe, I take the liberty of communicating to you part of the contents of a letter I recently received from a niece of mine in Vienna, Austria, with the request that you give it favorable consideration.

An excerpt of that letter reads:

"Then I wanted to ask you if you would not put my request before your friends to try and help me get some English good books for the libraries of the Vienna Volks-Hochschulen, as we cannot buy such at present, they being too expensive and we very poor. These institutions (the 'Volksheim' and the 'Volksbildungshaus' in Vienna), have very nice English sections for students of the English language. I thought that perhaps a good number of people might be found who would be willing and kind enough to send at least one volume by 'book post' and in that way we might obtain very valuable help. Such books should be addressed to: 'Volksheim,' care of Miss M Aschkenes, XVI. Koflerpark 7, Vienna Austria.'"

The lady who writes the letter, although poor herself, has devoted all her spare time for years past in settlement work among the poor, teaching English and doing general educational work. J. MANDL.

Oil on Beach Waters.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

From my own observations during the past three seasons along the beaches of the Rockaways, I am satisfied that the entire blame for the deposits of oil tar cannot be placed on the discharge from ships. In putting the roads into good condition for Summer traffic they are sprinkled with this oil tar, and in many cases a heavy shower of rain comes before it has dried and washes a considerable percentage of it into the sewers and thence into the sea, very often discharging right off the bathing beaches. At Far Rockaway this has been specially noticeable where the roads are not attended to until the season is well advanced.

The ships do not contribute 10 per cent. to this nuisance along our beaches.

C. L. JOHNSON.

Woodmere, L. I., Jan. 17, 1921.

AN EVERYDAY TRAGEDY.

He is no corner idler!
In his face blunt honesty is shown,
And his tense hand
Is not the hand that some stretch forth for alms,
But sinewy, rough.
When he will speak, surprise is in his tone—
A wonder, that his bulk, his height, his weight,
His skill in crafts, have now quite useless grown!
About him flows the tide of hurrying life.
Fine glittering cars keep darting to and fro.
Rivals compete in keen commercial strife.
He has the comfort of a few loose coins,
And these his fingers in weak faith have sought,
For new-born prudence foresight grave enjoins.
Nothing the vendors offer has he bought.
As in the old days, when each fad or toy
He carelessly would purchase—for the boy!
The boy! who with his mother's waiting now!
He stands erect! No failure he'll avow!
Last year his hands, his skill, so many sought!
What evil necromancy this new change has wrought?
When men are strong and willing, why this blight—
This atrophy of business overnight?
It makes him feel, almost, that this wide earth
No more has room for him; his pride to flay,
Robbing his life of zest and joy and mirth.
Now his firm footing has been swept away!
That bounding organ? Why, it is his heart,
Fluttering—he is ashamed to own—in fear!
What if he must continue, chilled, to hear
That dooming phrase—he, never known to shirk!
To his demand will men still say, "No work"?

RELIEF IN RUSSIA.

Reply of League of Free Nations to Secretary Davis's Charges.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The account in THE TIMES yesterday of the reply of the League of Free Nations Association to the charges of the State Department that we had made false statements with reference to their Russian policy was so summarized as to eliminate most of our specific answers. In view of this and of your editorial comment we would very much appreciate your printing the more salient portions of our letter to the Acting Secretary of State.

JAMES G. McDONALD.
Chairman of the Executive Committee
League of Free Nations Association.
New York, Jan. 18, 1921.

[EXTRACTS FROM THE LETTER ADDRESSED TO NORMAN H. DAVIS, ACTING SECRETARY]

"The first statement in our questionnaire was that 'our recent policy, although never clearly stated, has been to refuse to permit relief to be sent to that portion of Russia which is under the control of the Soviet Government.' This you say is 'unqualifiedly false.' We draw your attention to the following statement, dated Sept. 20, 1920, by Wilbur K. Thomas, Secretary of the American Friends Relief Committee, reporting a conference of representatives of various relief organizations with a representative of the State Department:

"'Whether or not we shall be able to send American representatives and American supplies or whether we must continue to use the English committee as our channel will depend upon the action of the Department of State.

"'We have been in negotiation with the department for some time and shortly after the lifting of the blockade we received word that the department would have no objection to our sending a relief mission with supplies. This statement, however, was canceled a day later. At a recent conference between the Under Secretary of State and representatives of several relief organizations it was stated that the present attitude of the department is not to approve of any American relief for Russia.'

"From other channels we have information to the same effect, although it is true that since the last of October the American Friends Relief Committee has sent in two workers and is now arranging for regular shipments of supplies to Russia via Hamburg. * * *

"Your letter adds that 'the only relief work which the Soviet will tolerate is the direct gift of supplies to the Soviet Government, to be distributed as their own largesse. * * * It is the opinion of almost all of those experienced in such work that it would be impossible to raise funds from private subscription on this basis.'

"The facts are that since Oct. 29 the American Friends Service Committee has distributed almost $200,000 worth of supplies in Moscow and Petrograd, some of which has been received from the American Red Cross. They report that, while technically responsible to the Soviet Commissariat of Supplies, they have complete and actual charge of the handling and distribution of all relief. * * *

"Paragraph 3 of our questionnaire contains a statement that 'Secretary Colby's note of Aug. 10, proposed officially to restore Russian territorial integrity.' You answer that this statement is 'false.' May we not call your attention to the text of Secretary Colby's note of Aug. 10, and more especially to the following:

"'To summarize the position of this Government, I would say therefore in response to your Excellency's inquiry that it (the United States Government) would regard with satisfaction a declaration by the allied and associated powers that the territorial integrity and true boundaries of Russia shall be respected. These boundaries should properly include the whole of the former Russian Empire, with the exception of Finland proper, ethnic Poland and such territory as may by agreement form a part of the Armenian State.

"'The policy herein outlined will command the support of this Government.'"

ASSAIL CURB ON PAPER.

Milwaukee Leader's Fight in Supreme court Aided by The Call.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The appeal of The Milwaukee Leader from the refusal of lower courts to order its mail privileges restored was argued today before the Supreme Court. Publishers of The New York Call, appearing as "friends of the court" to assist the plaintiff, received permission to file briefs, but time for oral argument was refused to them.

Seymour Stedman, for The Leader, contended that there had been "tyrannous and intolerable abuse of an administrative power" by the Postmaster General, while counsel for The Call said that "a new and dangerous course" had been mapped out in the "unauthorized creation of a censorship which menaces the freedom of the press of America."

For the Government, Solicitor William L. Lamar contended that the court merely had to determine whether articles appearing in The Leader were so false as to bring the paper under the Espionage act.

TARIFF DEBATE NEXT WEEK.

Penrose Has Emergency Bill Made Senate's Unfinished Business.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Emergency Tariff bill, on motion of Senator Penrose, Chairman of the Committee on Finance, was made the unfinished business of the Senate this afternoon, Senator Penrose informing the Senate that he would take advantage of every opportunity to press the measure for the earliest possible consideration of the Senate. Senator Penrose added that the Emergency Tariff bill would not be permitted to interfere with the consideration of the appropriation bills, the first of which, the District of Columbia bill, was passed late this afternoon by the Senate.

FOR WOMAN IN CABINET.

Mrs. Upton Says the Country Needs "Mothering" Now.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 19.—A dispatch to The Sun from Washington quoted Mrs. Harriet Taylor Upton of Ohio as saying:

"A woman in the Cabinet of the President of the United States can be of just as much service to the country as a man. There are many women who are as capable as men to head the Executive Departments of the Government."

"The country has been 'fathered' to death," said Mrs. Upton, who is Vice Chairman of the National Republican Executive Committee. "It has been fathered' since the days of the Pilgrim Fathers. It needs a little bit of 'mothering' right now."

While Mrs. Upton said that she thought it possible that Mr. Harding would appoint a woman to head the proposed new Department of Social Welfare, she stated that she had not received any offer of the place.

RELIEF DAY OBSERVED BY CITY

WOMEN CANVASS STREETS

Incomplete returns from the "Day of Self-Denial" campaign conducted by the European Relief Council in New York City yesterday showed that $25,000 had been received in checks up to the close of the afternoon. It was said at the relief headquarters, however, that 800 checks still were uncounted, and no estimate could be given as to how much these would add to the total.

Every resident of the city had been asked through widely circulated appeals to deprive himself or herself of one meal in the course of the day and to send to the relief council the amount thus saved. The New York Women's Emergency Committee, under Mrs. Willard Straight, carried on a street campaign, aided by clubwomen and the Red Cross, making use of the ten army recruiting huts in various parts of Manhattan. Borough President Curran spoke to a shivering crowd before the Sub-Treasury Building on Wall Street at noon, urging them to contribute.

"I know you are cold," he said, "but remember you are not half as cold as those little children in Central Europe, who must meet the rigors of Winter in rags. So think of them, and give as you feel able."

Ration luncheons and dinners were served at clubs and hotels, costing about 50 cents to serve and bringing in from $1 to $1.50, the profits going to the European Council. At the Women's University Club last evening the members received two pieces of toast, a portion of rice and a cup of cocoa, and a total of $350 was raised there by that means and by selling cocoa at 17½ cents a pound. Similar meals were served at the Cosmopolitan, Women's City and Colony Clubs, and at India House and the Engineering Club.

Many banknotes were collected by the street workers before the Public Library, Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, where Miss Fannie Hurst, Miss Carroll McComus and others received the day of Liberty Loan drives by using their talents to draw money from passersby. One man walked up and down dropping five-dollar bills at intervals to the sum of $100, and many $20 contributions found their way into the baskets of the canvassers.

The day's proceeds will go to make up New York's quota of $33,000,000. The cash collections had not been figured up to last night.

BOWIE SALE NOW $13,377.

Fine old mahogany dining room tables, a pair used in one family since Revolutionary days, brought the highest price at the Mrs. William D. Bowie sale at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, going to L. J. O'Reilly for $600. These were American, of the Sheraton period, each with rectangular tops and drop leaves, with turned pedestals, spreading square legs and paw feet of brass.

Among other pieces of furniture Bernet, agent, paid $270 for an early American inlaid card table of mahogany with a circular hinged top supported on a hinged leg, legs square and tapering, [illegible] of the table were inlaid with American eagles displaying shields. An early American mahogany bureau, the columnar pilasters carved with acanthus and palm leaves, carved legs and paw feet, went to H. Howe for $190; an early American mahogany sideboard, [illegible] front and four tapering inlaid square legs, was bought by Seaman, agent, for $320.

An early American applewood slant-top desk with bracket feet and early American molded glass knobs went to Mrs. E. A. Greenbaum for $130; an early American mahogany tallboy, the front of the top drawer carved with a sunken shell, was bought by E. E. Farish for $250; an early American walnut tallboy, the centre lower drawer carved with a fluted semi-circular shell, was bought by H. Howe for $181; Mrs. R. D. Carter paid $140 for an early American mahogany bookcase chest of drawers with a vase-shaped finial, and to Mrs. C. Purdy went an early American spinet of mahogany, inlaid with rosewood, satinwood and ebony.

The returns for the afternoon were $1,988, making a total to date of $13,377. The sale will be concluded today.

PRESS CONGRESS IN HAWAII.

American Delegates Will Leave in September and Visit Philippines.

COLUMBIA, Mo., Jan. 19.—Following the announcement recently that the 1921 session of the Press Congress of the World would be held in Honolulu on Oct. 4 to 14, Dean Walter Williams, President of the congress, has announced that the delegates will leave the United States about the middle of September.

The delegates will also take an excursion from Hawaii to the Philippines Islands following the sessions of the congress, according to Dean Williams.

Acceptance of Honolulu's invitation for the congress meeting was decided on by the Executive Committee following a change in the Government of New South Wales, Australia, Dean Williams said. The 1921 session was to have been held in Sydney.

The congress delegates will be the guests of the Hawaiian Government while in that territory, and the Philippine Government will be their host on the excursion to the Philippines.

HONOLULU, Dec. 23 (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The world's press conference, in all likelihood, will meet in Honolulu in October, 1921, according to announcement of the Honolulu committee which has been carrying on negotiations with Walter Williams, Dean of the School of Journalism, University of Missouri, President of the Press Congress.

The Honolulu committee has guaranteed the necessary expenses, has made arrangements for reduced hotel rates for delegates, and has taken steps to have put in force preferential steamship rates for the members who will attend the meeting.

SAYS LABOR MUST CHOOSE.

Kansas Judge Declares Toilers Must Obey Union or Government Law.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 19.—Workmen of the United States may be called upon soon to "choose between the law of organized labor or that of State or Government," W. L. Huggins of Topeka, presiding Judge of the Kansas Court of Industrial relations, told the convention of the Northwestern Lumbermen's Association today.

"There is more Bolshevism in this country than we are willing to admit," Judge Huggins asserted, "but I believe that the great majority of American [illegible] are loyal and patriotic, and, as I told them from the bench down in the mining districts the time may come when you will be called upon to choose whether you will obey the law or organized labor or whether you will obey the law of the State and Government under which you live."

E. CLARENCE JONES WED MRS. BLOSSOM

SAIL FOR EUROPE TODAY

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage of E. Clarence Jones, banker, of this city, and Mrs. Margaret Seely Blossom of 130 West Fifty-seventh Street, the widow of Henry Martyn Blossom, which took place on Monday afternoon at the residence of the Rev. Orman M. West, in Jersey City. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will sail for Europe on the Imperator today.

Mr. Jones, who has an apartment at 161 West Fifty-seventh Street, motored to Jersey City on Monday with his bride-to-be [illegible] close friends, who served as [illegible] who refused to divulge any [illegible] about the ceremony until yesterday.

Mrs. Jones is a daughter of the late Samuel W. Seely of Brooklyn. She was married in 1909 to the late Mr. Blossom of St. Louis, author and playwright, who died of pneumonia in this city in March, 1919. He wrote the play "Checkers," and in collaboration with Victor Herbert, "The Red Mill," "The Prima Donna," "Mlle. Modiste" and "The [illegible] Girl."

Mr. Jones, who is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Perry Jones, was born in this city in 1866. He was graduated from the College of the City of New York, and in 1889 formed the firm [illegible] Jones & Co. He was divorced from his first wife about twenty years ago. In 1906 he organized the American Embassy Association, of which he is President.

Brownell—Hall.

William Crary Brownell, author and critic, and Miss Gertrude Hall, also an author, were married at noon yesterday in the Church of the Ascension by the Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant in the presence of a few intimate friends. Neither Miss Hall, who wore blue, nor Mr. Brownell had attendants.

It is Mr. Brownell's second marriage. His first wife, who was Miss Virginia Swinburne of Newport, died some years ago. For thirty years Mr. Brownell has been a literary adviser of Scribner's and the author of many books, including "French Traits," "French Art," "Classic and Contemporary Painting and Sculpture," "Victorian Prose Masters," "American Prose Masters" and other [illegible]. He was graduated from Amherst in 1871 and is 69 years of age.

Mrs. Brownell was born in Boston in [illegible], was educated in private schools in Florence, Italy, and has written several volumes of verse, including "Far from Today," "Allegretto," "April's Sewing," "The Foam of the Sea" and "The Hundred and Other Stories." Both Mr. Brownell and his bride have made their homes in New York for years.

Rasquin-Michel.

William Rasquin Jr., President of the Queens County Fair Association, was married yesterday to Mrs. Emma Michel, widow of William Michel, for many years an art dealer in Fifth Avenue. The ceremony was performed by County Judge Burt J. Humphrey in his office in the Court House at Long Island City.

Ulrich Henry Ellerhusen, a sculptor, living at 51 West Tenth Street, and Florence E. Cooney, an artist, of 939 Eighth Avenue, were married yesterday at the Church of the Paulist Fathers in this city. Mr. Ellerhusen is 41 years old, and his bride, who is 36, is the daughter of John Wad Cooney of this city.

Earl of Minto Weds Miss Cook.

MONTREAL, Jan. 19.—The Earl of Minto, son of the former Governor-General of Canada, and Miss Marion Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Cook of this city, were married here late this afternoon. The ceremony was performed in St. Patrick's Congress Hall before a large assemblage of distinguished guests, which included the Duke of Devonshire, Governor General of Canada, and the Duchess of Devonshire.

ENGAGEMENTS.

Miss Alice Houston to Wed Mario L. Luiggi, Civil Engineer.

The engagement is announced of Miss Alice Houston of this city and Mario Luigi Luiggi of London and Rome. Miss Houston was graduated from the University of Kansas and has made her home for several years with her brother, Robert Lockhart Houston, in this city.

Mr. Luiggi, who is a civil engineer, is a son of Professor Luiggi of Rome, Italy, and of the late Mrs. Luiggi of Ilbaldstow, Lincolnshire, England. He was educated in the Universities of Cambridge, England, and Rome. During the war he designed and built one of Italy's largest shell forging plants; [illegible] was also on the technical staff of the aviation service, and served later as a member of the Interallied Economic Missions, which visited this country in 1919. He has been created a Chevalier of the Crown of Italy.

ENGLISHMAN TURNED BACK.

J. H. Clarendon Denied Entry Here on the Ground of Ill Health.

J. H. Clarendon, a wealthy Englishman, 45 years old, who arrived from London last Saturday on the White Star liner Adriatic, was sent back yesterday on the same liner on the ground of ill health by the immigration authorities, acting upon instructions from the Public Health Service. He had lived in the United States for twenty years and had interests in mines in Nevada. He last visited this country five months ago.

Mr. Clarendon was gassed in the war, according to R. S. French, the surgeon of the Adriatic, and had traces of chlorine in his lungs, which made him a little nervous at times, but there was no trace of tuberculosis, he said. Mr. Clarendon said yesterday that he had left the matter in the hands of his lawyer.

Among the passengers on the Adriatic yesterday were seventeen American physicians and surgeons, on their way to Europe to combat typhus and other diseases in the war devastated countries.

INHERITS GATES WEALTH.

First $300,000 of Big Estate Goes to 18-Year-Old Girl.

Special to the New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Miss Dellora Angell, who inherited half of the John W. Gates estate upon the death of the financier's widow, her aunt, in 1918, took a step nearer to control of her wealth today, when the Kane County Probate Court dismissed her father as guardian, giving her possession of $300,000 of the amount finally due her. She was 18 years old on Dec. 23.

Mr. Angell was named by the Court as business manager of his daughter's income from the main property until she reaches the age of 21. Then she will have full control of the income, but will not receive any of the estate until she is 31 years old. Then she will get one-quarter. At 35 she will receive another quarter and at 40 the remaining half.

She may now have her own way as far as picking a husband is concerned. While she was in Lake Forest there were rumors of an engagement to Randolph Gibson Owsley, who later entered Annapolis; but these were denied at the time.

"I will not marry until I am 18," Miss Angell said, "and when I do it will not be anybody's business but my own."

At the time Mrs. Gates died the estate was estimated at $25,000,000.

BACK FUND DENIED SCHOOLS

Education Board Loses Suit to Pay Bills Out of Old Balance.

The Board of Education lost its suit yesterday to compel Controller Craig to pay claims against the board for 1918 in excess of the appropriation for that year out of the unused general and special school funds from 1912 to 1918, under a resolution adopted by the Board of Estimate last May. Justice Cohalan denied the mandamus application by the board and also a petition by the State Department of Education.

In upholding the contention of Controller Craig that the unused balances for each year should be applied on the reduction of the taxes for that year, Justice Cohalan said:

"If such were not the case we would have the Board of Estimate being required to carry these unused balances on the Controller's books in perpetuity and at a loss to the taxpayers of the city. An accumulation of unused balances is repugnant to our system of taxation, and if allowed would open the door for many abuses and give opportunity by indirection to make expenditures rejected and refused in the usual budgets and appropriations."

But Debts and Deductions Cut Amount to $54,112—Wife Gets Jewelry and $42,925.

HAD A $50 LIBERTY BOND

War Medal and Gifts From City and Foreign Nations Among His Possessions.

The estate of the late Mayor John Purroy Mitchel, who was killed by a fall from an airplane on July 6, 1918, while he was a major in the Aviation Corps, was appraised yesterday at $77,191 gross, but deductions and debts reduced the total estate to $54,112. The chief deduction was $18,334 for debts, of which $1,025 was to his mother, Mrs. Mary P. Mitchel, on a mortgage and $4,000 on a note. He owed $7,000 to Charles D. Purroy on a mortgage and $8,841 to Shonnard, Mills & Co., stock brokers. He owed Martin W. Littleton $480 as his attorney in the suit of Bullock vs. Mitchel.

Under Major Mitchel's will his wife, Olive C. Mitchel, received wearing apparel, jewelry and personal effects valued at $2,624 and the residuary estate of $42,925. His mother received $10,000. The appraisal does not include $10,000 Government insurance and a policy under which his wife is to get $400 a month and his mother $200 a month for twenty years.

The largest item in the estate was $27,767 in cash deposited in various banks. His interest in ten realty holdings in Bronx and Westchester counties was valued at $15,697. He had $5,000 insurance payable to his estate and stock worth $15,325. The largest item was 400 shares of Magma Copper, worth $13,600. He owned 100 shares of Interborough-Consolidated worth $875, and 100 shares of Nipissing worth $850. The only other stocks were 300 shares of Tramps Consolidated of no value. He had one $50 Liberty bond of the third issue.

The list of personal effects owned by the late Mayor contained many interesting items. The jewelry included the following: Gold watch, 32 brilliants, $100; two black pearl studs, $100; two white pearl studs, 6 grains each, $150; heart-shaped diamond stickpin, $200; stickpin, half-carat diamond and two sapphires, $120; stickpin, three brilliants, $100; stickpin, pearl set in brilliants, $100; gold cigarette case, $30, and mother of pearl shirt set, $75.

Gold medal from the French and British War Commission, $100; metal plaque from the Chinese Commercial Commission, with lacquered back and carved metal frame, $50; two silver vases presented by the Special Mission of Japan, $100; sterling silver loving cup, "Citizens Testimonial" Dec. 13, 1913, $225; gold and enamel medal, "Third Order of the Rising Sun," garnet in center, $125; ivory gavel, gold band, $25; sterling silver trowel, "Storehouse, Blackwells Island," $20; silver trowel, Equitable Building, $25, and medal medallion, Commercial Tercentenary, 1914, $10.

LESLIE WILL CONTEST LOST BY MRS. CATT

Referee Upholds Executors in the Settlement of Claim and in Awarding Attorneys' Fees.

Former Justice Edward Hatch of the Appellate Division, who was appointed two years ago to hear objections filed in the Surrogates' Court by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, residuary legatee under the will of Mrs. Frank Leslie, in which she protested against the management of the estate by William Nelson Cromwell and Louis H. Cramer, the executors, filed his report yesterday sustaining the executors.

Mrs. Catt objected to payments of $75,000 each to Sullivan & Cromwell and Edgar T. Brackett for legal services, and demanded that the executors be charged $60,000 because they settled a threatened contest by Maynard D. Follin as an heir-at-law, for $100,000, when they could have made the settlement for $40,000. Concerning this claim the referee said the $40,000 offer was rejected by Follin and that Mrs. Catt herself settled for $100,000.

The report also shows that when Mrs. Carrie H. Wrenn of Brooklyn, a niece of Mrs. Leslie, threatened to contest the will after she got the income from a trust fund of $50,000, Mrs. Catt settled for $150,000 and then objected to the payment being made by the executors for a long period. The referee found that the executors acted properly in all respects and that the attorneys' fees paid were earned.

The referee reports that the estate amounted to $1,977,810, of which $1,800,422 has been distributed. The executors still hold $177,387, out of which the expense of the accounting and Mrs. Catt's objections must be paid.

TO SAVE SOLDIERS' BOOTHS.

Women Volunteers Working for $5,000 to Keep Up Information Huts

Sixty women volunteer workers, who man the information booths conducted in the city by New York Community Service, have responded with pledges totaling $440 to the Save Soldiers' Booths Fund of $5,000, which the organization is trying to raise to continue the information service.

The appeal is for $5,000 by Feb. 1 to carry on the work until June 1, when other arrangements will be made to run them, and unless the drive is successful, the project must be abandoned.

Aside from residents of the city and strangers receiving approximately 30,000 answers monthly to questions vital to their welfare, the booths perform a service for men in uniform no other agency deals with. The booths stand at Greeley Square, Forty-second Street beside the Public Library and Times Square.

The booths were started about three years ago for war service to men in uniform, and have been continued because of the heavy patronage by civilians as well as soldiers and sailors.

Among the questions are: Suitable living quarters, employment, business, bonus, compensation, &c. by service and ex-service men and thousands of other topics. The information service maintains a rooming bureau constantly busy supplying suitable living quarters to men, women and girls, strangers to the city, and disabled veterans taking vocational training here.

Checks should be sent to Information Bureau, New York Community Service, 15 East Fortieth Street, New York City.

Sir John Martin Harvey Ill.

Special to The New York Times.

TORONTO, Ontario, Jan. 19.—Suffering from a sudden recurrence of his illness from influenza at Montreal last week, Sir John Martin Harvey was unable to appear before today's matinee audience at the Royal Alexandra in "David Garrick." The sudden seizure of the star occurred shortly before the hour for the opening of the performance and necessitated his immediate removal to Wellesley Hospital. His understudy acted his rôle this afternoon and evening.

IT HAPPENED IN BROOKLYN

The Ferry at Brooklyn in 1833

Early Steam Ferries— and Brooklyn's Subsequent Growth

ON the tenth of May 1814, the Nassau, the first steam ferryboat between New York and Brooklyn made its initial trip. So popular did the new service prove that it soon became insufficient for the rapidly increasing needs of the growing city. The South Ferry began its operation in 1836, somewhat relieving congestion at Fulton Ferry.

Although some ferries are still maintaining the traffic between New York and Brooklyn, the intricate modern transit system—through tunnels and over bridges—has been more instrumental in the enormous development of Brooklyn as a Home Town.

It is this development by steadily increasing population which is producing the steady, normal, healthy increase in realty values, the basis of an ideal mortgage investment. We offer for investment Guaranteed First Mortgages. Their principal never fluctuates—interest at 5½% is paid by us, never a day late—we guarantee them absolutely. Also Guaranteed First Mortgage Bonds from $250 upwards.

INSTRUCTION

"BOOKKEEPER" & "ACCOUNTANT"

The difference is a very real one. More than anything else, it affects earning power. Individual ambition and the right kind of training will bridge the gap.

Positions of responsibility paying substantial salaries are open to qualified accountants properly trained to fill them. Walton training in accountance has been unusually successful in equipping men for professional practice as well as for higher executive posts. The Walton School offers effective co-operation to its students in addition to technical training.

YALE SIGNS JONES TO LONG CONTRACT

Football Coach Reappointed for Period of Years and Will Devote Whole Time.

RETIRES FROM BUSINESS

Leaves Seattle Shipbuilding Position —Elis Working for Permanent Gridiron Policy.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 19.—Tad Jones will take charge of Yale football next month under a contract for several years. He will devote his whole time to Yale gridiron interests, retiring from the Ames Shipbuilding Company of Seattle, with which he has been connected for three years.

His engagement is intended to put Yale football on a permanent, substantial basis. Yale plans in this respect were tonight officially announced as follows:

"The Yale University Athletic Association announces that Tad Jones has accepted the position as head coach of the Yale football team for next season. The Alumni Advisory Committee on Football and Captain Malcolm P. Aldrich of Fall River joined in recommending Mr. Jones, and the Board of Control offered him a contract for a period of years, which he has accepted. Mr. Jones will wind up his business in Seattle and come East early in February to start the organization of next Fall's work. He will have personal charge of the Spring practices and will be in New Haven continuously through the year, so that a consistent and permanent football policy can be established."

Tad Jones prepared for Yale at Phillips Exeter Academy and was graduated from the Sheffield Scientific School in the class of 1908. He played football three years while in the Sheffield Scientific School as quarterback on the varsity, that being before the freshmen rule went into effect. Following his graduation he coached the Yale backfield in the Fall of 1908, after which he coached at Syracuse, Pawling chool and Phillips Exeter. He came to Yale as head coach in the Fall of 1916 when Captain Black's team defeated both Princeton and Harvard. His work at Yale was interrupted by the war, but he came back here as head coach for a single season last Fall.

CITY A. C. TEAM WINS.

Takes Five of Seven Handball Games With Columbia Players.

The City A. C. handball team vanquished the Columbia University varsity players last night in their dual clash on the City A. C. courts by a margin of 6 matches to 2. The club players captured the three singles matches and annexed a pair of victories in the doubles. C. Henrique and J. Toff and P. Riccio and A. Penn, Columbia doubles pairs, registered the only successes for the Blue and White team. Henrique and Toff defeated S. Stern and Dr. H. Goldberg of the City A. C. in a keenly fought battle by scores of 15—21, 21—17, 21—18. Riccio and Penn scored in straight games over Dr. Goldberg and H. Harris in another hard-fought match by scores of 21—14 and 21—16. The summaries:

Singles—H. Soss, City A. C., defeated R. Mannes, Columbia University, 21—6, 21—16; A. Waldman, City A. C., defeated W. Holste, Columbia University, 21—6, 16—21, 21—6; S. Stern, City A. C., defeated P. Riccio, Columbia University, 21—9, 21—8.

Doubles—H. Soss and A. Waldman, City A. C., defeated R. Mannes and C. Henriquez, Columbia University, 16—21, 21—9, 21—16; C. Henriquez and J. Toff, Columbia University, defeated S. Stern and Dr. H. Goldberg, City A. C., 15—21, 21—17, 21—18; P. Dworsky and M. Dworsky, City A. C., defeated P. Riccio and W. Holste, Columbia University, 21—16, 21—13; P. Riccio and A. Penn, Columbia University, defeated Dr. H. Goldberg and H. Harris, City A. C., 21—14, 21—16.

Lady Langer Captures Title Swim in New South Wales

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 19.—Lady Langer of San Francisco today won the quarter-mile swimming championship of New South Wales.

Langer, who was formerly of Los Angeles but now calls himself a Honolulu representative, is one of four American swimmers and Olympic champions who are touring Australia and New Zealand. The headliner of the quartet is Miss Etheida Bleibtrey, famous woman swimmer, who is passing four weeks in racing in New Zealand before going to Australia. The three men swimmers, all of whom are now in Australia preparing to meet all-comers, are Langer, Duke Kahanamoku and Pua Kealoha, the latter two Hawaiian sprinters and winners for America at the Olympic games.

RIVERSIDE SCORES HIS EIGHTH VICTORY

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 19.—Riverside, under Pickens's good ride, scored his eighth consecutive victory at Oriental Park today when he led home a good field in the Heraldo de Cuba Handicap, the feature event of the program. The son of Von Tromp—Rosegal has raced over the Havana track since 1919 and has yet to suffer defeat. He has met and beaten all sorts of fields, and his victory today was, perhaps, his best performance. Riverside assumed the lead at the start and, making all the pace, won by two lengths. In winning Exhorter made a game effort, but was no match for the winner. Bally, which performed so impressively the other day, was never close and was beaten many lengths.

IMPOST HAMPERS TIPPITY WITCHET

Favorite, Under Heavy Burden, Loses Race to Captain Mac at New Orleans.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 19.—Tippity Witchet, the sturdy little son of Broomstick, which has been one of the best performers during the Winter season, attempted to carry an impost of 130 pounds in the Lafayette Handicap at a mile and a sixteenth at the Fair Grounds this afternoon and found that the weight was too much for him. He staggered home under the burden two lengths back of C. W. Clark's Captain Mac, to the disappointment of a large following that had made the Broomstick gelding a favorite.

Captain Mac won in hand, but he was saved from a closer finish by the fact that Tippity Witchet went extremely wide at the turn into the stretch and lost considerable ground. This mishap and the heavy impost cost the favorite whatever chance he might have had up to that time. However, he was able to save second easily from Captain Herschler, which was much the best of the balance of the field.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—For two-year-olds; maiden fillies; purse $1,000; three furlongs. CROWDS SEE POULTRY SHOW

Throngs View With Awe Hens That Lay Dollar-a-Dozen Eggs.

With eggs vaulting annually into the dollar-per-dozen class, many persons who gave little attention to the poultry business in the past are now making anxious inquiries. Some want to reduce the family expenses, while others look upon the business with the same awe that they regard the mint. Officials of the Poultry Show, now going on at Madison Square Garden, report that they are called upon to answer more questions than ever before. It indicates a back to the farm movement, they declare.

The attendance at the show yesterday afternoon was said to be the largest in the history of the exhibit. It was necessary to use an extra ticket window, something that had not occurred heretofore in all the years of Poultry Shows at the Garden. The judging began yesterday morning and blue ribbons were flying proudly from numerous pens last night.

Osterritter and Kockler in Front, With 41 Points, in Chicago Race.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—At the end of the sixty-eighth hour in the six-day bicycle race at the Coliseum at 6 o'clock tonight Osterritter and Kockler were leading the field, with 41 points to their credit, having covered 1,148 miles 2 laps. Madden and Magin were second, with 31 points, and Eaton and Hill third, with 27½ points.

Horemans Ready to Accept Hoppe's Terms for a Match

Edouard Horemans, champion billiardist of Europe, announced last night that he would meet the terms demanded by Willie Hoppe's manager that a match between the two might be consummated. The difference between the two has been the division of the gate, Hoppe having insisted upon the winner taking all while Horemans has held out for a percentage to the loser, but so anxious is he to bring about the match that he has waived that condition. He said: "I will play Hoppe two matches, one of 2,000 points at 18.1 balkline and one of 3,000 points at 18.2 balkline billiards and will agree to Hoppe's manager's terms that the winner take all the gate. I want long games that will afford a real test."

EARLE HIGH GUNNER IN PINEHURST SHOOT

South Carolina Star Breaks 437 Targets—Lewis, N. Y. A. C., Finishes Second.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 19. — Paul Earle, the South Carolina trap shooting champion, won the high average contest in the mid-Winter tournament at Pinehurst today with a total of 437 breaks out of 450 targets thrown during the three days of the event. Tracey Lewis, the New York Athletic Club champion, took second honors, at 435, and was followed by Allen Heil, the Pennsylvania champion, at 434. Heil led the field in today's shooting at 147.

Earle had a hard uphill fight on his hands from the start. He finished on Monday at 143, three targets from the top, pulled himself up to second place on Tuesday at 291, by breaking 148 out of 150, and finished two targets ahead of the field this afternoon with 146 for the day and a 437 total.

The South Carolina champion took part in an interesting shoot-off today with H. A. Morson, champion of North Carolina, who tied with Earle yesterday at 148 for high gunner of the day. Both dropped two targets in the first twenty-five of the shoot-off and Earle finally won the high-gun honors by breaking the second twenty-five straight while Morson dropped three.

John H. Noel, the Tennessee champion, waived his right to a shoot-off of the tie between Tracey Lewis and himself, who tied as high guns on Monday, and Lewis was awarded the trophy.

Frank M. Troeh, leading trapshooter of the world, who put himself out of the race by missing twelve targets on the opening day, pulled himself up into a tie for seventh place, at 427, by breaking seventy-four of the final seventy-five.

Twelve contestants broke 425 or more out of 450 targets at sixteen yards. The scores by days:

CRANE WINS AND LOSES.

Defeats Flynn in Snooker Tourney, but Bows to Baerstein.

Two games were played last night in the amateur snooker pool championship, which is being contested for at Doyle's Broadway billiard room. The tournament is an annual event held under the auspices of the American Amateur Billiard Association. In the first event Ray Crane was the victor over Leo Flynn by a score of 59 to 47. Crane got off to a good start by virtue of his good playing plus the bad luck which Flynn had early in the match, as the latter gave fourteen points in scratches before the fifth inning.

In the second match Max Baerstein defeated Crane by the one-sided score of 80 to 30. The winner played in excellent form. He was careful about his shots and did not take many chances until his lead was safe.

HOREMANS SETS NEW 18.1 HIGH RUN MARK

Edouard Horemans, the Belgian cue expert, played two more remarkable games of 18.1 balkline billiards yesterday at Maurice Daly's Academy. In the afternoon game he far eclipsed the new high-run mark of 143 which he made on Tuesday and which was three points better than Frank Ives made in 1897. In the opening inning of the afternoon game he clicked off a total of 207 points, to the amazement of the large and enthusiastic gallery, made up for the greater part of clever billiardists.

During that run, which is a new American record at 18.1 balkline in a match, a tournament or an exhibition, the Belgian tallied no fewer than 40 points by means of massé shots, while his draw shots were too numerous to count. At the conclusion of the game he expressed his disappointment at not having run out the entire 300 points of the block.

Thomas Gallagher was his opponent, but he had little opportunity to do much shooting. The score for the afternoon game was 300 to 23, while in the evening game the score was 300 to 29. Horemans's averages were 42 6-7 in the earlier game and 25 in the latter. The total score of the match, which consisted of four blocks of 300 points each, was 1,200 for the Belgian and 146 for Gallagher.

The scores by innings:

AFTERNOON GAME.

Gallagher—3 2 13 3 1 1. Total, 23.

EVENING GAME.

GARPENTIER FIGHT IS OFF, SAYS BRADY

will not commit myself personally just now.

"My own personal opinion is—and existing conditions support this belief—that the bout may be held in London. That is not a positive statement, just an opinion founded on conditions as they are right now. You cannot hold an enterprise of this magnitude in the United States at the present time, with the existing $15 maximum price in operation and the possibility of objection in different localities best suited for such a bout. Mexico is out of the question, and so is Cuba. And you might as well dismiss Canada, too, for there can be no guarantee of success for such a bout across the northern border."

Despite Mr. Brady's emphatic declaration of the withdrawal of Promoter Cochran and himself from the $500,000 bout, Tex Rickard professed ignorance of any rift in the original plans, even when acquainted with the details of Mr. Brady's declaration. He stated, however, that in the event that the withdrawal of Messrs. Brady and Cochran was authentic he was prepared to proceed alone.

"My understanding of the situation," said Mr. Rickard last night, "is that everything has proceeded satisfactorily from the time the contract was signed. The deposits have been made in accordance with the provisions of the contract, to the best of my knowledge. I know my bond, and that of Mr. Brady, was in the care of Attorney Vidaver, together with a bond of $50,000 for Dempsey. Carpentier's deposit was tied up in France, but a receipt of the deposit was received here, and I understood it was accepted as satisfactory.

"The decision of Mr. Brady, therefore, came as a complete surprise. I am sure there must be something wrong. At any rate, there has been no change on my part from the original agreement, and I am prepared to go through with the bout as it was at first planned. My information is that the bout has been definitely set for July 2, probably in Canada. I have received a very promising offer from there, but I am not prepared as yet to disclose the exact source of the offer. In the event that Promoters Brady and Cochran withdraw from the match, however, I would proceed independently, guaranteeing the boxers the $500,000.

Says Rickard Is Mistaken.

Attorney Vidaver, when communicated with, declared that he had never seen a bond for Dempsey, as was stated by Mr. Rickard. "The bonds of Mr. Brady and Mr. Rickard were entrusted to me," said the lawyer; "but I have never seen a bond or deposit for Dempsey. If Mr. Rickard makes such a statement, he is mistaken."

The situation, with its new and various developments, presents a complicated condition, out of which but one fact stands out clearly. The bout, as originally planned for a $500,000 purse, is positively off. The alleged contract violations on the part of the boxers, through their failure to make deposits, as was stipulated, by Nov. 20 of last year, together with the withdrawal of Promoters Brady and Cochran, make it impossible for the bout to be held under the original contract. Even if Promoter Rickard is determined to proceed independently, as he says he is, a new contract for the bout must be drawn up and signed, as a result of the dissolution of the triumvirate through the withdrawal of Brady and Cochran.

With the elimination of the original contract for the bout, the way will be made clear again to open negotiations for a match between the pair, and under more reasonable financial conditions. This latter is the compelling objection to the present arrangement. It is believed by boxing men, for the promoters faced almost certain failure with the $500,000 project. It is recalled also that Promoter Rickard several weeks ago made the significant remark that when Dempsey and Carpentier clashed they would box on a percentage basis. This remark was made at a time when there was concerted objection to the commercialization of boxing as reflected in the tremendous $500,000 purse, and after Promoter Rickard had repeatedly reiterated that the boxers would work on a strict guarantee basis.

Another criticism concerns the delay in the holding of the match. It is the general opinion in boxing circles that too much time was wasted between the signing of articles and the time of entering the ring. It was pointed out yesterday that if the men had boxed before the nation-wide limitation on admission tickets had been adopted there was a possibility of success, despite the tremendous money expenditure involved. When a $15 maximum price was established throughout the country, however, all hopes for profit from the bout were dissipated.

The opinion was advanced that Carpentier and Dempsey should have clashed about the time Dempsey met Brennan. With the unlimited admission prices then prevailing, it was argued the battle might have been a financial success. The argument against this, however, was a determination on the part of Promoter Rickard to conduct the bout in an outdoor arena.

Denials Are Made.

The fact that the violations of the contract were of such a nature as to cause the withdrawal of Messrs. Brady and Cochran seems to have come as a surprise to the principals in the proposed bout and their managers. Denials from various sources were made yesterday of a cancellation of the $500,000 contest.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 19.—Forfeits of both Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier for $50,000 have been posted to insure their meeting for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world, according to Jack Kearns, manager of Champion Dempsey, denying reports from New York last night that the fight had been canceled because the principals had failed to post their forfeit money.

Kearns positively denied the New York reports the fight had been called off in an interview given Harry Smith, sporting editor of the San Francisco Chronicle, and published today.

"It is an absolute falsehood," Kearns is quoted as saying. "I am positive the deposits have been made and in the hands of Robert Edgren, who was named as the man with full power to act. My money was posted three days after the Carpentier coin was put in the bank, and I have my receipt in my New York offices. I know also that the Frenchman left his coin in this country."

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 19.—Robert Edgren, stakeholder in the Dempsey-Carpentier bout, said here today he had been "informed right along" that all money had been posted, as required by the contract.

"Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, told me it had been," said Mr. Edgren, "and I was informed Carpentier's forfeit was deposited in France and was to be forwarded, as agreed, to the Central Union Trust Company of New York.

"I recently heard reports that all deposits had not been made, however, and I wrote to the trust company to find out. I have not received an answer."

Carpentier Thinks Bout Is On.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Georges Carpentier declared today there was nothing in the report from New York that his match with Jack Dempsey had been abandoned because of the non-deposit of forfeits, the Exchange Telegraph announces. Carpentier made this statement at Leeds, where he has gone to take part in a charity boxing tourney. He said his own forfeit money had been deposited last November and that, as far as he was concerned, the match was not off.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Georges Carpentier's forfeit as a guarantee for the contract he signed with Jack Dempsey for a bout to decide the heavyweight championship of the world is being held by the Morgan-Harjes Bank of this city. It was deposited with this institution on Nov. 22 last, and is the equivalent of $50,000.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 19.—There is not a "chance on earth" of a permit being granted for the Dempsey-Carpentier fight in Ontario, J. P. Fitzgerald, Secretary of the Ontario Athletic Commission, declared here today.

"We are not running championship bouts around here," he said. "We are doing a little to help our own boys and for our own amusement."

Even if the fight was limited to ten rounds, Fitzgerald said, "my belief is that a permit would not be granted by the commission."

COCHRAN MAKES NEW OFFER.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—THE NEW YORK TIMES announcement that the Dempsey-Carpentier fight for $500,000 is definitely off produced the usual crop of statements and surmises. Charles B. Cochran, who cannot be seen personally, as he is ill, issued a statement as joint promoter with William A. Brady and Tex Rickard.

In it he said he had heard nothing beyond the fact that the French Government would not allow Carpentier's money to leave France, Descamps, Carpentier's manager, made every endeavor to send his $50,000. Cochran said that he thought Dempsey's deposit of $50,000 was up but he was not sure. His own deposit of one-third of $100,000 is in the hands of the appointed trust company.

Cochran added that in the event of the rumors being true he is prepared to give a purse of $100,000 for the men to box in England in June.

No Surprise in England.

The London Globe's boxing expert, Cymary, says THE NEW YORK TIMES announcement does not come as a surprise to those who have kept in touch with affairs.

"The source of today's story may be regarded as authoritative," he continues, "as the newspaper in question is very reliable on boxing matters. The failure of the match is entirely owing to the huge purse offered and it rings the death knell of inflated rewards for boxers. Had the contest been for, say, £20,000 it would have materialized long ago, but an amount like £100,000 at once raises all sorts of questions in the world of high finance. To begin with the promoters can hope to attract a large enough crowd to recoup themselves only in three places in the world, New York, London or Paris."

"Boxing is largely a matter of politics in the United States, and a contest involving all this money would give reformers a fine platform from which to attack all those at present in power. London is equally out of the question. Both contestants being foreigners, it would mean that probably £80,000 or £90,000 of money, paid by British boxing enthusiasts, if they did pay it, would go straight out of the country. I feel certain that, much as the British public would like to see the contest, the authorities will not allow it to take place here. France can be ruled out at once. It may be possible to raise the necessary gate money to pay the boxers, but the French Government tax would take about half that sum, so the promoters would find themselves about £30,000 out of pocket."

PROMOTER SUES DEMPSEY.

Asks Share of $500,000 Movie Profits of Fighter and His Managery

BATAVIA, N. Y., Jan. 19.—Two suits for damages aggregating $200,000 against Jack Dempsey, world champion pugilist, and Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, were filed in the Genesee County Clerk's office here today by Frank P. Spellman, a former showman. Spellman, alleging that he introduced Dempsey into motion pictures, asks $100,000 as his share of profits in pictures in which Dempsey has appeared and $100,000 for personal services.

Both actions are scheduled for trial here at the term of the Supreme Court which opens on Jan. 31.

In the suit for personal services, Spellman alleges that $100,000 is due him under a verbal contract with Kearns. He alleges that he made eight trips across the Continent for Dempsey, that he "squelched" an alleged attempt to blackmail Dempsey, that he assisted in disproving draft dodging charges brought against Dempsey and that he made various trips to New York to engage training quarters and to avert other threatened litigation.

JAY GOULD TAKES LEAD OVER SOUTAR

Captures Three of Four Sets in First Day's Play for Open Court Tennis Title.

CHAMPION TURNS ANKLE

Resumes Play and Wins Last Game From Challenger With Spectacular Shot.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Jay Gould, defending his title as open court tennis champion of America, was successful in standing off Jock Soutar, professional champion and challenger, in three of the four sets played today at the Racquet Club, but Soutar pressed close in two of them and won the third set. The games for Gould were 6—5, 6—2, 5—6 and 6—4.

After narrowly missing taking the first set by his smashing, care-free style of play, Soutar endeavored to speed up the play still more in the second set and smashed one racquet after another. Gould ran out the second set in easy fashion, but Soutar began to pull back and finally won the third set by a game. Still playing with his back to the wall, Soutar faced a score of 2—5 against him, and, with only the point to be lost for Gould to win the set, Soutar set himself manfully to the task.

Soutar Amazes Crowd.

Gets that took the spectators' breath away bounded off his racquet. Passes smashed low in the corners and aces to winning openings till the fighting pro had run the games up to 4—5, still in favor of Gould. The set meant two sets all for the day or 1—3 against Soutar, and stern was the battle for that next game. Leading at 40—15, Gould looked a sure winner, but Soutar brought it to 3—4 with a placement to the winning gallery and a deuce with a dedans shot, another clean point, while the gallery yelled for joy at the excitement and fury of the play. But the wild cheering was suddenly hushed.

Gould flopped flat on his back after a difficult get, in which his ankle had given under him. The gallery rose to its feet. Soutar and attendants rushed to the side of the prostrate champion, who could only point to his ankle. Gould tried to rise, but settled back again, writhing in pain. His ankle was pulled vigorously and rubbed. He was finally able to get to his feet and was cheered as he limped through the rest of this thrilling game.

Gould Shows His Skill.

Gould's old-time cunning and shot mastery stood him in good stead here, for Soutar, trying to rush the play and force the victory in this crisis, was too anxious and missed. Gould finally scoring the game on a shot off the tambour, ungettable for its right angle bound, after the game had gone to deuce six times. Dripping with perspiration, the two shook hands at the finish of the first day's play. "Some match," puffed Gould.

The scores:

CONQUER DEKES AT SQUASH.

Army and Navy Club Players Win Team Match, 5 to 2.

METROPOLITAN LEAGUE SQUASH TENNIS STANDING, CLASS B.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	P.C.
Yale	8	0	1000
Columbia	6	2	.750
Crescent	5	2	.714
Harvard	4	5	.444
D. K. E.	2	5	.286
Princeton	2	7	.222
Army and Navy	1	7	.125

Play was continued yesterday among the three pairs who failed to compete on Tuesday in the Class B squash tennis team match between the Army and Navy Club and the D. K. E. Club, the former having won three of the four matches played on the first day and in consequence required but one more to win the team match.

Clifford Ayres won that needed match in competition with E. L. Ward of the Dekes, the score being 15—11, 4—15, 15—8, and, in addition, Thornton Delahanty of the Army and Navy Club won his match by default, while E. C. Huntington, Deke, defeated G. I. Dean of the Army and Navy Club by the score of 15—6, 15—3.

As a result, the Army and Navy Club is the winner of the team match by the score of 5 to 2, and, though the victory does not advance the standing of the soldiers and sailors in the tournament, still it does break the ice, as the club had not scored a single victory heretofore since the Class B contest has been in progress.

MEADOW LARKS' TRIO WINS.

Down Highlanders by 24 to 19 in Free-Scoring Polo Match.

Rarely if ever has a more open game of indoor polo been played than that which was contested last night at Durland's Academy, when the local trio, the Meadow Larks, defeated the Highlanders by the score of 24 goals to 19.

The officers and the civilians were handicapped at ten goals for each team. H. M. Winn of the Meadow Larks was the high handicap man of the two teams and his playing showed that he is able to carry that burden without trouble. He scored fifteen of the twenty-four goals to the credit of his trio. Major J. K. Brown was taxed at five goals, but Major R. E. Anderson, a two-goal man, drove the ball home for eight tallies and, mounted on one of George C. Sherman's best ponies, played a fine game.

FRANKLYN SWAMPS CUTLER.

Basketball Five Outplays Rivals and Wins by 20-5 Score.

Franklyn School's basketball team defeated the Cutler School five yesterday by the score of 20 to 5. The game was played on the Franklyn courts and was decidedly one-sided. Demuth proved to be by all odds the best player in the game, and he did most of the scoring. At the end of the first half the score was 11 to 0 in Franklyn's favor.

Bout Made Anne Morgan An Enthusiastic Fight Fan

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Boxing has a firm friend in Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of the late J. P. Morgan, who, as Chairman of the American Committee on Devastated France, recently promoted the Leonard-Mitchell bout in Madison Square Garden. Miss Morgan was converted into an enthusiast when she witnessed the great battle between the lightweights and she says that she will see more bouts in the future. Miss Morgan, who is in Cincinnati, said: "It does not matter to me that Richie Mitchell could not win; that the great champion arose and shook himself together and at last beat Mitchell down. To me the whole glory and ecstasy of that fight came in that one splendid moment when Mitchell arose superior to everything, did the impossible and dropped the champion with that wonderful rally."

Westchester Association Announces Date for Amateur Championship Tournament.

The day when golf clubs of the Metropolitan district tripped over each other in their efforts to gather the privilege of staging championship tournaments of various calibre is apparently passed. Take, for instance, the three championships which the Westchester County Golf Association will hold during the coming season. While there is little doubt that several of the Westchester clubs will welcome the amateur, open and junior championships, there has been no strong advance bids for these events.

The executive Committee of the Westchester association met yesterday with the purpose of naming courses for the three championships, the Victory Cup tournament and the Westchester-New Jersey team matches. The meeting canvassed the situation and agreed on the most suitable courses for these events, but the selections can not be announced yet. Invitations were extended, but the detail of getting formal approval by the several clubs' tournament committees had been omitted, and until such can be obtained announcements of where the events will be held will not be made.

In addition to the events referred to above, a series of amateur-professional matches will be inaugurated in the Spring. These will be played on different courses in a process of elimination. Instead of best ball matches, such as were played by a number of the Long Island clubs last Summer, play will be at Scotch foursomes.

Suitable dates for holding the three championships were discussed at the meeting, but a definite time was named in only one case. The amateur championship will be played June 2-4. This choice follows the order of events last year, the tournament being held at the same time that the New Jersey State championship is held. The open championship will be held some time in August, although the exact time was not named.

Incidentally, this open championship promises to develop into a lively, spirited contest. Since Tom Kerrigan, the Siwanoy professional, won the inaugural tournament at Gedney Farms last Summer, several well-known professionals have changed their base of operations from other sections to Westchester County. These include Jim Barnes, at the Pelham Country Club; George McLean, at Grasslands; Sprain, and C. S. Butchart, at Biltmore, all of these being clubs in the district. Willie MacFarlane has changed from his berth at a private course at Port Washington to Oak Ridge. Provided all of this new talent enters the list, Kerrigan will have a tough time ahead in retaining his laurels.

Yesterday's meeting also chose officers for the ensuing year. Following are the selections: Lee W. Maxwell, Sleepy Hollow, President; M. K. Water, Ardsley, Vice President; John G. Anderson, Siwanoy, Secretary, and R. P. Walden, Apawamis, Treasurer. C. V. Benton, Hudson River Country Club, was chosen Chairman of the Tournament Committee and D. E. Sawyer, Metropolitan amateur champion, was made the team captain.

QUAKER GOLFERS MEET.

Philadelphia Body Changes Methods of Play for Title Tourneys.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Virtually every club in the local district was represented at the annual meeting of the Golf Association of Philadelphia at the Bellevue-Stratford tonight. Perhaps the most important thing done was to change the method of play for the championship. It will no longer be an eighteen-hole tournament with a field of sixteen qualifying. Instead the old plan will be resumed, thirty-two to qualify at thirty-six holes with a final round of thirty-six holes, four days being required.

The amateur championship was awarded to the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club. The open championship will be played either at Pine Valley or Torresdale.

The qualifying round of the interclub championship and the Joseph Henry Patterson Memorial Cup event will be held at the Philadelphia Cricket Club on Memorial Day. An effort to separate the two events was defeated. The junior championship will be staged at the Philmont Country Club.

Robert W. Lesley, who was in the chair, was named to succeed himself as President of the association. The other officers elected were:

Howard W. Perrin, Pine Valley Golf Club, Vice President; Francis B. Warner, Philadelphia Cricket Club, Secretary-Treasurer, and the following members of the Executive Committee: Harrison Townsend, Aronimink Golf Club; George F. Brown, Huntingdon Valley Country Club; Garfield Scott, Philadelphia Country Club; Henry Strouse, Philmont Country Club; Frederick S. Sherman, Country Club of Atlantic City; L. F. Deming, Whitemarsh Valley Country Club.

WRITER WINS GOLF ROUND.

Grantland Rice Defeats Former Tennis Champion at Belleair.

Special to The New York Times.

BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla., Jan. 19.—The interest in the January golf tournament, the second round of which was played today at Belleair, was centred in the match in which Grantland Rice, Englewood, defeated Clarence Hobart of New York, the former tennis champion, by 3 and 1.

The summaries:

First Sixteen—Grantland Rice, Englewood, defeated Clarence Hobart, New York, by 3 and 1; W. Ingersoll, Rockford, Ill., defeated J. W. Noble, Great Neck, by 1 up; L. D. Dickinson, Clearwater, defeated George R. Balch, Cincinnati, by 3 and 2; Burton Preston, Mansfield, Ohio, defeated I. Henderson, New York, by 2 up.

Second Sixteen—C. H. Worcester, Glenview, defeated T. W. Proctor, Boston, by 3 and 2; E. A. Engler, Glenview, defeated T. C. Boulter, Baltusrol, by 5 and 4; Beecher, Hillsboro, defeated H. L. Hazen, New York, by 3 and 7.

PEDDIE FIVE WINS EASILY.

Defeats Pennington Basketball Team by Score of 53 to 22.

Special to The New York Times.

PENNINGTON, N. J., Jan. 19.—Peddie defeated Pennington School here this afternoon by the score of 53 to 22. The game was hard-fought throughout. In the first half Peddie maintained a wide margin of superiority, giving a splendid exhibition of passing, and emerged on the long end of a score of 24 to 11.

HARVARD SKATERS WIN CLOSE GAME

Defeat Massachusetts Aggies 2 to 0 by Use of Fresh Man in Third Period.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 19.—The Harvard varsity hockey team had its work out tonight in order to beat the team that came down from the Massachusetts Agricultural College at Amherst by a 2 to 0 score. The visiting team was very fast and handled itself well. Several Boston boys were in the outfit and they played Harvard at evens for two of the three periods. Holmes was called on to do yeoman work at goal for hte Crimson, McCarthy of the visiting team repeatedly making shots from all angles.

Harvard had to cover McCarthy and could not score until the third period, when Owen made a long rush and got in a corner drive, Captain Bigelow taking chances with a very long drive which passed Goal Keeper Newell because one of his own players was directly in line with Bigelow. Harvard was outskated but in the third period had the advantage of using fresh men, several of the regulars having been resubstituted after a good rest.

The lineup:

HARVARD (2).		MASS. ST. COL. (0).
Holmes	G.	Newell
Humphrey	P.	Poole
Owen	C. P.	Collins
Bacon	L. W.	Snow
Buntin	C.	Lyons
Bigelow	R.	Mansell
Emmons	R. W.	McCarthy

Goals—Owen, Bigelow.

Substitutions—Harvard: Baker for Emmons, Snelling for Buntin, Angier for Bacon. Massachusetts State: Gardner for Snow.

Referees—Fred Roque and George Gaw. Goal umpires—Edwards and La Rocca. Timers—Carlton and Thompson. Time of periods—Three of 12 minutes.

NINE STRAIGHT FOR NAVY.

Midshipmen Defeat Villanova Five by 46 to 19.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 19.—Working at a fast clip and with fine team work, the Naval Academy basketball team made it nine straight by winning from Villa Nova this afternoon by 46 to 19.

The line-up:

Substitutions—Naval Academy: Waldlich for McKee, Blue for Byerly, McCrory for Blue, Johnston for Ault, Ault for Johnston, Lyon for Watters, Parr for Greber. Villa Nova: Mitchell for Sweeney, Connolly for Pickett, Pickett for Jones.

Referee—Mr. Pippen, University of Maryland. Umpire—Mr. McDevitt, University of Pennsylvania. Time of halves—Twenty minutes.

ARMY FIVE DOWNS LEHIGH.

Soldiers Outplay Collegians and Win by 33 to 14.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Jan. 19.—The Army beat Lehigh handily at basketball today by a score of 33 to 14. The Cadets succeeded in keeping the collegians away from their basket throughout two-thirds of the game, the visitors failing to register from the field until the middle of the second period. The Army led at half time 11 to 3. Smythe, Dabezies and Pfeffer starred for the soldiers, bombarding the collegians' basket frequently.

The line-up:

ARMY (33).		LEHIGH (14).
Smythe	L. F.	Lingle
Vichules	R. F.	Coleman
Dabezies	C.	Lees
Pfeffer	L. G.	Hartung
Kessler	R. G.	Springsteen

Goals from foul—Lingle 8 out of 18, Smythe 5 out of 12.

Substitutions—French for Smythe, Smythe for Kessler, Whitson for Dabezies, Laviria for Coleman, Marshall for Lees. Time of halves—20 minutes. Referee—Tom Thorp, Columbia. Umpire—Ed Thorp, De La Salle.

CRESCENTS WIN ANOTHER.

Defeat Quintet of Brooklyn College Club by Score of 26-17.

The Crescent Athletic Club's basketball team added another to its long list of victories last night when it vanquished the five from the Brooklyn College Club at Loyola Hall by the score of 26 to 17.

TIKKA WINS TWO BOUTS.

Mat Champion Throws Pair of Rivals in N. Y. A. C. Tourney.

W. Tikka, national and metropolitan amateur welterweight wrestling champion, and I. Leino, New York A. C., Olympic and national middleweight titleholder, advanced to the semifinal round of the amateur wrestling tournament which began last night at the New York A. C. The title-holding grapplers, together with other survivors of the remarkably long string of bouts held in the first installment of the tournament, will compete tomorrow night when the finals will also be decided.

Tikka threw L. Odum, Columbia University wrestler, in his first bout, held in the second round, after 2 minutes 32 seconds of struggling. In his second encounter, in the succeeding round, Tikka gained the referee's decision over V. Delin, Swedish-American A. C., after the customary ten-minute match.

Lenio went through the first round of the 158-pound class on a default from J. Touminen and in the second round gained the referee's decision over M. Frangis, Greek-American A. C.

The summaries:

145-Pound Class, Preliminary Round—G. Hiltunen, unattached, defeated J. Lindrose, Aland A. C., referee's decision; P. Hart, Boys' Club, defeated A. Anderson, Norwegian-American A. C., referee's decision; W. Looneland, unattached, defeated W. Lundahl, unattached, referee's decision.

Ohio Bill Provides Prison Term for Bribed Players

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Jan. 19.—Professional baseball players accepting bribes to throw games in Ohio would, if convicted, be imprisoned from one to five years and fined $10,000, under a bill submitted to the State Legislature today. Any person offering or giving such a bribe would be subjected to the same punishment. The bill was prompted, its sponsor admits, by the exposé in connection with the world's series games of 1919.

LAFAYETTE STAR TO PLAY WITH YANKEES

Bradshaw, Catcher on 1920 Nine, Will Join New York Americans in March or June.

Special to The New York Times.

EASTON, Pa., Jan. 19.—Jim Bradshaw, the star catcher of last season's championship Lafayette College baseball team, announced today that he had made a verbal agreement to join the New York American League Club, either at the Southern training camp, March 1, or in June at the close of the college semester. He will not sign a contract until he reports.

Bradshaw, who is a member of the Lafayette College sophomore class, made a great reputation last Spring. His work behind the bat attracted the attention of many minor and major league scouts.

In twenty games Bradshaw hit .318 and fielded .986. He made many extra base hits, clouting out two home runs in one game. He is built on the lines of Ralph Perkins of the Athletics, weighing 160 pounds, and being five feet ten inches in height. No matter when Bradshaw reports to the Yankees, he will return to Lafayette to finish his four-year course.

TEMPTING PLAYERS AN EVIL.

Offers of Big Salaries to Players a Menace, Says Mack.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—Tempting baseball players by offers of big salaries is the greatest menace the game offers, in the opinion of Connie Mack, Manager and part owner of the Philadelphia Americans.

"First division teams," Mack said today, "think that whenever a star is developed all they have to do is advertise that they will pay thousands of dollars for him and then double the salary he is getting from his present club. To my mind, that is the biggest menace baseball faces right now. Some of these first division clubs don't seem to realize it, and I think it will take some kind of a ruling by Judge Landis to get it through their heads.

"Baseball is in better condition than it ever was, in my opinion, but this tampering with the imagination of players of other clubs is a big evil."

TOKIO NINE TO PLAY HERE.

Japanese Baseball Team Will Be Seen in Action in New York.

The Waseda University baseball team of Tokio, Japan, which will tour the United States next Spring and Summer, will play several games in this city, it was learned yesterday.

The Japanese team will start its tour in Chicago on May 21 and will encounter the University of Chicago in a series. Following this the little, brown men will go to Boston on May 25 and will journey to New York on May 30.

White Sox to Try Out 20 Pitchers.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Manager Kid Gleason of the Chicago Americans will take twenty pitchers into training for the 1921 staff, it was announced today.

CORNELL QUINTET IS EASY VICTOR

Develops Team Play and Defeats West Virginia by 47 to 19.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 19.—After a spasm of individual playing in the first half Cornell regained consistent team play in the second period against the University of West Virginia quintet in the State Drill Hall here tonight and won with ease, 47 to 19. The Red and White five had only two points lead on the visitors when half time was blown. The Cornell players evidently thought that each man deserved a field day, and consequently went out after individual honors, with the result that West Virginia's better teamwork brought the score 15 to 12 in Cornell's favor when Referee Metzdorf of Rochester called time for the first half.

Between periods the Cornell team regained a semblance of playing together, evidently due to Coach Howard Ortner's conversational powers, and in the second period displayed a fine brand of court work, completely outplaying West Virginia's efforts at every stage of the half and running up 32 points to the visitors' six. The flashy Barkalew at forward showed the way in field goals tonight, getting four baskets from play in the first and three field goals in the second period before being relieved when Coach Ortner sent in the subs.

The line-up:

CORNELL (47)		WEST VA. (19).
Molinet	L. F.	G. Hill
Barkalew	R F.	Martin
Rippe	C.	Kieger
Sidman	L. G.	Boyers
Cornish	R. G.	Hawkins

Goals from field—Cornell: Molinet (2), Barkalew (7), Rippe (4), Sidman (5), Kernow (3). West Virginia: Martin (4), G. Hill, Hawkins (3). Foul goals—Sidman, 4 out of 10; Molinet, 1 out of 2; Martin, 3 out of 4.

Substitutions—Cornell: Pope for Cornish, Myer for Pope, Haviland for Rippe, Cornish for Myer, Myer for Sidman, Shepard for Cornish, Crabtree for Shepard.

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday..7½@8 per cent. for the best names.
Tuesday ..7½@8 per cent. for the best names.
The quotations are for six months' paper.

Repricing of Woolens.

No action was taken yesterday by the American Woolen Company in the repricing of men's wear suitings and, while the new prices may come later this week, it was thought most probable that the announcement would be put off until Monday. Some changes, however, were named on stock dress goods, including some tricotine numbers, serge, poplin and polo cloth. On tricotines a wide variance was shown in the readjustment. One number, 12080, was brought down $1.22 from $3.62½, another was requoted from stock at only 2½ cents lower from $3.35, the Spring price. A serge, 0936, was reduced to $2.12½ from $3.15. The new list of stock goods prices is guaranteed against lower Fall opening prices, a guarantee which, it is said, will be extended on the new prices named on surplus suitings.

Gray Goods Sales Smaller.

There was a noticeable slowing up in the buying of gray goods in this market yesterday, although prices were generally steady at recent levels. Printcloth sales included nearby shipments of 39-inch 72-76s at 11 cents and similar deliveries of 38½-inch 64-60s at 8⅝ cents. February-April lots of Eastern 38½-inch 60-48s were sold at 8 cents. Buying of fine-yarn cloths and specialties took a sudden slump, but in the sheetings further trading was reported in nearby 5-yard goods at 7½ cents and in 5.50s at 6⅝ cents.

Cash Offer Gets Good Response.

From the standpoint of the number of salesmen present, the offer of the American Wholesale Corporation of Baltimore to buy $5,000,000 worth of spot merchandise got a very healthy response yesterday. About 1,500 salesmen visited the special buying offices in the Greenhut Building. Executives expressed themselves as well satisfied with results on the opening day. Offerings on crepe, taffeta and tricolette dresses were particularly numerous, although prices were said to be fairly well maintained. The quantity of cloaks, suits and wraps produced by the cash offer was not large, a condition ascribed to healthy conditions in those industries and the entrance of many manufacturers of such lines into the production of dresses. Silk prices were found to be stiffened up, and other materials did not appear plentiful. Waists were freely offered.

Clothiers' Meeting Postponed.

The scheduled meeting of the executive board of the National Association of Clothiers was yesterday postponed to await the arrival of Ludwig Stein, now abroad, who is expected next month. A quorum was not present yesterday. The threatened dissolution of the organization is not regarded in the local market as interfering with a reorganization of that body. Steps will be taken, it is felt, to remove the causes of friction between the various markets so as to effect a resumption of association activity on a national scale. It is pointed out that most of the conditions which led to the resignation of the Chicago and New York market organizations were created by the temporary unsettlement of business and are by no means of a permanent nature.

Buying Furs at Pre-Holiday Prices.

As an angle of consumer reasoning, a store representative told yesterday of ready sales being made of fur garments now, which were very dull at the same prices before the holidays. The buying psychology involved, he said, was that the opinion was widespread before Christmas that prices would be much lower after that time. No comparison of value or quality has been made, he said, or else the customer would realize that prices are the same as they were in November and December, when the sale of fur garments was put on very small margins by the big store operators.

"Distress" Prices Disappearing.

The rapidity with which recently repriced lines of standard cotton goods have been advanced or withdrawn from sale bears out the contention advanced at the time by men "in the know" that the new prices first named were of a distinctly "distress" nature for the greater part, and were made as low as they were chiefly to start things moving and to keep mill organizations intact. Particularly was this said to be the case with mills so located that about all the employment to be had in their locality was supplied by them. One of the unusual things about the prices in question, it was asserted yesterday, was the number of jobbing buyers who failed to take advantage of them in the belief that they were merely camouflage to cover still further reductions to come, and who are now paying for their doubts.

French Leaning to Milan Straw.

Among the more recent shipments of French hats for Spring that have reached this city are several models which make use of Milan straw. They are trimmed with novel effects in pleated wood fibre, embroidered mesh veils, bands of ribbon and appliqué flowers. An unusual Continental model in brown Milan straw is trimmed with strips of wood fibre, in wood green and brown, which are pleated to form a ruching around the edge of the crown. A huge cockade of the fibre, pierced by a pin of celophane and tortoise shell, is poised on the extreme edge of the brim. A large poke shape model in black Milan is faced with the same straw in a brilliant shade of emerald green.

Drug Prices Show Fluctuations.

A flurry in menthol was one of the features of the local drug market this week, Drug and Chemical Markets will say today. The price moved up under the stimulating effect of a rise in sterling exchange. There was a sharp recovery in metallic mercury. Revisions of prices in the essential oils market continue downward. Prices of dyes are weak, and there is little tangible evidence of a revival of interest on the part of color users. The increasing strength of the alkalis is one of the most encouraging signs in the heavy chemical market. Stocks are low, and consumers are beginning to make inquiries in larger volume.

To Organize Contract Bureau.

Steps were taken yesterday at a meeting held in the rooms of the Association of Cotton Textile Merchants of New York, 70 Worth Street, leading to the permanent organization of a national bureau of commercial contracts. The chief purpose of this organization, which was originally brought into being at a general meeting of textile interests held in this city some time ago, will be to combat unfair cancellations on the part of jobbing and retail buyers through the medium of a standard form of contract. In this contract, it is understood, provision will be made for the submission to arbitration of disputes which may arise between sellers and buyers. The chief work of yesterday's meeting, which was presided over by Colonel John B. Wood, was the appointing of committees to attend to details concerning by-laws, membership and the drawing up of a program of activities of the bureau. No action was taken on the definite form of contract to be used.

VARIED FUR OFFERINGS.

Skunk and Red Fox Pelts Led at Yesterday's Auction Sale.

Offerings of staple furs, as represented chiefly by red fox and skunk, vied with such fancy pelts as chinchilla and Persian lamb for the attention of buyers at the fur auction yesterday. Honors were about even. The attendance, which had been rather small on Tuesday, picked up again, and a gathering of buyers estimated at 300 was present when the morning session began.

Badger opened the sale and brought prices ranging from 5 cents for the poorest pelts to $1.25 each for the best ones. The best red fox skins brought prices that were said by buyers to be about 20 per cent. higher than they had expected, and in certain quarters the impression prevailed that some of them were being bid in. The best red fox pelts in the collection brought $25.50. Bidding for Persian lamb was the most active of the morning session, particularly when the finer skins were being sold. "Top" for this fur was $6.90. Chinchilla and leopard skins were also sold yesterday morning, the best of the former bringing $45 each.

The afternoon was given over to the selling of skunk, which is regarded as one of the most important "bread and butter" articles in which the fur trade deals. More than 106,000 of these skins were sold. Bidding started rather slowly and lagged perceptibly when the poorer collections were under the hammer. Some of the choicer lots, however, brought out quite active buying. The range of prices for skunk was from 2 cents for the poorest to $4.30 for the best. Total sales for the day were unofficially estimated at $370,000, which brought the grand total for the first half of the sale to $1,110,000.

In yesterday's TIMES, through a typographical error, the word "not" was omitted from a sentence referring to the collection of silver fox sold on Tuesday. The error made it appear that the offering of these skins was up to the usual standard, when the reverse was true. Because of this the prices brought by silver fox were lower than would otherwise have been the case.

These were the high and low prices got for the furs sold yesterday, together with the percentage declines the average prices received for them showed when compared with the April, 1920, averages:

	Low Price.	High Price.	Decline. Per Cent.
Badger	$0.05	$1.25	40
Red fox	.20	25.50	*50
Persian lamb	3.00	6.90	†..
Chinchilla	4.50	45.00	40
Leopard	1.00	4.00	30
Skunk	.02	4.30	50

*Northern, Eastern and Central foxes. Foreign red fox dropped 55 per cent. †No comparison made.

The morning session today will open with the selling of sundries, after which will come leopard cat, house cat, marmot, hair seal, ponies, Japanese marten, stone marten, baum marten, fox tails, Japanese mink and mink.

ACTIVITY REPORTED IN NOTIONS TRADE

Reports of Food Conditions Made to Jobbers at Their Meeting Yesterday.

Notion manufacturers present at the annual meeting of the Jobbers' Association of Notion Buyers, held yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in connection with the convention of the National Wholesale Dry Goods Association, told of a distinct improvement in business during the last two weeks. This has been manifest in a large number of orders, small in size, but aggregating a healthy total that in many instances has wiped out surpluses which were expected to last up to the Spring. The depletion of staple stocks was frequently referred to, as indicated by urgent requests for prompt shipment of small lots. The only action taken by the meeting was in the matter of having certain notion manufacturers grant uniform discount terms. The wholesale view of conditions in notions seemed to be that prospects are much brighter than they were, with every chance of further improvement if the situation is capably handled and buying conducted on careful lines. Not much confidence was placed in the reports of manufacturers being sold up to April, and it was the common opinion that there would be plenty of goods available, with reductions likely on lines which have seen small or no revisions.

In his opening remarks Otto R. Rick, President of the organization, dealt with price protection and urged it as a proper means of stabilizing the present unsettled conditions. A. L. Clarke, President of A. L. Clarke & Co., on the subject of tariff conditions in notions, advised a scientific instead of a political application of rates with due regard for the unsettlement in Europe. The people there, he said, should first be instructed to end their political and national differences before credit and other aid is extended to them. He suggested that the European countries might find a depreciated currency to their advantage in trade, a contingency to be guarded against in tariff preparation here. The speaker emphasized the necessity, however, of selling the home surplus abroad, and deemed this of first importance in considering the adjustment of tariff rates.

In speaking of conditions as viewed by the wholesaler, the remarks of Verner M. Smith of the Carter Dry Goods Co., of Louisville, were in an optimistic vein. Good prospects exist, he pointed out, for better prices, better merchandise and more prompt deliveries, but it would be necessary for the jobbers to hustle to get business. One thing he emphasized was the necessity of keeping cool when a few signs of returned prosperity became evident. He felt there would continue to be plenty of merchandise, and said factories would be glad to hear how sold up they were by certain sales agents who professed to have contracts up to April. In lines where there have been no reductions or only slight ones, the speaker looked for further readjustments.

Following his summary of the situation, various manufacturers were heard from concerning conditions in their respective lines. Archibald G. Smith of the Smith & Sons Corporation of Buffalo described the large number of orders which have recently been placed for hair pins. Instead of demands for the usual 1,000 gross lots, he said orders were being placed for 50 gross lots, but often by telegraph. The daily production of hair pins in this country, the speaker said, amounted to some sixty or seventy millions and there was but one price advance made since the war. He told of visiting one notions department and hearing six customers who asked for various staple articles such as spool cotton, braid, &c., turned away because they were not in stock. H. M. Fry, of the Narrow Fabric Co., of Reading, Pa., told a similar story of renewed activity, with orders during the past two weeks which have cleaned up a surplus which was expected to last until April. Norman Cook of the American Mills Co., manufacturers of elastic fabrics, found a similar situation and added that the demand from now on in his products would be for better qualities and that more shuttles would be devoted to such grades.

Quite a discussion developed on the subject of uniform discounts and the jobbers described their difficulties in selling on the different credit bases made necessary by the terms of sale used by various manufacturers. It was the contention of the manufacturers that, due to the purchases which they must make for cash in many instances and for other reasons, different discount rates could not be offered. The counter suggestion made was that the manufacturers add the discount to their cost. The matter will be taken up by a committee of the jobbers. The Resolutions Committee recommended that the organization request manufacturers of pearl buttons, hose supporters and dress shields to establish selling terms of 2 per cent. 10 days, 60 days extra, and to request manufacturers of spool cotton to establish continued stock protection.

MEDAL HERO IN BANKRUPTCY

Broker Now, Who, Actor Says, Failed to Turn Over Investment Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed today against R. Gordon Mills, decorated for valorous conduct in a French escadrille, and sole owner of the stock brokerage firm of Gordon Mills & Co. He was expelled from the Chicago Stock Exchange two days ago because of inability to meet creditors' claims, and at that time announced he had turned over all assets to a committee of creditors.

Jack Norworth, actor, filed the petition, asserting that Mills was given $1,000 with which to buy securities, that the stocks were purchased but that Norworth never received them.

G. M. Levy and T. Scudder In Law Firm.

MINEOLA, L. I., Jan. 19.—George M. Levy of Freeport and Townsend Scudder, former Justice of the Supreme Court, will form a law partnership with offices at 2 Rector Street, Manhattan, it was announced today. Justice Scudder was defeated for re-election to the Supreme Court last Fall, after serving fourteen years. Mr. Levy defended and obtained the acquittal of Mrs. Florence Carman on a charge of murdering Mrs. Lulu Bailey.

Ready-to-Wear Advances Asked.

On reorders of women's ready-to-wear, local manufacturers are frequently asking advances and the market has stiffened up considerably. A skirt manufacturer, for instance, was asking yesterday 50 cents more a garment on reorders, while a suit wholesaler jumped his price $2.50 from $37.50 when the buyer went after additional supplies. As a general rule, the large operators are refusing to pay the advances asked and are combing the market for goods to sell at their first price. This is either the policy followed, or else the reorder is cut down appreciably.

JAIL FOR LANDLORD WHO REFUSED HEAT

Magistrate Imposes Five Days in Tombs on Bronx Agent of 31-Family House.

BINS BULGED WITH COAL

For the first time since it became a misdemeanor to refuse to keep apartment houses reasonably warm a jail sentence was imposed yesterday upon a landlord who forced his tenants to sit shivering in overcoats, sweaters and blankets while his cellar bins bulged with coal and his furnace fire was banked.

Harris Lichtman of 1,237 Franklin Avenue, the Bronx, is going to spend five days in the Tombs for his violation of Section 225 of the Sanitary Code. Magistrate Cobb in the Municipal Term Court having decided his offense against the tenants of the thirty-one family apartment at 1,565 Fulton Avenue, the Bronx, was too flagrant to be expiated with a fine which he could pay easily.

The complainant against Lichtman was Isador Simowitz, an inspector for the Health Department. He said he visited the apartment house at various times between Dec. 22 and Jan. 4 and found temperatures in the rooms ranging from 51 to 57 degrees above zero. The lawful minimum is 68 degrees. Simowitz was corroborated by a number of the tenants, who crowded the court room and made no secret of their indignation. The testimony showed that Lichtman was the agent for the building, which is owned by his wife, and that when officials became active on complaint of the tenants he tried to shift responsibility to her shoulders.

Chief Inspector Thomas F. McCarthy of the Bronx squad took the stand after Lichtman had tried to exculpate himself on the ground that it was so hard to get coal. McCarthy said he himself had got coal when Lichtman professed to be unable to do so.

PRISON BODY BLAMES HYLAN

Association Says Conditions Were Reported to the Mayor.

Responsibility for conditions on Blackwell's Island, where the hospital was likened by John S. Kennedy of the State Prison Commission to a pest house, was placed squarely up to the City Administration by the Prison Association of New York yesterday. Unsatisfactory conditions were said to exist in other institutions of the Department of Correction, but whether the matter would be taken up by one of the present investigation bodies was a question which officials of the association would not discuss.

E. R. Cass, Secretary of the association, recalled that because of the need for betterment in conditions, James A. Hamilton, Commissioner of Correction, appointed a supervising Warden to report on necessary changes. Later this report was submitted to Mayor Hylan and the Board of Estimate. The Mayor said it was a shame that the city's time had been taken up with such a report, and added that one who would write eighty-four pages on the subject should be on the stone pile. So the Warden's report died.

"The Prison Association is thoroughly in accord with the State Prison Commission in its recent criticism of the Workhouse on Blackwell's Island," said a statement made public by the association. "The deplorable conditions have been brought to the attention of the Commissioner of Corsection by the association in inspection reports and communications at various times since last September. To characterise this antiquated institution as one of the worst in the State is putting it mildly. Intelligent, helpful and sane treatment of persons committed to that institution is impossible with the present equipment and system."

Detention Home Proposed.

An appropriation of "at least $500,000" to erect a house of detention and court for girls and women was proposed in a resolution passed by the New York Probation and Protective Association and the Girls' Protective League in annual meeting at the Russell Sage Foundation Building yesterday. The great need of a house of detention was stressed by Magistrate McGeehan, who said there was only the prison or private homes to which to send incorrigible girls.

Brooklyn Hold-Up Victim Dies.

Abraham Meshman of 635 Pennsylvania Avenue, Brooklyn, died at St. Mary's Hospital yesterday from wounds received last Monday night, when Meshman and his father, Samuel Meshman, were held up in their grocery store, at 435 Hageman Avenue. Samuel Meshman will recover.

NEW TOLL RATES

Will Become Effective

January 21, 1921

THE necessity for securing additional revenues so that we may continue to fulfill our obligations to the public compels the establishment of a new rate schedule for toll service between New York State points and New Jersey State points effective January 21st.

In general the new schedule provides for an increase of 5c. per call on all toll calls between the two states up to and including a distance of forty miles. Beyond forty miles, the toll rates remain substantially as at present.

Specific rates to any particular point for the class of toll calls furnished may be obtained from your operator.

The Sort of Spring Suit You'll Wear—

HAVE you ordered it yet? Or only planned it? Already spring suits—the kind you'll be wearing—are very much in evidence. At Palm Beach, on the Riviera—in this number of Vogue. And the new materials are the most evident things about them.

Perhaps you planned for a blue serge. But a blue serge with yellow stripes woven into the material? Or did you decide on a black and white check? But had you thought of using stripes of brown wool embroidery on it? Like the suit of checked Rodier fabric shown in the sketch? And you certainly hadn't considered a cashmere in the shawl patterns of your grandmother. How could you unless you'd seen this new number of Vogue?

Spring Fabrics and Original Designs Number of VOGUE

Dated February 1st

Your spring frocks are going to be simple, you know that. As simple as the three Vionnet models shown in this number. But the simpler your lines, the more sophisticated your materials, says Paris. And you can see in this number what a brilliant spring the Rodier fabrics, both cotton and wool, have set up on their looms. Vogue shows some new materials in the pattern pages of this number, together with original designs—sixty-three of them in all, and every one of them brings a new phase of the spring mode within your reach for your own costumes.

Then there's a page of sports clothes for snow-drifts and one for orange groves. And eight distinguished mid-season models from Paris. And the New York shops show two pages of imported models which feature the high straight Florentine neckline combined with simplicity and crêpe marocain. Plan, shop and order, but—buy the new Vogue first!

BLAME CORK FIRES ON MILITARY ALONE

WITNESSES' NAMES SECRET

But Report Says 70 Were Examined, Including Men from an American Ship.

CONTRADICTS GREENWOOD

Challenges Government to Issue Strickland Report—New Official Inquiry Likely.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—What is alleged to be the sworn testimony of some seventy eye witnesses depicting the burning of public buildings and stores in Cork on Dec. 11-12 last as unprovoked and unjustifiable and the prevailing condition of Ireland under British military rule as one of "lawless terrorism," was issued today by the Irish Labor Party and Trades Union Congress through the medium of the London headquarters of the British Labor Party.

The document is in the form of a report, printed and published in Dublin. It was merely circulated in London by the British Labor Party without any actual endorsement.

The report, which is described by its authors as the result of an impartial inquiry instituted immediately after the conflagration, gives contradiction to statements made by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, in the House of Commons that the Sinn Fein were the incendiaries responsible, accuses the Crown forces of being solely guilty and challenges the Government to publish the findings of the military inquiry instituted by Major General Strickland, in command of the troops, which the report says the Government is afraid to publish.

The third assistant engineer, a fireman and the boatswain of the American steamer West Canon are among those from whose evidence extensive excerpts are used.

With reference to these statements the report says it was necessary to conceal the identity of the witnesses, otherwise they would not have volunteered their evidence.

Recalling Sir Hamar Greenwood's assertion on Dec. 13 that "it is obviously to the interest of the Government to find the perpetrators of this outrage," the report declares: "If so, then this investigation is to the interest of the Government, for it certainly succeeded in finding the perpetrators of this outrage."

Contradicting Sir Hamar Greenwood's statement that the fire started in the Patrick Street stores and spread to the other buildings, among them the City Hall, which is a considerable distance away on the opposite side of the River Lee, the report says: "It is a pity the Chief Secretary does not know a little more about the topography of the country he is supposed to rule; he could then lie more."

A map of Cork City is attached to the report, with a reproduction of one published in a London afternoon paper the day after the fire, which, the report charges, was "faked" in order to substantiate the official report on the burning issued by the Irish Office.

Disputing the suggestion that the burning partook of the nature of a reprisal for the ambushing of a party of Crown forces at Dillon's Cross, it is declared that long before this attack occurred, namely, 8 o'clock in the evening, it was known there was going to be trouble in the city, shooting and quarreling among the Black and Tans having been going on throughout the evening.

"There is evidence that 300 gallons of petrol were taken out of Victoria Barracks that night," the report asserts.

A summary of the voluminous testimony follows, purporting to prove that the burnings and ensuing arson and other outlawry were carried out entirely by the Cork Crown forces. The report emphasizes that "it was while the military had sole and complete charge of the streets and while no civilian might be abroad without a permit that the city was burned and looted. This alone," it adds, "is enough to decide the authorship of the fires."

The report continues: "So far from firing on or arresting looters and incendiaries, the officers and solders on duty in the curfew lorries encouraged the work of plunder and destruction."

New Inquiry Into Cork Fires.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Jan. 19.—I learn tonight that in all probability there will be a fresh inquiry into the origin of the recent disastrous Cork fires. General Strickland conducted the original inquiry and his report has been in the hands of the Government for some time. Its publication is awaited with intense interest in Ireland, where speculation has been busy concerning the reasons for the continued delay in issuing it. It is understood the General's report definitely fixed the responsibility for incendiarism, but the findings have given dissatisfaction to a section of the Crown forces—which denies it was exclusively implicated—and if published would undoubtedly constitute a grave potential source of friction.

My information is that this possibility has been exhaustively considered and that the fresh inquiry contemplated will differ in composition from the original one, which was entirely military in character. The new court is expected to be presided over by a judge.

Anti-Government Press Bitter.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—In the editorial comment of the anti-Government newspapers this morning there is a scathing comment on the Government in connection with the report of the recent fires in Cork.

"We most strongly urge upon the Government," says The London Times, "that it should have been impossible for any document of this description, whether founded on truth or falsehood, or both, to have anticipated the official report. * * * Owing to the Cabinet's foolish hesitation, we are not in a position to deny any of it."

The Daily News says:

"No more damning incident has marked the Government's catastrophic Irish policy."

"The Government's silence is the silence of panic," says The Daily Herald, the labor organ.

Petition Asks Break With English.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Wilson was requested in a petition presented to the White House today by a committee from the American Veterans' Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, "officially and formally and in the name of the people of the United States to disassociate yourself and us and the people of our country from the English people who were our associates in the recent war."

Chinese Tariff for Famine Relief.

PEKING, Jan. 18.—Surtax duties on imports, which will secure a loan of 4,000,000 taels from American, British, French and Japanese banks, negotiated this week, will be made operative on March 1 and will remain in effect for a period of one year. The surtax will amount to 10 per cent., and the loan will be applied to the relief of famine sufferers.

Filipinos Want Independence In Any Form Whatever

MANILA, Jan. 19.—The people of the Philippines want independence in whatever form they can get it, according to Manuel W. Quezon, President of the Philippines Senate. In an address before that body today he said:

"Let the Americans in the Philippines and those in the United States know that the people of the Philippines covet their freedom, liberty and political emancipation so much that they will not hesitate to receive from the Congress of the United States complete and absolute independence without protection.

"If the United States, dictated by its own interests, decides to extend protection to the Philippines, well and good. We would accept that as a solution of our problem. If not, let us have absolute independence without protection. We want independence in whatever form we can get it."

ORDERS LORD MAYOR TO SHIP PROMPTLY

Labor Department Then Issues Rules Recognizing Jurisdiction of State Department.

TO SURRENDER O'CALLAGHAN

His Counsel Told to Turn Him Over to the Immigration Inspector at Norfolk.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Counsel for Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, who arrived in this country recently without a passport, was directed today by Secretary Wilson to deliver the Lord Mayor "promptly" to the Immigration Inspector at Norfolk.

Following this order, jurisdiction of the State Department in cases of aliens arriving in this country without passports was recognized by the Department of Labor in a formal statement sent by Secretary Wilson to the chief of the Immigration Bureau.

It was announced, however, that the decision of Secretary Wilson that the Lord Mayor of Cork should be allowed to re-ship on a foreign vessel, by reason of the ruling that he occupied the status of a "seaman," had not been rescinded.

The Labor Secretary's letter to the Immigration Bureau said that the decision that O'Callaghan be permitted to reship should be "consummated at the earliest possible moment."

Lord Mayor O'Callaghan was paroled in the custody of his counsel, Judge Lawless of Norfolk, soon after he arrived at Norfolk from Cork as a stowaway, and without a passport. He is now in New York, but whether he will appeal to the courts has not yet been announced.

The announcement of Secretary Wilson as to the jurisdiction of the State Department in all cases similar to those of the Lord Mayor is understood to be in the nature of a general agreement between the two departments through which it is hoped to avoid in the future controversies similar to the one which arose in O'Callaghan's case owing to the failure of Secretary Wilson to honor the order of Acting Secretary Davis that O'Callaghan be deported immediately.

President Wilson is understood to have been displeased when he learned of the failure of the Department of Labor to carry out the instructions of the State Department for the deportation of the Lord Mayor of Cork. It was reported today that if the Labor Department had not retired from its position in the O'Callaghan case, based on its construction of the Presidential proclamation, which, for the purposes of the passport control law, made all executive departments the agents of the State Department, the President would have issued a second proclamation which would be susceptible of no interpretation except that which the State Department and its law officers had given to the original proclamation.

Counsel Talks of Court Fight.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 19.—The case of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, who recently arrived in this country without a passport, will be fought in the Supreme Court, if necessary, to prevent his being "railroaded to an English port, then to be thrown into an English jail," Judge Joseph T. Lawless, his counsel, said in a statement here tonight. When O'Callaghan returns to his home in Ireland, Lawless added, it will be on a vessel of his own choosing.

"If an order is issued that O'Callaghan must go on a British vessel," he added, "we shall at once proceed in the usual legal manner to protect his rights. You can just bet that the Lord Mayor is not going to be sandbagged or blackjacked into a British prison."

Harry Boland, secretary to Eamons de Valera, "president of the Irish Republic," said yesterday that the next move of Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, would be determined by his counsel in this country, and in no way by Boland's office.

O'Callaghan was registered at the Hotel Wolcott here last night and, although he had not returned to the hotel at a late hour, the management said he had not announced that he was about to check out. The Lord Mayor intends in no way to attempt to circumvent American governmental desires while he is enjoying liberty on parole, Boland said.

HEAR 'IRISH CONSUL' ASSAIL BRITISH RULE

Members of Unofficial Commission Told Trade Is Hampered, But Is Growing.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The Provisional Irish Republic, through its consular service, is building up a large and successful direct shipping service between Ireland and other countries, especially with the United States, the unofficial commission of 100 investigating the Irish question was told today by J. L. Fawsitt, who said he was the Irish Consul General at New York.

A fortnightly service between New York and Cork, Mr. Fawsitt said, was in operation and another service would open soon between Boston and an Irish port.

No passenger vessels are allowed to land in Ireland direct from America, the witness declared, adding that this was "England's effort to stifle American passenger service that would compete with the British monopoly."

Extensive data and figures intended to show the result of British economic repression in Ireland were presented by Fawsitt, who branching into a general discussion of the Irish question summed up the matter as a "clash between two forms of civilization, the centralized, capital-controlled Government represented by Great Britain on one hand and a co-operative community system represented by the Irish Republic on the other."

Figures from British sources were said by Fawsitt to show that Ireland paid £37,000,000 taxes to Great Britain and received only £22,000,000 in expenditures in return.

"The Irish Republican Government," he added, "could administer the affairs of Ireland with the present taxes paid England and remit from £20,000,000 to £30,000,000."

D'ANNUNZIO TWICE SAVED FROM SUICIDE

Mother's Spirit Dissuaded Him as in Airplane Over Austria He Got Poison Ready.

SHELL NEXT CHANGED PLAN

Knocked Him Unconscious in Fiume Palace, He Says—May Live in Italy After All.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MILAN, Jan. 19.—Gabriele d'Annunzio bade final farewell to Fiume last night and sped by motor car to Ophina, just north of Trieste, for a destination unknown.

According to one account, the warrior-poet ultimately convinced himself that exile from Italy would break his heart, and so, changing his plans, has elected to go to Marina di Pisa, a favorite spot of his by the shore of the Mediterranean.

A woman friend of d'Annunzio, recounting in the Rome Journal Epoca her visit to him in these last days, says he told her he was on the lookout for a desert.

He always disbelieved that Italy would take any serious military measures against him. When the fratricidal fighting began in earnest he quickly lost all hope and made up his mind to commit suicide. Ever since his gallant aerial raid during the war he has been accustomed to carry a phial of potent poison in his pocket, which he alluded to invariably as "my pharmic liberator."

This poison was concocted for him in Venice from a medieval receipts just before he undertook his memorable raid over Vienna. On that occasion d'Annunzio's engine stopped and was restarted thrice over, but, feeling certain that descent in enemy territory was inevitable, he got the phial ready, determined the Austrians should not capture him alive.

"At that very moment he told me," says the writer in the Epoca, "that a wondrous apparition of his mother, who had died two years before, stood facing him in visible, tangible form, bidding him banish all fears."

D'Annunzio had his deadly phial ready once more during the bombardment of Fiume. His friends had to keep perpetual watch lest he should lock himself up alone in his chamber to present only his corpse to the expected invaders. Then, just after he had been standing at a window of his palace with his telescope fixed on the movements of the battleship Andrea Doria, a big shell struck that part of the palace and d'Annunzio was felled to the floor insensible by flying lumps of masonry.

On regaining consciousness the first object he beheld was the lifeless body of his young grenadier companion lying covered with a white sheet at his side. Thereupon all thoughts of self-destruction vanished and with bleeding face and hands he seated himself at his table and wrote in bold handwriting "D'Annunzio dies not, but is alive and implacable."

It is added by the writer that she found the sorrows of d'Annunzio's last days in Fiume had been greatly assuaged by a charming young French lady who acted as superintendent over his establishment at the Barbarigo Palace, and by a brilliant girl pianist, Louisela Baccara, whom he now reluctantly leaves behind him to superintend his affairs as guest of the family of the Mayor of Fiume.

ATTACKS CONTINUED IN MANY DISTRICTS

Ambushes in the Country, Shots Exchanged in Dublin—Two Prisoners Shot Dead.

DUBLIN, Jan. 19.—Ambushes have occurred at the following places:

Dublin, one cadet wounded; Longford, two auxiliaries wounded; Charleville district, County Cork, one soldier wounded, two casualties to attackers; Borisoleigh, County Tipperary, three soldiers wounded; Buttevant, County Cork, no casualties, police car damaged.

In the Hummerhill district of Dublin last night a patrol of auxiliaries out after curfew observed a party of men, according to the official account, behaving in a suspicious manner in Mountjoy Place. When challenged the suspects ran away. Three of the police patrol who followed them were fired on. Firing in reply the patrol ran up Laneway and arrested one man. Another man who took shelter in a house was arrested. Further shots were fired on the patrol from the direction of Mountjoy Square and a further arrest was effected.

An officer and one man of a machine gun corps appear to have made a plucky fight when ambushed between Charleville and Ballyyonare this morning. They were motoring and near Shinnary Bridge were attacked by a large body of civilians. After an exchange of shots the attackers departed. A soldier was wounded and it is believed at least two casualties were inflicted on the ambushers.

A sentry belonging to a company of auxiliaries occupying Longord County Infirmary was attacked last night. A relief party turned out and were fired on from adjacent fields, two being wounded.

Between Mallon and Buttevant today a mixed party of police and military, traveling in two motor tenders, found their progress obstructed near the latter place by a trench cut across the road. As the cars pulled up a volley of shots was fired at them, but there were no casualties, and the occupants beat off the attack.

DUBLIN, Jan. 19.—Two men have been shot dead at the internment camp for Sinn Feiners in Ballykinler, County Down, it was officially announced today.

BELFAST, Jan. 19.—Reports received here of the shooting of two Sinn Feiners at the Ballykinler internment camp state that one of the victims had been signaling to some person outside the camp and that, although he was warned four times by a sentry to discontinue his signals, he persisted in them, upon which the soldier fired. Another Sinn Fein prisoner got into the line of fire, the reports add, and both men were killed.

$57,500 CABLED FOR RELIEF.

American Quakers to Be Sent to Report on Needs in Ireland.

The American Committee for Relief in Ireland, of which ex-Supreme Court Justice Morgan J. O'Brien is Chairman, announced yesterday that $57,500 had been cabled to Ireland for the purchase of food, clothing and other necessaries to relieve the more pressing cases of suffering among the Irish people.

"The committee was moved in haste in transmitting funds by receipt of urgent appeals direct from Ireland and by the disclosures of destruction and privation contained in the report of the British Labor Commission on Ireland, published in full in the United States for the first time today," the announcement by the committee stated.

"The American committee will also send at once a unit, composed of American Quakers, to Ireland for the purpose of reporting on the exact needs of the situation and to render such assistance to the Irish White Cross as may be in their power.

"For the time being, at least, sums transmitted to Ireland for immediate relief of hunger and homelessness will be disbursed by James Douglas, a prominent Irish Quaker, working in co-operation with the Irish White Cross, of which Lawrence O'Neil, Lord Mayor of Dublin, is Provisional Chairman. The latter organization has just been formed and a permanent system of relief and reconstruction is being established by a provisional executive committee."

President Reaches Decision on Armenia; Is Said to Blame Allies for Country's Plight

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—President Wilson has reached a decision concerning the action he will take as a consequence of his acceptance of the invitation of the League of Nations to mediate between the Republic of Armenia and the Turkish Nationalists under the leadership of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. An announcement will be made at the White House this week, it was indicated today.

It is learned also that no definite plans have been made for the sailing of Henry Morgenthau, formerly Ambassador to Turkey, who was selected by President Wilson to serve as his personal representative in the mediation between Armenia and the Turkish Nationalists.

It was originally intended to send Mr. Morgenthau to the Near East, but it was later intimated that he might not go at all, especially after the announcement by Premier Lloyd George in England, in the form of a telegram to Paul Hymans, President of the Council of the League, advising that the best course for President Wilson to pursue might be to establish contact with the American and allied representativese in Constantinople.

After the invitation was accepted by the President to mediate the dispute which, because of the invasion of Armenia by the Turks, threatened the extermination of the Armenians, the Soviet Government at Moscow intervened, induced the Turks and the Armenians to make peace, and is reputed to have set up in Armenia a Soviet Government based on the Moscow model.

It is understood that President Wilson is somewhat surprised over the apparent lessened interest on the part of the allied powers in Armenia, following the successful mediation of the Bolsheviki, which is believed here not to have been for the best interests either of the Armenians or the allied nations. Their failure to respond to the President's requests for advice and assurances also occasioned disappointment, and the feeling has grown that the allied powers have become indifferent concerning any efforts that President Wilson might institute to save Armenia.

It has even been intimated that the Allies would be willing to sacrifice Armenia further in order to come to an acceptable arrangement with the Turkish Nationalists, who are more powerful than the Constantinople Government and who have been moving in the direction of an alliance with Bolshevist Russia.

It is understood that whatever form President Wilson's action takes, it will either openly or by implication place upon the allied powers responsibility for the present condition and the fate of Armenia.

PROPERTY ALLIES GOT FROM GERMANY

Berlin Official List of Everything So Far Delivered To or Held by Them.

VALUED AT $5,000,000,000

Copyright, 1921, by The Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—I have obtained an advance copy of the German report on the carrying out of the terms of the Treaty of Versailles, which shows everything delivered to or held by the Entente, from cats and dogs to ocean liners, the total value of which is $5,000,000,000. A summary follows, the values of the various items mentioned being in German gold marks:

The Allies have received mine materials valued at 200,000 marks; railroad yards in surrendered territory, 250,000,000; rolling stock, 1,500,000,000; railroad parts, 3,000,000; farm machinery, 30,000,000; mercantile fleet, 7,000,000,000; reconstruction machinery and live stock, 240,000; coal, 640,000,000; ammonia, 3,000,000; drugs and dyestuffs, 250,000,000; total value more than 10,000,000,000 marks.

The value of the Sarre Valley mine field is estimated at 1,000,000,000; German national property in the territory which was given up, 4,500,000,000; five bridges in Alsace-Lorraine, 8,000,000; cables held by the Allies, 85,000,000, and the goods left on the war fronts, 2,500,000,000, a total of more than 8,000,000,000 marks.

Railroad Stock Restored.

The railway report shows that Poland received 1,260 locomotives and 21,000 cars. "We have delivered to the Allies," says the report, "a total of 5,076 locomotives valued at 380,000,000 marks, 8,900 passenger coaches, 3,300 baggage cars and 135,000 freight cars, the total value of which is 1,500,000,000 gold marks."

Ships numbering 908, with a total tonnage of 4,267,000 tons and valued at 6,000,000,000 marks have been delivered to the Allies. The Germans have ninety-three ships ready for delivery, with a tonnage of 358,000 and valued at 411,000,000 marks. Also there are eighty-two ships in Flensburg and Holland valued at 158,000,000 marks, with a tonnage of 150,000 tons.

Germany has sent to France and Belgium 40,000 horses, 184,000 cows, 136,000 sheep, 20,000 goats and 35,000 chickens. The live stock report declares "our obligations are practically fulfilled and the balance will be delivered soon. Our best cattle have been given up."

"In accordance with the treaty terms," continues the report, "we have delivered one-half the entire amount of drugs and dyestuffs found in Germany at the conclusion of the armistice and are fulfilling the provision which requires us to deliver one-quarter of the output until 1925, the total being 9,350 tons of dyestuffs and thirty-nine tons of drugs."

Government property in surrendered territory, such as barracks at military and naval stations and railroad, post office, telegraph and Custom House systems and their appurtenances, have been turned over, the value of the property at Memel being 33,000,000 marks, at Danzig 350,000,000, in Poland 1,650,000,000, in Czechoslovakia 10,000,000 and in Denmark 42,000,000—a total of 2,000,000,000 marks.

Estimating the value of the cables at 85,000,000 marks, the report claims that it has been proved that German cables last fifty years instead of the usual forty. The German cable office in New York is listed at 296,000 marks.

Most of the property left behind was in Belgium and is estimated as having a value of 1,500,000,000 marks, which includes war materials. The value of property left in France is estimated at only 175,000,000 marks.

It is shown that Germany is supporting ten allied commissions: the missing prisoners, docks, Schleswig, Silesian, disarmament, reparations, frontiers, Rhine, Danube and coal commissions, at a cost of 400,000,000 paper marks. However, the Docks Commission sets a record for economy, costing only thirty American dollars. There are also the subcommissions.

Coal statistics show that an average of 1,700,000 tons of coal have been delivered to France, Belgium and Italy monthly.

ZETKIN TELLS HOW SHE INVADED FRANCE

German Communist Deputy Went Without Mishap by Rail and Auto to Tours.

GOOD FRENCH ACCENT AIDED

She Spent 36 Hours in Paris and a Day and Night at Rheims—Congratulated in Reichstag.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—The resumption of the sessions of the Reichstag has brought back to Berlin Frau Clara Zetkin, whose audacious trip to Tours created such a sensation in France. She has received many congratulations on her pluck, not only from her partisans, the Communists, but also from the reactionary Nationalists; for any trick played upon the French authorities will always be applauded by Junkerdom.

It was with difficulty that THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent persuaded the lively little gray-haired woman to give an account of her recent visit, which she thought much less interesting than her trip last year to Russia, where her friend Lenin convinced her "by facts of the supremacy of Bolshevism."

"You must not think we played any tricks on the French Government," she said. "I am like most Communists; I hate lies. I had no other papers than my German passport, which described me as Clara Zetkinla, a member of the Reichstag, adding a few complimentary remarks regarding my personal appearance. Where I crossed the border I must not reveal, nor how it happened that the frontier guard never noticed that my passport was not properly viséd, because our Communist comrades may have to rely upon the same methods to cross France, and I must not spoil their game.

"Well, I passed through the devastated district, and I must say I was shocked. I never expected to see such business, which makes me wonder no longer at French hatred against the Germans. Beyond the devastated districts the train became extremely crowded, and the passengers often addressed me, but they never suspected my nationality, because I speak French very well, having lived in Paris for more than eight years.

"My heart beat quickly whenever we stopped at any station, for I feared the control officers might ask unpleasant questions. The danger became pressing when we reached the Gare du Nord in Paris, where policemen in plain clothes stop any suspicious looking arrival."

But Frau Zeikin passed this ordeal successfully.

Continuing her story, she said:

"I hastened to my old friends, who could not believe their eyes when they saw their unexpected visitor. I stayed thirty-six hours with my friends in Paris, who would not let me continue my journey to Tours by railway, but rented an automobile at an enormous price. Before nightfall myself and a Parisian friend were en route for Tours, traveling in the dark, because the nearer we got to Tours the more vigilant became the police, and my Parisian friend said I should never have been able to reach the Tours railway station undetected. Nevertheless, we took three meals in hotels on the way, and, as my Parisian friend never failed to speak in a very nasty way about Germany, and even more nastily about Lenin, nothing happened.

"It was 7 o'clock in the evening when I and my Parisian companion entered the congress, and the members were speechless when my name was announced. After a short consultation with the Chairman all the doors were locked and guards were placed before them, whereupon trusted delegates rushed to the three telephone booths in the hall and began conversations with any Tom, Dick or Harry in Paris; for these telephones connected the congress directly with the French capital, and if any secret agent present had notified Millerand he would never have permitted me to leave France again.

"Thundering applause greeted me when I began my address, which it was arranged should last only half an hour. Meanwhile our car took in fuel and provisions for several days.

"When I finished the audience fairly stormed the stage, wishing to congratulate me and shake hands with me. The committee formed a circle around me, conducting me through a back door, where the car was waiting. Away we sped through the old-fashioned streets of Tours into the unlighted country, and never stopped till we reached Rheims.

"That city is one tremendous heap of ruins, with here and there some mean, low, narrow shanty rebuilt on the site of former palaces once surrounding the fine Cathedral, which, despite all assertions to the contrary, is rather well preserved. The country around Rheims has recovered quickly from the wounds of the war and is again the land where the champagne flows, which perhaps accounts for the fact that nobody discovered the German Communists, although she stayed fully twenty-four hours.

"In reaching home by way of Luxemburg I used the same methods, which I must not reveal for the reasons I told."

FRANCE TO PROPOSE HELP FOR AUSTRIA

Will Ask Britain and Italy at Allied Conference to Join in Plan.

LONDON FAVORS ASSISTANCE

Vienna Labor Chief Advises Postponing Direct Action Against Profiteers.

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—At the allied conference, which will open in Paris next Monday, the French Government will ask Great Britain and Italy to join with France in giving immediate financial aid to Austria for the humanitarian purposes of keeping that unfortunate country from starving, and for the political purpose of keeping it from falling into German hands. It is understood that the British Government is favorably inclined.

Two projects have been prepared. One provides for a loan of $250,000,000, to be handled by the Austro-Hungarian Bank under allied direction, and the other is for the sale of certain Austrian art treasures for 200,000,000 francs gold.

Baron Eichoff, the Austrian Minister in Paris, in an interview published today, paints a sorry picture of the plight of his country and explains the growth of the agitation for annexation to Germany.

"Events in Austria," he said, "announce the imminence of a catastrophe. The treaty of St. Germain has placed the responsibility for the war on the new Austria, that is, a region with one-eighth of the population of the former monarchy, containing the immense capital and a mountainous and unfertile region, crossed by only a few branches of the old railroad system, costly in upkeep and separated at every point from the arteries of communication of Central Europe.

"The crops of this Austria scarcely suffice for one-sixth of her population. The country is almost without coal.

Says Austria Has Done Her Best.

"The new Austria has bravely accepted her heavy task. She has done her best to establish her independent existence on a sound economic and social basis. Unhealthy propaganda which has come from Bulgaria and Bavaria has been powerless to upset the good sense of the Austrians. As much as they possibly could the Austrian people have been working with zeal. It cannot be too much insisted on that the Austrian population has done its best in every branch in which Austria is independent of foreign imports.

"Certainly the great powers, especially France, have not remained insensible to the sufferings of Austria. They have given her help which, coming at critical moments, has prevented her from dying without enabling her to reorganize her life. This help, more humanitarian than economic, cannot prevent the fatal march toward collapse. The State cannot live on alms. In order that the new Austria should live something more must be done than give her charity.

"The Austrian section of the Commission on Reparations has established a program of reconstitution. It asks an advance from the Allies equivalent to $250,000,000 in five annuities. Austria is now awaiting a prompt decision by the allied Governments, which for her will be a sentence of life or death.

"We have reached the limits of endurance. We have no means of payment. As a result of the economic distress the crown has reached a level which makes it impossible for us to buy food or raw material outside. A decision must be taken.

"The Austrian Government is trying with great tenacity to avoid a catastrophe, but if we do not receive credit, if we continue to fail in our payments, no Government can remain in power. A political catastrophe would cause the following results: On the one hand the country forming the present Austria would swing toward Germany to find means of subsistence, even if small; on the other hand we must fear complete anarchy, which in Vienna and the industrial regions of lower Austria might produce terror and fighting for the control of food. In other parts of Austria the good sense of the population would be more easily held in hand.

"Thus the Allies themselves face grave alternatives. Do they wish to assure the order and security of Central Europe, or do they prefer to let come a fate which if not foiled will lead to the dismemberment of a country to which, by the treaty of Saint Germain, the powers guaranteed independent existence? The cost of extending aid now would be much cheaper than the burdens which would fall upon the Allies from the dismemberment of Austria or the loss of her independence."

Vienna Workers Hesitate on Threat.

VIENNA, Jan. 19.—Although tomorrow is the day set by leaders of the workingmen for putting in effect a program of force against the profiteers unless the Government announces the adoption of means to deal with them, there seemed to be a probability today that the crisis over this question might be averted, for the time at least.

The fears of serious trouble were allayed by the action of Herr Werner, Chief of the Technical Trades Unions, in calling a meeting of these organizations, at which he will advise a postponement of direct action. He said he had been led to this course by the fact that the price conference with the Government had not been concluded and that therefore the Government officials had not yet had an opportunity to state their position.

Coupled with the ultimatum of the workers on the profiteering question has been their insistent demand for a plebiscite on the question of fusion with Germany. This question is pressing from various quarters, and it was dealt with in a speech last night by Finance Minister Grim, who declared that union with Germany would be brought about of necessity, perhaps by means of a revolution, unless foreign credits to Austria were soon forthcoming. The Minister was speaking on future expenditures in sight, footing up 15,000,000,000 crowns, with only 2,600,000,000 crowns in prospect with which to meet the payments.

The tendency of the present crisis to give impetus to the fusion movement was evidenced when the students of Vienna turned the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the German Empire into a fusion demonstration and adopted resolutions which they presented formally to Chancellor Mayr, demanding a plebiscite.

In the Diet at Innsbruck, the Tyrolean capital, the Great German Party introduced a resolution declaring that a national catastrophe was imminent and that the peace which guaranteed Austria's independence was actually her death sentence, ending by demanding that the Austrian Government hold a plebiscite by Feb. 27 on the question of joining with Germany. The Christian Socialists are expected to support this resolution, while the Social Democrats will present a motion to the same effect in different language.

In supplementing his announcement that he would advocate a postponement of direct action against the profiteers Herr Werner said that while he was willing to advocate a respite he did not mean to submit to any prolonged delay, but would proceed to protect the interests of the country with all the forces at his disposal.

Henry Whitman of Boston Disagrees With Other Liquidators.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Jan. 18.—Henry Whitman of Boston, one of the liquidators of the Austro-Hungarian Bank, who has laboriously tried to effect a fair settlement of the entangled affairs of the bank, has expressed a determination to leave the position forthwith, and only with difficulty has been prevailed upon to postpone his departure until March 1.

Constant disagreements with other liquidators, Italian and Humanian, are supposed to be responsible for Whitman's decision.

8-Hour Day for Housewives Urged by Workers' Wives

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A letter under a Brooklyn date, signed "Wives and Mothers of Industrial Workers," reached members of Congress today asking for a law to require childless married women under 60 to do housework three days a week for mothers with children, and also suggesting an eight-hour day for housewives.

"Congress should realize," the letter said, "that legislation should be less and less in favor of industrial workers and more and more to alleviate and improve the condition of the overworked, underpaid, dish-washing housewife."

It added that 60 per cent. of the members of Congress received more pay than they were worth.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Remarkable charges of how an attempt was made by the management of Farrow's Bank, which suspended payment last month, to sell the bankrupt concern for £500,000 to Norton, Read & Co. of New York, were made today in the Guildhall Police Court before the Lord Mayor of London by Sir Richard Muir, Crown Prosecutor. Thomas Farrow, Chairman and Managing Director of the bank; William Walter Crotch, Director, and Frederick Duncan Harthead of the audit department were the defendants charged with issuing on June 30 last a false balance sheet, but Muir stated that other charges would shortly be added.

From his opening statement it appears that the Crown will try to show that the bank's being hopelessly insolvent came out through an attempt made to sell its control to the American firm, and it was their revelations to the Board of Trade and Treasury which led to the suspension.

Farrow's Bank was started in 1907 and made a specialty of opening many branches and catering to small customers. It gave interest on certain of its current accounts even and professed to be making a steady and gratifying profit. Yet Sir Richard asserted it had lost steadily ever year since 1908, its aggregate deficiency up to last year being £1,107,000.

Negotiations with Norton, Read & Co., who have a London branch at 76 Pall Mall, said Muir, began last year, Read, the London manager, taking up the matter with Farrow, while Crotch, who was in America, called on Norton in New York. Farrow, Muir continued, showed Read the May balance sheet for 1919 and asserted the institution was one of the finest in England, but said he and Crotch got little help from their fellow Directors and needed first class financial assistance. He admitted there might be some depreciation to write off, but suggested it would be on only £100,000 and certainly not more than £200,000.

Finally an agreement, said Muir, was reached by which Norton, Read & Co. would get control, Read becoming Managing Director, and the American firm was to take up £300,000 worth of shares and make itself responsible for a further large number, putting up £500,000 altogether, of which £400,000 was to go to the bank's reserve and £100,000 to Farrow and the retiring Directors as compensation. Crotch drafted the agreement, Read signed it, and Farrow made a speech full of optimism at the annual meeting of the bank at the end of last June.

Then Read wanted to take up the position of Managing Director at once. Farrow, however, counsel explained, refused to permit this until Read had taken up £300,000 worth of shares. This he agreed to do, and on Oct. 4 Norton, Read and Richie, another partner, attended a meeting of the board to be elected Directors. Farrow, however, held up the election until Read had agreed to pay him £5,000 as part of his compensation for loss or office. Read agreed to pay, and in fact did pay. Then difficulty arose with regard to Read's becoming Director at all until more money had been paid. This difficulty was also adjusted and on Oct. 13, Read was elected Managing Director and the other two partners Directors.

Read and Riche began at once an investigation of the bank, but, said counsel, Hart, as the head of the audit department, strange to say, refused them for a time access to the private ledgers, but produced them in the end. A preliminary investigation showed the position of the bank was not quite satisfactory, but the investigation completed by Nov. 8 made it clear the financial position was entirely different from what had been represented on the balance sheets. Read discovered that though his agreement with the company was not completed until August, in the accounts of the bank for the year ending June 30 there was a debt of about £500,000 against Norton, Read & Co.

Counsel then related how skilled accountants were called in on Nov. 8 and reported the bank was hopelessly insolvent and the balance sheets wholly misleading.

Crotch, said counsel, admitted the truth and Read recovered the securities which he had deposited to cover £150,000 for which he was personally liable. He then, for his firm, consulted counsel, and as a result canceled the agreement with the bank on the ground that Farrow and his two colleagues had been personally guilty of publishing false balance sheets. Then the matter was raised before the Board of Trade and Treasury.

"What," asked counsel, "was the object of Farrow and Crotch in inducing Read to come into the concern? They thought that as soon as the crash came Read would be in the same boat as themselves, and that, having become enmeshed in this fraudulent business, in order to save his honor and his credit, he would find it necessary to save exposure and would agree to shoulder the financial burden."

Among the irregularities to which Sir Richard Muir drew attention were large sums the Directors apparently owed the bank, Crotch standing indebted for between £180,000 and £200,000. The reserve fund, he said, was absolutely fictitious and did not exist even in the books of the bank.

In Hart's room at the bank, counsel added, there was a locked cupboard. This was broken open and paper were found which showed how the fraudulent balance sheets had been prepared. For each year a document had been prepared showing the true position of affairs and the deficiency, and from this Hart, said counsel, had cooked up a balance sheet to show a profit.

The case has been adjourned. Depositors of Farrow's are likely to get a fragment of only 10 shillings in the pound, with the possibility of an extra shilling in the future.

Filipinos Needn't Wear Trousers.

MANILA, Jan. 19.—The bill which would require all pagan Filipinos to wear trousers has been killed by a committee in the Philippine Territorial Legislature.

HOUSE KILLS PLAN FOR INCREASE TO 483

ELEVEN STATES WILL LOSE

While Eight States, Including New Jersey and Connecticut, Will Gain Seats.

ANTI-SOUTH MOVE BALKED

Point of Order Prevents Action on Amendment Urged by Tinkham of Massachusetts.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—After a stormy session and several hours of debate the House of Representatives voted late this afternoon to retain its present membership of 435 instead of adding forty-eight new members, as was proposed in the Reapportionment bill, reported by the Census Committee. The final vote on the amendment, making the number 435 instead of 483, was 276 to 77.

Arguments that the House was already unwieldy and that the increased membership would mean $1,000,000 added cost were the causes for the overwhelming victory for the amendment, which was offered by Representative Barbour of California.

Attack was begun upon the original bill as soon as Representative Siegel, Chairman of the Census Committee, brought it up this morning.

The House was filled with confusion as charges were made that the census figures, used as a basis of representation, were not correct. This made Mr. Siegel angry and there was a flurry of excitement as he was badgered by several members, including Representatives Green of Iowa and Tincher of Kansas, both Republicans.

The Chairman tried to have the bill withdrawn to the committee for further consideration, but the House refused this by a vote of 197 to 92. Representative Barbour then offered his amendment and Representative Sweet of Iowa, Republican, offered another to make the House number 460 members. Representative Jones of Texas, Democrat, proposed to cut the number to 307.

The Jones amendment was killed by a vote of 203 to 27, and the Sweet amendment by a vote of 189 to 55.

Plea for Farm States.

In the debate on the Barbour proposition some men from the farming States argued that the war had driven the population to industrial States, and that the farm States had not increased proportionately. The vote on the amendment in the Committee of the Whole, however, was 196 to 77, and when the House again resolved itself into ordinary status it again adopted the amendment by 276 to 77.

Three hours of debate was consumed by a fight, led by Representative Tinkham of Massachusetts, Republican, to cut Southern representation on the ground that suffrage rights were denied to negroes through educational clauses and other qualifications. Representative Longworth made two points against the amendment—first, that it was presented too late, and, second, that it was not germane. Representatives Madden and Mason of Illinois and Fish of New York, all Republicans, spoke in support of the amendment, while many others opposed it, including Representative Mondell, the floor leader. Representative Campbell of Kansas, Chairman of the Rules Committee, who presided, overruled the first point of order made by Longworth, but decided that the amendment was not germane.

Near the close of the day Mr. Barbour tried to have the bill amended so that in cases where States lost membership and the Legislatures did not redistrict the Governor could order the Legislature into session for the purpose. This was objected to by some Southern members, who held that the States had their own laws on the subject and should not be "dictated to." The proposal was beaten, so each State with a decreased membership will have to handle its own problem of redistricting.

Eleven States Lose, Eight Gain.

Retention of the present number of members necessitates a shifting of twelve memberships from eleven States to eight others, the new ratio of representation being 242,267 persons instead of 218,979. Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maine, Mississippi, Nebraska, Rhode Island and Vermont will lose one Representative each, and Missouri will lose two. Connecticut, New Jersey, North Carolina, Texas and Washington will gain one Representative each, Michigan and Ohio two each and California three.

While the Democratic South loses two Representatives in Louisiana and Mississippi, it gains two in North Carolina and Texas. Kentucky and Missouri, now counted as doubtful States, lose a total of three.

CALL FOR WAR ON TYPHOID.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—The compulsory inoculation against typhoid fever of all adolescents was recommended yesterday at a meeting of the French Academy of Medicine. A commission was appointed to study the question, and, if found desirable, to lay proposals before the public authorities.

The discussion was begun by Dr. Chauffard, who in a paper which he read to the academy emphasized the wonderful results which had been obtained by anti-typhoid inoculation in the army during the war. As well as reducing the number of cases in the army from a high figure to zero, he said that there had not been any cases of typhoid since their demobilization among the men who had been inoculated while with the colors.

Before the war the usual age at which typhoid attacked men was 24 years. Now those attacked are all about 17 to 18 years old in the case of males, while a majority of those above 20 are women.

Dr. Chauffard suggested that the first inoculation should be made at 15 years of age, the second at 18 and the third at 20 or 21. With such treatment, it was asserted, the mortality from typhoid could be entirely abolished.

Other doctors cited examples and statistics showing the immunity of inoculated persons even after a long interval of time. The most remarkable proof of the efficiency of inoculation was a table of figures for the whole country which was submitted, showing that while the proportion of cases of the illness had diminished in men it had remained constant and occurred at the same age among women.

Japan Relaxes Passport Rules.

PEKING, Jan. 18.—Assurance has been given to the United States Government by the Japanese Legation here that Americans traveling over the South Manchurian Railway are exempt from passport examinations. Instructions to this effect have been sent to American Consuls in the district traversed by that road. The same ruling will apply to citizens of other nations after Feb. 1.

DEAD CZAR'S GEMS BROUGHT TO AMERICA

COUNT SZECHENYI ARRIVES

Danish Nobleman's Collection of Antiques and Paintings Come in on Frederick VIII.

Three liners arrived yesterday from Europe with more than 4,000 storm-tossed passengers.

The Holland-America liner Rotterdam, which brought 2,741 passengers from Rotterdam, Boulogne and Plymouth, had five gales and five births, four boys and one girl, during the voyage. The mothers and babies were doing well when the ship docked in Hoboken.

Milton B. Rosenbach, an English jeweler, brought some former Russian Crown jewels, which he said had been purchased from the Soviet Government. The diamonds, emeralds and rubies totaled 5,000 karats, he said.

As it was too late to send the jewels to the Appraiser's Stores the package was locked up in the purser's safe on board the Rotterdam and will be examined today. Hitherto the United States Government has not permitted any jewels or gold from the Soviet Government to be disposed of in this country, as it was considered that the articles were stolen property.

Among the first cabin passengers was Count Laszlo Széchényi of Budapest, who came to America to see his wife, formerly Miss Gladys Vanderbilt, and their children. He was met at the pier by Reginald Vanderbilt. The Count left this country in 1914 and had not seen his family since then. When asked about conditions in Hungary, Count Széchényi said:

"I believe the report that Hungary will become a kingdom again is correct. Who the King will be, I do not know. It may be the former Emperor Charles or some other member of the Hapsburg family. We have been too busy in Hungary in getting rid of the Bolsheviki to decide who shall be King. The constitution is being prepared, I understand, and will be the same as that of Great Britain."

"Do you believe Austria will join with Germany?" he was asked.

"I fear that is true. There is nothing else left for the Austrian people. The exchange cripples them and the conditions under which the people live are terrible."

Jules Kurzman of Fifth Avenue, another passeger on the liner, said he had left Paris the day after the new fashions were introduced. The style will be Moroccan. Women will wear lace hats formed in the shape of turbans and capes of Moorish design. Financial and business conditions in France were not at all good, Mr. Kurzman said.

The Marquis N. degli Ablizzi, a Lieutenant in the Italian cavalry, arrived to marry Miss Mary Kifer of Sioux City, Iowa, who served as a nurse with the American Red Cross in Armenia. She met him at the pier.

The Scandinavian-American liner Frederik VIII., from Copenhagen, was coated with ice when she made fast at her Hoboken pier. Among her first cabin passengers was H. Ferlov of Copenhagen, who brought a collection of antiques and objects of art, said to be worth $2,000,000 and to be a part of the estate of a Danish nobleman. The collection included paintings, old silver cups, embroideries, tapestries, furniture and many articles said to be 600 years old. The most valuable painting was "The King's Adoration," by Teniers, 1638. Mr. Ferlov kept the pictures in his cabin, wrapped in blankets.

The collection will be sent to the Public Stores today for examination by the Government experts, and if they prove to be more than 100 years old the articles will be admitted free.

The White Star liner Megantic arrived from Liverpool and will start on her first West Indies cruise on Saturday with 350 American tourists. Among the first cabin passengers was Miss Ann Gray, niece of Miss Mary Anderson, a soprano and harpist. She said she had appeared at several concerts in London. Sir David Paul, founder of the Scottish Life Assurance Company of Edinburgh, was also a passenger.

Sir William Smith, owner of a line of freighters trading from Cardiff to America, said the shipping business was bad in England due to the cutting of rates by vessels operated by the United States Shipping Board.

"We are ready to make an agreement at any time with American steamship owners on a payable basis, but we cannot compete with vessels which take freight to Rotterdam at $4.50 a ton."

PROPOSAL JARS HARVARD.

City Plan of Big "H" on Smokestack Assailed as Inappropriate.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 19.—The plan of the City of Cambridge to erect a huge crimson letter "H" high upon one of the tallest chimneys of the power house has brought forth torrents of protests from Harvard men. Today The Harvard Crimson adds its attack on the plan, complaining that such a display "would scarcely give the casual observer an impression of Harvard dignity and learned calm."

The Crimson continues:

"It is incredible that any one should think that the spirit of Harvard can be expressed by the mere raising of a cross-bar between two useful but ungainly monuments of brick. Yet, incredible as the idea is, it seems to have caught the fancy of some individuals. The proposition smacks too much of small-town Chamber of Commerce advertising to make it even conceivable as a method of creating harmony from the discord caused by the present stacks.

"It were better to have Harvard study by candle light huddled over a wood fire than to have it so colossally misrepresented by the attempt to cover up the source of its heat and light."

FUSILLADE ON MINING CAMP.

Federal Troops Sent to Scene of Attack Near Sprigg, W. Va.

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., Jan. 19.—The mining camp of the Burnwell Coal & Coke Company in Kentucky, opposite Sprigg, W. Va., seven miles from Williamson, was attacked by persons hidden in the surrounding mountains. Colonel Herman Hall immediately upon receipt of the news sent a patrol of Federal troops to the scene.

Reports by telephone to Colonel Hall indicated that no one had been hit during the shooting. A detachment of West Virginia State police is on duty at Sprigg but as the firing was over the Kentucky border it was necessary to send Federal soldiers.

The Burnwell mine was idle for a time after the strike was called in the Mingo field but resumed operations several weeks ago.

Endorse Lee Highway Project.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 19.—President Wilson and President-elect Harding, in messages read today to the Lee Highway convention here, endorsed the project as an appropriate memorial to the Southern leader, born in Virginia 114 years ago today. A definite route for the highway from New York to New Orleans, with an extension to California, is to be selected.

SEEKS TO RESTRAIN CORT.

Justice Ford Reserves Decision on Ada May Weeks's Application.

Supreme Court Justice Ford reserved decision yesterday on an application by Ada May Weeks, formerly of the "Jim Jam Jems" company, to restrain John Cort, her former manager, from interfering with her in her efforts to obtain employment. She is suing him for $25,000 damages for compelling her to break her contract and for writing a letter to the Producing Managers' Association warning the members not to engage her. She alleges that she got $200 and $300 as leading ingenue in "Listen, Lester," and that her work was so satisfactory that she was engaged at $400 a week for "Jim Jam Jems" while it was in New York.

Miss Weeks alleges that before the play reached New York and while it was being produced here Cort used insulting language to her before other members of the cast and stagehands, and finally when her salary was cut in half she notified Cort that she considered that the contract had been broken by him because of the treatment she received.

Isolde Menges, Violinist, Heard.

Isolde Menges, an English violinist of picturesque personality, was cordially greeted by a matinee audience yesterday in Aeolian Hall, where she had appeared in other seasons. She plays with force and fire, with almost 'cello quality on the lower strings, while higher passages become too often shrill and harsh. In spite of good phrasing of her music, she was less happy in sustained works of Handel and Bach than in modern pieces, such as Debussy's "La Plus Que Lente" and arrangements by Kreisler. One of these, from a "Rigaudon" of Francoeur, she played with splendid velocity, and the house would have liked to hear twice over Tod Boyd's double-stopped "Samoan Lullaby."

"Tosca" Sung for the Fifth Time.

"Tosca" was sung for the fifth time this season at the Metropolitan last evening, with Miss Farrar and Mr. Scotti in their familiar rôles and Mr. Gigli as Sardou's Roman patriot hero. Mr. Moranzoni conducted and there was a large house.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

"Love Birds," with Pat Rooney and Marion Bent as its stars, will open in New York in about two weeks.

The complete cast of "Dulcy," in which Lynn Fontanne will have the leading role, will include Gregory Kelly, John Westley, Gilbert Douglas, Wallis Clark, George Alison, Elliot Nugent, Howard Lindsay, Harry Lillford, Constance Pelissier and Norma Lee. Rehearsals will begin Monday.

The customary Friday matinee of "Mixed Marriage" at the Time Square Theatre will be omitted this week because of the Chesterton lecture at that playhouse.

"Humanettes," a device invented by Bert Levy, the cartoonist, will be a feature of the next Ziegfeld "Follies."

Wilde's "The Importance of Being Ernest" will be revived at the Bramhall Playhouse tonight.

"The Rose Girl," by Anselm Goetzl and William Cary Duncan, will open in Atlantic City tonight. It will come to the new Ambassador Theatre next month.

A. E. W. Mason's "Green Stockings," with a short play, will make up the third matinee bill of the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, to be given at the Lyceum a week from tomorrow.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

General Advance in Stocks—Call Money Goes to 7 Per Cent.—Liberty Bonds Higher.

The two characteristic movements of the month, advancing prices for Liberty bonds and an upward swing in foreign exchange, continued on yesterday's financial markets. They were accompanied on this occasion by a fairly rapid advance in stocks, which converged particularly on the industrial shares, but affected the entire market. To some extent this recovery, which caused a number of net advances running from 2 to 5 points, may have been helped by belated repurchases for the December "bear account," but Wall Street believed that it recognized the hand of concerted speculation for the rise.

The motive for the movement was the very familiar belief of professional speculators that, if a stock market will not go down when it has had such chance to do so as it has had in the last few days, then it ought to go up. This reasoning is not infallible, because it overlooks the fact that the market's natural attitude may be to stand still and do nothing. But in Wall Street calculations, that is the one condition which is never considered normal. Call money rose again to 7 per cent. on the Stock Exchange shortly before the close, but otherwise money rates were unchanged.

Yesterday's further rise in Liberty bonds was fully equal to that of Tuesday and Monday. It affected nearly every issue, including the Victory 4¾s, several of them gaining ⅜ to ½ for the day, making the month's recovery since the last days of December as much as 3 or 3½ per cent. It should not be overlooked, in these days of simultaneous world-wide movements in finance, that some of the British Government bonds also have recovered 2 to 3 points thus far in January and the French 3 per cents. 3⅜ points. All this embodies pretty clearly the view of the markets regarding the international money situation, and foreign exchange rates renewed their testimony yesterday to the same effect by a further general recovery, in which exchange on Paris reached the highest rate since the middle of October, when the muddle over the French Government's arrangements to meet the Anglo-French loan was beginning to upset the market.

In a measure, yesterday's rise on the Stock Exchange was ascribed in the talk of Wall Street to a more cheerful view of the business situation. Current news has given some ground for this, especially when last month's gloomy prognostications have thus far failed so notably of fulfillment. The cotton market has recovered since the year end. Reduction in retail prices since the Christmas holidays has visibly stimulated many halting trades; to such extent that in the textile industry a Baltimore house has this week advertised for "$5,000,000 worth of desirable merchandise for spot cash," because of the inroads on its stock by the January sales. But the news is by no means all of that character. Yesterday's sharp decline in the grain markets brought them below the December closing, and, as against resumption of work at many idle textile mills, the iron and steel trade indicates an uncertain outlook.

Prices, it is true, have hardly varied this month, but The Iron Age reports today for steel that "in all lines consumers expect lower prices," believing that "readjustment is only in its early stages," and that in iron an offer of considerable size "nearly $6 below the prices made at the last recorded sale failed to develop an order." This must be taken in connection with the present week's statements of the orders placed for steel for construction purposes, which in December were with one exception (those of October) the smallest of any month since April, 1919. Last month's 47,000 ton total compared with 171,000 last February, with 153,000 in December of 1919 and with 209,700 in July of 1918, the maximum of wartime. In view of the undisputed demand for more housing facilities, these are striking facts. The reasons heretofore assigned for last year's great decrease in building were first, the very high rate on mortgages, and second, the very high price of building material. The interest rate should presently come down, if the present money market can be trusted, but the cost of construction remains.

MONEY.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 19, 1921.

Money on call on the Stock Exchange went up to 7 per cent. just before the close. The opening was at 6 per cent., at which rate loans were renewed. Ruling rate was 6 per cent. In the outside market demand funds were loaning at 6 per cent. Time money was quoted as being freely bid for at 6 per cent., with lenders asking 6½ per cent. The supply at the latter rate is not considered large. Offerings of prime bankers' acceptances were small at previously prevailing quotations. Commercial paper, first names, also ruled unchanged.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

Exchange rates on practically all important foreign markets advanced yesterday after an early slight reaction, and closed near the best. Buying of francs was especially active; the rate went to the highest of the month. German exchange recovered, and a notable advance occurred in Scandinavian exchange, the day's rise in the Norwegian rate being ⅛ cent per crown.

Austrian exchange was higher, but Polish exchange continued its recent decline. The Argentine rate advanced about ⅛ cent per dollar, Brazil was unchanged. Montreal exchange rose to 87.7 cents, as against 87.6 Tuesday, 87.4 Monday and 87.8 Saturday.

Akron Offers $2,000,000 City Bonds.

Harris, Forbes & Co., The National City Company, Estabrook & Co., Curtis & Sanger, all of New York, and R. L. Day & Co. of Boston and Hayden, Miller & Co. of Cleveland are offering a $2,000,000 issue of 5½ per cent. City of Akron, Ohio, bonds due Jan. 1, 1922, to 1951, at prices to yield from 5.40 per cent. to 5.20 per cent. The bonds, which are legal investment for savings banks and trust funds in New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and other States, are a direct obligation of the City of Akron, one of the largest manufacturing centres of rubber goods in the world. The net bonded debt of the city is less than 2 per cent. of the assessed valuation.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Market Influences.

The upturn in the stock market of yesterday was ruled by several influences, according to Wall Street opinion, none of which, however, had relation to news outside of the market itself. For one thing it was the belief that with easier money, pools were once more becoming active, this accounting for the sharp advances recorded in several issues. Also there was still some scattered short covering, inspired by the sight of a distinctly stronger tone in the general list. Added to this was a continuation of investment buying and possibly a scattered speculative interest that turned the scale of a number of issues to the up side, although by only a fractional margin. But while the undertone was strong, Wall Street was not by any means convinced that prices were due to proceed steadily forward. In fact there was a well defined impression that pool operations could not be carried very far and that in such an event there would be the inevitable sagging of quotations.

General Electric.

General Electric gave a good account of itself with an advance that totaled nearly 5 points. At yesterday's close there had been a recovery of some 10 points from the low of last December. It is generally understood that General Electric will show excellent earnings when the annual report for last year makes its appearance. Furthermore it is believed by some that the world need of electrical equipment assures a continuation of good business for a period of years. Reports are constantly coming to light in which plans for installation of electrical equipment are being considered, this applying especially to some of the European countries. The stock market is not overlooking the signs.

Rails in Better Demand.

The market for the rail issues presented a better front, and many of the issues at the end of the day were ensconced behind plus signs. There was no news having particular reference to the rails hence on the surface the strength was not to be accounted for in specific terms. It is not to be denied, however, that Wall Street is far from being pessimistic as to the outlook for the rails. This applies not to the short range but to the long range view, the belief being that most of the happenings since the carriers were returned to private control have been of a constructive nature, even though it may be questioned whether some were adequate.

Money Firmer.

Call money suddenly advanced to 7 per cent. on the Stock Exchange yesterday afternoon after it had stood at 6 per cent. during most of the session, and the sudden jump set the Street talking. For several days there has been marked ease in money rates and yesterday's sudden, and to many unexpected, stiffening was anything but the pleasantest thing in the world. To make matters worse, from this viewpoint, the outside market, where call money has been obtainable recently at as low as 4 to 4½ per cent., moved up to 6 per cent. and stood there.

W. P. G. Harding.

Reports that W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, has been offered the Presidency of the new Foreign Trade Financing Corporation inspired mixed feelings among bankers. On all sides it is admitted that Mr. Harding would be a highly desirable man for the new position, but, at the same time, there would be genuine regret if he were to leave the Reserve Board. Bankers here, almost to a man, have the highest regard for his ability and for his courage. The way he handled the delicate situation of last Fall and early Winter, when his own people in the South were clamoring for something very close to a return to rampant inflation, won for him the esteem of the few local bankers who had not been enthusiastic admirers of him before.

Government Operations.

Announcement of the withdrawal today of $20,200,000 by the Government virtually closes the Government's account with local banks, so far as its old deposits were concerned, but the sale of the new certificate issues will leave a large balance on hand at the end of the week. Thus far this week the Government has taken out $41,000,000, which was about all it had here; the Clearing House statement last Saturday showed $38,011,000 in the associated institutions. Incidentally, the subscription of $588,596,500 on a $250,000,000 offering shows rather graphically the state of the investment market and the high favor of Treasury certificates.

Hudson & Manhattan Interest.

Rumors to the effect that interest payments on Hudson & Manhattan adjustment income 5 per cent. bonds might be resumed attracted some attention. The interest on the issue was discontinued in 1916, but on Jan. 1, 1920, the issue became cumulative, and 5 per cent. is due. In view of the fact that the earnings of the company have showed considerable improvement since increased fares were instituted, last May, the gossip yesterday was to the effect that some disbursement may be announced before long on account of accumulated interest from January of last year. Earnings were sufficient in the last six months of 1920 not only to meet fixed charges but to cover the income bond requirements and leave a comfortable margin.

February Maturities Less.

The aggregate of corporate maturities which come due next month is smaller than for some time, being only $37,809,010, as compared with $81,790,220 in January and $91,454,180 in February, 1920. The majority of the maturities are comparatively small and do not call for special financing, according to The Wall Street Journal, which compiled the figures and asserts that the money market should be eased considerably during the month. The total of railroad maturities is only $13,114,450; public utilities $19,550,560, and industrials $5,144,000. The principal maturities are United Gas and Improvement $7,500,000 one-year 6 per cent. notes, Boston Consolidated Gas one-year 6 per cent. notes. None of the industrial maturities exceeds $400,000 in amount.

Denver 7s Exchanged.

News that more than 51 per cent of Denver & Rio Grande R. R. adjust. 7 per cent. bonds had been deposited in exchange for Western Pacific 10-year 4 per cent. bonds was considered as somewhat significant in some quarters yesterday. This gives the Western Pacific majority opinion in which holders of the issue may wish to act as a unit. Only the refunding 5s of Denver now remain in divided control. The Western Pacific has purchased the Denver properties and confirmation of the sale is held up pending a decision by the St. Louis courts in the matter of an appeal made by the Denver Stockholders' Committee.

CRITICISES FRENCH FOREIGN BANK PLAN

Guaranty Trust Official Compares It Unfavorably With Banking Laws Here.

DENIES THEY FORM BARRIER

Reports from abroad, published in THE TIMES yesterday, to the effect that the Finance Committee of the French Chamber was studying a new measure for additional taxes on foreign banks operating in France, which forbids such banks to receive deposits or to take part in any operation relative to foreign issues, other than those concerning their own nationals, without government authority given by decree, attracted considerable attention among bankers whose institutions have branches in Paris and other French cities.

It is believed that the scheme is designed, partly at least, to retaliate against the New York State banking laws, which withhold from agencies of foreign banks the right to receive deposits. Speaking on this subject, Albert Breton, Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company, said:

"It should be remembered that the New York State banking law provides that upon compliance with certain formalities and upon the issuance of a license by the Superintendent of Banks, a foreign banking corporation may transact here the business of buying, selling and paying or collecting bills of exchange, of issuing letters of credit, or receiving for transmission money by draft, check, cable or otherwise, or making sterling or other loans, and may maintain in the State an agency for carrying on such business.

"There are certain things which a foreign banking corporation may do in New York State without even going through the formality of taking out a license. Thus, a foreign banking corporation which does not maintain an office in the State is not prohibited from making loans secured by mortgages on real property, nor from accepting assignments of mortgages covering real property situated in the State, nor from making loans through correspondents. It may be said that the agencies of foreign banks are not authorized to do a local discounting business, but they may, of course, buy and negotiate promissory notes and other evidences of debt. This latter power is inherent. It is identified with the business of banking and a convenient, necessary method of carrying out one of a bank's fundamental and essential purposes, namely, the lending of money.

"It may well be pointed out that foreign banks which are engaged in financing trade between the United States and other countries are enabled through the maintenance of an agency in New York State to have a much closer relationship to our market than they could otherwise hope to secure, and thus perform a most important function in financing the world's foreign trade.

"The fact that many foreign banks, including French, have had their agencies here for years shows conclusively that our present banking laws do not constitute barriers to foreign banks. And many of our leading financiers consider that the more foreign banks we have here the more important will New York become as an international financial centre."

TO CONTEST RYAN WILL.

Widow, Cut Off With $100, Will Dispute Bequest to Actress.

Thomas Fortune Ryan may file a claim of $40,000 against the estate of his youngest son, Joseph J. Ryan, who in his will left most of his $130,000 estate to Miss Dorothy Lucille Whiteford, an actress of 172 West Seventy-ninth Street. Word to that effect was taken to a representative of Miss Whiteford some time ago ... the contents of the will became known to members of Mr. Ryan's family.

It was also conveyed unmistakably that if the will is probated it will be contested by Mr. Ryan's widow, Mrs. Nannie Morse Ryan, who is now in Italy with her two children, and who received only $100 by its terms. Mr. Ryan, the father, is expected to ask that his claim be allowed on the ground that in the last three years before his son died he had advanced him $40,000 in addition to his allowance of $6,000 a year.

John J. Robinson, attorney for Miss Whiteford, admitted yesterday that Miss Whiteford would fight for every cent that is legally hers by the terms of the instrument.

MORE CABLE PARLEYS SOON.

Washington Discussion to Be Resumed, Ambassadors as Delegates.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—A meeting of the International Communications Conference will be held in the near future to take up questions, principally that of the disposition of the former German cables, which were left unsolved when the delegates to the conference left Washington a little before Christmas.

Acting Secretary Davis, as Chairman of the conference, will call together the diplomatic representatives of the powers who were named by their respective Governments to act in place of the delegates to the conference after the latter had returned home.

SHOE MEN ARE HOPEFUL.

The general outlook of the industry was discussed yesterday at the annual convention of the Boot and Shoe Manufacturers' Association in the Hotel Astor, and for the most part the members of the organization expressed optimism. This feeling was voiced by J. Frank McElwain, the retiring President, who said that definite factors are now ... and confidence in ourselves, in our industry and in our Government and its ability to help set us on the right road." It was the consensus of those at the convention that lower prices have made possible more attractive merchandise, and that gradually confidence was being restored. The firmer tone in the leather market, it was said, is based upon a feeling that hides and skins have touched bottom. There will continue to be fluctuations in the price of shoes based upon the possibilities of purchase and the needs of the trade, and that the industry had now entered upon the long swing upward.

Foreign Trade Financing Corporation Has Offered Him Its Presidency.

ANNOUNCED BY McHUGH

Hoover Urges Long-Term Credits Abroad at Merchants' Association Luncheon.

W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, has been invited to become President of the $100,000,000 Foreign Trade Financing Corporation, whose chief business will be making of long-time loans to finance foreign trade, it was announced yesterday by John McHugh, Vice President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank and Chairman of the Organization Committee of the corporation, at a luncheon of the Merchants' Association in the Hotel Astor. Foreign trade problems and the need for immediate stimulation of world business, were discussed after the luncheon.

"We believe that no better selection could possibly be made," said Mr. McHugh, "and while it is true that he can be ill-spared from the position he now occupies, still we believe that the maximum of pressure on the system has passed, and that he will see an opportunity for still greater service to the country in this undertaking."

In announcing the invitation to Mr. Harding, Mr. McHugh said that Fred I. Kent, Vice President of the Bankers Trust Company, had agreed to serve the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation in an advisory capacity, and that Jerome Thralls, Secretary and Treasurer of the Discount Corporation of New York, had been asked to serve as one of the Executive Vice Presidents.

The meeting was one of the largest and most important that the Merchants Association has held. Among those at the guest table were Felix M. Warburg, Thomas W. Lamont, Edward R. Stettinius, Herbert L. Pratt, Guy Emerson, James Speyer, William Hamlin Childs, Lewis E. Pierson, John T. Pratt, Hendon Chubb, Julius H. Barnes, James Gilbert White, J. Louis Schaefer, William C. Redfield, Charles E. Mitchell and Colonel Samuel P. Colt.

Urge Long Term Credits Abroad.

A grave warning of the result of failing to nourish properly the export trade of the United States by establishing long time credits, was voiced not only by Mr. McHugh, but by Herbert Hoover and A. C. Bedford, Chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company, who said that it was the only cure for the economic ills which trouble the world, caused largely by underconsumption in Europe and overproduction in America.

"Any sane man can find the economic situation of the world easy to understand," said Mr. Hoover. "The United States is oversupplied with foodstuffs and raw materials, although the farmers are suffering from an inability to dispose of their production at cost, factories are idle, and workmen unemployed. In Europe 400,000,000 of people are slowly recovering from the war, struggling up from political, social, economic chaos, with their populations underfed.

"Not only is this a question of the establishment of credit abroad, but it is a question of the character of credit that we establish. Nothing is more dangerous to the whole economic situation of the world than that we should continue to establish short-term credits. The only solution is that we shall secure long-term investments in productive enterprise abroad.

Asks More Sane Armament.

"There is also involved in all of these processes of recuperation, another issue of the utmost importance, the whole question of disarmament," continued Mr. Hoover. "Why impose upon us, the business community, a burden of $500,000,000 a year in taxation, and at the same time ask us to restore the processes of business upon which the vital life of our own people must be maintained? In all these questions there is involved deeply the problem of taxation, and unless we can have some more sanity in the whole relationship as to armament, we have but little hope of finding from our community that surplus of resources with which we can upbuild Europe."

"America is the heart of the world's business," said Mr. Bedford, "and controls the life-blood of civilization. It is incumbent upon American business men, with the sanction of the American Government, to work out practical expedients under which the resources of America, both moral and material, may be unleashed for the benefit of the world, not as a matter of charity, but to insure our own prosperity."

Harding Expected to Accept Offer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Washington believes that W. P. G. Harding, Governor of the Federal Reserve Board, will resign soon to accept the Presidency of the Foreign Trade Financing Corporation. His term as head of the Federal Reserve Board does not expire until 1922. Mr. Harding refused to comment on the announcement that the corporation had asked him to be its President.

They Made $107 in California and Nevada, and North Dakota Paid Them $7.40 a Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Wages of hired men on farms have more than doubled in the last ten years, tripled in the last twenty years, and were more than four times higher last year than they were in 1879. These changes are shown by statistics of the Department of Agriculture.

Wages paid by the month, without board, averaged $64.95 for the country as a whole last year; ten years ago they averaged $27.50, and in 1879 they were $10.43.

Day labor at harvest time last year averaged $4.36 without board, and, at other than harvest time, $3.50. Ten years ago harvest-time labor was paid $1.82, and, at other than harvest time, $1.38. In 1894 harvest-time day labor was paid $1.13, and non-harvest-time labor 81 cents a day.

California and Nevada farmers paid their labor the highest prices for labor without board, the average in those States last year having been $107 a month. The lowest average was in Mississippi, where $41 was paid. The average for the country, as on a whole, was $64.95. The Northern Atlantic States averaged $75.54; the South Atlantic, $50.56; the Northeast Central States, $70.09; the Northwest Central States, $79.79; the South Central States, $51.94, and the Far Western States, $99.43.

For harvest-time labor without board North Dakota paid the highest rate with $7.40 a day, while, at other than harvest time, South Dakota paid the highest rate, with $5.90 a day.

MORE INSURANCE IN 1920.

American Surety Co. Reports 148% Increase in Burglary Policies.

In spite of the prevailing depression, the business of the American Surety Company, through its branches all over the country, increased last year by 19 2-3 per cent. over that of 1919.

The recent general increase in crime is strikingly reflected in the figures for burglary insurance. Such insurance has become popular, over 148 per cent. more policies being carried in 1920 than in the previous year. The number of claims, however, increased in even greater proportion, there having been submitted to the company last year about 304 per cent. more claims for loss through burglary than in 1919.

That public officials, holding State and municipal offices requiring bonds, were more honest during 1920 than during 1919 is apparently indicated by the decrease in the number of claims against the company for losses and defalcations covered by its bonds. In spite of an increase in this business, the number of claims fell over 22 per cent. from those in the previous year, the rate in both years being very low.

Construction conditions apparently improved to some extent, claims on bonds covering the performance of work by contractors, together with court and depository bonds, decreasing nearly 10 per cent. Irregularities in positions of trust in business appear to have increased, the number of cases of shortage, defalcation and dishonesty having risen nearly 47 per cent. over the number in 1919, the number of persons covered having been increased by 20 per cent.

IN IRON AND STEEL

NEW WAGE CUT IS COMING

Lake Superior Operators to Reduce Pay 15 Per Cent., but Steel Corporation Scale Stands.

The Iron Trade Review in its weekly survey of conditions in the iron and steel industry sees no definite indication of a revival of buying power and points out that operations are greatly curtailed.

"Nothing to indicate a rejuvenation of a general buying interest is to be found in the iron and steel situation," says the Review. "Here and there some quickening of miscellaneous demand is to be noted, but no broad significance is attached to this. Industrial consumption of iron and steel continues light. In some lines, such as tubular material, good tonnages continue to be placed, especially by the Standard Oil Company. Wire demand is better, sheet conditions are erratic and an inquiry for 1,500 tons at Pittsburgh from an automobile builder, the first of its kind for some weeks, has caused comment. The market in the heavier lines, plates, shapes and bars, is very sluggish, marking the extent of new work. Structural steel awards just reported for December were 47,000 tons, or 26 per cent. of shop capacity.

"Only six out of fifty-one independent open hearth furnaces and nineteen out of 165 sheet mills in the Mahoning Valley were in commission this week. On the other hand, the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company has been operating at better than 92 per cent. and the Carnegie Steel Company at 90 to 95 per cent.

"All independent ore operators on the Lake Superior ranges who have not yet done so will reduce wages 15 per cent. Feb. 1. The Steel Corporation, however, will make no change in the present rate."

The Iron Age says that with slightly better demand, with here and there a concession from the general price level, and with the average of mill operations somewhat less, the steel trade finds nothing significant in current developments. In all lines consumers expect lower prices, but recognize that time is a prime factor and that the readjustment is only in its early stages.

Generally the leading independent companies have been running at 20 to 80 per cent. capacity.

FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

Government Bonds Easier at Paris, Higher at London.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Old 2½ per cent. consols, ¼ point higher at 47¼; British 5 per cent. war loan, ⅜ higher at 84⅞; 4½ per cent. war loan, ⅛ higher at 77¾.

Rand Mines, 2½; De Beers Mining, 12, both unchanged.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Prices were heavy on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 10 centimes lower at 58 francs 35 centimes; 5 per cent. war loan, unchanged at 85 francs 20 centimes.

Exchange on London, 10 centimes lower at 59 francs 50 centimes per sovereign; American dollars were quoted at 15 francs 84½ centimes, against 15 francs 89½ centimes yesterday.

Drew on Foreign Accumulations to Offset Losses in 1920 Sales and Exports.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Only by drawing on reserves accumulated by their foreign connections were Armour & Co. enabled to show a net profit as a result of the 1920 operations, according to the annual report of J. Ogden Armour, President of the company, presented today to the stockholders. For the first time in the history of the company stockholders other than members of the Armour family attended.

The statement disclosed that while the company's total sales approximated $900,000,000 for the year that part of it which represented sales in and exports from this country resulted in losses aggregating many millions of dollars. In view of these losses Armour & Co. found it necessary to draw on the reserves of their foreign connections to show a net profit of $5,319,975.44, which represented only 2.4 per cent. on the average net capitalization of $231,000,000.

Regarding the prospects for 1921, Mr. Armour said:

"There is abundant reason to look forward to a better year. We have maintained tonnage and outlets. The coming months should show a brisk business."

J. Ogden Armour was re-elected President and Lester Armour, a nephew of the President, was elected a member of the Board of Directors. All other officers were re-elected.

GUARANTY CO. DATA DENIED.

Trust Stockholders Refuse to Produce Subsidiary's Minutes.

The stockholders' meeting of the Guaranty Trust Company yesterday was enlivened by the demands of Clarence H. Venner for information regarding the formation of the Guaranty Company, the subsidiary concern formed by the Trust Company last October to take over its bond department, and the production of the minutes of the Executive Committee.

Charles H. Sabin, President of the Guaranty Trust Company, who was presiding at the meeting, flatly refused to comply with the demands of Mr. Venner, so far as production of the minutes of the Executive Committee or of the Board of Directors was concerned, on the ground that these documents were subject to inspection by the Superintendent of Banks and other proper authorities and that it was inadvisable to make the information public, in view of its private nature.

Mr. Sabin referred to the statement sent to stockholders of the operations of the Trust Company for the year 1920, which he said included information with regard to the organization of the Guaranty Company.

Cities Service Co.'s Profits Rise.

Gross earnings of the Cities Service Company for the twelve months ended with Dec. 31, 1920, totaled $24,698,039, an increase of $4,720,488 over the preceding year, while net increased $4,723,854, to $23,997,567. Over the twelve-month period there was a decrease in expenses from $703,835 to $700,473. After interest and preferred dividends there was left $17,370,464, which was an increase of $4,234,873 over the preceding year.

GIFTS TO CHARITY REDUCE INCOME TAX

Contributions Under 15% of Net Income May Be Deducted From Returns.

APPLIES TO INDIVIDUALS

Corporations Not Exempt—Amounts Expended for Lobbying Are Taxable.

Contributions to religious, charitable, scientific or educational organizations may be deducted in the income tax returns of individuals to an amount not in excess of 15 per cent. of the net income as computed without the benefit of this deduction, but deductions for contributions are not allowed corporations or partnerships, according to a statement of the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

"The members of a partnership or a personal service corporation," says the bureau, "may take credit in their individual returns for their proportion of such gifts, provided the pro rata part when added to the individual contributions does not exceed 15 per cent. of the taxpayer's net income.

"The law provides that contributions in order to be deductible shall be limited to corporations and associations organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific or educational work, and to societies for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private stockholder; also to the special fund authorized by the vocational rehabilitation act. For example, a contribution to a hospital, the net earnings of which inure to private stockholders, would not be an allowable deduction. Gifts made directly to individuals are not deductible, but if made to an organization of the kind described may be deducted, even though the organization distributes its funds among individual beneficiaries.

"Treasury regulations specifically prohibit the deduction of contributions to funds for the payment of campaign expenses.

"Donations made by corporations to charitable institutions, hospitals, or educational institutions which legitimately represent a consideration for a benefit flowing directly to the corporation as an incident of its business are allowable deductions as ordinary and necessary expenses. For example, a corporation may deduct donations made to a charitable institution, hospital, or educational institutions conducted directly or indirectly for the benefit of its employes or their dependents, or a street railway corporation may deduct a sum of money donated to an organization holding a convention in the city in which it operates with the reasonable expectation that the holding of such convention will augment its income.

"Amounts expended for lobbying purposes, the promotion or defeat of legislation, the exploitation of propaganda, including advertising other than trade advertising, are not deductible from gross income."

FEWER ACRES YIELD GREATEST CORN CROP

Iowa Beats Her Own Record in Average Growth, but Vermont Wins the Banner.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—Nineteen hundred and twenty was the greatest corn year in the history of the country, according to the records of the Department of Agriculture. Besides growing a record crop of 3,232,367,000 bushels, the farmers established a new record for average yield per acre with 30.9 bushels, only the second time the country's average yield went past thirty bushels.

The area planted to corn last year was 104,601,000 acres, which was smaller than the area planted in eight other years heretofore and 1,400,000 acres smaller than the area which produced the previous record crop of 3,124,746,000 bushels in 1912. Last year's crop was the third to exceed 3,000,000,000 bushels.

Iowa, the country's greatest corn producing State, made an average of forty-six bushels to the acre for the first time in its history. The highest average acre yield of any State was that of Vermont, with forty-seven bushels. Maine in 1919 had the highest average acre yield, with sixty bushels. In the ten years previous to that year the highest average acre yield has been made by one of the New England States. Connecticut had highest yield in six of the ten years, Massachusetts in two, New Hampshire in one, and Vermont and Massachusetts tying in one.

CROP CONDITIONS GOOD.

Snow Covering Protects Winter Wheat From the Cold Wave.

Weather conditions during the week were generally favorable from an agricultural point of view, although more moisture is needed in the Far Southwest and in some eastern Rocky Mountain foothill districts. Vegetation is dormant in all districts except the southern border States.

Some cotton was picked in the northern portion of the cotton belt. Some corn was shelled and marketed in Nebraska, but much is too soft to shell in Illinois; husking is nearing completion in Ohio. Plowing was unfavorably affected by the weather in east-central States and in eastern Texas, but considerable work was done in plowing for corn in other southern districts. Little farm work was possible in other sections.

Considerable snow fell during the week in the lower Mississippi and central Mississippi valleys and in the eastern portions, the central and southern Plains area. The snow covering was beneficial for Winter grains in protecting them from the cold weather that prevailed the latter part of the week. In general, Winter wheat continued in satisfactory condition. Winter oats are doing well in the South; precipitation was beneficial in the western portion of the Winter oat belt.

CHILE SEEKING A LOAN.

Minister Negotiating With New York and European Bankers.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 18.—A bill authorizing the negotiation of a loan of approximately $25,000,000 on behalf of the State railways, which was recently passed by the Chilean Congress, was approved by the Council of State today.

In a statement relative to the loan the Minister of Finance said he was corresponding with New York and European bankers regarding the details of the undertaking. He said the loan would bear not more than 8 per cent. interest and would be repaid with a fund created by the setting aside of 15 per cent. of the gross revenues of the railway involved.

Brisk Home Bidding for London Wool.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—At the wool auction sales today, 11,914 bales of free wool were offered. There was a brisk demand and the bulk of the offerings were sold at unchanged prices. Buyers for the home trade were the principal purchasers.

GRAINS DEPRESSED BY FOREIGN NEWS

Million-Bushel Wheat Sale at Chicago to Switzerland Stirs Only Feeble Rallies.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Between the heavy movement of grains from the interior to terminal markets and the deflation in the price of all commodities, the money situation in the West is rapidly easing. Bankers' acceptances, quoted at 6¼ per cent. a few weeks ago, are now 5½ per cent., and further improvement is expected shortly. The selling of corn is not confined to any one section but has been fairly general, with some parts of Illinois, that heretofore have done little, letting go a great deal of grain in the past few days.

Wheat was under pressure from the start; and, despite the removal of hedges against sales of over 1,000,000 bushels hard Winter, via the Gulf to Switzerland, rallies were feeble, and the close was at net losses of 2¼ cents. There was a revival of the rumors that there were to be unfavorable developments in Eastern financial circles, and an English cable indicated that the same rumors were current there. In the main they referred to one of the smaller continental countries which has been mentioned as having overbought commodities to some extent, although its purchases of grains are not regarded here as excessive; previous to the war it had been the largest consumer of wheat per capita in Europe.

These unconfirmed rumors were in circulation before the opening, and had more or less effect on sentiment; but around the low point there was a good class of buying by strong interests, part of which was attributed to covering shorts for a local operator who has been very bearish of late, and though the decline was sufficient for the time being.

Reports that the Italian Government had offered to resell wheat attracted much attention and led to free selling at times. This was denied later and, as far as known, only 80,000 bushels have been canceled by that country, and this for individual and not for Government account.

Country offerings were not large and readily absorbed, with premiums at the Gulf firm. Part of the wheat sold was at 19½ over March, f. o. b. the Gulf, for April shipment. Minneapolis mills bought 200,000 bushels hard Winter at Kansas City, while domestic milling sales were around 400,000 bushels. Southwestern reports indicate a better flour trade.

Coarse grains were weaker and lower, with oats at a new low on the crop for cash and futures, while cash corn sold at a new low and May corn within half cent of the inside figure of the season. The support came mainly from shorts and from holders of bids. Country offerings were smaller, due to the decline, but the movement to terminal markets is expected to continue very heavy. A sale of 75,000 bushels oats was made from the seaboard to Cuba. Export business in corn aggregated 175,000 bushels.

Movement of grains is well above the average for this season. Arrivals of wheat, so far this week, have been 4,101,000 bushels, against 3,219,000 the previous week and 3,308,000 last year; shipments 2,616,000 bushels against 1,862,000 last week, and 2,504,000 last year.

In three days receipts of corn have been 5,772,000 bushels against 4,295,000 a week ago and 3,118,000 last year. Shipments of 2,411,000 bushels compared with 2,132,000 a week ago and 1,593,000 last year.

TRUST CO. ELECTS OFFICERS

At the organization meeting of the Board of Trustees of the New York Trust Company yesterday, Ernest Stauffen Jr., Joseph S. Maxwell and Sidney W. Noyes, Vice Presidents of the Liberty National Bank, were elected Vice Presidents of the New York Trust Company. Raymond G. Forbes, assistant cashier of the Liberty National Bank, was appointed Assistant Treasurer of the trust company. Other officers of the trust company were re-elected.

The officers of the Liberty National who were elected to corresponding offices in the trust company will continue in their present positions with the Liberty National. The election, it was explained, merely was in the nature of more closely welding the two institutions together. A formal merger of the two is expected to be consummated shortly.

$207,919,694 GAIN BY SMALL SAVERS

BRONX LEADS IN GROWTH

Amounts Due Depositors Jump $14,050,376 for 1920—Manhattan Savings Gain 10.1 Per Cent.

The small savers of Greater New York during the year 1920, added $207,919,694.77 to their savings in fifty-eight of the fifty-nine savings banks in the five boroughs, according to a statement issued by the Savings Banks Association of the State of New York yesterday. This includes figures on the fifty-ninth bank up to July 1 only.

The total amount due depositors, including dividends credited, in these banks Dec. 31, 1920, was $1,832,132,834.02, as against $1,624,213,139.25 due Dec. 31, 1919.

The total resources of the banks increased during 1920 from $1,739,766,174.37 to $2,025,550,574.64, an increase of $265,784,400.27, or 15 per cent. The number of depositors increased from 2,451,148 to 2,559,840, a gain of 108,692, or 4.4 per cent.

The greatest gains were made by the people in the Bronx. The amount due depositors in that section, including dividends credited, increased $14,050,376.99, or 45.4 per cent., while the number of depositors increased from 82,464 to 98,241, a gain of 19.1 per cent.

Queens County was second only to the Bronx in growth. The amounts due depositors increased ... 450, a gain of 23.3 per cent., while 4,802 people started new accounts.

Aggregate savings in Manhattan have increased from $1,128,498,378.64 to $1,243,175,568.43, while the percentage of increase in deposits has been only 10.1. The number of depositors in Manhattan increased only 1.5 per cent., there being on Dec. 31, 1920, a total of 1,611,674, as against 1,587,714 on Dec. 31, 1919.

Kings and Richmond gained in deposits 16.4 and 22.4 per cent., respectively, and 8.5 and 9.3, respectively, in number of depositors.

A $7,750,000 STOCK LOSS.

Price Cuts Reduce $5,500,000 Profit of Chicago House to $747,000.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Butler Brothers, wholesale general merchandise dealers here, announced today a quarterly dividend of 3½ per cent., adding that in the last quarter of 1920 they had suffered a merchandise depreciation loss of $7,750,000.

"Following our usual policy," a statement issued by Frank S. Cunningham, President of the company, says, "we have taken our Dec. 31 inventories on the basis of actual replacement or market value at that time, thus taking in 1920 the entire loss caused by recent radical declines in commodity prices. Our net earnings for the first months of 1920, as determined by our inventory on June 30, were more than $5,500,000, but in the fourth quarter the effort to reduce stocks to normal before the end of the year, and the sale of many goods at less than cost to meet market conditions, plus the inventory depreciation on Dec. 31, wiped out all the net earnings for the year except $747,524."

Taking the average of prices at the beginning of June, 1914, as par, it is estimated by Swiss statisticians that at the same date in 1915 the average was 118.6, that in 1916 it was 139.5, that it had reached 179.7 in 1917 and 229.3 in 1918. Between September, 1918, and June, 1919, the average rose from 250.8 to 261.4; it fell to 243.4 in the middle of 1920, but was up to 258.3 at the beginning of September.

Service Through 70 Branches

From the time when the raw material is shipped from its source to the factories for manufacture, until as a finished product it is transported to all parts of the globe, modern commerce and industry are dependent on international banking. In their co-operation and development the Banco Nacional Ultramarino, one of the oldest institutions of its kind in the world, has rendered efficient service for more than half a century. The facilities of our 70 branches, reaching all important countries, are available through our New York Agency.

[... ON BRITISH REPORTS]

Local Market Bears Use Foreign Weakness to Force 50 to 65 Point Drop.

For the third successive day weakness at Liverpool and unsatisfactory reports from Manchester served to depress the local cotton market. The Liverpool market again came in lower than due and the spot price there broke sharply, losing 68 English points on the day and falling to a level 121 points under the figure of last Friday. This, coupled with the poor trade reports from Manchester, gave the local and Southern bears more ammunition and they made the most of it.

Prices started heavy. January was down 20 and the rest of the list was down 32 to 40 points. There was a slight recovery, which did not, however, carry the market back to where it had left off on Tuesday, and then the selling again broke out and prices fell abruptly. By mid-afternoon they were down 30 to 45 points, and in the last half hour, on fresh and rather aggressive selling, they broke still further, showing net losses at the extreme low of 50 to 65 points. Spots here were down 35 points, and in the South most spot markets were down 25 to 50 points from the preceding day's scale.

The unsatisfactory trade situation at Manchester still is to be accounted for. Just what is going on remains the same mystery it was three days ago, when Liverpool began to ease off, and local operators, even those who are using the situation abroad extensively for market purposes, do not seem to be entirely clear as to just what that situation is.

Further large arrivals of cotton here were reported. The day's receipts totaled 8,704 bales, making 28,583 bales received since the first of the week, and nearly 50,000 bales since the beginning of last week.

Yesterday's quotations follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Previous Day.
Jan.	17.25	17.30	16.95	16.95@16.96	17.45
March	15.60	15.90	15.40	15.43@15.45	16.00
May	15.60	15.85	15.35	15.38@15.41	15.98
July	15.78	15.98	15.50	15.55@15.58	16.15
Oct.	15.88	16.00	15.54	15.60@15.65	16.20

The local market for spot cotton was quiet, down 35 points to 17.25c for middling upland; sales, 1,200 bales. Southern spot markets were: Galveston, 14.75c, down .50; New Orleans, 15c, down .25; Augusta, 15c, down .25; Memphis, 15c, unchanged; Houston, 14.20c, down .50.

Yesterday's cotton statistics were:

	Yesterday.	Last Wk.	Last Yr.
Port receipts	18,374	17,893	30,740
Exports	6,000	11,512	63,805

COMMODITY PRICES.

Declines Registered in the Grains, Others Unchanged to Slightly Higher.

In the wholesale markets yesterday price declines were registered in the grains, wheat dropping 2⅛ cents, corn 1 cent and oats ½ of a cent per bushel. Flour, however, was unchanged. In the grocery and dairy products coffee, sugar and butter were steady and unchanged, with a decline of 8 cents per dozen in eggs. In provisions lard was down 10 cents per hundred pounds, beef and pork unchanged. In the metals lead was 10 cents per hundred pounds higher, others unchanged. Spot cotton in the textiles dropped 35 cents per hundred pounds, while printcloths advanced ⅛ of a cent per pound.

Following are the cash prices for the principal commodities in the wholesale market at the close of business Wednesday a week before and a year ago:

FINANCIAL NOTES.

The Banque Industrielle de Chine has declared an interim dividend of 20 francs (8 per cent.), payable on Feb. 1, compared with an interim distribution of 14 francs a year ago. The net profits for 1920 exceed 40,000,000 francs, which is more than 50 per cent. of the paid-up capital of the bank. New branches have been opened in Bordeaux and Dunkirk, France.

Lewis G. Spohn Jr., formerly with Hollister, White & Co., has become associated with Scott & Stump and will manage the unlisted securities department of their Philadelphia office.

McCormick & Fagan, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 60 Beaver Street, announce that they have admitted Addison W. Kelly to partnership.

Louis Levenson, many years a trader in public utility and industrial bonds, has opened offices at 27 William Street, to conduct a general brokerage and investment business.

The Board of Trustees of the Italian Savings Bank have elected Pasquale I. Simonelli President, to succeed Joseph N. Francolini, recently deceased.

NOTICE OF SALE

Covington, Ky., January 13, 1921.

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received at the office of the Commissioner of Public Finance, City Hall, Covington, Kentucky, until nine (9) o'clock A. M. on the 27th day of January, 1921, for the purchase of bonds of the City of Covington, in the sum of Two Hundred and Fifty Thousand ($250,000.00) Dollars, said bonds to be divided into five hundred (500) bonds for the sum of Five Hundred ($500.00) Dollars each, numbered from one (1) to five hundred (500) consecutively, dated January 13, 1921, and shall bear interest at the rate of six per cent. (6%) per annum, payable semi-annually on the 13th day of July, 1921, and the 13th day of January, 1922, and on said dates each and every year thereafter. Said bonds and the interest coupons thereto attached shall be payable to the bearer at the Bank of America, New York City, New York.

Said bonds will be payable in series, in such amounts and at such times as follows, to wit:

$5,000.00 on January 13 of each of the first twenty years from date.

$7,500.00 on January 13 of each of the second twenty years from date.

so that all of said bonds will have been fully paid and redeemed at the expiration of forty (40) years from and after date of issue.

Said bonds are issued for the purpose of obtaining the necessary funds with which to purchase, construct, install and equip an additional pumping unit for the Covington City Water Works, under authority of the general laws of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, and particularly Section 3060 of the Kentucky Statutes, and by virtue of an ordinance passed by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Covington on January 13, 1921.

Said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to date of delivery, to the highest and best bidder, the right being reserved to reject any and all bids.

Bids for said bonds shall be addressed to the Commissioner of Public Finance of the City of Covington, and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked "Bids for Water Works Improvement Bonds of the City of Covington," accompanied with a certified check for Twenty-Five Hundred ($2,500.00) Dollars, payable to the City of Covington, as evidence of good faith.

By order of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Covington, Kentucky.

GEO. C. STAHEL,
Commissioner of Public Finance.
By GEO. J. BEACH, City Recorder.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT pursuant to Chapter 193 of the Session Laws of the State of Idaho for the year 1919 approved March 14th, 1919, two million ($2,000,000.00) dollars highway bonds of the State of Idaho dated January 1st, 1921 and maturing January 1st, 1941, optional and redeemable on any interest date on or after January 1st, 1931, will be offered for sale, the bonds to be in denominations to suit purchaser and to bear interest at the rate of five per cent (5%) per annum, payable semi-annually. Both interest and principal payable in New York Exchange in the office of the State Treasurer of the State of Idaho in Boise, Idaho. Sealed bids for the purchase of said bonds will be received by me at my office in the Capitol Building on or before ten o'clock on the 31st day of January, 1921. Each of said bids shall be accompanied by a certified check in the sum of forty thousand ($40,000) dollars, payable to the order of the State Treasurer of the State of Idaho as a guarantee that the bidder will accept the bids in accordance with the terms of his bid should it be accepted. Printed or lithographed bonds will be furnished by the State.

Dated this 17th day of January, 1921 in the office of the State Treasurer of the State of Idaho, at Boise, Idaho.

D. F. BANKS, State Treasurer.

PEAK OF HIGH PRICES PASSED IN BRITAIN

Lower Living Cost Will Mean Automatic Wage Decrease in Some Industries.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Official figures issued today show the cost of living on Jan. 1 was 165 per cent. above pre-war level. This is a reduction of four points since Dec. 1, and since the latest figures were compiled there has been a further fall. It seems, therefore, that the peak of high prices has been passed and that figures are now definitely on the downgrade.

The information upon which these figures are based is collected by managers of labor exchanges from 5,500 leading retailers in working-class neighborhoods in 632 towns. The articles selected include beef, mutton, bacon, fish, flour, bread, potatoes, tea, sugar, milk, butter, margarine, cheese and eggs. Rent, clothing, fuel and light are also considered.

In a number of industries agreements are in existence by which the rate of wages paid varies according to the cost of living. Under the railway agreement there is an increase or decrease of a shilling weekly in wages for each rise or fall of five points in the figures, with a fixed minimum of 100 per cent. over pre-war rates. But as wages are regulated by the General Wages Board in March, June, September and December there can be no change in this industry before April.

In all the industries concerned it is estimated that the wages of about 1,500,000 workers are affected by an increase or decrease in the cost of living.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 19.—The pressure continues high throughout the East and Southeast States and low in all Western districts. There has been a marked change to warmer weather since Tuesday over the great central valley, the Plains States and the region of the Great Lakes, and there was a slight moderation in the intense cold in the Eastern States Wednesday.

There have been general rains west of the Rocky Mountains and light rains in the upper Mississippi Valley and the upper lake regions. Fair weather was the rule in other parts of the country.

The outlook is for generally fair weather Thursday and Friday in the States east of the Mississippi River, but with considerable cloudiness in the Northern States. The weather will be much warmer Thursday and Friday throughout the East and Southeastern States, the upper Ohio Valley and the lower lake regions.

FORECAST FOR TODAY AND FRIDAY.

New England, Eastern New York—Unsettled and much warmer Thursday and Friday.
New Jersey—Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday and Friday.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

SITE BOUGHT FOR LINCOLN SCHOOL

PLAN $1,000,000 BUILDING

New Site Selected to Be Near Teachers College, the Parent Organization.

The property on the north side of 123d Street, between Morningside and Amsterdam Avenues, reported to have been purchased by Rockefeller interests, has been bought, it was announced yesterday, by the General Education Board as a site for the new Lincoln School building. The General Education Board was established by John D. Rockefeller, and it has done a great deal of work in educational development.

Plans for the new school structure are being prepared by the architects, Starrett & Van Vleck. The building will be, it is said, from six to ten stories in height, definite plans not having yet been settled. The cost will be about $1,000,000. The Lincoln School is closely affiliated with Teachers College, one of Columbia University's affiliated organizations. Dr. Otis W. Caldwell of Teachers College is the Director of Lincoln School, and the 123d Street site was chosen as being more accessible to the educational facilities in the neighborhood of the Columbia buildings.

Lincoln School now occupies the former Charlton School building on Park Avenue, near Sixty-seventh Street, and the abutting house at 54 East Sixty-seventh Street. Several months ago a site for a larger structure was acquired at the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and 102d Street, the plot comprising six lots. Title was taken in the name of the Empire Mortgage Company, which has acted as the holding company for many of the Rockefeller properties, and that company will retain the property. Plans were filed for improving the Fifth Avenue site with a five-story building, but recently the interests associated with the school felt that a location nearer the parent organization would be preferable, and the result was the purchase of the 123d Street property.

The property includes seventeen lots fronting 425 feet, being the greater part of the northerly block front between Morningside and Amsterdam Avenues opposite the northerly extremity of Morningside Park.

Bronx Borough Sales.

The six-story apartment house at 294 and 296 East 143d Street, on a plot 50 by 110 feet, has been sold by Neuer & Cohen to an investor. The brokers were Henry S. Kirschner and the Sherman Brokerage Company.

J. Clarence Davies sold for Cornelius B. Fish the lot, 25 by 100, on the west side of Courtlandt Avenue, 100 feet north of 149th Street. A two-story business building will be erected.

The two-family house at 1,641 Garfield Street, in the Van Nest section, has been sold by Laumenster & Herrmann.

The five-story flat at 1,423 Wilkins Avenue, plot 40.8 by 130.7, has been purchased by Bernhard Mayer from the Handley Realty Company.

The six-story flat at 899 Elton Avenue, plot 31.9 by 124.8, has been purchased by Louis Kirshan from John Greundler.

Activity in Brooklyn.

The three-story dwelling at 491 Fourth Street has been sold by E. T. Newman to a client for occupancy.

Edward B. Kegel sold the Brooklyn Garage, at 43 and 45 Concord Street, near Washington Street, for Joseph Samet.

The Clinton Trading Corporation has sold to Charles T. Namur the house and garage at 315 Avenue M.

The Bulkley & Horton Company sold the dwelling at 141 Clermont Avenue, between Myrtle and Park Avenues, on a lot 25 by 100, for Anna Bene.

Plan $1,000,000 Club House.

Plans are being perfected by the Parnassus Club of 613 West 115th Street for the erection of a fifteen-story clubhouse on Fifty-seventh Street, just west of Ninth Avenue, for the accommodation of 600 nurses, teachers and business women. The new structure is estimated to cost $1,000,000.

The Parnassus Realty Corporation at present operates two clubhouses, largely in the interest of music, literary and art students. The first was opened in September, 1919, the second in July, 1920.

Adds to Roslyn Estate.

Charles C. Auchincloss, who recently purchased the "Big House" property at Roslyn, has added to his estate by purchasing nineteen additional acres adjoining his present holdings, giving him sixty acres. Cocks & Willets negotiated the deal. The same brokers were associated with John R. Hill of Westbury in the sale of Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's property at Jericho.

BUSINESS PROPERTY DEALS.

Tenants Buy Loft—Broadway Corner Bought by Childs Co.

The five-story and basement brick loft building at 233 Water Street, between Beekman Street and Peck Slip, has been sold by Daniel A. O'Sullivan and Valentine Lynch to the present tenants, Heefch & Fibbert, builders and contractors. The structure, which occupies a plot 16.8 by 74 feet, was held at $75,000. George R. Read & Co. negotiated the sale.

William A. White & Sons sold for Frank E. Page the eight-story warehouse occupying a plot 46 by 108 feet at 288 and 289 West Street to T. Ficke, Jr., Inc.

The five-story building, 25 by 100, at 25 Mangin Street, has been sold by the Central Union Trust Company to Luis Lebowitz.

The building, 14 by 25, at 78 Delancey Street has been bought by Joseph Adelson from the Lef Realty Corporation.

The eleven-story loft building on a plot 40 by 98.9 at 109 West Twenty-seventh Street, near Sixth Avenue, is to be taken over by the newly incorporated 109 West Twenty-seventh Street Company, H. and R. Kirschner and P. Kulowsky, directors. The owner of record is Julie G. Wolff.

The Childs Company is the buyer of the five-story apartment and store at the southeast corner of Broadway and Sixty-fifth Street, recently reported sold. The buyers now conduct a restaurant at 1,958 Broadway, a block distant.

New Jersey Buyers.

Elizabeth E. Peer has sold to Julia E. James the residence fronting on Forest Street, Montclair, plot 45 by 150. The sale was negotiated through the Simpson-Merrit Company.

Frederick K. Day, executor of the estate of William T. Day, has sold through Louis Schlesinger, Inc., the business buildings at the northwest corner of Central Avenue and Plane Street, known as 91 to 95 Central Avenue and 143 to 147 Plane Street. The purchaser was Joseph D. Samuelson. The plot has a frontage of 105 feet on Central Avenue and a frontage of 60 feet on Plane Street.

Tenement Investments.

Morris Florea sold for Anna C. Schwarz to a client the six-story new law tenement house at 403 East 100th Street.

The five-story flat, on a plot 25.1 by 100, at 2,764 Eighth Avenue, southeast corner of 147th Street, has been sold by the Peter Doelger Brewing Company to Michael J. Sullivan.

Maud H. Goetz, as executrix, has sold to Fannie Born the two four-story tenements, on a plot 40 by 65, at 1,103 and 1,105 Second Avenue, northeast corner of Fifty-eighth Street, for $50,000.

Commercial Leases.

Powers & Mayer, diamond dealers, have leased for ten years space in the sixteen-story Banks Building, under construction at 58 to 64 West Fortieth Street. Frederick Fox & Co. were the brokers.

Chester D. Clark has leased a suite of offices to John H. Faunce, Inc., at 8-10 Bridge Street, for the Chesebrough Building Company.

A store at 77 Fifth Avenue has been leased by Meltzer & Co. for Tarr & Kaminsky to the Penn Hosiery and Underwear Company.

$500,000 Fifth Avenue Lease.

The building at 381 Fifth Avenue, now occupied by the Cammeyer shoe firm, has been leased by that concern to J. Edman & Bro., of 487 Fifth Avenue, dealers in women's wear. Cammeyer is erecting a new building on the site of the former residence of Cornelius Vanderbilt at 677 Fifth Avenue.

Brett & Goode Company negotiated the lease for Cammeyer. The aggregate rent will approximate about $500,000.

Recent Buyers.

PRIVATE HOUSE SALES.

West Side Demand Active—Purchase in Turtle Bay Area.

The four-story dwelling at 34 West Seventy-sixth Street, plot 18 by 102.2 has been sold for Patty Hammond Jarman, wife of Dr. George W. Jarman, by C. Royce Hubert. It has been the Jarman residence for twenty-three years.

Frank B. Haubert of the office of Edward C. H. Vogler has sold for the estate of Priscilla P. Starin the three-story dwelling at 109 West Ninety-third Street on lot 17 by 107, to Charles Minder.

The Duland & Whiting-Benjamin Corporation has sold through Slawson & Hobbs to Arthur E. Cushman of Hartford the four-story house, 20 by 100.5, at 241 East Forty-eighth Street, in the Turtle Bay Gardens. This sale disposes of all but two of the twenty-one houses in that development.

Frederick A. Clark has sold to Samuel J. Kopetzky 51 West Seventy-third Street, a four-story dwelling, 20 by 102.2.

Clara Bernhart has sold to Max Lowenthal the three-story dwelling, 18.9 by 99.11, at 39 West 127th Street.

The five-story residence at 303 West 106th Street, a plot 18 by 100 feet, has been sold by John T. Umberfield to a physician. It was held at $50,000.

Apartment Deals.

The seven-story San Salvador apartment house at 2 West Ninety-eighth Street, on a plot 50.11 by 100 feet, southwest corner of Central Park West, has been purchased by Frances Marcus from Louis and Hannah Kahn.

The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank sold through Thomas J. O'Reilly the five-story flat at 101 East 123d Street, northeast corner of Park Avenue, on a plot 35 by 100. The property was held at $50,000.

Buys Greenwich Village Home.

The three-story dwelling at 30 Grove Street has been sold by the Laughlin estate to Miss M. B. Miller, who will remodel the house for occupancy. The house has a frontage of 20.10 feet between Bedford and Bleecker Streets. Dunlap & Lloyd were the brokers in the sale.

Sells $175,000 Syosset Estate.

The estate owned by Robert H. Simpson at Syosset, L. I., on the east side of the Syosset-Oyster Bay Turnpike, known as Berry Hill Road, has been sold by Henry A. Rogers of the Wheatley Hills Real Estate Corporation. The property contains twenty-seven acres. The residence was built in 1916 from plans by Foster & Garde for Mrs. Robert Hager, and was sold to Mr. Simpson in 1917. There are also a gate house, gardener's cottage, garage and farm buildings. The property has a view of the Sound and is east of and opposite Henry P. Chilton's country estate and also adjoins the holdings of Mortimer Schiff and Walter Farwell. It was held at $175,000.

Deals in Queens Borough.

Downs-Tompkins, Inc., has taken title to the garage at 19-23 North Washington Street, Jamaica. The property was sold by Baker Brothers. Ira L. Terry was the broker in the sale.

Three lots, each 20 by 113.6 feet, on the east side of Spruce Street, 150 feet south of Jerome Street, Richmond Hill, have been purchased by A. J. Clancy from Florence M. Hartough. The broker was William P. Jones.

Home Title Company Election.

At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders of the Home Title Insurance company officers were re-elected as follows: Henry J. Davenport, President and General Manager; Alexander G. Calder, Vice President; D. S. Coe, Vice President and Secretary; Dwight Comstock, Vice President and Treasurer; Edward S. Bancroft, Vice President; Harry Grattan, Chairman Executive Committee; Edwin M. Lockwood, solicitor.

This is Own Your Home Day on the Thrift Week program throughout the country. In this city realty interests will direct the program. Speeches in Y. M. C. A. auditoriums, schools, factories and other places will emphasize the importance of investing in realty and living under one's own shelter.

$700,000 Cliff Street Loan.

The Title Guarantee and Trust Company loaned $700,000 to the Schieren Realty Company on the Charles A. Schieren Company realty holdings, being the block front on the west side of Cliff Street, between Beekman and Ferry Streets, having a frontage of 287, 164.3 and 186.1 feet, respectively.

LEGAL ADVERTISEMENTS.

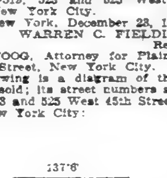
In pursuance of an interlocutory judgment of partition and sale, duly made herein and bearing date the 16th day of December, 1920, and entered in the office of the Clerk of New York County on December 20, 1920, I, the undersigned, the Referee in said interlocutory judgment named, will sell at public auction, at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on the 24th day of January, 1921, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by HENRY BRADY, auctioneer, the premises directed by said interlocutory judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

ALL those several lots of land, with the improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan, City, County and State of New York, and bounded as follows: BEGINNING at a point in the Northerly line of West 45th Street, 250 feet westerly from the West side of Tenth Avenue; running thence westerly along said North line of 45th Street 137 feet 6 inches; thence northerly parallel with Tenth Avenue 100 feet 5 inches; thence Easterly and parallel with 45th Street 137 feet 6 inches; thence southerly 100 feet 5 inches to the point or place of beginning, be said several distances and dimensions more or less. Being premises known as Nos. 517-519, 523 and 525 West 45th Street, New York City.

Dated, New York, December 23, 1920.
WARREN C. FIELDING, Referee.
HENRY WOOG, Attorney for Plaintiff, 46 Cedar Street, New York City.

The following is a diagram of the property to be sold; its street numbers are Nos 517, 519, 523 and 525 West 45th Street, Manhattan, New York City:



Nos. 517-519, 523-525 W. 45th St.

Said premises will be sold subject to the following:

All violations filed by the City of New York or any of its Departments or Bureaus as well as those filed by the State of New York or any Department thereof, and proceedings taken thereunder; 3 leases, two to Charles E. Lumb, dated respectively February 10, 1919, and April 30, 1919, and one to W. J. Kells Mfg. Co., dated February 8, 1916, and to monthly tenancies; party wall agreement recorded in the office of the Register of New York County in Liber 1169 of Conveyances, page 851.

The approximate amount of the taxes, assessments and water rates which are to be paid by the Referee is $7,200.48 and interest. The Referee will also pay off and discharge the mortgage held by Emigrants Industrial Savings Bank upon which there is due $11,750 and interest.

Dated, New York, December 23, 1920.
WARREN C. FIELDING, Referee.

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT Court for the Southern District of New York—PARKS BROTHERS & ROGERS, Inc., Complainant, against W. REED WILLIAMS, Inc., Defendant, In Equity No. E19-152.

To the Creditors of the W. Reed Williams, Inc., defendant: TAKE NOTICE that I have been appointed and have qualified as receiver of the above-named defendant pursuant to a decree made by this Court and duly entered in the above-entitled action on the 19th day of October, 1920, and that thereafter on the 18th day of January, 1921, an order was made herein relative to the limiting of time for filing of claims, and that said decree contains the following provisions:

"Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed, that all creditors who have not heretofore filed claims against this defendant are ordered and directed to file with Messrs. Zalkin & Cohen, solicitors for the receiver herein, at their office, No. 49 Chambers Street, on or before the 19th day of April, 1921, a duly sworn statement of all of any of such claims as they, the said creditors, may have or assert against the defendant, and such statements shall be verified before an officer authorized to administer oaths by the laws of the State where said claim is verified, and that such statements of claim shall, where the same is evidenced by written instrument, have such written instrument attached thereto; and it is further

"Ordered, Adjudged and Decreed, that all such creditors as shall fail to file their claims with the said receiver as herein provided and within the time herein fixed, shall be debarred from any share of, in and to the property of the said defendant, and shall not be entitled to receive any share thereof or the proceeds thereof."

YOU ARE REQUIRED, pursuant to the provisions of the said decree, to file claims with the undersigned's solicitors at their office, No. 49 Chambers Street, Borough of Manhattan, City of New York, on or before the 19th day of April, 1921.

Dated, January 19th, 1921.
MAX LOWENTHAL, Receiver, No. 37 Wall Street, New York City.
EHLERMANN, WRIGHT & ABBOTT, and ZALKIN & COHEN, Solicitors for Receiver, No. 49 Chambers Street, New York City.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE United States for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania—In equity—GUARANTY TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, as Trustee, Complainant, vs. SEABOARD STEEL & MANGANESE CORPORATION, Defendant. June Session, 1919. No. 1947.

NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given that the said Court on January 17, 1921, entered an Order in said cause that the sale of the mortgaged property of the above named defendant to the Noteholders Committee of the Seaboard Steel & Manganese Corporation for $75,000 be confirmed at 10 A. M. Wednesday, January 26, 1921, unless exceptions are filed in said Court on or before that date.

MORTGAGE LOANS.

5½ MONEY

We have just received from a lender whose funds are non-taxable an acceptance of a Manhattan mortgage loan at 5½% for 5 years, and will favorably entertain further similar applications of medium or large size on high grade apartments or business buildings.

This does not imply that a 5½% general market rate has been reached—it has not—but an exceptional rate for exceptional security, not exceeding 40% of market value as in the case cited. Manhattan only. Reasonable charges.

RAISE YOUR OWN SALARY
BY WORKING FOR YOURSELF.
If your employer offered you $10 a week more to work FOR HIM an extra hour a day, you'd accept, and do that extra work to increase HIS earnings. Why not put in that hour a day WORKING FOR YOURSELF, increasing YOUR earnings and earning power? An hour a day of your spare time can train you in a few months as a
and in twelve or fifteen months a
SENIOR ACCOUNTANT.
Let's talk it over. Call day or evening, or phone or write.

EXTREME REDUCTIONS.

SEDAN—This little 1919 Studebaker 5-pass. sedan was taken in part payment for a new big 7-pass. Studebaker. We have reconditioned this sedan like new, and it is indeed a beautiful and economical ALL-YEAR car. Priced $1,200 under new car list, this week only.

CLUB ROADSTER—Priced like a straw hat in December, this late 1919 Studebaker Light Six Cyl., 4-passenger roadster is our most popular Spring model. We could sell this car at a good profit in two or three weeks, but our plan of selling used cars will not permit us to do this, so we offer you a MOST PROFITABLE INVESTMENT if you act quick.

NASH—Small 1919 5-pass. touring; used very little and looks brand new. Equipment includes five wheels, bumper, &c. Extreme reduction. Price $1,075. This week only.

ECONOMICAL FAMILY CAR—A beautiful 1919 Studebaker touring, equipped with two extra auxiliary chairs accommodating seven passengers. Refinished a Brewster green body with black fenders and trim; genuine hand buffed leather upholstery that shows absolutely no wear; top like new, and motor and all moving parts overhauled. This Factory Reconditioned car offers every advantage of a brand new car at substantial reduction.

MOON — This 1919 5-passenger touring looks like $3,000, runs like $1,500 and can be bought for $875. Refinished and equipped with white wire wheels. Quick action is needed to get this bargain.

BRAND NEW—Driven only 2,100 miles, this late 1920 Studebaker Big Six touring offers a prospective new car buyer an unusual opportunity to secure a new car at a used-car valuation.

MAXWELL—Late 1920 touring in exceptional condition, $575.

LIMOUSINE—This 1919 Studebaker Big Six limousine is a very beautiful custom-built job, and was built specially for one of the Directors of the Studebaker Corporation of America. If you or any of your friends want a chauffeur-driven enclosed car, this Reconditioned Like New Limousine offers exceptional value. Priced $1,450 below new car list.

ROADSTER—$575 buys this very popular 3-passenger Studebaker model, thoroughly overhauled and refinished a dark blue body with black fenders and trim. You could not duplicate this car elsewhere for $700.

CHARGE FAVORITISM TO SHIPPING BOARD

Witness Says M. J. Gillen Sought to Help Companies in Which He Became Interested.

FACED $15,000,000 LOSS

Colonel Abadie Submits 50,000-Word Statement to Shipping Board Investigators.

Losses running from $15,000,000 to $16,000,000 would have been sustained by the United States Shipping Board had the instructions of Martin J. Gillen, formerly Special Assistant to Chairman John Barton Payne and William S. Benson been complied with, according to the testimony of Colonel Eugene H. Abadie, formerly General Controller, given yesterday to the Congressional Committee on Shipping Board Operations at the Hotel Pennsylvania. He said Gillen had demanded that he sign a typewritten certification for payments of millions to former owners of hulls requisitioned for war purposes. When he declined, Colonel Abadie said, Gillen threatened to oust him.

The attack on the former assistant to Judge Payne and Admiral Benson was made at a dramatic moment. Mr. Gillen appeared in the midst of the attack and asked permission to explain details of the transactions. Chairman Walsh said it was not the practice of the committee to interrupt the testimony of witnesses, but he was willing to hear Mr. Gillen later. Outside the committee room Mr. Gillen gave a brief statement answering the attack.

Abadie Makes 50,000-Word Statement.

Colonel Abadie read into the record a 50,000-word statement. He said:

"The first unpleasant incident arose as a result of the attempt to settle requisition claims. Martin J. Gillen, then Special Assistant to Chairman John Barton Payne, early in December, 1919, telephoned me to appear at his office at 3 o'clock to certify to some records. I was presented with a number of typewritten certifications carrying payments of millions to former owners of requisitioned hulls and I was requested to sign on the dotted line.

"I tried to explain that I was not satisfied that these records were correct and that I would not sign them until I was satisfied that they were correct. Mr. Gillen lost his temper and demanded that if I intended to continue as General Controller these certificates would have to be certified to before 6 o'clock, to which I refused until I was shown from whom the figures were obtained and how.

"I was then presented a sheet which was made up by Mr. Gillen and his several assistants, the figures on which they finally admitted were obtained by telephone from the Philadelphia office of the General Controller. I found that no letter or statement supporting these figures had ever been received and that no letter of request had been made of the General Controller's department by Mr. Gillen or the other parties present which would explain the purpose of the figures. I then refused absolutely to have anything to do with the certification until I had made a complete investigation. I was persuaded to meet them that evening at 8 o'clock for a further discussion. In the meantime I communicated with the Philadelphia office and found that my contentions were substantiated. As a matter of fact, the investigation disclosed that it was necessary for us to write to all the former owners to obtain their sworn statements as to the progress payments they paid to ship contractors, and we likewise wrote to the contractors and obtained their sworn statements of what they received from the former owner in the way of progress payments before we could straighten out and adjust these payments.

"To prevent a condition of this kind arising in the future a general order, requiring all statements issued in the future to be properly identified, was issued by me."

Faced $15,000,000 Loss.

"How long after your refusal to certify to these settlements was it that they were actually made and completed?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"From thirty to sixty days," said Colonel Abadie.

"How many millions would the Shipping Board have lost if you had certified to these claims when the demand was first made," next asked the chairman.

"From $15,000,000 to $16,000,000," replied the witness.

In an effort to finish with the witness the committee found it necessary to continue the hearing last night, when Colonel Abadie took up the transactions between the Shipping Board, the Nafra Company, Inc., the Green Star Steamship Company and the Imperial Steamship Company. His testimony intimated that Mr. Gillen had used his efforts while connected with the Shipping Board to have favors shown to these companies.

Asked if he knew whether any former official of the board was connected with these companies the witness said he knew from hearsay that a former official of the board was connected with some of these shipping concerns. The inference was that he referred to Mr. Gillen, now adviser to Joseph Mercadante, President of the Nafra Company, Inc., as well as the Green Star Steamship Company.

An overpayment of $873,849 was made to the Nafra Company, Inc., according to Colonel Abadie, in the settlement of claims made by that company for three ships requisitioned in October, 1917, from the Imperial Shipping Company, which it controlled. Before these vessels were requisitioned and allocated to the army in 1918, he explained, they made two trips to Italy on account of their owners. The Imperial Shipping Company retained part of the receipts from these voyages, and the Shipping Board collected the balance direct from the Italian Government.

Subsequently the Nafra Company claimed this revenue because the Shipping Board had not taken possession of these vessels. A controversy followed and pending its settlement the Nafra Company bought a number of Shipping Board vessels.

Credit to Nafra Company.

The witness said that under a compromise resolution presented by Commissioner Scott on Nov. 28, 1919, a credit of $1,884,467 was granted to the Nafra Company to be applied to the purchase price of the board's vessels. This sum represented the full credit for freights which the Nafra Company was unable to collect. From this amount $711,868 was deducted as charter hire for the requisitioned ships.

In the purchase agreement it was stipulated that the board should pay the Nafra Company from and after Jan. 1, 1920, $4.15 per deadweight ton a month on all three ships which had not been delivered, as a penalty for their detention. The terms of the sale agreement were again changed largely through Mr. Gillen, according to the witness.

Colonel Abadie said he retired from the Controller's office on April 1 last, and on April 16 following, he asserted, Gillen pleaded with the board for more liberal terms to the Green Star Line on fourteen ships which it previously had purchased. He proposed that the Green Star Line should not be required to pay any instalments due within a period of two years, according to the witness.

On April 21, 1920, according to the witness, Gillen offered a resolution which was carried, providing that the Shipping Board should take over the Green Star Line contract for five ships from the Standifer Construction Company, and agree to sell these vessels back to the Green Star Line at cost. He said that the Government agreed further to pay the Equitable Trust Company $1,350,000 in liquidation of loans advanced to the Green Star Line.

Colonel Abadie said that on April 22 last Gillen disclosed that the Standifer Construction Company had purchased from the Emergency Fleet Corporation at half price building materials for the five ships that were being constructed for the Green Star Line, and that he had ordered that the Standifer Construction Company should receive only enough money to complete the work pending a final settlement.

The witness said Gillen had urged the board to refund to the Green Star Line all the payments it had made on the five ships to the Standifer Construction Company, and that the vessels, when completed, be allocated to the Green Star Line as managing agents for the board to operate them for the Government's account. The suggestion was followed.

The committee will continue its hearing this morning at 9 o'clock at the Hotel Pennsylvania.

National Thrift Week

Let This be the Inaugural Week of a 52-Week Campaign of Prosperity Building.

This letter is meant particularly for the big business man and the employer, but we hope everybody will read it.

But a little more than a year ago business seemed to be on the boom as it never had been before. Retail buying was so abnormal as to be unprecedented. Commodity prices were at or near maximum. We wondered how we were ever going to build enough houses to shelter all of our people. There did not seem to be enough labor to keep the ordinary machinery going to supply the needs of routine.

All of this is changed now.

We have all had our troubles—everybody, from the big corporation to the small merchant.

Only yesterday I saw in the newspapers that the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. had to cut their employment to five days per week.

Even those of us whose business had nothing to do with war work, and who thought we were merely spectators, found ourselves plunged into the whirlpool.

Speaking figuratively, some of us were in a crowded grandstand which collapsed.

Some of us were kicked down the stairs.

Some of us were thrown out of the window.

Some of us don't know yet whether we have reached the street level, or by what route we are going to get there.

And some of us don't know whether we are going to be able to choose our route of descent or whether some unforeseen happening will select it for us.

But, after all, did you ever imagine that there could be such a let-down, and yet so little real damage done?

We may not all be down to the street level yet, but we can't have much further to go—and in most cases we will have a chance to walk down stairs rather than be pushed out of a window.

We know that many commodity prices have gone below the cost of production, and sooner or later they are bound to come back.

We know that investment securities were dragged down into the sub-cellar, but are gradually and surely coming back. We know that speculative securities were dragged down to unbelievable levels—and that in spite of the fact that many of the most experienced heads believed long ago that these securities had reached levels that must inevitably produce a panic that no power could stop—and yet they have literally bounded back to much higher levels.

We know that relief has come within a few weeks to our banking situation that most bankers would not have dared to expect in an equal number of months.

All of which means that the inherent soundness of our financial system and institutions and our industrial and mercantile institutions have been subjected to the test of a storm of such severity that nothing like it will probably ever again be experienced—and in spite of the severity of the storm no serious damage has been done.

Well, we know now that we were in an unreal period a year ago; and we will know a year from today that we were in an unreal period today.

Retail buying has fallen off until many merchants are as apprehensive now about the future as many Wall Street people were a month ago. Some commodities are at the lowest price of all history. Vacant houses are to be found here and there in every neighborhood. Not only is there plenty of labor to be had, but there are hundreds of thousands of men out of employment.

Now, let's stop and think a minute. There were plenty of black clouds in the sky a year ago, but we were not trying to see them. There are plenty of bright spots in the sky today, but some of us are not trying to see them—and there is not a single cloud in the sky today that has not a silver lining.

A year ago we faced a wave of radicalism that an overstrained labor market had crystalized into an ever present menace.

Today we suffer from a wave of crime largely accentuated by unemployment and are threatened with radicalism of a type which is sure to spring from a long period of unemployment.

But there is no reason to have a long period of unemployment.

A year ago we had not the time to listen to wise counsel.

Today we will give careful thought to any earnest man.

We can make many of our apparent troubles solve each other.

Wisdom, caution and determination are becoming as much the order of today as intolerance and recklessness was the order of the day which brought about our present situation.

Therefore, many of us believe that Thrift and Investment is the answer. I will try to tell you some of the reasons why tomorrow.

In the meantime, try and name, if you can, a single problem that this country faces that would not be entirely solved, or greatly simplified, if we could make everybody thrifty and get them to invest what they save in the mercantile and industrial institutions that not only furnish us with the many comforts of life but also furnish employment for a large portion of our population as well.

Yours cordially,

HENRY L. DOHERTY

CORK, Jan. 20.—Crown forces today officially added to the demolished area in Cork City by the destruction of two large business houses in Washington Street in the vicinity of the attack on a detective last Saturday. At 11 o'clock this morning large parties of military and police entered Washington Street in lorries and cut off an area of a mile radius which comprises thriving business districts. Every person within the cordon was ordered to the Court House. Assistants were marched there from their shops and all were searched, while the staffs of the corporation, County Council and Crown offices in the Court House, after being searched, were ordered to leave the building and not return. Meanwhile notices were served on Anthony Higgins, a grocer in Washington Street, and the occupants over the premises of Mr. Macari, an ice cream manufacturer, that their premises were to be destroyed. They received an hour to clear out the furniture, &c. In the latter house three families lived and in the former, the owner of which is a brother of Patrick Higgins, Sinn Fein Alderman of the Corporation, there were many boarders.

When the hour had expired the military entered and placed high explosives in various parts of the two houses. At 1 45 P. M. the first explosion took place and was followed by others at frequent intervals until after 3 o'clock. At 5 o'clock the military withdrew. Both houses internally were reduced to ruins and only the main walls are now standing. Electric cables in the street were disconnected by order of the military and tram cars did not run while the operations were performed. The adjoining premises suffered and altogether five shops are destroyed or partially so.

It is stated that shots were fired at the police forces from houses in this neighborhood on Saturday evening.

Cork City undoubtedly is suffering the full penalties for its extremists' activities and further restrictions on citizens generally come into force on next Saturday when by order of General Willis curfew hours on Saturday and Sunday until further notice will be from 5 P. M. to 3 A. M.

A mile and a half from the city last night two policemen made a sensational discovery of arms and ammunition. They noticed loose stones in a wall and removing these found they concealed the opening to a big cavity. Military and police assistance having been procurred the excavations were searched and disclosed four rifles, eleven shotguns, 850 rounds of ammunition, ten helmets, yards of fuse, powder and considerable equipment of a military nature. The shotgun cartridges among the ammunition had been refilled with slugs.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—News reached Dublin this afternoon of a disastrous ambush of police in County Clare in which the whole of the patrol appears to have been either killed or wounded. The police in a car were attacked at Glenwood near Six Mile Bridge. District Inspector Clarke, who was in charge; a sergeant and four constables were killed and a sergeant and a constable wounded. The car was burned and the arms of the party were taken. I am informed the scene of the attack is in fairly open country with a bog on one side of the road.

One of the bravest men in the Royal Irish Constabulary was shot dead this afternoon, a few yards from the doors of the police barracks at Listowel, County Kerry. This was District Inspector Tobias O'Sullivan, whose death recalls his gallant defense of the police barracks at Kilmallock in May last. Attacked by Republican forces estimated to number between 200 and 300 the siege was conducted with rifles, guns, bombs and incendiary materials and lasted five hours. By that time the building was blazing, two of the garrison of ten had been killed and others wounded, and the second floor had collapsed. O'Sullivan ordered the remnants of his party to fix bayonets and led a last hope charge against the attackers, who promptly fled.

For his plucky action he was promoted to Head Constable on the following day and decorated with the police medal for bravery. Since then he has risen to a District Inspectorship.

As a result of repeated attacks on Government motor cars conveying Crown forces and other persons in the city and district, Colonel Oldman, the competent military authority here, announces that should these outrages continue "known rebels" will be carried as hostages for the safe conduct of the occupants of such vehicles.

Court Rules Volstead Act Is Not Above State Law

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 20.—The Virginia Supreme Court overruled today contentions of counsel for Edward Allen of Newport News that the Volstead Prohibition Enforcement act superseded State prohibition laws and that therefore the State courts were without authority to enforce the State laws.

Allan D. Jones, counsel for Allen, announced that the case would be appealed to the United States Supreme Court. The point raised is regarded by attorneys as one of the most important in connection with State enforcement of prohibition.

Allen was convicted in the Corporation Court at Newport News for violating the State law. His counsel appealed the case, contending that, since there was a Federal prohibition enforcement statute, the Federal courts alone had jurisdiction and that the case should have been transferred to the Federal District Court.

BRIAND TO GERMANY: 'DISARM AND PAY'

Premier Deprecates Force to Execute Treaty, but Asserts French Ability to Use It.

WON'T INTERVENE IN RUSSIA

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—M. Aristide Briand, the new French Premier, laid his ministerial program before the Chamber of Deputies today for approval and for four hours had to listen to speeches of advice and warning from all sides of the house as to what path he must tread if he was to obtain the support he needed. At the end of the four hours the Chamber, thoroughly weary, adjourned the discussion until tomorrow. Then, it is expected, M. Briand will obtain a good majority; but it will be a majority which has made mental reservations and with which he will have to deal with the utmost skill. The most criticism, and the most significant, came from Poincaré's supporters in the Centre and on the Right of the Chamber, and all their speeches were made with the obvious intention of stiffening the new Government for its dealings next week with Lloyd George.

The Ministerial declaration which M. Briand read to the Chamber this afternoon neatly dodged the all-important question of how and what the new Government would try to make Germany pay. It contains no statement of that plan for lack of which Premier Leygues was overthrown. This can have only one meaning, and that is that Briand will wait until he talks with Lloyd George next week before making up his mind as to the system he will favor.

Varying Comment in the French Press.

The French press today is all at sea over the reparation question. One part of it says that Briand will stick to his intention to fix the total of the indemnity by May 1, and another part says he will favor leaving the determination of the total until another time, insisting only on Germany's promising now to make five annual payment of 3,000,000,000 marks gold each.

It is learned that the allied experts who attended the Brussels Conference have submitted a report recommending the annual payment system. However, this decision was reached over the opposition of the British delegates, and inasmuch as about a dozen reparation plans prepared by experts have been drafted and thrown away, it is apparent that the whole matter hinges on the Premiers' meeting, and it must be remembered that Lloyd George has many times said that Great Britain would guarantee the collection of the indemnity only if France consented to fix a definite and reasonable total.

One has only to read Briand's declaration to recognize his refusal to face squarely today the question which is the most pressing one in Europe.

"We have a treaty of peace with Germany," he said in his declaration of foreign policy, "but we have not yet peace—real peace, the only peace which can be solid and durable; a peace of justice and morality which will consecrate the essential rights and assure the security of France.

"We will obtain this indispensable security only if Germany disarms. That is for our country the vital question which imposes itself upon the Government as the first and most sacred duty. We will not fail.

"The reconstruction of our ravaged soil and our destroyed industries and the balancing of our finances will be possible only if Germany executes the reparation which the Treaty of Versailles imposes upon her. To this end our allies will give us their aid.

"We ask it of them in the name of right and justice, for which we fought, for which we conquered."

Concerning the agreement with Belgium, the Premier said:

"The unquestioned interest which led us to link ourselves with noble Belgium by a military agreement for our common defence has paved the way in spite of differences for our customs régime's conclusion of economic accord. A union between the French and Belgians, cemented by their sacrifices, is as desirable for the economic development of the two countries as for their common security.

"Our relation with our friends and allies of Central Europe will continue to inspire warm sentiment, born of the war, in which we fought for the triumph of the national aspirations of Poland, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Jugoslavia. We will neglect nothing to obtain strict execution of treaties among

'DRY' ENFORCEMENT PUT UP TO POLICE BY THE GOVERNOR

Miller Will Hold Force Here to Account if State or Federal Acts Are Violated.

DETERMINED ON STATE LAW

HE HINTS AT PRESSURE

His Duty to "Interfere" With Commissioner if Law Is Not Enforced, Says Governor.

Special to the New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—Governor Miller expects to hold the Police Department responsible for the enforcement in New York City of the prohibition amendment and the Volstead act, soon to be supplemented by a State enforcement law provided for in measures now pending before the Legislature.

Since Governor Miller, in his annual message, recommended the enactment of a State law to be administered by local authorities throughout the State and the abolition of the Excise Department, which, even in these days of prohibition, is costing the State nearly $100,000 a year without performing any useful function, many suggestions have reached the Governor indicating a belief that his plan of enforcement will prove impractical and ineffective. Governor Miller has not been impressed by these in the slightest.

The crime wave in New York City and the apparent inability or unwillingness on the part of the Police Department to check it have been advanced by a number of persons who have been in touch with the Governor as proof that his enforcement plan, which would depend for its success on the vigilance of the police, would be ineffective in New York City. Some of the suggestions have come from persons obviously hostile to prohibition, many have come from sincere adherents of prohibition, and still others from politicians who hate to see the Excise Department abolished and profess to believe that, even though the enforcement of the law might be left to local authorities in the smaller communities up State, a special force should be created to administer the new State law in New York City and, possibly, in some of the larger cities up State.

Thinks Present Force Sufficient.

Of course, a vision of incidental patronage may have had something to do with the formation of this last opinion. Governor Miller is not in sympathy with it and does not believe any distinction should be made between New York City and other localities in the enforcement of the Volstead act. He does not think that law enforcement generally in the big city need suffer nor that the police force need be enlarged beyond its present strength, if a little more vigilance is displayed in an honest attempt to stop "bootlegging" and other violations of the "dry" law.

"It will require the placing of a policeman in every saloon," some one said to the Governor recently. The Governor does not believe this any more than that such procedure was required for the discovery of liquor sales during Sunday and after hours under the old Raines law, or any more than it will be necessary, under the Governor's enforcement plan, to place a policeman in every home to stop home brewing. The Governor believes practical and satisfactory ends can be attained by the application of practical methods. Such methods he will expect the Police Department promptly to devise and apply."

"It is not my duty to enforce the law in New York City," Mr. Miller said today to newspaper men. "It is my duty to interfere with the head of the Police Department if the law is not enforced."

He received with a smile, but without comment, the information that an advance guard of the "Blue Brigade" had reached the Capitol with a legislative program involving, among other plans, the repeal of the Sunday Baseball law and the law permitting moving picture exhibitions on Sunday under a local option plan. Friends of the Governor do no share the opinion, held in some quarters, that the "Blues" will make a hit with him.

While Sunday "movies" will require separate treatment, if any serious proposal is brought up for a change in the statute, it is not likely that the Governor will urge any change in the Sunday Baseball law until after he has had a conference with the sporting editors of newspapers throughout the State, who have expressed a desire to confer with him on the general subject of State regulated athletics, including boxing. No date has been fixed for this conference.

A great deal of pressure is constantly being brought to bear for the abolition of Sunday sport exhibitions where gate money is charged and for the outright repeal of the boxing law under which at present fifteen-round bouts, with decision by a referee, are being conducted.

There is a large divergence of opinion, but the preponderance of sentiment in Republican strongholds up-State is in favor of repeal of the boxing law and substantial modification of the law permitting baseball games for which an admission fee is charged on Sunday.

There is a revenue end, however, which the financial straits of the State have enhanced to a degree of importance which it otherwise would not possess. It is not thought likely that this will be wholly overlooked by the Governor, but whether any action will be taken at the present session to make the most of the revenue-producing potentialities of these sports or toward the creation of a State athletic commission to regulate all sports, including racing, as has been suggested, remains undecided.

British Labor Demands Jobs for Unemployed And Resources of Nation to End Destitution

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The executives of the Labor Party and the Trades Union Congress at a joint meeting today approved the sub-committee's composite scheme embodying all the earlier proposals by organized labor on unemployment. The scheme will be submitted to the national conference next Thursday, when labor's policy on unemployment will be laid down.

The Central News understands that the sub-committee's report is not sensational and does not suggest violent methods. It urges that the whole resources of the State must be concentrated on affording complete security against destitution, and that the Government's foremost obligation is to find for every willing worker productive work, whether of hand or brain, at standard rates.

The report blames the Government for failing to impress upon the employers that any attempt to reduce wages or prevent a full day's work at a full day's pay would entail industrial strife.

According to The Daily Herald (labor organ), Thursday's conference will also demand rehabilitation of the stricken European countries and restoration of European trade by the re-establishment of credit.

$260,000 EXPENSES PAID FOR SCHWAB

Col. Abadie Says $100,000 of This Was Listed as Construction Cost.

TELLS OF IRREGULARITIES

E. E. Grace Issues Statement Declaring "Insinuations" to Be "Absolutely Baseless."

Charles M. Schwab was subpoenaed last night to appear before the Congressional Committee on United States Shipping Board Operations at the Hotel Pennsylvania early next week.

The decision to call Mr. Schwab followed the testimony of Colonel Eugene H. Abadie, formerly General Controller of the Shipping Board, who swore that Mr. Schwab's personal expenses, amounting to $260,000 for the month of October, 1918, were charged to the Shipping Board, and that $100,000 of this amount was charged to ship construction by the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

Colonel Abadie said this was one of "a great many serious irregularities" connived at because of Mr. Schwab's official position as Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. The witness said, however, he was satisfied that Mr. Schwab "was ignorant of these alleged irregularities" and would have condemned them had he known the facts.

The alleged irregularities, according to the witness, were brought to light by an audit of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation's books begun at his direction by Perley Morse & Co., certified public accountants. This audit, Colonel Abadie asserted, created so much talk in Shipping Board circles that it subsequently was discontinued, as he believed, largely through the instrumentality of Martin J. Gillen, formerly Special Assistant to Chairman John Barton Payne and Admiral W. S. Benson, Payne's successor. Meanwhile, he said, Bernard M. Baruch told Gillen that the reputation of the Shipping Board administration was jeopardized by its action in calling the auditors off the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation's books, and eventually orders were given for the resumption of the audit in a somewhat modified form.

Says $100,000,000 Could Be Recovered.

Colonel Abadie said he was of the opinion that the Government would have a basis for the recovery of $100,000,000 improperly paid to shipbuilders by the Shipping Board, if the audit were permitted to proceed along the lines specified in his original contract with the certified public accountants.

"The audit as conducted since my resignation last April," said Colonel Abadie, "will not produce the results that would have been produced under my original contract."

"Why will it not produce the evidence?" inquired Chairman Walsh.

"Shortly after my resignation in April, 1920," said the Colonel, "when the auditors were still refused admission to the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation's plants, Admiral Benson had telegraphed that they would pay no sum of money to the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and that the board would charge them with the expense of having these men appear there from day to day. At a confrence called in Washington an agreement was reached between the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation and Perley Morse, whereby Perley Morse would be given five instead of three plants, but they would only audit the plants and labor accounts, while the Shipping Board auditors would audit the overhead in the-main plants. With such a division of responsibility it is impossible to make the results of the two audits tie up."

Colonel Abadie was asked where he had learned of the existence of the voucher of $260,000 for personal expenses of an officer of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation that was charged against the Shipping Board. He said he got his information from Perley Morse.

"What officer?" asked Chairman Walsh.

"Mr. Schwab," replied the witness.

"Was the voucher drawn to Mr. Schwab individually, do you recall?"

"Yes, sir," replied Colonel Abadie.

Charged to Ship Construction.

"Was it a voucher drawn to Mr. Schwab as an officer of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation," asked the Chairman.

"Yes, as I recall it," replied the witness.

Chairman Walsh then tried to learn from the witness whether he did not think it possible that Mr. Schwab's duties as head of the Emergency Fleet Corporation might have involved heavy expenses for traveling and other purposes, which would have amounted to the figure named by the witness. He agreed this was entirely possible.

"Was there anything improper in charging that item of $100,000 to

UNTERMYER ASSAILS PALMER'S RECORD

Says Attorney General Is Incompetent and Should Be Removed.

DENIES ALL HIS CHARGES

Never Asked for Appointment—Contrasts Lockwood Committee With Federal Achievement.

Samuel Untermyer, in a statement issued yesterday, said that the allegations of Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer in his attack published yesterday were "pure fiction" and a "smoke screen" designed to obscure the real issue, the Attorney General's "gross inefficiency and absence of intelligence and political honesty in the administration of two great offices." He continued his attack on Mr. Palmer.

The statement follows:

"In answer to the criticisms of his administration and the demand for an investigation, Mr. Palmer apparently expects to succeed in obscuring the issue and covering his tracks after the familiar fashion of drawing the proverbial red herring across his trail by a personal attack on me, as though that would account for the millions that have been squandered in the non-enforcement of the anti-trust laws or for the use of his office to reward political favorites and build up a political machine to secure his nomination for President.

"In four weeks' time, at a cost of less than $25,000, the Lockwood committee did a hundredfold more to uncover illegal combinations than the Department of Justice did in eight years with its millions of appropriations, and this, although the committee was confined to New York State and to the building trades, while the department had the entire country and every line of endeavor under its jurisdiction and with an army of District Attorneys, investigators and Secret Service men at its disposal.

Says Palmer Should Be Removed.

"It is generous to characterize its record on this subject by no harsher name than incompetence. He ought to be removed from office on his confession alone that he suspended the enforcement of the anti-trust laws during the war. Since when has the Attorney General the right to suspend the enforcement of any part of the criminal laws?

"I am satisfied that a fearless, capable investigation will disclose that literally millions of dollars were distributed to favorites as patronage to lawyers, Directors and the like appointed by him and extrated from the properties of the unfortunates that came into his hands. When he says that the office of Alien Property Custodian was administered for less than $1,000,000 perhaps he forgot about the millions that were directly taken from the owners of these properties and distributed among his appointees.

"It is notorious that at the Democratic Convention the City of San Francisco swarmed with men who were paying their debts by political support and that among them were men who controlled delegations, or parts of delegations, from different States. A large part of Mr. Palmer's support at San Francisco is said to have been made up of patronage beneficiaries.

"I have never had a personal controversy with Mr. Palmer, nor has a harsh or unfriendly word ever passed between us. His assertions on that subject are pure fiction made out of the whole cloth. They are just so much camouflage, but he will not be permitted to escape behind any such 'smoke screen' as that. The issue is not one of personalities but of principle. The honor of our country is involved and must be vindicated.

Charges Answered in Detail.

"Since Mr. Palmer has however seen fit to answer the charges against him by personal abuse of me, perhaps I may be permitted a few words in reply. I cannot find a single assertion in his long statement that has any foundation in fact.

"(1) At no time did the Alien Property Custodian take over any property in which any of my friends and clients were interested. I had no friends or clients whose property was at any time taken over (except upon one occasion under the retainer of General McCarter of New Jersey I acted with him for an American citizen whose property the Alien Property Custodian unsuccessfully tried but failed to take over), never having accepted a single dollar or profited in any way, directly or indirectly, by way of retainer or compensation in any transaction with which the Alien Property Custodian was ever connected; in fact, I purposely refrained from so doing, just as I had declined long before the war to accept representation of the German Embassy or any German interests in this country, because of the desire to be foot-free to help my country if it should thereafter become involved in the war.

"(2) It is not true that I did on many occasions or on any occasion make a re-

SUIT TO BREAK UP CLOTHING WORKERS' UNION BEGUN HERE

Amalgamated Workers Plotting for Rule of the Proletariat, Manufacturers Say.

MENACE TO NATION SEEN

Courts Will Be Asked to Disband 170,000 Members and Forbid Strike.

FEAR SEIZURE OF PROPERTY

President Hillman Says Suit Is Brought to Keep Manufacturers From Yielding to Union.

The Clothing Manufacturers' Association of New York, through Harry A. Gordon, its general counsel, announced last night that it had instituted a suit for the dissolution of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America in New York State. Papers in a suit by the J. Friedman Company, clothing manufacturers, of 708 Broadway were served on Sidney Hillman, President of the union, at 31 Union Square last night. The union has about 170,000 members, the majority of whom are employed in the clothing markets of this city and Rochester.

According to Mr. Gordon, 191 defendants were named in addition to Mr. Hillman, among them Dr. W. M. Leiserson, Impartial Chairman of the Rochester clothing market, who held a similar office here until the break between the manufacturers and the Amalgamated last August.

"A suit has been commenced nominally with J. Friedman & Co., Inc., as plaintiff, but in the interests of the members of the Clothing Manufacturers of New York," Mr. Gordon said in a statement last night. "The suit has been brought, first, for the dissolution of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America on the ground that it is an unlawful combination and conspiracy, organized solely for the purpose of destroying the existing industrial structure in the clothing industry in the United States of America, and for the purpose of wresting and seizing from the employers in the clothing industry all private property, machinery, goods, wares and other means of production of clothing and substituting in place of the existing industrial structure the control, ownership and management of all present means of production by the members of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, and for the purpose of inciting workers generally in all industries in the United States of America to destroy the existing social, political and industrial structures in the United States of America and substituting in lieu and in place thereof the control by and rule of the proletariat, and upon the further ground that the Amalgamated, Clothing Workers of America is committing acts injurious to the public welfare, public morale and to trade and commerce and for the perversion and obstruction of justice and the due administration of the laws of the State of New York.

Want Strikes Forbidden.

"Second—For a permanent injunction restraining the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America from striking against the factories of J. Friedman & Co. and from picketing the factories of that firm and from attempting to persuade the present workers of that firm who have agreed to work on the basis of an open-shop policy to desert their employment, commit breaches of their contracts of employment and to join the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America.

"Third—For the recovery of $500,000 damages claimed to have been suffered by J. Friedman & Co., and, fourth, for a temporary injunction to continue during the pendency of the suit and until a final judgment is awarded."

With the papers in the suit filed yesterday is a formal notice that on Feb. 7 the plaintiff will make a motion in the Supreme Court for an order restraining the defendants from picketing or congregating about the factories owned by the plaintiff or from interfering with persons who would go to and from the places of business of the plaintiff and those who would seek and are willing to work for the plaintiff.

The complaint is a voluminous document and strikes at the foundation of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers. It quotes from the preamble of the union's constitution as follows:

"The industrial and inter-industrial organization, built upon the solid rock of clear knowledge and class consciousness will put the organized working class in actual control of the system of production, and the working class will then be ready to take possession of it."

Charges "Overt Acts."

The complaint, after citing that the J. Friedman Company does an annual business of $10,000,000, then enumerates scores of "overt acts" which, it is alleged, tend to uphold the extract from the preamble of the constitution by abolishing private ownership, and concludes:

"It is respectfully submitted that the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America presents not merely a menace and danger to the plaintiff's business and to the whole clothing industry in the United States, but is a potential danger to all other industries, and not only to the present industrial but the social structure of our country as at present constituted. It is respectfully submitted that an organization whose basic principle is the destruction of our industrial society as at present constituted is in itself a combination and conspiracy which is unlawful.

"The members of the Amalgamated,

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Roland W. Boyden, American observer on the Reparations Commission, said today it was all news to him that the Ambassadorship to France had been offered to him.

"I have not received an offer of the post," he said, "nor have I any idea that it will be offered to me. Certainly up to the present no one has approached me on the subject. I feel justified, therefore, in telling you the report from America is not true."

Mr. Boyden is a Republican. He has served for more than a year as American representative with the Reparations Commission.

WOMEN START FLIGHT WITH HARDING VOTES

Two Nebraska Grandmothers Reach Des Moines on Way to Washington.

DELIGHTED OVER THE TRIP

Grandchildren Greet Mrs. Wheeler on Landing for a Stop Overnight.

Special to The New York Times.

DES MOINES, Jan. 20.—Mrs. H. H. Wheeler of Lincoln, Electoral College delegate, and her alternate, Mrs. Draper Smith of Omaha, both grandmothers, who are carrying to Washington by airplane the eight Republican electoral votes of Nebraska, stopped here this afternoon on the second leg of their journey after having covered 168 miles during the day. They will remain here overnight and resume their flight tomorrow morning at sunrise.

The two planes carrying them left Lincoln this afternoon and quickly reached Omaha, the first stop. After a brief rest the planes took to the air again and flew to Des Moines in 1 hour and 40 minutes.

"Where's Buddy?" was Mrs. Wheeler's first question as her plane came to a stop here. "Buddy," one of her grandchildren, was there waiting for her, as were the others.

The planes were piloted by J. R. Holcomb and Noel Bullock. Mrs. Wheeler carried the dispatch case containing the ballots for Harding and Coolidge strapped to the belt of her flying costume.

The grandchildren of Mrs. Wheeler, Rose, "Buddy," and Hortense, children of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Casady Jr. of Des Moines, who had not seen their grandmother since she visited here last Summer, were in her arms before the camera man could shoot a picture of the landing.

Then Lieutenant Governor John Hammill, Mrs. Frederick W. Weitz, President of the Des Moines Women's Clubs, and Councilmen Miller, Budd and Elliott stepped up and welcomed the women electors.

"It was a fine trip," said Holcomb, pilot of Mrs. Wheeler's plane. "And Mrs. Wheeler was a fine passenger. She wasn't afraid for a minute."

Mrs. Wheeler praised the pilot highly. She wouldn't have her picture taken alone. "The dispatch is first," she said, "and the pilots are next." Before she was out of the plane she had fired a dozen questions at the driver about how it all worked and what made the wheels go. He explained and she said:

"There is a lot more I want to ask you before we start tomorrow."

The pilots expect to reach Washington by Sunday evening, being delayed somewhat by the late start from Omaha. Neither Mrs. Wheeler, who is 55, nor Mrs. Smith, who is 66, had been "up" before, except for trial flights last Saturday. Two years ago, when Mrs. Wheeler was in Los Angeles with Mr. and Mrs. Casady, a flight was proposed, and Mrs. Wheeler refused to try anything so daring.

The Casady family was surprised when they received a letter last week from Mrs. Wheeler saying she might make the trip by airplane. The morning papers yesterday gave them their first definite announcement that she would make the flight.

The women electors do not think much of aviation fashions. "They are all right in the plane," said Mrs. Wheeler, but she wanted her big fur coat off as soon as she stepped to the ground. Mrs. Smith, however, wore her two huge wraps, enhanced by a corsage of pink sweet peas, while she posed for the photographers.

Both Mrs. Wheeler and Mrs. Smith like to travel by the air route. "It didn't seem queer at all," said Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Wheeler nodded in agreement. "Don't the ground look neat from up there," Mrs. Wheeler said to the pilot.

They probably will not make the return trip by airplane. "The first thing will be to deliver the ballots," said Mrs. Wheeler. After spending a short time in Washington they will return to Nebraska and Mrs. Wheeler is to have a longer visit with the grandchildren. She couldn't bring them any presents because baggage is cut down to a minimum in an airplane. Mrs. Wheeler hadn't recovered from her chagrin over all the things she couldn't bring along, even after arriving here.

"Did you all vote for Harding," asked Mrs. Smith when the council members approached to shake hands. "We aren't for anybody who didn't vote for Harding." A telegram was sent to the family in Lincoln before Mrs. Wheeler left the field. There was just one thing she wanted to do last evening—play with her grandchildren.

WHITMAN INQUIRY MAY BE CUT SHORT BY LACK OF FUNDS

OPPOSITION IS FEARED

LESS SEVERE THAN WHITMAN

Asserts That No Pressure to Influence the Investigation Has Been Attempted.

The Whitman investigation into alleged corruption in city departments, which has resulted in the indictment of two Police Captains, may be halted for lack of funds unless the Board of Estimate today grants the special appropriation of $20,000 asked by District Attorney Swann to finance it.

No money has been provided for ex-Governor Whitman and his assistants to work with. Negative action by the Board of Estimate on the request for $20,000 would block the Whitman inquiry. Postponement of action by the board might interrupt and cripple the inquiry. District Attorney Swann or some member of his staff probably will appear before the Board of Estimate and make a special appeal for it.

Mayor Hylan, who blocked the investigation last week until Mr. Whitman's threat to indict him for obstructing justice caused him to furnish the detectives, will have a second chance to attempt to hold up the investigation, if he so desires. Controller Craig is said to be in favor of the inquiry, and friends of the Whitman investigation expect to have enough votes on the Board of Estimate to pass the appropriation.

The opening political attack on the Whitman inquiry in an editorial in The New York American denouncing District Attorney Swann and ex-Governor Whitman may be followed by other political developments. Mr. Swann said yesterday that he was taken by surprise by the Hearst attack, but he would make no reply to it. Mr. Swann has been for many years highly successful in keeping the good-will of Hearst and one of the very few men in public life who have been able over a period of years to keep in good standing both with Tammany and the publisher.

No Attempt at Pressure.

Mr. Swann insisted yesterday that no pressure had been brought to bear to induce him to hamper or stop the Whitman investigation, and that no attempt to bring pressure on him would be successful in the slightest degree.

Mr. Swann, however, has bestowed only faint praise as yet on the work of ex-Governor Whitman, and he made a special defense yesterday of the ordinary practice of gratuity-taking among policemen. Mr. Swann and Mr. Whitman apparently differ widely in their view of the seriousness of gratuity-taking as it has been uncovered so far. Mr. Whitman gave the opinion that it was a form of graft flourishing on a larger scale than in the Becker days and a more pernicious form of graft.

Mr. Swann evaded the direct question when he was asked how much importance he attached to the work so far accomplished, and described several forms of gratuity-taking which he regarded as innocent.

Mr. Swann made no direct defense of his appointee, when it was called to his attention that the appointment was criticised on the ground that Mr. Whitman had once received a retaining fee for legal services from the Interborough, with the intimation that the Whitman inquiry was an attack on the Hylan Administration for the benefit of the traction interests.

"I had forgotten that at the time I appointed him," Mr. Swann said. "No one ever accused me of being a friend of the traction interests. I appointed Mr. Whitman because I considered him by far the best man for the position. As far as I know, no one disputes that."

When he was asked if he would make any reply to the newspaper attack on himself, Mr. Swann said:

"Oh, no. I wouldn't think of that. I won't discuss politics at all. We are running this office absolutely without regard to politics. As far as possible, we are running it on scientific lines. I don't know anything about a political attack or a political break. All I know about that is what has been published."

Bitter Feeling Denied.

"You are represented as entertaining bitter feeling against ex-Governor Smith?"

"I know nothing about that except what I read."

When he was asked directly if he did feel bitterly toward "Al" Smith, who failed to appoint him Judge of Special Sessions to succeed Judge Malone, Mr. Swann gave a positive "No" for an answer.

Asked about reports that Charles F. Murphy was disturbed and irritated over his appointment of Mr. Whitman, Mr. Swann said:

"Neither Mr. Murphy nor anybody else has ever sought to make any suggestion to me. As a matter of fact, Mr. Murphy never attempts to give any instructions to this office and never makes suggestions. He keeps his hands off entirely.

"As for the Police Department, Mr. Murphy keeps away from it entirely. He never makes a suggestion as to an appointment or as to a policy. I know that to be a fact.

"As to Mayor Hylan, I am convinced that he is as keen as any one for seeing graft uncovered in this city, if it exists. When I called on him in the first place and told him the plan to investigate to see if corruption did exist in any city departments, the Mayor said:

"'Go to it.'

"He was emphatic in saying that he wanted graft rooted out, if it did exist. The reason for his later opposition was that a newspaper came out with a headline, saying, 'Hylan Investigates Hylan'. He then refused to have anything to do with it, because he wanted to show that there was nothing collusive about it."

Defends Gifts in Good Faith.

District Attorney Swann said that no policeman who took a gift from a friend or from some one who appreciated good work done by him in good faith needed to be afraid of prosecution for gratuity taking while he was District Attorney.

"Many business men or others have a generous impulse to reward a policeman, when he has done especially good work in recovering stolen property or preventing crime or something of that kind. Such payments, after the act is done, do not influence the policeman in the performance of his duty, and I can't see anything very wrong in them.

"Many persons seem to have the idea that all policemen who ever received a gift are going to be prosecuted. That's not so. Any policeman that received a gift innocently may be assured that he will not be prosecuted, while I hold this office.

"There is one policeman that I would like to give $100 to. He is a traffic policeman stationed in Lafayette Street at Howard. When I leave here frowning and perplexed over the affairs of my office, one look at his broad smile cheers me up for the rest of the day. There is another traffic policeman on Broadway who has the same effect on me. I would like to give them each $100.

"If I were Lady Bountiful or Prince Charming I would go around rewarding fellows such as they. There is one man in this city who drives all over the town before Christmas presenting $20 bills to traffic policemen. Now, that man is not going to be prosecuted, nor are the policemen who accepted the bills.

"It becomes a different matter, however, when the policeman demands a gratuity, and refuses to execute his duty, unless he gets it. Those are the kind of cases against which Mr. Whitman is acting, and of course men of that kind had to be prosecuted."

No Complaints About Gratuities.

Mr. Swann said that he had no way of knowing whether this kind of graft was widespread. He said, however, that not a single complaint had ever been laid before him against any policeman for demanding a gratuity.

"As a matter of fact," he said, "I think those who give the gratuities are usually very glad to do so."

Mr. Swann said that he could not supply the money necessary to conduct the Whitman investigation out of his contingent fund, because it consisted of only $30,000 and was all needed for extradition cases and other cases requiring special expenditures.

Mr. Whitman said yesterday that he would not have any cases prepared to report to the Grand Jury today. He refused to indicate the present line of his investigations and said:

"I can only report progress."

Mr. Whitman emphasized again yesterday that the development of so-called "commercial graft" in the Police Department was linked closely with the growth of scores of private detective agencies in the last few years. He said that apparently at least one private detective agency had grown up in every precinct. One of the Whitman investigators said:

"The connection between the uniformed policeman and the private detective seems to be very apparent, but will be difficult to prove. There is plenty of evidence that many policemen make a practice of recommending private detectives to business men who want police help. In some cases this may be innocent. In other cases there is no doubt a business connection between policemen and the private detectives, who are largely ex-policemen.

Operations of Agencies.

"We find that this often occurs. A merchant's warehouse or business house has been repeatedly robbed. He asks for better police protection or tells how he thinks the robbers can be caught. The police official at the desk listens and answers like this:

"'You know we have only 11,000 policemen, less in proportion to the population than any large city in the world. Most of them are assigned to essential work, and it is absolutely impossible, much as I would like to do it, to look after you. Why don't you hire a private detective agency?'"

Such conversations often result in the employment by the business man of private detectives. According to charges made to Mr. Whitman, the agency, through the good offices of its friend in the department, obtains the services of city policemen to do the work for which the agency is specially paid. According to the statements to Mr. Whitman, many of the detective agencies in precincts are mere shells, consisting of a President of the agency without a staff of detectives. The President is alleged to be a nucleus, filled out by the assignment of bluecoats or plainclothesmen to do the private detective work.

Mr. Whitman was asked yesterday whether he had heard that a certain police official had gambled heavily in Stuts and other stocks.

"I have heard that," he said. "I have heard that he was caught once or twice and had some heavy losses."

Later Mr. Whitman denied that he had said the official in question had been "wiped out." He added that it was no crime to be "wiped out" and that the rumors he had heard concerning the police official contained nothing to be presented to the Grand Jury.

CALLS OPEN SHOP AMERICAN

Head of Manufacturers Says It Gives All an Equal Chance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The open shop is the only true American standard in which no one receives special privileges and all have an equal chance, declared Stephen C. Mason, President of the National Association of Manufacturers, before a meeting of members of the association here today. Mr. Mason emphasized the fact that the association had favored the open shop for years.

"As American citizens we must do all in our power to quell the spirit of discontent that rests on the country at present," Mr. Mason said. "Congress can do much by removing the Government shackles on private business. We must meet organization with organization."

The immigration question also was discussed by the speaker, who declared: "We should not restrict immigration. The labor organizations are trying to do so. They want to cause a shortage of labor, thereby sending wages sky high."

DECLARES SHIP LINE BOUND BY BRITISH

Senator Jones Gives Out Agreement With the International Mercantile Marine.

P. A. S. FRANKLIN PROTESTS

Declares Compact Also Safeguards American Interests and That Payne Approved It.

BENSON TO INVESTIGATE

Shipping Board Chairman Says He Is Not In Sympathy With the Agreement.

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The charge that British interests, through an agreement to which the International Mercantile Marine, an American corporation, was a party, had for years sought to hold supremacy of the seas and impede efforts to build up an effective American merchant marine, was made today by Senator Wesley L. Jones of Washington at a meeting of the National Merchant Marine Association.

Senator Jones is Chairman of the Senate Committee on Commerce and author of the Merchant Marine act of 1920. His statements created something of a sensation at the meeting, and Admiral W. S. Benson, Chairman of the United States Shipping Board, announced that an investigation would be made.

In brief, Senator Jones alleged that the International Mercantile Marine, which operates ships obtained from the United States Shipping Board, had entered into a twenty-year agreement with the British Admiralty and British shipping interests to pursue "no policy injurious to the British mercantile marine or British trade."

A copy of this agreement, Senator Jones said, was on file with the Shipping Board, and the Senator gave out copies of it, which were in his possession. Admiral Benson said that he had no knowledge of the agreement, but would have it looked up and placed before the Shipping Board for consideration.

Benson Unsympathetic to Plan.

Admiral Benson would not say whether the existence of such an agreement would affect the relationship of the Shipping Board and the International Mercantile Marine. He said, however, that he was not in sympathy with the agreement. The American merchant marine, he added, must be 100 per cent. American, and in discussing this phase of the shipping problem he warned that interests in this country must guard against "insidious attacks from foreign sources."

P. A. S. Franklin, head of the International Mercantile Marine, who was present at the meeting, asked for an opportunity to be heard. He said that the International Mercantile Marine was 100 per cent. American, that the agreement referred to had been approved by Secretary of the Interior Payne, when he was Chairman of the Shipping Board, and that there was in the agreement also "an unusually large protection for American interests."

A rather comprehensive program on the part of British interests to thwart the development of an American merchant marine was alleged by Senator Jones in the course of his address. He intimated that by the agreement to which he had referred Great Britain was in a position to prevent ships of the American mercantile marine from competing on various lines, and added that by its terms the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain was arbiter when any dispute as to the meaning of the agreement arose.

In addition, Senator Jones said that, wittingly or unwittingly, the United States Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, a former employe of the International Mercantile Marine, now an agent of the United States Shipping Board in New York, and the heads of large railroads and shipping interests were aiding the purpose of Great Britain. Great Britain, he said, was anxious to continue New York as the port through which principal shipments must flow, and any movement which looked in that direction was of aid.

A method now being employed by British shipping interests to hamper expansion of the American merchant marine, said Senator Jones, was to encourage Eastern trunk railroads to seek the cancellation of existing equalized export freight rates to all Atlantic ports. The chief figure in this movement, he said, was Delos W. Cooke, American director of the British Cunard Line.

Accuses Shipping Board Agent.

"Our principal competitor for the world's carrying trade," said Senator Jones, "is Great Britain. She will do everything possible to keep us off the sea.

"A short time ago a reputable gentleman of Newark, N. J., told me of his experience in attempting to establish a shipping line between Newark and England. He applied to the Shipping Board to buy or charter Government ships for this purpose. His application was referred to the Shipping Board's representative in New York, and he said he was opposed to it. On being pressed for his reasons he said that the establishment of such a line would injure the business of British lines sailing out of New York.

"This American citizen, acting as an agent of the United States Shipping Board and thus using his power to protect British shipping interests, was a former employe of the International Mercantile Marine Company, which entered into an agreement in 1903 whereby it bound itself for a period of twenty years to follow no policy that would injure British shipping or British trade. Let these three paragraphs of this agreement indicate its nature and its consequent influence on American trade, American shipping and the conduct of American citizens:

An agreement made the 1st day of August, 1903, between the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Board of Trade (for and on behalf of his Majesty's Government), of the first part; the International Mercantile Marine Company (formerly known as the International Navigation Company), being a corporation incorporate and registered under the laws of the State of New Jersey, which company is hereafter referred to as "The American Company", of the second part, and the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company (Limited), Frederick Leyland & Co. (1900) (Limited), the British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation Company (Limited), the Mississippi and Dominion Steamship Company (Limited), of the third part.

10. This agreement shall have effect for twenty years from the 27th of September, 1902, and shall continue in force thereafter subject to a notice of five years on either side (which may be given during the continuance of this agreement), provided that his Majesty's Government shall have the right to terminate this agreement at any time if the association pursue a policy injurious to the interest of the British mercantile marine or of British trade.

12. In case any difference as to the intent and meaning of this agreement, or in case of any dispute arising out of this agreement, the same shall be referred to the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain for the time being, whose decision, whether on law or fact, shall be final.

Sees Pledge Helpful to British.

"In brief, the International Mercantile Marine Company, organized under American law and claiming to be an American company, obligates itself to pursue no 'policy injurious to the interests of the British mercantile marine or of British trade,' and in case of any dispute arising out of the agreement, whether of law or of fact, the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain is to decide such dispute, and his decision is final.

"The International Mercantile owns the American Line, which flies the American flag, and, in addition to its regular fleet, controls approximately forty vessels leased from the Shipping Board, which also fly the American flag, but are all subject to the terms of this contract, and therefore are actually operated in the interests of the British Government and British trade.

"Those excerpts from the agreement of August, 1903, do not leave the question open to doubt as to where the International Mercantile Marine Company stands as regards British inferests. The question that naturally arises in the popular mind is, 'Where do British shipping interests centre in the United States?'

"The answer is that they centre almost entirely in the port of New York, where their large terminal investments are located and from which port most of their tonnage on this side of the Atlantic sails. Consequently whatever helps the port of New York benefits British shipowners.

"A monopoly of export freight sent through the port of New York spells greater profits for these British owners. It follows, then, that the British shipping men are in accord with the Eastern trunk line railway officials who seek to cancel the present equalization of export freight rates from Central Freight Association territory to Gulf and South Atlantic ports.

Chamber of Commerce Action.

"The proof of that accord is at hand. On April 9, 1920, there was a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, at which a committee of five representatives of North Atlantic port commercial organizations was appointed to confer with the Trunk Line Association with a view to conducting the fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission for the elimination of the existing equalization of export rates from Central Freight Association and Illinois Classification territory to North Atlantic, South Atlantic and Gulf ports.

"The present equalization, for the first time, establishes the principle that American foreign commerce may best be developed and extended by the establishment of new foreign trade routes from the United States Shipping Board, as is specifically provided in the Merchant Marine act, and in furtherance of this movement that every American export shipper should have the right, without discrimination by the railroads, to choose the port through which his business can be handled most expeditiously and economically.

"The Chairman of the committee named was Delos W. Cooke, designated as representing the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. A fact that was not mentioned is that Delos W. Cooke also is the American Director of the great Cunard Line, which is British owned and flies the British flag.

"Now, the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, as its list of officials reveals, is made up of international bankers and the heads of great railroad and steamship companies. Philip A. S. Franklin, a Vice President of this Chamber of Commerce, is the President of the International Mercantile Marine Company, the same American company which entered into the agreement already referred to by which it agreed to pursue no policy injurious to British trade.

"In reviewing this sequence of happenings, can any sane man doubt that the principle necessarily underlying the establishment of an American merchant marine is being sacrificed to a group devoted to furthering the interests of the British mercantile marine or of the British trade."

Franklin Charges Unfairness.

Mr. Franklin jumped up as Senator Jones concluded his charges.

"Who now in the Shipping Board was in the employment of the International Mercantile Marine?" Mr. Franklin asked.

"A Mr. Andrews," replied the Senator.

"He was never employed by our company," retorted Mr. Franklin. "As for the International Mercantile Marine Company, the Senator is unfair to us. All of these agreements to which he refers have been before the Shipping Board and have been approved. Judge Payne, when he was Chairman of the board, passed upon them and said they were quite satisfactory.

"If you will read these documents, in view of the fact that the company owns large British property, you will find that there is also an unusually large protection for American interests.

"Let me recall also that at one time we had our British property sold to British subjects. We were about to close the deal when the President of the United States asked us not to consummate it. Our object was to get money for investment in American ships. Do we get no credit for what we have done? Moreover, we are the only company which has brought over vessels from the British flag to American registry.

"It is very unfair for a Senator of the United States to get up here before this association and make an incorrect statement, on the one hand, that any tonnage owned by a foreign corporation and operated under the British flag must be maintained at the same strength as when it was taken over or it is subject to confiscation.

"Another point is that we came to Washington and sold our British holdings to the Shipping Board, but the sale was never carried out. This was for $37,000,000. We did not bring suit or protest the failure of the board to complete the sale. Was that the act of an American or a foreigner? What else could we have done?

"The International Mercantile Marine is absolutely American. There are none but Americans on its Board of Directors. More than 90 per cent. of our shares are owned by Americans. We have invested in American shipping vessels obtained from the Shipping Board. We have transferred a 18,000 ton ship from the British to the American flag. When the country entered the war and ships were requisitioned, we were the first company to sign the requisition order."

Senator Jones contended that the vessels which the International Mercantile Marine obtained from the United States Shipping Board were subject to the terms of the agreement, in addition to its other ships, that they were therefore operated under conditions which were favorable to the supremacy of British interests. He returned also to his charge that British interests wished to do away with the existing equalized freight rates to Atlantic ports.

Copy of the Agreement.

The agreement as made public by Senator Jones reads:

"Copy of an agreement (dated Aug. 1, 1903) between the Admiralty and the Board of Trade and the International Mercantile Marine Company, and the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.; Frederick Leyland & Co. (1900) Ltd.; the British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.; the Mississippi and Dominion Steamship Company, Ltd.; the Atlantic Transport Company, Ltd., and the International Navigation Company, Ltd.

"An agreement made the first day of August, 1903, between the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and the Board of Trade (for and on behalf of his Majesty's Government), of the first part; the International Mercantile Marine Company (formerly known as the International Navigation Company), being a corporation incorporated and registered under the laws of the State of New Jersey, in the United States of America, which company is hereinafter referred to as the American Company of the second part and the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.; Frederick Leyland & Co. (1900), Ltd.; the British and North Atlantic Steam Navigation Company, Ltd.; the Mississippi and Dominion Steamship Company, Ltd.; the Atlantic Transport Company, Ltd., and the International Navigation Company, Ltd., of the third part.

"Whereas the party of the second part owns a controlling interest in the shares of the International Navigation Company (Limited), which owns a majority of the shares of the other companies parties of the third part;

"And whereas the term 'the association' hereinafter used means the parties hereto of the second and third parts, and also includes any other company, corporate or unincorporate, partnership body, or person, whether British, American or other foreign, which by any arrangement is admitted to or brought under the control of the association or any of the constituent parts for the time being;

"And whereas the parties hereto of the third part are hereinafter referred to as 'the British companies included in the association';

"And whereas, in the month of September, 1902, an agreement substantially to the effect of the provisions hereinafter contained was negotiated and made by and between His Majesty's Government and the American company, acting on behalf of the association;

"And whereas it is considered desirable at such agreement as last aforesaid shall be embodied in a formal instrument, to be executed not only by the American company, but also by the British companies included in the association.

Status of British Companies.

"Now, these presents witness that in consideration of the stipulations hereinafter contained on the part of the American company and the British companies included in the association, the parties of the first part hereby undertake as follows:

"1. The British companies included in the association shall, so long as the stipulations on their part and on the part of the American company hereinafter contained are duly observed, continue to be treated as heretofore on the same footing of general equality with other British companies in respect of services, naval, military or postal, which his Majesty's Government may desire to have rendered by the British mercantile marine; provided that nothing in the agreement contained shall extend to vessels of uncommercial speed which his Majesty's Government may specially require to be constructed and which are primarily designed for service in time of war.

"And these presents also witness that in consideration of the undertaking hereinbefore contained on the part of the parties hereto of the first part and the American company and the British companies included in the association, it is hereby agreed as follows:

"2. The British companies included in the association shall be and continue to be British companies, qualified to own British ships, and a majority at least of their directors shall be British subjects.

"3. No British ship in the association, nor any ship which may hereafter be built or otherwise acquired for any British company included in the association, shall be transferred to a foreign registry (without the written consent of the President of the Board of Trade, which shall not be unreasonably withheld) nor be nor remain upon a foreign registry. Nothing shall be otherwise done whereby any such ship would lose its British registry or its right to fly the British flag.

"4. British ships in the association and ships that may hereafter be built or otherwise acquired for any British company included in the association shall be officered by British subjects, and as regards their crews shall carry the some proportional number of British sailors of all classes as his Majesty's Government may prescribe or arrange for in the case of any other British line engaged in the same trades.

Sales or Leases to Admiralty.

"5. Subject to the existing agreement between the Admiralty and the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company (Limited), and without prejudice to the provisions therein contained the American company and any British company included in the association shall sell or let on hire at any time during the continuance of this agreement to the Admiralty, when required to do so by the Admiralty, any British ship in the association, and any ship hereafter to be built or otherwise acquired for any British company included in the association which the Admiralty may from time to time select. The terms of purchase or hire, if not otherwise agreed on, shall be similar to those contained in the existing agreement aforesaid.

"6. At least a moiety of the tonnage built and at least a moiety of the tonnage otherwise acquired for the association in each successive period of three years (commencing from the date of this agreement), including a reasonable proportion of the faster classes of vessels, shall be built or acquired, as the case may be, for British companies included in the association and shall be registered as British ships. There shall not be reckoned in ascertaining the moiety of the tonnage so built or otherwise acquired (a) vessels of the exceptional class referred to in Article 7, which may be constructed by special arrangement with the Government of the United States of America; (b) any vessels not already in the association purchased for the association from owners other than British subjects or American citizens or subjects or companies or bodies subject to a British or American jurisdiction, provided that such last-mentioned vessels are existing ships which have been running for at least two years prior to the contract for purchase and have not been built or acquired directly or indirectly for the association.

"7. If at any time hereafter any British company (not being a party hereto), or any British partnership, body, or person, shall be admitted to or brought under the control of the association or any of its constituent parts for the time being, then, and in every such case, subject and without prejudice to any agreement then existing between such company, partnership, body, or person and His Majesty's Government, and subject and without prejudice to any agreement which may be made in view of such admission or inclusion between the American company, or other person or body acting for the association, on the one hand, and His Majesty's Government on the other hand, all the provisions of these presents shall inure for the benefit of and bind such company, partnership, body, or person, as the case may be, in like manner as if such company, partnership body, or person, had been a party hereto of the third part, and had been comprised in the expression 'The British companies included in the association,' as used in this agreement, and, except with the consent of His Majesty's Government, no such British company, partnership body, or person as aforesaid shall be admitted to or brought under the control of the association or any of its constituent parts for the time being otherwise than upon the terms specified in this clause.

Must Give Notice of Additions.

"8. If at any time hereafter during the continuance of this agreement any other company, whether corporate or unincorporate, partnership body or person, whether British, American or other foreign, shall be admitted to or brought under the control of the association or any of its constituent parts for the time being, the association shall give notice thereof to his Majesty's Government, and shall furnish all such particulars with regard to terms, parties or otherwise as the Government may reasonably require.

"9. The American company and the British companies included in the association and any British company, partnership body or person hereafter admitted to or brought under the control of the association, or any of its constituent parts for the time being, will forthwith and from time to time do and cause to be done all such further acts, and execute or cause to be executed all such further documents, and take all such steps as may be necessary to give full legal and binding effect to this agreement.

"10. This agreement shall have effect for twenty years from the 27th September, 1902, and shall continue in force thereafter subject to a notice of five years on either side (which may be given during the continuance of this agreement) provided that his Majesty's Government shall have the right to terminate this agreement at any time if the association pursue a policy injurious to the interest of the British mercantile marine or of British trade.

"11. This agreement shall be construed and take effect as a contract made in England and in accordance with the law of England. The American company hereby irrevocably appoints the Chairman for the time being of the British committee of the association, or if there be no such Chairman, then each and every British company in the association to be the agent or agents in England of the American company for the purpose of accepting service on behalf of the American company of any process, notice, or other document in respect of any matter arising out of this agreement, and service of any such process, notice, or document on such Chairman or company as aforesaid shall be deemed to be good service on the American company. Any notice or document sent by registered post addressed to the American company at 22 Old Broad Street, London, or to the register office of any British company in the association, shall also be deemed to have been duly served on the American company.

"12. In case of any difference as to the intent and meaning of this agreement, or in case of any dispute arising out of this agreement, the same shall be referred to the Lord High Chancellor of Great Britain for the time being, whose decision, whether on law or fact, shall be final.

PLEAS FOR AMERICAN SHIPS.

But Franklin and Harriman Charge Damaging Errors of Policy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—At today's sessions of the National Merchant Marine Association, Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, President of the association, made a plea for "an American merchant marine, built, owned and operated by Americans, without the faintest suspicion in their make-up of foreign sympathy." Homer L. Ferguson, Newport News shipbuilder, said that the United States, if necessary, should adopt discriminatory legislation to hold its place on the seas.

There was strong sentiment at the meeting for free tolls for coastwise shipping through the Panama Canal. Senator Ransdell spoke for such a policy and was backed by William E. Humphrey of Seattle.

Matthew Hale, President of the South Atlantic Steamship Association, attacked the concentration of export shipments through the Port of New York and declared that a change must be made to provide new outlets to foreign markets if American foreign trade was to be properly developed.

Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board in addressing the convention declared that as the board was charged by law to establish a permanent merchant marine it must move slowly and with assurance in its sale of ships.

President Franklin of the International Mercantile Marine, addressing delegates to the convention at a dinner tonight, however, said that the sale of Government owned tonnage as directed by Congress could not be accomplished until the Government "puts its shipping house in order."

"The truth is," said Mr. Franklin, "there is no market at the present time for Government tonnage and it is incumbent upon the Government, if it really desires to sell this tonnage, to put its shipping house in order on sound business lines, with the object of creating a situation which will induce private citizens to purchase. Prospective purchasers must be clearly assured that the Government stands firmly behind a policy of co-operation and assistance to private capital which is to be invested. This is the only foundation upon which a proper sales policy can be built.

"So long as the Government is unwilling to protect the purchasers of its ships from competition of Government ships that it has placed in the hands of operators who have no financial interest at stake, private capital will not invest in ships."

Mr. Franklin proposed a plan for operating ships in the absence of a market. He said that the Government should decide first what mail, passenger and cargo routes ought to be established, and then arrangements should be made for their present and future development. He proposed the development of definite trade routes by dividing the United States into sections.

Mr. Ferguson appealed to the delegates to give the new Merchant Marine act "a chance to be tried out." "The real point is," he added, "are we going to give legislation enacted by Congress a chance, or are we to be bogied into scrapping it because some nation threatens to take retaliatory steps?"

W. A. Harriman, President of the United American Lines, told those at the dinner that he entertained grave doubts as to whether the country's privately-owned merchant marine would survive the "enormous handicaps" it is now facing. Declaring that the greatest of these was competition from Government-owned vessels, Mr. Harriman freely criticised the Shipping Board for permitting this condition, which he said was threatening the destruction of the American merchant marine.

"The business of the company with which I am associated," Mr. Harriman said, "has been disrupted by competition of Government ships, operated by persons who are totally disinterested in whether the ships are run at a profit or a loss."

Mr. Harriman also declared that the high tonnage cost at which private operators had purchased ships from the Government was driving into bankruptcy all companies without sufficient capital reserve to absorb current operating losses. Unless Congress authorized some adjustment of these prices, he said, "it will kill American shipping."

Resolution Asks a Japanese Apology.

NASHVILLE, Jan. 20.—A resolution was presented in the Tennessee House of Representatives today urging the United States Government to call on Japan for an apology for the recent killing of Lieutenant W. H. Langdon, American naval officer, by a Japanese sentry at Vladivostok. The resolution went over without discussion or action.

ENRIGHT GIVES A TIP, HASN'T RESIGNED YET

Doesn't Know if He Will Today Because He Hasn't Read the Newspapers.

WOULD PICK SUCCESSOR

Certain Editors His Choice Because They Know Everything—Crime Wave Fictitious.

Asserting that most of the newspapers of the city had engaged in unwarranted and unjust attacks upon the Police Department, Commissioner Richard E. Enright, at the dinner of the Hotel Association at the Biltmore last night, called upon the business men and residents generally to resent these attacks as injurious to business and as detrimental to the city.

Commissioner Enright attacked the press, which, he declared, had invented a fictitious "crime wave" to discredit the city administration on the eve of a municipal election.

The Commissioner received an ovation when he rose to speak after a flattering introduction by Thomas D. Greene, President of the association. He began his speech facetiously.

"I am going to let you into a secret," he said. "At least I suppose it is a secret. I have not resigned today. I don't know whether I a mgoing to resign tomorrow or not, because I have not read the morning papers.

"I don't know how I am going to resign, because all the gentlemen to whom the papers have offered the job seem to have refused it. Until one of them accepts, I don't see how I can leave Police Headquarters.

"Inasmuch as the newspapers have nominated all their candidates, anywhere from one to three apiece, I think I ought to have the right to make some nominations myself, because I want the job well done when I am out of it. The men whom I would suggest for Commissioner and Deputy Commissioners know how the Police Department should be run. They know how to run the Government. They knew how to write the Peace Treaty. They know whom Senator Harding should name for his Cabinet. They know everything.

"I want to put in nomination for Police Commissioner the editor of The New York Tribune.

"For First Deputy Commissioner I would nominate the editor of The New York World, for Second Deputy the editor of The Evening Globe, for Third Deputy the editor of The Evening Mail and for Fourth Deputy the editor of The Evening Post.

"For the only feminine job we have I would like to nominate an old manicure from my own home town, the editor of The Brooklyn Eagle."

Commissioner Enright declared that the job of Police Commissioner had been more difficult during the last three years than ever before because of the war and the aftermath of the war.

"It was made still more difficult," he said, "by the invention of a mythical crime wave. An invitation was issued every morning and every evening in the press for crooks to come here and operate, on the theory that they could do it with impunity."

The Commissioner then read statistics to show that there had been a decrease in crime in New York City during 1920, as compared with 1916 and 1917, which he characterized as the most recent normal years.

"It has been said that a Police Commissioner takes and holds office at his peril," he said. "'I have come to believe that this is true. He is damned if he does and damned if he doesn't.'"

"The police," he added, "have been like the balls on a pool table, whirled and twisted, drawn and spotted, busted and put on the rack, at the will of any one willing to play the game for policy or profit."

Justice John W. Ford of the Supreme Court advocated the formation of an organization of New Yorkers to obtain freedom in self-government for New York City. Justice Ford attacked those who traduced the city, said the crime wave was merely the manifestation of abnormal worldwide conditions and complimented Commissioner Enright on the "splendid police force."

KILLS HUSBAND, SAYING SHE THOUGHT HIM THIEF

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Mrs. Maude Miller, 36 years old, shot and killed her husband, Peter J. Miller, a fraternal lodge organizer, in the vestibule of their home early this morning.

Mrs. Miller told the police that she thought her husband was a burglar, various attempts having been made to enter the house. She was held for the Grand Jury without bail by Police Judge Stevens after she had waived examination on a murder charge.

She said that she fired one shot, which struck her husband in the temple, when he broke open the front door of their home, after trying several windows in an effort to gain admittance. Her marriage to Miller took place in Crown Point, Ind., on Sept. 20 last. Police say she admitted having been married before, saying that her former husband was Frank Breen of Chicago, who died there recently.

PLANT PROTECTION

WE offer you an unique proposition. Under our system your plant is protected by uniformed or civilian guards and watchmen, directly supervised by the Principal, who has had 25 years' experience in this work. Protection 24 hours per day, every day in the year, at a nominal cost which soon pays for itself.

Bonding companies may indemnify against loss of payrolls, thefts, etc., but only you can protect your paymaster or messenger against attack.

We offer the best protection obtainable to Banks, Factories, Stores, Warehouses, Office Buildings, Jewelry Establishments, etc. Let us tell you more about this sort of thing and of some of the people who believe in this protection.

ATTENTION, PLEASE!

For many years I was in a commercial business and successful. Then a few years ago I became active in the moving picture and vaudeville business and was successful.

In these last few years I was interested and helped produce some features and photoplays that were successful.

Then about a year ago I decided to stop working and I did.

It has been very nice, the first few months were wonderful, but I am an executive accustomed to solving hard problems through close application, inspiration and perspiration, so I feel the urge and it's hard to resist.

I want to get back, but just how I don't know. Perhaps somewhere there is a congenial spot for a real worker of personality, young in years and old in experience, full of vigor, unattached and in perfect health.

Perhaps a new firm or an old business requiring an executive, or perhaps someone seeking an associate, or maybe something you may have in mind. Cut this ad out, place it in your desk, and then perhaps at the opportune time arrange an interview in New York or elsewhere to suit your convenience. Address me Box 451 General Post Office, New York City.

$20,000 IN BONDS SEIZED IN ARRESTS

SUSPECTS TRAPPED IN ROOM

One Flees, but Is Captured After Two-Block Chase in Which Two Shots Are Fired.

A clew to "fences" here who have been disposing of securities stolen from Western banks is believed by the police to have been uncovered by the arrest yesterday of Louis Harris, 46, of 514 Sixth Avenue, and Robert Duval, 30, who said he was a salesman from St. Louis, Mo. The two men were trapped in a furnished room in West Ninety-seventh Street. Harris attempted to get away, but was captured in a two-block chase after two shots had been fired at him. Liberty bonds valued at $20,000 were in the two men's possession.

The New York Detective Bureau was said to have been working for weeks on the method of disposal of securities stolen in the West and believed to have been sold here. Recently the inquiry centred upon some bonds stolen from the Farmers National Bank of Chicago in September, 1919.

Detective Charles Rosenberg overheard the two men under arrest discussing the sale of Liberty bonds several days ago. He represented himself as a man who had made considerable money by bootlegging, and told them he had a friend in the banking business who would be glad to buy Liberty bonds. He later introduced Detective Isaac Meinhein as the "banker friend," and after some conversation about the amount and price to be paid, the two detectives made an appointment to meet Harris and Duval in the Pennsylvania Station yesterday.

According to the detectives, the four men went from the Pennsylvania Station to the house in West Ninety-seventh Street, followed by Detective George Gilbert. While Rosenberg and Meinhelm went into the house with Harris and Duval, Gilbert remained on guard outside.

Upon their arrival in the room, the detectives said, Harris and Duval produced $20,000 worth of Liberty bonds. After the bonds had been handed to Meinhelm, Harris became suspicious and bolted. He was pursued by Rosenberg and caught at Amsterdam Avenue.

The room was searched and, according to the detectives, they found two suitcases filled with inks, acids, ink eradicators, tissue paper cut to the size of bills and other similar material.

The Chicago authorities were notified of the serial numbers of the Liberty bonds and Harris and Duval will be held until the Chicago police have a chance to investigate.

Carlos Guenther, cashier of the Manhattan Brass Company, 40 years old, shot by highwaymen on Saturday last and robbed of a $5,000 payroll in East Twenty-ninth Street, died last night at Bellevue Hospital. He lived at 32 Van Cortlandt Avenue, Yonkers.

Miss Opal Mack, 18 years old, of 251 West Twenty-first Street, was arraigned in Jefferson Market court charged with robbery. Arraigned with her on the same charge was John Peddy of the same address, who, according to the complaint, used the girl in an attempt to play the ancient "badger game." They were held in $10,000 bail each.

The complainant was George Watt of 645 Manhattan Avenue, Brooklyn, who said the girl met him at Twenty-third Street and Sixth Avenue Wednesday night and asked him to escort her home. Mr. Watt said he walked with the girl to the doorway of her home and was talking to her when a man he later identified as Peddy entered from the street and said:

"I've been looking for you for some time. You're the bird who has been forcing his attentions on my wife."

Held as Payroll Robber.

Watt said Peddy then struck him and robbed him of a gold watch, worth $65, a stick pin and two or three dollars. Detectives Joseph Anderson and Harry Poeter, who arrested the pair, said they found a watch, identified by Watt, in Peddy's possession.

Max Maggenheim, who a year ago chased a hold-up man from his grocery at 1 West 136th Street with a revolver, was held up in his store last night by three armed men. While one of the men held a revolver against Maggenheim's chest, the other two rifled a cash register, taking $50. This is the fourth time Maggenheim has been robbed.

Two men and a boy were taken into custody last night while robbing, according to the police, the warehouse of Geuter & Rosenfeld at 14 Front Street. The men were charged with burglary.

The prisoners described themselves as Thomas Alison, 26, a laborer, of 25 Harrison Street; William C. Healy, 39, a deckhand, of 9 South Street, and Clyde Williamson, 14, an errand boy, of 185 Chichester Street, Jamaica, L. I. Williamson was charged with juvenile delinquency.

Detectives, while walking through Front Street, saw a light on the second floor of the warehouse, found the door unlocked and sent for reserves to surround the building. Then they entered, and, according to the police, found the three prisoners laden with hardware worth $2,000.

Joseph Leahy, 23, of 952 Columbus Avenue, was arrested on suspicion of being one of the three men who assaulted Gordon Lambardt, assistant manager of the Sheffield Farms Slawson-Decker Company, at 853 West Thirty-sixth Street, on Jan. 14, and robbed him of a payroll of $360. Leahy was identified as having been arrested eleven times.

Russell Brice, 27, pleaded guilty to an indictment charging robbery in the first degree before Justice James C. Cropsey in Supreme Court, Brooklyn. He was charged with having held up Harold Anderson of 1,272 Sterling Place and Arthur Williams of 144 Troy Avenue on Nov. 11 last and stolen $50 and two watches.

Mrs. Sarah Halperin of 373 Hooper Street, Brooklyn, complained to the police that two women, who represented themselves as canvassers for a home for friendless children and women, stole $1,500 and some jewelry from her apartment.

BRYAN OUT TO RECAST DEMOCRATIC PARTY

His Aim Is Declared to Be to Seek the Support of the Progressives.

Special to The New York Times.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 20.—William J. Bryan and his brother, Charles W. Bryan, are seeking to reorganize the National Democratic Party along Bryanite lines. Charles W. Bryan made the announcement today.

Intensive work will be started in every part of the country, leading from the national field down through the State and into each county and precinct. The plan is to be one of "education."

Mr. Bryan said that the campaign would be launched shortly in conjunction with the national and State legislative programs, which would be embodied, if possible, in platforms of county, State and national conventions to be called later.

Regarding a report that the reorganization was intended largely to eliminate the "Tammany element," Mr. Bryan said that the elimination of any faction would depend solely upon its members' attitude.

"We have been developing plans for thirty days to have the Democratic Party deserve to win the support of progressive forces," Bryan said. "The plans include drafting of constructive national, State and municipal legislative programs, representing the consensus of opinion of the progressives. The program will include curbing of profiteers, elimination of governmental extravagance and restoration of popular rule.

"The legislative programs are being developed by students of governmental needs and will be presented to the people.

"Selection of State and national leaders will be determined at meetings called for that purpose. The time and place of meetings will depend on the organization, if any."

Celebrates Her 109th Birthday.

UNION, S. C., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Susan Kirby celebrated her 109th birthday anniversary here today at a dinner given in her honor and attended by thirty guests. She is active, and is deeply interested in the Methodist Church, of which she has been a member for ninety-five years. She was born in Rutherford, N. C., and is the mother of eleven children.

HARDING DEPARTS FOR REST IN FLORIDA

Closes Marion Home and Office and Says Farewell to His Neighbors.

TALKS TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Before Leaving He Arranged to Continue Himself the Salary of Invalided Pastor.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Jan. 20.—President-elect Harding left Marion late tonight for St. Augustine, Fla., where he will board the houseboat of Senator Freylinghuysen of New Jersey, Saturday afternoon for a twelve-day cruise along the east coast of Florida. Accompanying the President are his Secretary, George B. Christian Jr., Harry M. Daugherty, who also will be a guest on the houseboat Victoria; Judson C. Welliver, publicity director at Harding headquarters during the campaign; Secret Service men, two stenographers and a special car full of newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Harding boarded his private car late tonight after attending an initiation of 100 candidates known as the "Harding Class," at the Marion Lodge of Elks. Earlier in the day he said farewell to his neighbors and spoke to the pupils of the Harding High School; until election day known as the Marion High School. The President-elect was introduced by his sister, Miss Abigail Harding, a teacher of English in the high school, who referred to him as "my big brother."

Urges Service to Others.

"I have come to the conclusion that the greatest achievement is a sense of being helpful to others," Senator Harding said. "If you can blend in your lives the consciousness of service you have wrought the greatest thing in the world.

"You have been brought into a little closer contact with government, and the tendency in popular government is to lose faith to a certain degree when you are brought close to it. But popular government is a normal thing and there is no real autocracy in it.

"You have heard the Czar referred to as an autocrat, but he was merely the mouthpiece of an autocratic Government. You have also heard the Kaiser spoken of as an autocrat, but he merely was the head of an autocratic system.

"There is no autocracy of power in America except as the people have it in their own hands.

"You young men and women are coming into full citizenship and I would ask you to strive for excellence. The worst doctrine is that of building everything on a foundation of mediocrity. That is why America rejected internationality, because that meant the destruction of national aspiration. That is the trouble with the doctrine and practice of socialism. When you adopt mediocrity your lives are failures.

"Strive to excel. I care not what pursuit you are in. It is no discredit not to excel, but it is not to strive to excel.

"In a short time I am going to leave you," Mr. Harding said in conclusion. "I am going to assume great responsibility. It is not to be mine alone, however, because the President is only the instrument through which the popular will is invoked.

"For thirty years I have been listening to public sentiment, and every public servant who listens to the call of the soul of America is sure to get along. I firmly believe the soul of America is right. I firmly believe in the destiny of America, and I am going to my tasks with full confidence, and I hope, in a few years, to come back and find you in the full citizenship and consciousness with which you have fulfilled your duties as members of the Harding High."

Says Farewell to Marion.

MARION, Jan. 20 (Associated Press).—Quitting Marion for a vacation in Florida before entering the White House, Mr. Harding vacated today the residence on Mount Vernon Avenue, which was the Mecca of campaign pilgrimages, and closed the little office next door.

The President-elect's departure really meant severing most of the ties that have bound him to his home community, and he put in the day bidding farewell to his neighbors. He made several personal calls and received many friends at his office. He will return here before he goes to Washington, but only for a stay of a few hours.

Mrs. Harding is to go to Florida only after a shopping trip in the East. She expects to leave tomorrow or Saturday for Washington.

Although the furniture from the Harding residence was taken to a storage house today the headquarters building, next door, is to be kept open until just before March 4.

A story of Mr. Harding's devotion to one of his fellow-townsmen came to light by chance tonight after it had been kept a secret for several weeks from some of those most directly concerned. It involved a financial guarantee by the President-elect to enable his church to continue the salary of a pastor who has been incapacitated since last July.

The minister is Dr. Thomas H. McAfee of the Trinity Baptist Church, of which Mr. Harding is a trustee. Dr. McAfee was stricken with paralysis more than six months ago, and the strain of paying his salary in addition to that of an acting pastor weighed heavily on the church treasury. The question came to a painful issue at a meeting of the trustees at the beginning of the new year, and Mr. Harding volunteered to pay the salary of the new pastor from his own pocket if that of Dr. McAfee were continued.

The President-elect asked that the arrangement be regarded as confidential, and so well was the request observed that few members of the congregation have learned of it.

One of the few out-of-town callers received by Mr. Harding today was President Scott of the Northwestern University, who said the President-elect virtually had promised to come to Illinois early in his Administration and speak at the university and before the Chicago Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Harding also is understood to be giving serious consideration to invitations to attend a Masonic celebration in Marion next May and to speak in Cleveland during June and in Boston some time within the next six months.

VISITS HARDING THE EDITOR

College President Finds Him Enthusiastic on Education in Journalism.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Walter Dill Scott, President of Northwestern University, gave out tonight a written statement on his return from a trip to Marion to see Senator Harding about helping to open the Joseph Medill School of Journalism, saying that he "had found the President-elect a vigorous man, with a firm handshake, resonant voice and clear eye." The statement added:

"I found an optimistic man in Mr. Harding when he assumed the part of a newspaper editor and a champion of ethical and religious leadership. He knew that I sought no political position and that I had sought his advice on education in journalism. To such an appeal he responded in a neighborly way that has so universally characterized his actions and endeared him to the American people.

"Mr. Harding as President-elect, when surrounded by reporters and politicians, is quite unlike Mr. Harding the educator and editor. For months he has been hounded by reporters seeking a sensational story and by politicians seeking favors. It is not strange that his delicate sensibilities have become sensitive. Every approach of a reporter or politician has become to him like a blow to an open wound. His whole being assumes an attitude of defense. Fortunately, his sturdy constitution has not broken and it is reasonably certain that the irritability and the sensitiveness of his nervous system will disappear before he emerges from the Indian River region.

"I was so fascinated by his reminiscences and by his enthusiasm for the cause of journalism that I failed to make adequate mental notes of all that Mr. Harding said, but the following sentences found place in my memory:

"'The American press has not lived up to its responsibilities in molding the thought of the people. It has limited itself too much to dispensing sensational news and to making money. It has been influenced more by commercial agencies than by ethical standards. It is very important that all available agencies should combine to elevate not only the ideals but also the practices of the American press.'"

DAWES PREDICTS HARDING REFORMS

Believes President-Elect Will Change Old Methods of Departmental Expenditures.

POWER TO UNIFY BUSINESS

Burget Law Will Help, He Says, but Without It New System Can Be Inaugurated.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—A reform in the business administration of the Government by which President-elect Harding would hold departmental expenditures in co-ordinated relation to the taxable resources of the nation was advocated here today by Charles G. Dawes, a Chicago banker. His address, which was delivered at a luncheon given in his honor by the Boston Chamber of Commerce, assumed special interest here at this time because of his mention as the possible choice of President-elect Harding for Secretary of the Treasury.

Mr. Dawes, who has been Controller of the Currency and who was in charge of the purchase of supplies in France for the American Expeditionary Forces, spoke of the conditions that had controlled departmental expenditures in the Federal Government as constituting an impossible business system. In carrying out an analogy between Cabinet officers and the administrative Vice Presidents of a corporation, he said the Presidents of the United States almost without exception had allowed their administrative Vice Presidents to run their particular departments and to make estimates of the amount of money which should be appropriated to them entirely without Presidential supervision in the interest of the Government as a whole.

"With the power of selection, he has also the power of removal, and I do not think he will temporize for a minute with the old system so far as his power over his administrative Vice Presidents—so to speak—can alter it. If the Cabinet heads are not willing to do team work and to co-ordinate and to carry out his plan for business supervision and economy, made simply in the interests of the people of the United States as a whole, he should remove them, and I hope he will.

"Under the law of March 4, 1909, as has been frequently pointed out by members of Congress in recent times, the authority to unify the business of the Government and put it into proper system exists in him. His very position as head of the executive branch of Government implies not only the power but the duty to do this. Unless he is willing to assume this great task, a budget law will not materially correct the situation. The budget law will help the President to do his duty and it should be passed. But even without a budget law, with the control he has over the Cabinet, he can inaugurate this system.

"The proposed reform is particularly an administrative as distinguished from a Congressional reform. What Congress properly demands when it appropriates money is that there should be a proper business organization to expend it economically, and what former Presidents have failed to do is to so organize their business machine as to make this possible."

The task of the President-elect in bringing the proposed reform about will be difficult, General Dawes said, "not only because of its magnitude, but because of the selfish interest which will attempt to block it." Part of the plan, as he saw it, would include the abolition of duplicate activities in the several departments such as ordnance, hospital and secret service installations. He predicted that Congress would co-operate with the President, and added: "The principles underlying this reform are so indisputably correct that if it fails it will be because it is killed from under cover."

ship construction?" inquired Chairman Walsh.

"I cannot conceive," replied Colonel Abadie, "of any condition under the cost-plus plan which would justify Mr. Schwab in charging to ship construction $100,000 for personal expenses."

It was then brought out that Mr. Schwab had resigned as Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation in December, 1918, so that the item must have been charged while he was an official of the Shipping Board.

Chairman Walsh next inquired if emergencies might not have arisen which justified the expenditure of such a sum.

"If so," said Colonel Abadie, "they should have been paid direct by the Emergency Fleet Corporation and not charged up to ship construction."

Chairman Walsh then wanted to know if the item might not have represented the payment of bonuses for early deliveries. The witness would not acquiesce in this suggestion.

After having explained that $100,000 of the $260,000 item was charged to ship construction, Colonel Abadie said he had not learned to what other account the balance was charged. The difficulty arose, he pointed out, when the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation was unable to produce any supporting documents to explain this charge. Their explanation, according to Colonel Abadie, was that the papers had been inadvertently mislaid.

The disclosures were made by Colonel Abadie in explaining his resignation, which, he said, was due to a frame-up engineered by Martin J. Gillen.

"In my relations with Martin J. Gillen," he said, "he always proclaimed himself as my friend, even to the day that he conveyed the wish of the board with respect to my resignation. I looked upon his attitude at the time as being not unfriendly but just the way of a hot-headed, bulldozing individual. Mr. Gillen told me the action of the board was due more to personal antagonism than to anything connected with my work.

"I did not learn, however, until after my resignation had been tendered and accepted that my resignation had been forced by a frame-up engineered, in fact, by Martin J. Gillen, my pseudo friend. I was framed and my resignation requested not to protect but to thwart the interests of the Government."

The witness then went into details of disputes between himself and Gillen that arose over matters of administration and policy. He continued:

"The next and probably the most serious incident arose in connection with the audit of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, which I had urged be made in my memorandum of Jan. 5, 1920, addressed to Judge Payne. I gave Judge Payne in my memorandum fifty examples why an audit of the books should be made by some certified public accounting firm of standing. Judge Payne approved my recommendations,

Reasons for Selecting Bethlehem Co.

"I had many excellent reasons for selecting the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation as the shipbuilder whose books were the first to be audited. I selected the certified public accounting firm of Perley, Morse & Co. of New York City, first because they had never done any auditing work for the Bethlehem corporation and were in no way controlled by them; second, because they were well known as auditors and investigators of intricate questions, were familiar as any auditors in the country with shipbuilding accounting; and third, they had been employed on auditing ship costs by the Standard Oil Company and by the Luckenbach Steamship Company.

"My main reason for selecting the Bethlehem Corporation was that our plant protection section had found a great many serious irregularities because of Mr. Schwab's connection with the board, and though I was satisfied Mr. Schwab personally knew nothing of them and would not have monkeyed them, the influence from Mr. Schwab's dual position was prevalent just the same. Though I had never met Mr. Schwab at that time, I was satisfied from my knowledge of his record that he would be the first to condemn any injustice by his corporation to the Government and would willingly and gladly return any moneys improperly paid by the Government to his corporation.

Tells of Bonus Plan.

"My second reason was that the bonus plan of paying the employes of the Bethlehem Corporation was a strong incentive under a cost-plus control for the inclusion as a part of the cost of many items which should not be included but which would directly benefit the employes by increasing their bonus.

"I drew up a contract with Perley, Morse & Co., which was entered into on Jan. 1, 1920, and if this audit is completed, as directed in that contract, I am firmly of the opinion that the Government will have a basis for recovery of upward of $100,000,000 improperly paid to shipbuilders by the United States Shipping Board."

At this point Chairman Walsh interrupted the witness to ask:

"Was this an indication that if audits had been made in other districts the saving would have run up to hundreds of millions of dollars?"

"The audit was proceeding in an orderly manner in the main office of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation until certain discoveries were made in the main plant, to wit: a voucher for $260,000 which read 'for personal expenses of an officer of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation for the month of October, 1918,' $100,000 of which was arbitrarily charged to ship construction. There were no details or supporting papers to indicate how this money was spent.

Propaganda Sent to Payne.

"Insidious propaganda began reaching Judge Payne, criticising the enormous expense of audit, the wasting of Government money, &c. Personal calls by various members and attorneys representing the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, together with the propaganda referred to, caused Judge Payne to write me his memorandum, dated Feb. 17, which was received in my absence."

When Colonel Abadie was asked by Chairman Walsh for further details to substantiate his charge that "insidious propaganda" had caused Judge Payne to have the audit called off, the witness referred to an unsigned letter which had been received by Judge Payne and referred by him to the witness. He did not know who was the author of this document, but he said he assumed it was written by some one connected with the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

Colonel Abadie was then asked by Chairman Walsh whether he believed Judge Payne was a man who could be influenced in the performance of his duty by such "propaganda," and after a long reflection the witness said he preferred not to answer that question, and requested that the Chairman withdraw it, which Mr. Walsh did. Later on in his testimony he said he believed that shipbuilders who had claims against the Shipping Board were capable of using all means, even money, to influence Judge Payne and other members of the board; but he asserted that he had never been so approached by any one. As a result of the letter received by Judge Payne, Colonel Abadie said he was called to the office of the Chairman of the board and informed that he had no authority to make a contract with Perley Morse & Co.

Said He Exceeded Authority.

"Judge Payne took the position," he asserted, "that I had no authority from the board or from himself to employ Perley Morse & Co. Judge Payne also took the position that I had exceeded my authority and would have to get out of the contract as best I could. I proved by a memorandum of Jan. 5, and his approval of the same date, that he had authorized me to employ accountants and that I had not assumed responsibility except on his approval; that I was not in favor of stopping the audit and would not do so; that if he, as Chairman, wished to assume the responsibility, that was his affair; that I was then more convinced of the necessity of this audit proceeding without change then I was at the time I wrote my memorandum of Jan. 5.

"Judge Payne stated that the contract had to be canceled, and that if I would not do it he would proceed to send a telegram to Perley Morse & Co. cancelling the arrangement of Feb. 21, 1920. In answer to this, Perley Morse & Co. telegraphed Judge Payne as follows and sent me a similar telegram, dated Feb. 24, 1920:

"'Replying to your telegram of Feb. 21, most emphatically advise that in the interest of the Government, also your own, you immediately see Mr. Morse before we comply with your directions. Investigations to date show startling disclosures, which you cannot afford to ignore. We have evidence also that the desire for our discontinuance is inspired by Paul D. Cravath, one of the attorneys for the Bethlehem Steel Company. Wire or telephone answer immediately and Mr. Morse will come to Washington.

"'PERLEY MORSE & CO.'

Shows Telegram to Payne.

"I showed the telegram to Judge Payne and in answer to this he dictated a memorandum directing me to take care of the Bethlehem audit with my own staff. I protested that we did not have sufficient competent men to do it properly, also that if we attempted it we would not have the value of a disinterested and unbiased audit.

"During all this time Mr. Gillen acted in concert with, if he did not advise, Judge Payne. Probably a week had elapsed when Mr. Gillen called me to his office and said that we would have to reconsider employing Perley Morse because his previous boss, Barney Baruch, had called on him that day and had told him the audit should not be stopped—that it would be misunderstood and would reflect against the administration and every one connected with it. Mr. Gillen said that as much as he objected to Perley Morse & Co., he supposed he would have to find some way to straighten out the difficulty.

"Following this, efforts were made by Mr. Gillen to secure an amicable arrangement so the audit could proceed, but the Bethlehem Corporation refused to co-operate in any way if Perley Morse & Co. were to make the audit. Judge Payne reinstated my original agreement with Perley Morse & Co. by his letter dated March 1, reading as follows:

March 1, 1920.

Gentlemen:

The memorandum between yourself and Colonel Abadie, dated Jan. 10, is approved to the extent that you will proceed to make a complete audit of the books of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation in the Sparrow's Point plant, the Harlan & Hollingsworth plant and in the main Bethlehem plant.

When this work is completed it will be decided what further, if any, work will be needed. Very truly yours,

JOHN BARTON PAYNE,
Chairman.

Refused Admittance to Plants.

"At the same time he addressed a letter to Mr. Powell, the Vice President of the Bethlehem Corporation, advising him that Perley Morse & Co. had been employed to make a complete audit of the books of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation.

In explaining why Mr. Cravath objected to the audit by Perley Morse & Company, Colonel Abadie said it was because this firm of accountants had been suspended by the State Association of Certified Public Accountants for unprofessional conduct growing out of another case.

Denies Knowledge of Bribery.

The audit of the accounts of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, according to Colonel Abadie, was due to a desire on his part to establish a principle in the case of one of the "big fellows" on the assumption that the board then would have no difficulty in adjusting its accounts with small concerns. He denied he knew of any instance in which money had been used to bribe an official of the Shipping Board, asserting:

"I know of no instance where the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation used money or other means to procure the influence of any one connected with the Shipping Board." He likewise said he had never found any evidence to substantiate a belief that this corporation was in any way interested in having him "railroaded from office."

The hearing will be continued this morning at 9 o'clock at the Hotel Pennsylvania. The committee plans to continue with its investigation during the early part of next week. Among the witnesses to be heard are Charles E. Pies, former Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation; Edward N. Hurley, former Chairman of the Shipping Board; Commander R. D. Gatewood, head of the Division of Construction and Repairs, and Robert Hague, his predecessor.

Statement Issued by Grace.

Eugene G. Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Company last night issued the following statement relative to the testimony given by Colonel Abadie:

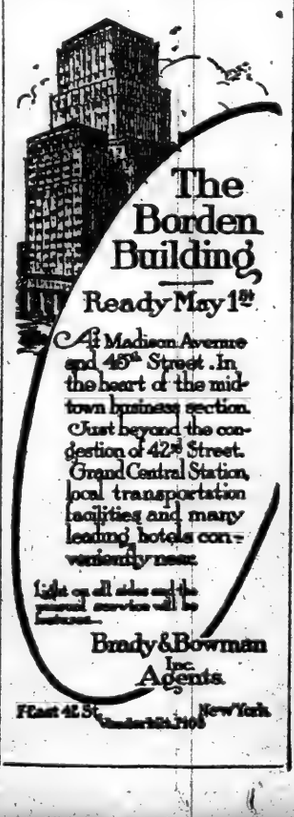
"The insinuations by Colonel Abadie that improper payments had been made by the Shipping Board to the Bethlehem ship building interests, especially during the period that Mr. Schwab was Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, is wholly baseless. No improper payments were made by the Shipping Board to the Bethlehem company, either before, during or after Mr. Schwab's term of service as Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation. I am sure that the officers of the United States Shipping Board will corroborate this statement, as our account has been audited and re-audited by their accountants.

"Reference seems to have been made by Colonel Abadie to an alleged expense voucher of $260,000, of which $100,000 is alleged to have been arbitrarily charged to ship construction. When this question was raised the matter was carefully investigated by the auditors of the U. S. Shipping Board, who found that no part of this item had been charged against the cost of U. S. Shipping Board ships.

"Not a dollar of the personal expenses of Mr. Schwab or of any officer of the Bethlehem company was ever charged against the cost of Government work.

"Mr. Schwab accepted the position of Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation very reluctantly, at the urgent request of President Wilson, after explaining to him that his company had large contracts with the Shipping Board and would be compelled to make further contracts. This was fully understood and it was agreed that Mr. Schwab should take no part in any dealings between the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the Bethlehem interests. This practice was strictly adhered to.

"Mr. Schwab is ready to appear before the Walsh committee and answer any questions regarding his activities as Director General of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, and regarding the relations between it and the Bethlehem interests."



CONGRATULATIONS TO THE Y. M. C. A.

OF all its activities for improving the material welfare and uplifting the standards of young manhood, National Thrift Week is one of the greatest projects ever undertaken by the Y. M. C. A.

The recognition of the fact that the young man's problems today are economic as well as spiritual is helping young men to attain greater results in the line of duty and to make a life as well as to make a living.

"To save money is to display ability and those who will not learn the lesson of thrift today must be prepared to learn a harder lesson later.

NATURE'S ORANGERY

Seventy years ago an orangery was a luxury of the wealthy land owners of Europe and America.

The orangery was an artificially warmed building for growing oranges—a delicacy denied to all but the rich.

Today, thousands of people start their breakfast at CHILDS with a luscious, juicy orange—

WHERE IS MARTENS? 6,000 RADICALS ASK

Soviet Envoy About to be Deported Disappoints Four Big Meetings.

REDS WISHED TO HONOR HIM

Sympathizers Had Gathered on East Side to Pay Farewell Tribute to Bolshevik.

Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, the "Soviet Ambassador," who has been missing on several occasions when agents of the Federal Government have sought him in the past, was missing again last night when about 6,000 radicals filled four halls in East Fourth Street, intending to make a notable international affair of his "deportation party."

The absence of the Bolshevist envoy on the eve of the date of his deportation duplicated earlier disappearances which occurred immediately after warrants and court orders for him were issued. Martens was "recalled" by his home Government while the deportation proceedings were pending against him, and has expressed himself as anxious to return to Russia.

None of the speakers could explain to the three disappointed audiences last night where Martens was, what he was doing or why he failed to appear and let the native and imported Reds and radicals of New York do honor to him and his country.

The National Defense Committee planned the "deportation party" and originally engaged Webster Hall for it, but the management of that auditorium canceled the contract when it learned that Martens was to be the guest. The committee then rented the Manhattan Lyceum at 60 East Fourth Street.

Thousands Gather to Hail Chief.

The Lyceum was packed early in the evening and thousands had gathered in the streets for a hail and farewell to the Soviet statesmen. The committee, taken by surprise at the popularity of the evening's hero, hired an additional hall on the first floor of the Lyceum and stowed 1,000 more radicals in it. Still the crowds came.

The energetic committee hired a third hall, the Astoria, a few doors away, and used it as a third warehouse for Marten's admirers. There was still a remnant out in the cold and a fourth hall, in the Astoria Building, was taken for them.

Scouts were posted on the street to watch for the coming of Martens. The committee quickly drafted a number of orators, who began from four platforms to congratulate Martens on his impending return to "a free country" and happy escape from the atmosphere of oppression.

Chairman a Conscientious Objector.

The Chairman-in-Chief of the four meetings was William Ramp, Ramp was a comparative unknown in recent radical history, but he explained his sudden rise from obscurity last night by saying that he had served time in Leavenworth for conscientious objecting.

The four teams of orators at the four meetings kept watching the doors eagerly and predicting from moment to moment the arrival of the Soviet official. Speaker after speaker rose and railed at the stupid nations which have not adopted the Soviet system.

Some of the speakers argued that the United States was after all a smart nation and would quickly wake up to the advantages of having a modern system and would then welcome the popular "Ambassador" back to Soviet America.

"When 'Ambassador' Martens comes back," said Robert Minor, the cartoonist, "we will have a meeting for him at Madison Square Garden, and the United States will probably send a battleship up the bay to meet him."

Fannie Horowitz praised Lenin. N. Antonoff lauded Trotzky. W. Mendelson traced the rise of Sovietism to its present prosperity. A. I. Goldstein treated of the theoretical superiority of Sovietism and Harry A. Walon of its practical excellence.

Telephones were kept in action seeking Martens at his Manhattan offices and at his Brooklyn residence. Meanwhile the audience began to grow restive. The conscientious objector stepped forward.

Martens Promised at 11 P. M.

"He has promised us he will be here at 11 o'clock on the dot, he announced. There was applause and cheers. Three major acclamations followed as the announcement was repeated in the three other halls. Several minor ones occurred as the hopeful message was translated into several other languages.

After 11 o'clock the minutes died hard. Finally Ramp came forward again. "We have received a message," he said. "Mr. Martens is busy with a pressing matter which makes it impossible for him to come here and receive our farewell."

DEPORTING MARTENS WON'T HIT VANDERLIP

The status of the contracts between Soviet Russia and Washington Baker Vanderlip of Los Angeles has not been affected by the order to deport Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, Soviet representative, according to a statement issued yesterday at the Soviet Russia Bureau, 110 West Fortieth Street. The statement was in the form of copies of letters exchanged between Mr. Martens and Mr. Vanderlip.

Under an order of deportation Martens and a number of his assistants will leave tomorrow on the Swedish-American liner Stockholm. According to the bureau, about forty persons will be in the party, including Gregory Weinstein, counsellor to the bureau, and Boris Roustam Bek, military adviser. The bureau was closed last night.

In a letter dated Jan. 3 and written in Los Angeles, Mr. Vanderlip advised Martens that he had heard of his departure "with much regret." He said that he thought that after the action of the Washington authorities there was nothing left for the Soviet representative but to go home.

MRS. W. E. D. STOKES REPELS NEW CHARGE

Supreme Court Justice Ford reserved decision yesterday on an application by W. E. D. Stokes for permission to file a fourth complaint in his suit for a divorce from Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes, filed two years ago, which is set for trial Feb. 7. The purpose of the new complaint is to narrow the charges against Mrs. Stokes to her conduct with four men, one of whom, Edgar T. Wallace, of San Francisco, has not been named before.

Counsel for Mrs. Stokes, who has been living with her parents in Denver, contended that her husband is trying to harass her by making this move on the eve of the trial, and pointed out that in the various complaints a dozen co-respondents have been mentioned, some of whom were not named, charging misconduct during a period of sixteen years, beginning two years before the marriage.

"I repel the vile and filthy charges the plaintiff has made against my character," said Mrs. Stokes in an affidavit. "I deny in the most solemn and sacred manner that I have at any time been guilty of misconduct with E. T. Wallace. I was never in the premises at 33 East Thirty-fourth Street, where it is alleged the act was committed."

MOTORMAN FOILS HOLD-UP.

Trenton Amateur Felled by Blow in Attempt to Rob Car.

Special to the New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., Jan. 20.—An amateur highwayman early today failed in an attempt to hold up a one-man trolley car on the New Jersey & Pennsylvania Traction Company's line at the Morrisville end of the Delaware River bridge.

Russel Hartpence, operator of the car, stopped to turn a switch. As he stepped from the car a masked man appeared from behind a bridge girder, flashed a pistol in his face and commanded him to turn over his money. The flight of passengers distracted the highwayman's attention and the motorman shot out a fist, which went home. The pistol flew from the robber's hand and he disappeared into the darkness.

STRAW VOTES TAKEN BY CLERGY ON BISHOP

Dr. Slattery Leads, With Dr. Stires Second, in Poll at Bronx Rectory.

HIGH CHURCHMEN ACTIVE

There were several informal conferences yesterday to discuss the qualifications for a successor to Bishop Charles Sumner Burch who will be elected next week. The friends of the three local rectors who are to be nominated are sure they are going to get their candidate elected. These men are the Rev. Dr. Ernest M. Stires, the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning and the Rev. Dr. Charles Lewis Slattery.

A group of members of the "Catholic Party" of the Episcopal Church were entertained at luncheon in the Aldine Club by the Rev. Father William H. A. Hall, curate at the Church of St. Ignatius, at West End Avenue and Eighty-seventh Street. The advisability was discussed of nominating some one to represent the High Church element other than the Rev. Dr. Manning. But no definite conclusion was reached.

Dr. Slattery led in a straw vote with Dr. Stires as a close second at a conference attended by eighteen of the clergy of the Bronx, held at the rectory of the Rev. Clifford S. Gregg of the Church of the Holy Faith, at 166 East 168th Street. Dr. Manning came in third.

At a conference on Wednesday of fifteen clergymen from Mount Vernon, Pelham, New Rochelle, Tuckahoe and Yonkers, held in the Church of the Ascension, Mount Vernon, Dr. Slattery received 11 votes, Bishop Nathaniel R. Thomas of Wyoming 3 and Dr. Stires 1.

The Rev. Dr. George Clarke Houghton, a leader of the "High" Church Party, issued a statement last evening from the rectory of the Church of the Transfiguration, at 1 East Twenty-ninth Street (Little Church Around the Corner), in which he advocated the election of the Rev. Dr. Edmund S. Rousmaniere, Dean of the Cathedral of St. Paul, Boston, Mass.

KING ALBERT'S AUTO KILLS GIRL, HURTS BOY

Belgian Ruler, in Great Distress, Carries Body to House and Tries to Console Parents.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—The automobile of King Albert while returning to Brussels today from Louvain knocked down two children in the village of Kesseldo. A girl of 5 years of age was killed outright and a boy 8 years old was seriously hurt.

King Albert, who was in the machine, was greatly perturbed by the event and personally carried the body of the little girl to the cottage of her parents and sought to console them in their loss. The King then fetched two doctors to attend the injured boy.

It is said that the children dashed out into the road from behind a truck which masked the oncoming machine and that they were under the wheels of the royal automobile before its driver saw them.

TROOPS BLOW UP HOUSES IN CORK

lin and Meath. For some time past the practice of carrying hostages in Government vehicles has been in force in the areas in South Ireland under martial law and the authorities are taking extraordinary precautions to protect troops from attack as far as mechanically possible.

Not only are lorries and cars in which forces travel equipped with armor plating, but I saw a new type of vehicle today at Dublin Castle which was enclosed except for an entrance at the rear with a substantial steel netting to ward off bombs and explosives.

In two instances yesterday the police surprised and dispersed ambushing parties. A reconnoitering patrol of police discovered the roads cut and fifty armed men concealed near Cahira National School on the Kilrush Road, County Clare. Fire was opened by the civilians, but they fled before the return fire of the police, who claim to have wounded four or five of their assailants.

In County Kilkenny police occupying Fiddown Barracks observed a party of men preparing an ambush presumably for the night patrol. An exchange of shots occurred and the attackers withdrew.

IRISH ARMY BROKEN, SAYS GEN. STRICKLAND

Martial Law Proving a Success, He Asserts—Women Make His Task Difficult.

CORK, Jan. 20 (Associated Press).—In the first formal interview given to the press since he came to Ireland, Major Gen. Strickland, in command of the troops, told The Associated Press today that martial law was proving a success. He discussed the reprisals and his letter to the Acting Lord Mayor explaining that he expected aid from the citizens in the shape of a vigilance committee of some kind to supply information to the military. He did not allude to his report on the burning of Cork.

Among the interesting statements made by General Strickland was one that women carried weapons concealed in their skirts to the ambushing forces. He declared he did not expect immediate results from martial law, but even before it was imposed the murder gang was finding it impossible to live at home and had begun to form flying columns in the Macroom district and parts of Tipperary and Kilkenny.

"The first result of martial law was to make these columns more active," he said. "The definite thing we are accomplishing is the breaking of the organization of the republican army. Until martial law was declared that organization was remarkably efficient, its formations were almost as well organized as those of the British Army.

"It might be taken as too optimistic to say that the present operations of the republican army are its dying kick, but I believe that to be a fact. How long they can keep going is a matter of conjecture. But it is only a question of time."

In reply to a question as to what results had been obtained up to the present by the proclamations demanding the surrender of arms, General Strickland admitted it probably was true that the number of arms personally surrendered could be counted on the fingers of one hand, but added: "In one way or another, arms are coming in."

General Strickland spoke bitterly of the part he alleged women were taking as arms bearers.

"The military are not making war on women or interfering with them in any way," he said. "So the difficulty of getting the arms in the possession of the women may be imagined."

Concerning the suggestion that the people of Cork form a vigilance committee, the General remarked:

"Sixteen months ago when I first came to Ireland, County Clare was a hotbed of republican activity. I went there and suggested to the leading people the formation of such an organization. I was met with the reply that the forces of intimidation were too strong for the plan to succeed.

"Under martial law I think the situation is different and there is some chance for well-disposed citizens to give aid."

General Strickland condemned indiscriminate reprisals, but held that official reprisals not only were justified but necessary. "But," he added, "I don't like to hear them called reprisals. I call them punishment."

O'CALLAGHAN SUMMONED.

Norfolk Inspector Will Allow Him Seaman's Rights in Reshipping.

NORFOLK, Va., Jan. 20.—Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork was notified late today by his counsel, Judge Joseph T. Lawless, to report here as quickly as possible to cancel the parole under which he was released after his arrival at Newport News as a stowaway. He is now in New York and is expected within the next two days, when he will be surrendered to J. J. Hurley, Special Immigration Inspector for this district.

O'Callaghan will not be summarily deported, Mr. Hurley declared tonight, but will be treated in exactly the same manner as any other seaman arriving in the United States. It is contended by his counsel that inasmuch as he worked part of his passage, the Lord Mayor is a seaman and as such will be recognized by Mr. Hurley, who will grant him an identification card which entitles him to "reship, foreign."

Being a "seaman" without visaed passports, O'Callaghan, it is said, will have a reasonable time to "reship," but cannot engage in any occupation ashore, or ship on a coastwise vessel.

Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork stated last night at his hotel apartment here that he would leave this morning for Norfolk to cancel the parole under which he had been at liberty since entering this country as a stowaway. Mr. O'Callaghan said he had received a message from his counsel at Norfolk requesting him to appear immediately to surrender himself to the authorities.

INQUIRERS TO ISSUE REPORT.

"Conclusions and Recommendations" Coming From "Committee of 100."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—A "preliminary report" to contain "conclusions and recommendations" is being prepared by the unofficial Committee of 100 Investigating Conditions in Ireland, and will be issued soon, it was announced today by the commission. The report will be based on statements made by persons who have appeared before the commission, it was said, but the hearings will be continued indefinitely and any new facts developed will be included in an appendix to the report now being prepared.

The commission did not hold hearings today on account of the delay in the arrival from New York of Miss Louise Bennett of Dublin, who was to have submitted a report of an investigation of Irish conditions by the Women's International League.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, Jan. 20.—The court-martial of the suspects arrested in connection with the "Bloody Sunday" assassinations will be held shortly in the City Hall, which is surrounded by barbed wire defenses and is in military occupation. It is also close to Dublin Castle and has been selected probably for the reason that better facilities are thus afforded to the authorities for the protection of witnesses.

The accused will be tried in batches on charges of individual murder, and the first case is expected to occupy several days. Leading counsel of the English as well as the Irish bar will be engaged.

Esmonde to Leave Australia.

MELBOURNE, Jan. 20.—The Australian Government having refused permission to Osmond Grattan Esmonde to land in Australia on the ground that he was a Sinn Fein sympathizer, Mr. Esmonde has booked his return passage to England. He is the son of Sir Thomas H. G. Esmonde, former Member of Parliament for Wexford, Ireland.

Sinn Feiners Raided in London.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Alleged Sinn Fein centres in this city were subjected to simultaneous raids by Scotland Yard detectives late last night, says The Daily Graphic. Buildings in both the East End and West End, notably in Bayswater, Barnsbury, Paddington, Stepney, Eastham and Pentwell, were raided, and it is stated a number of important documents were seized.

Make-a-will Day

THERE isn't anything in the world more important than providing today for tomorrow. The children of today will be the leaders tomorrow, and they must be provided for.

IN a recent talk at the Shelter of the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, General Pershing said: "After all, it was for the children that the great war was fought. We men wanted to make things better for the boys and girls who must eventually take our places."

WHEN you make your will today do not forget that you can help the boys and girls who must eventually take your place. Nearly 10,000 such children are rescued from cruelty and neglect every year by the New York Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. In the forty-six years since its incorporation the society has benefited over a million children.

SEEKS WOMEN'S AID IN PRIMARY CHANGE

Glynn Tells Republicans Direct System Wastes $1,000,000 a Year.

ECONOMY PLANS ENDORSED

Members of Women's State Conference Also Denounce League for Women Voters.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—Republican women voters of the State in conference here were urged today by George A. Glynn, Republican State Chairman, to aid Governor Miller and the majority in the Legislature in their effort to repeal the direct primaries, and I want to impress old-time party convention as a medium for nominations.

Chairman Glynn condemned the direct primary system particularly, he said, for its enormous cost and the lack of beneficial return to the people.

"We are paying an enormous sum for the direct primary system," he told the women. "It is costing the State of New York at least $1,000,000 a year. The entire system is unfair to the taxpayers. You don't get a thing out of direct primaries, and I want ti impress upon you that it affords no benefits to the poor man.

"Entering a campaign under the direct primaries is no place for the poor man. Why, if his campaign consisted solely in sending out a mailed statement to every enrolled Republican voter in the State it would cost him $36,000.

"The old town meeting was the finest institution in the country. There was always a clash of human minds. There is always such a clash of minds except in the cemetery. But in the old convention days real men took part in State government. They went to the convention, fought their struggles and then went home and gave their undivided support to the ticket the convention named."

Chairman Glynn's plea to the women came after they had endorsed Governor Miller's economy and retrenchment program and had vehemently assailed the New York State League of Women Voters as a non-partisan organization opposed to the Republican Party.

Women from practically every section of the State joined in the general denunciation of the League of Women Voters. Mrs. Theodore Phelps of Cortland termed the league "the tail-end of the Socialist kite." Others declared that members of the league were not wanted in the Republican Party, while Mrs. Beatrice B. Stevenson of Kings County said that the advocacy of non-partisanship by the league had "nearly wrecked the Republican organization in Kings County last election."

"If a woman wants to belong to this non-partisan organization, let her keep out of the Republican organization," she said. "We want her to know there is no place for her among us."

Under the leadership of Mrs. Arthur L. Livermore, of New York, State Women's Chairman, the conference voted to organize a national Republican women's organization to begin a country-wide campaign of educating women to their electoral duties. The officers of the proposed new organization will be the women heads of the regular Republican organizations.

The educational features will include the extending of knowledge to all Republican women of the intricacies of the election law and the workings of city government and the duties of local and State administrative officers. Economy in government will also be dwelt upon.

As a start in advocating economy, the women not only endorsed Governor Miller's program by adopting a resolution offered by Mrs. Luther W. Nott of Oswego, but in addition pledged their aid in every way to help the Governor in carrying out his plans.

Mrs. Ida B. Sammis, former Assemblywoman, explained the workings of the Legislature to the conference.

The conference discussed but took no action on the proposal that women be permitted to do jury duty in New York State, which the League of Women Voters will ask the Legislature to approve.

15,000 STRIKE IN BOSTON.

All Construction of Building Trade Employers' Association Held Up.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—A strike of workers in the building trades today halted operations on all construction work in which members of the Building Trades Employers' Association were interested.

The United Building Trades Council said that 7,000 of its members had left their jobs, that 4,000 others were idle for lack of work, and that 17,000 were at work under wage agreements with independent contractors calling for a continuation of the old basic wage scale of $1 an hour for journeymen. The Employers' Association officials, admitting that all their construction work was stopped, set the number of strikers at 15,000.

With the exception of 3,000 or 4,000 other men engaged on small jobs, they said there was no construction work for about 12,000 other men of the building trades who were classed as idle.

The council has offered to sign an agreement at the old rates, union officials said. Secretary Walsh of the Employers' Association said that before the reduction to 90 cents an hour was made an agreement at the old schedules was offered the council and was refused.

FREE SOUP FOR UNEMPLOYED

Preparations Are Made in Toledo to Feed Many Idle Men.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Preparations for the installation of a soup kitchen where thousands of Toledo's unemployed may be fed were made today and may have to be put in effect almost immediately, it was announced by John R. Cowell, who has been appointed Emergency Labor Commissioner.

The soup kitchen and bread line will be used only as a last resort, Mr. Cowell said. Toledo is facing the most serious unemployment situation in its history. Today there were present at the Social Service Federation nearly 2,000 men without breakfast and pleading for immediate work. Seventy-five of them were put to work by the city, but the others were compelled to go empty-handed.

One of the applicants had eleven children at home. Some came with worn-out shoes and clothing so ragged as to expose them to the cold. The City Council recently appropriated $25,000 to furnish work for idle men.

REVIVES BLUE SUNDAY LAWS

Berwick, Pa., Bans Soda Fountains, Gasoline Stands and Newspapers.

BERWICK, Pa., Jan. 20.—Strict enforcement of Sabbath observance laws here is demanded of the police in an order by the Berwick Council published today. Ordinances enacted so long ago that the provisions of many of them have been forgotten will be revived.

Under the order soda fountains, ice cream parlors and newspaper stands will be directed by the police to remain closed on Sunday hereafter. Gasoline stations are included in the ban, and motorists whose supply runs out here will be compelled to remain until Monday unless some can be borrowed.

No Sunday newspapers will be permitted to be sold either on the streets or in stores, and drug stores may only fill prescriptions and dispense medicines.

MINES REDUCE WAGES.

Cuts in Montana and Minnesota—Sedalia Railroad Shops Close.

HIBBING, Minn., Jan. 20.—Two Hibbing mining companies, the Pickands-Mathers Company and the Hanna Ore Company, today announced wage decreases of 15 per cent. effective Feb. 1. All other independent ore companies announced that the present wage scale would not be changed.

BUTTE, Mon., Jan. 20.—Under a new wage scale which went into effect in the copper mines today all workers receiving $5.75 or more a day were reduced 75 cents. Bonus payments to employes on a salary basis also were reduced.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 20.—Operations will be curtailed at the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railway shops at Dennison, Texas, as well as those in Sedalia, Mo., and Parsons, Kan., from Jan. 26 to Feb. 1, it was announced today.

L. & N. Suspends Coal Shipments.

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Jan. 20.—The Louisville & Nashville Railroad ordered the suspension, effective today until further notice, of all shipments of contract coal from the Western Kentucky field. Several mines are idle. Coal men say that slack freight shipments prompted the order.

PLANNING A MITCHEL WALK.

Architects at Work on Details of Park Memorial to the Late Mayor.

The detailed plans for the proposed walk as a memorial to John Purroy Mitchel in Central Park are being worked out by Thomas Hastings and Donn Barber, architects, and Charles Downing Lay, landscape architect, in consultation with representatives of the Department of Parks and the Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity, according to a statement yesterday from the Mitchel Memorial Committee. Preliminary approval of the plans was given by the Board of Estimate on Friday.

The special memorial for Mayor Mitchel, the form of which has not yet been determined upon, will be located at a point near Vista Rock. The plans for the memorial walk are being worked out by Hastings & Lay. The designing of the memorial proper has been intrusted to Barber.

EXEMPTS STOCK DIVIDENDS.

Proposed Act Would Free Them From State Income Tax.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—Stock dividends which, since the Federal income tax went into effect, have been used as a means of distributing "surplus" profits, will be immune under the State income tax law if a bill introduced today by Senator Holland S. Duell of Westchester is enacted.

By amendment to Section 10 of the Personal Property law, stock dividends are excluded from the definition of "income on personal property" and in a new section which the bill would add, defined as "an issue or delivery of shares of capital stock of a corporation or association made for capitalizing whole or part of surplus profits." In the absence of expressed direction to the contrary, in any will or instrument declaring a trust, the bill provides, a stock dividend or extraordinary dividend or distribution of surplus profits shall be construed to be principal and not income.

RAILROAD TRAVEL LIGHTER.

Passengers Decrease a Third on Hudson River Division.

Special to the New York Times.

PEEKSKILL, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Railroad travel has diminished one-third on the Hudson River Division of the Central since the 4-cent rate went into effect one month ago, and the use of Pullmans has greatly decreased, the custom now being for travelers to sleep in day coaches instead of paying the 50 per cent. increase.

Many employes have been laid off in the Harmon shops. Trains to New York, excepting in commuting hours, have many empty seats and entire coaches with no passengers in them are not infrequent.

BRIAND TO GERMANY: 'DISARM AND PAY'

all States growing out of the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, agreements that will permit each of these countries to reconstruct itself and live.

The situation in the Orient calls for particular attention. It is urgent that peace shall be realized with Turkey, and that, taking count of new circumstances, conversations should take place with our Allies to solve the Oriental question."

No Recognition of Soviet.

M. Briand then restated the French determination not to recognize the Soviets of Russia, saying:

"We have forgotten nothing of the sacrifices of the great Russian nation, made at the beginning of the war for the cause of liberty.

"The Russian people generously shed its blood and we guard the unforgettable memory of that. But in the present situation, just as the Governments which have preceded us, we will not recognize the power of the Soviets.

"We can resume relations with Russia only when there shall be at Moscow a régime which really represents the Russian people and is ready to keep engagements undertaken by the previous Governments of that country.

"Bolshevism is business of the Russians so long as it remains confined to its frontiers and we have no right in intervening in the internal affairs of Russia, but it is impossible to admit that the armies of the Soviets can go outside their territory to attack our allies.

"Finally care for the grandeur and prosperity of France imposes upon the Government of the republic the duty to guard the representation of our country wherever great international interests are in play.

"Such is the program of foreign policy which we propose for your approbation."

Four Principal Points of the Program.

PARIS, Jan. 20 (Associated Press).—Premier Aristide Briand presented the program of his Ministry to the Chamber of Deputies and the Senate today. The program contains four outstanding points, namely:

Germany must disarm and pay the reparations due from her.

France has the force to compel respect for engagements taken with her and would be able to use it if necessary, but it is in peace she wants to bring Germany to fulfill her obligations.

Peace with Turkey must be made effective, account being taken of new circumstances.

France will not intervene in the internal affairs of Russia, but cannot admit that the Soviet armies shall cross the Russian frontiers to attack the allies of France.

The other principal points of the Briand program, which was received with applause, are reduction of the military service without weakening the military force of France so long as Europe still is unpacified, reduction of expenditures, reorganization of the financial administration, intensification of reconstruction and indulgence toward the working classes.

"The approval of the members of the Chamber was manifested with the greatest vigor when the Premier said the prosperity of Germany, the aggressor, in contrast with the ruin of the victorious people would be a challenge France could not tolerate.

Several interpellations criticised the composition of the Ministry, and some referred to the antagonism shown by M. Briand to the working class.

Adrien Pressemane, Socialist, addressing M. Loucheur, Minister of the Liberated Regions, and M. Doumer, Minister of Finance, charged that their predecessors had neglected the valuable cooperation of the Federation of Labor in the reconstruction.

"Powerful American financers," he said, "proposed to advance large sums to the reconstruction organization, in which the Federation of Labor was represented, but the Government was so slow in entering into a contract with those financiers that the affair is not yet concluded. Large private interests are without doubt opposed to it."

Only a Few Interpellations Heard.

Only three of the twenty speakers who had given notice of their intention to interpellate the Government on internal and foreign affairs or the general policy had finished their remarks at 6:30 o'clock, when the Chamber adjourned until tomorrow. The debate is not expected greatly to influence the final vote, which appears likely to give a very large majority to the Government, the most important groups having decided to vote confidence.

"We have a treaty of peace with Germany," the Ministerial declaration read, "but we have not real peace as yet—a peace which will solidify establish France's essential rights and assure her security. We shall obtain that security only if Germany is disarmed. That is for us the vital question, marking out for the Government its first and most sacred duty. We shall not fail in it."

On the subject of reparations the declaration says:

"The reconstitution of our ravaged soil, our destroyed industries and the equilibrium of our finances are possible only if Germany executes the reparations clauses of the Treaty of Versailles. To this end our allies will give us their support. Unless the frightful iniquity of war is repaired, a resumption of normal relations and commercial exchanges will remain impossible."

The declaration points out that none of Germany's factories was destroyed, that its forces of production remain intact, and that even the conditions of exchange which defeat inflicted upon her open the widest hopes for her commercial expansion.

Germany's prompt economic revival is foreseen, and the declaration says any idea of deprecating or obstructing it is far from the thoughts of the Government.

Wants Treaty Peacefully Executed.

"But," it is added, "prosperity of the aggressor coming after her defeat, in contrast with the ruin of the victorious people, would be, according to the most elementary morality, a challenge France cannot accept. We have the force, and would be able to use it if necessary, to impose respect for all the undertakings signed; but Republican France is essentially pacific, and it is in peace she wants to bring Germany to execute the obligations she has signed."

Referring to the relations of France and the United States, M. Briand declares that the imperishable bonds formed on the battlefields in the war will "guarantee our union in peace as in war." He adds:

"We are sure our American friends will give us for the reparation of the damages we sustained the same support that decided the victory in the great war, in which we defended together the cause of civilization."

Referring to the attitude of the United States toward the League of Nations the declaration says:

"We respect the scruples which made them hesitate to endorse a given League of Nations, of which, however, they have never doubted the generous and beneficent principles."

Confidence in England Expressed.

The declaration expresses confidence that England will aid as much as she can in the efforts to arrive at an understanding between the Allies, which it says is a prime necessity to the settlement of all questions concerning peace now in suspense.

"France claims her due and all her due," the declaration says. "She does not demand the impossible; but what now is most important is that all facilities of the debtor for payment in money and in any other form shall be applied to the profit of the creditor."

BRITISH CABINET CONFERS.

Ministers Discuss Questions to Come Before Premiers' Conference.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 20. — Premier Lloyd George presided at a Cabinet meeting held today for the purpose of discussing the subjects to come before the Paris conference, which will be attended by the Prime Minister and Lord Curzon.

As regards the reparations question The Daily Chronicle's political correspondent gathers that the Allies are not objecting to certain payments in kind being credited against the cash obligations of the Germans. This does not mean that the immediate obligations of the Germans could all be accepted if paid in kind, or that there should be no money payments. This is a matter for further consideration in Paris.

The correspondent says that another serious subject for the consideration of the Paris conference is the condition of Austria. The proposals of the Austrian section of the Reparation Commission will have to be gone into. The proposal to advance British and French credits up to £50,000,000 is not likely to be popular either in France or Great Britain, and yet the danger of a complete collapse in Austria is regarded as very serious and as likely to involve all European countries.

Further, the French Government desires the revision of the Turkish treaty, and the British representatives await the reasons that are to be adduced. With whom such revised treaty should be made if agreed on by the Allies is another difficult question. The French are supposed to favor relations with Mustapha Kemal, but his position is a curious one from the point of view of responsibility.

If possible, international trade and financial policies may be considered in Paris.

FIGHTS NEW POWER FOR LOCKWOOD BODY

THINKS LANDLORDS SUFFER

Warns That Inquiry on Banks and Insurance Would Show Distrust of State Heads.

The Real Estate Board of New York, in an announcement yesterday, said that it was opposed to the Lockwood Committee being granted an extension of time by the Legislature and also wide powers to examine financial institutions and insurance companies.

The announcement was the first made by any institution since the declaration was made three weeks ago by Samuel Untermyer, counsel to the Lockwood Committee, that the opposition to the committee was "underground." Although Mr. Untermyer made a special trip to Albany on Wednesday to "smoke out" the opponents of the Lockwood Committee, nobody appeared before the Senate Finance Committee in opposition to the further grant of power mentioned. Mr. Untermyer was surprised when the opposition did not come out in the open at the hearing.

The Real Estate Board has forwarded a communication to Senator Hewitt, Chairman of the Finance Committee, according to a resolution of the Board of Governors.

The communication said that the housing problem could be solved only by the building of thousands of multi-family houses. Even if the money, material and labor were available the houses would not be built, it was contended, because under the existing laws the business of building houses "not only offers less profit than does other industrial investments, but is so bound round with restrictions and regulations as to be utterly unattractive to either speculative or investing builders."

It was asserted that no man cares to invest in a business the returns from which could be obtained "only by a multiplicity of litigations, in which he is at the mercy of partial Judges and biased juries." Such as the situation in New York, "with millions of dollars in rents tied up in Municipal Courts, where the landlords' rights are adjudicated by juries composed as a rule by tenants." The shortage of houses, it was asserted, would not be remedied by the proposed enlargement of the jurisdiction of the Lockwood committee.

The board believes that a "sensationally conducted investigation of the business of the financial institutions and insurance companies at a time when many staple assets, due to temporary conditions, are below their normal values, might have serious consequences."

"Surely the Legislature has full confidence in the Superintendent of Banks and in the Superintendent of Insurance," the statement continues. "A resolution that provides for the investigation of the institutions supervised by those officers would apparently be tantamount to an investigation of the administration of the officers mentioned. If that be one of the real purposes of the resolution, it would seem that such an investigation, if necessary, should be conducted by the appropriate standing committee of the Legislature and not by a special joint committee on housing."

SILK INDUSTRY IS GAINING.

Middletown Mills Prepare for Resumption of Full Time.

Special to The New York Times.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Convinced that the bottom has been reached in the slump of the silk industry, and that the silk situation throughout the country is improving, one large factory here is largely increasing its machines and operatives over any previous time. Another has placed all employes back on full time. Retail stores here are clearing their shelves for new silks.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Jan. 20.—Overtime work has been started at the Windsor Print Works here. An increase in the number and size of orders is given as the reason.

QUAKER CITY STRIKERS RIOT.

Three Shipyard Workers Are Beaten Up on Their Way Home.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 20.—Seven riot calls were turned in tonight from widely scattered districts shortly after workmen from the Cramp Shipbuilding Company, where a strike is in progress, had left for home. In most cases the crowds were dispersed without difficulty.

One man, Sicilen Entrikin, was beaten unconscious by supposed strike sympathizers. Two other workmen were beaten and several reported having been attacked. Blackjacks were said to have been used by the attackers today.

The extra police force guarding the plant was increased today by seventy patrolmen and ten mounted police.

DRAFT 'CONSTITUTION' FOR CHICAGO INDUSTRY

Workers and Officials of Gas Company Meet to Fix Plan for Equal Voice on Labor.

Special to the New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—A "constitutional convention" of workers and management met today to set up a system of democratic government in the People's Gas, Light and Coke Company. The convention was composed of fifty-five delegates elected by Australian ballot by the employes and fifty-five delegates picked by officials of the company and its purpose is to draft a "constitution" that will give the workers an equal voice and vote with the "bosses" in settling all questions affecting them in their relations with the company, such as wages, hours and conditions of employment.

So far the employe representation, or joint council system, although adopted in three hundred manufacturing and mercantile establishments in America, has not made much headway in public utilities, and the gas company, one of the oldest utilities is paving the way for the public service industries.

Bernard J. Mullaney, who used to be secretary to Mayor Busse, acted as Chairman in his best basso profundo, and Samuel Insull, President of the company, made the "keynote" speech.

A rough draft of a platform or constitution had been prepared by an outside bureau of economics. The delegates are to go over it section by section and hammer it into shape.

After the convention the constitution is to be printed and distributed among the employes, after which it will go to a referendum vote for adoption or rejection. For the present the proposed plan applies only to 2,500 unorganized employes. Later it may be offered to the unionized departments.

WOULD REVIVE PIECEWORK.

Railroad Officials Tell of Lowered Production Under Hour Rate.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—New York Central Railway executives informed the United States Railway Labor Board today that it now requires eleven hours to repair a pump that formerly was repaired under the piecework system in less than five hours. This is one of numerous instances cited by W. L. Hazzard, supervisor of the material routing system of that railroad, to support his conviction that "increased production must come through the restoration of piecework."

Comparing 1920 production with that of 1917, he declared that man hours increased 62.9 per cent., while production increased only 13.7 per cent.

E. J. Thfil, assistant to the General Superintendent of Rolling Stocks for the same road, testified that 92 per cent. of the men on the New York Central, as soon as the hour rate of 58 cents was established by order of the United States Railroad Administration, decreased their production from 53 cents an hour rate to 34 cents an hour, calculated on the actual amount of work done.

E. P. Poole, Supervisor of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, said that the amount of time to do certain kinds of work increased as much as 200 per cent. after piecework was abolished and the hour rate of pay substituted.

SHIP MEN NEAR AGREEMENT.

Owners Expect Marine Officers to Agree to Wage Cut.

The American Steamship Owners' Association, 17 Battery Place, yesterday gave out a copy of a telegram received from Captain Eugene E. O'Donnell, Chairman of the Committee on Wages and Working Conditions Aboard Ship, stating that the conference held in Washington on Wednesday night with the masters, mates and pilots and engineers, in which the shipowners had asked for a modification of the existing wage agreement and elimination of all overtime, had been very satisfactory. Favorable action was expected from the marine officers, said the message.

"The deck officers and engineer officers expressed a desire to co-operate with the shipowners in obtaining higher efficiency in the operation of our American ships," Captain O'Donnell's telegram said, "and promised immediate consideration of the eliminating of all overtime and a modification of wages."

PLAN TO FIGHT PRINTERS.

Employing Concerns Moving to Oppose 44-Hour Week.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20.—Employes of job and commercial printers throughout the Middle West have been asked to organize against the demands of the International Typographical Union and allied unions for inauguration of the forty-four-hour working week plan, it was announced tonight by the Advisory Committee of the St. Louis branch of the Printers' League of America.

The movement was prompted, it was said, by the action of what was called a "minority group" of printers in the East, who have agreed to operate on a forty-four-hour week basis beginning May 1.

The proposed Middle Western organization takes in the territory between St. Paul and Minneapolis, Cleveland, Denver and the State of Oklahoma.

SUIT TO BREAK UP CLOTHING UNION

as already indicated, are of a highly emotional type. They are daily being taught by the leaders of the union to hold our laws and institutions in contempt. It is hardly necessary because of its general reputation for radicalism, Socialism, syndicalism and lawlessness to refer at length to the past record of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America for violence and lawlessness."

Conspiracy Is Alleged.

The complaint states that the application for an injunction pending the suit is made: first, because the defendants have entered into a conspiracy to destroy the good-will and trade name of the plaintiff; second, that the plaintiff, "having during the last five years unsuccessfully attempted to carry on its business and adjust its relations with labor through dealings with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America," has elected to conduct its business and its relations with its workers, "that such workers shall at all times during the continuance of their employ refrain from becoming members of or in any way affiliated with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America"; third, "assuming that the strike which is conducted by the defendants against the plaintiff was called for a lawful purpose, the same is being conducted in an unlawful manner, in that the defendants are attempting to carry out their plans and purposes by unlawful means, to wit, by the use of threats, intimidation, violence and direct action."

Louis Lipschitz, the process server, handed the papers in the suit to Mr. Hillman at the offices of the Amalgamated shortly before 6 o'clock last night.

In a statement later Mr. Hillman described the action as "the most ludicrous pretense of a suit," adding that this latest effort of the manufacturers really was not intended for the union.

Hillman's View of Suit.

"It is their last effort to hold in line the manufacturers whom they misled into this lockout and who are now breaking from control," the union leader said. "This leadership has no expectation of having clothes made by injunction, nor does it really expect to scare the solid membership of the Amalgamated. It does hope to frighten or fool its own slipping followers.

"Some such sign of the manufacturers' desperation was expected. A few days ago the word was given out that the leaders would issue an important statement, which would deter those manufacturers who were moving to resume relations with the Amalgamated and end the lockout. At the start these manufacturers thought they could afford a lockout and let the season go by default. In the last week, however, they have learned from buyers in town that their business was going elsewhere and that they themselves were to blame for having ruined their market, first by profiteering and then by a lockout.

"The members of the manufacturers' association are now learning that the public realizes what are the consequences of this war—that it is a war against a community, a war against the manufacturers themselves as New Yorkers. The manufacturers are in panic. But neither their panic nor their leaders' fireworks have made any clothes in New York, though clothes are being made in increasing quantity by firms which are settling with the Amalgamated."

DUO-ART

Reproducing Piano

ALFRED CORTOT, the famous French pianist, is one of Europe's most distinguished musicians and teachers. He is a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and has been signally honored by his government in other ways in recognition of his scholarly attainments and brilliant talent. The concerts given by Cortot in this country last winter were among the season's most important musical events. And his tour of the country this season is eagerly awaited by critics and lovers of the pianoforte. Cortot's genius places him in the first rank of pianists of this generation.

Mr. Cortot says of the Duo-Art Piano.

"I see in the Duo-Art an instrument which must create new devotees of our art; an instrument capable of developing even in those considered as rebellious to musical sentiment, an enhanced comprehension of its highest manifestations.

"Surely the Duo-Art Piano has a beautiful mission to fulfill; it is a superb contribution to the art of music."

You are cordially invited to visit Aeolian Hall to hear the recordings of Cortot and the other great pianists on the Duo-Art Piano

Our Hat's in the Ring—It's Now a Fight to a Finish

Self-Preservation, Plus an Ambition to Really Serve the Public, Leaves No Other Alternative

The virile blood of any good American citizen, we believe, would not permit of any other decision than we have made—namely, to appeal direct to the public.

And this we say not in a spirit of defiance nor an ambition to fight for the mere joy of fighting, but as a matter of principle and the plain right to exist. There is no other alternative.

Either we must sell our men's clothing direct to you as an individual or close down our factories, discharge our help and go out of business.

Cancellations and threats to boycott us into submission or extinction form the very emphatic mandate that has been handed us. It's true we do not charge nor believe the entire retail clothing store trade encourages this un-American form of boycott, but the cancellations we have already received, the threats that have already been made, coupled with the efforts even put forth to stop us from advertising in the newspapers, are plain enough intimations of what we are to expect if we attempt to continue as wholesalers to the clothing store trade, as heretofore.

All because, forsooth, we violated certain ethics of the trade that holds that no clothing manufacturer may sell direct to individuals, ethics which we all believe in and applaud in normal times, but violation, even so innocently, as in our case, under the conditions that are prevailing, no truly fair spirited merchant can condemn, we believe.

We were confronted, like many other high class clothing manufacturers, with unusual and serious circumstances, brought about by the refusal of the public to buy of the retail clothing merchants, who, in turn, did not buy of us and most other manufacturers. Our stockrooms in consequence remained jammed with thousands of fine suits and overcoats with no other apparent market in sight. The outlook was black—very serious, with no apparent solution but to offer our stocks direct to the public at exactly the same prices we charged our retail trade.

This, in sheer desperation, we finally decided to do. The response of the public was instantaneous and their buying commensurate with their elation over the values we offered, in every sense highly extraordinary, not only in price, but in character, style, fit and finish, comparable only to real custom work and made of 100 per cent. wool.

Atop of this real service to the public came the aforesaid challenge to stop selling at retail, and atop of that challenge we now make answer that we will continue serving the public direct. We may be wrong, but we feel that once the public is thoroughly enlightened as to the facts in controversies of this character, and, moreover, are concerned as deeply as we have hinted, in a financial sense, at least, justice will be done.

Therefore we will continue selling to the public direct, which means that you can walk into our factory showrooms at 810 Broadway, opposite 11th Street, and select a suit or overcoat which we promise you will prove the most astounding bargains you have yet seen—50% to 75% below retail prices—cut on advance patterns, 100 per cent. pure wool, with finest of linings and trimmings and the best of workmanship.

The woolens we use, indeed, are the finest. Ask any expert about the Thomas H. Wilson, French-Rivers, Etna, Dun's and Wanskuck woolen mills and you will appreciate the character of materials we are using—absolutely the finest in America.

And our prices for both suits and overcoats are not $40, $50, $60 and $70—but $20, $25, $30 and $35—not a cent higher. Also we ask no charge for alterations.

But we do not want you to take anything for granted. We want you to demand corroboration of every statement made here. Look over our books, see the cancelled contracts that our former retail store trade have sent us, which prove in black and white that you can now buy fine men's clothing actually at lower prices than paid us by the retailers.

If you believe in fair play and a real reduction in clothing prices, we ask your co-operation, guaranteeing the above absolutely authentic, and, further, to return your money instantly and without a word if you can duplicate our values anywhere, or if you feel dissatisfied in any respect.

Our factory—one flight up—will be open from 8:30 A. M. to 7:30 P. M. during this sale.

TWO PAID $11,282 ASKED BY BRINDELL

Wrecking Contractors Testify at Trial of Building Boss as to Demands He Made.

COURT WARNS UNTERMYER

Albert A. Volk and Louis J. Cohen, demolition contractors, testified yesterday at the trial of Robert P. Brindell, that they had paid the head of the Building Trades Council $11,282. Brindell is accused of having extorted $5,000 of Max Aronson for calling off a strike on a building Aronson was erecting.

Brindell, according to Cohen, demanded money in payment of a "bet" or for "commission" when he said he aided the witness to obtain contracts. Cohen said he paid Brindell $4,250 in connection with four contracts. The highest payment was $3,000 after Cohen received the contract to alter the interior of the Hotel Manhattan, although Brindell demanded $5,000.

"You be good to me and I'll be good to you," the witness said Brindell declared. "I've got the builders and they have all got to come to me."

Brindell asked Cohen what he was going to do with the rubbish from the Hotel Manhattan job and Cohen said he would permit a sub-contractor to haul it away. Brindell introduced him to a contractor named Epstein and suggested that the two "get together." Epstein got the job of hauling away the rubbish at $7 a truckload and the George A. Fuller Company paid Cohen $8.40 a load.

Under the questioning of Samuel Untermyer for the prosecution, Cohen said that after he told the foregoing story before the Lockwood committee the Fuller Company made him return as a rebate a dollar on every truckload of rubbish hauled from the hotel, alleging that Brindell had forced them to enter into the contract with Cohen.

After making payments several times Brindell again asked Cohen, apropos of another contract, "How about some money."

"Gee, that must be a disease," the witness said he replied, to which the defendant declared that he was not in business for his "health," adding that he had the entire building situation under his control.

Mr. Volk said his payments of $7,082 to Brindell included initiation fees and dues for men in the old established House Wreckers' Union, although the men whose dues he paid did not know they were members of Brindell's Council. In the main he repeated his testimony given before the Lockwood committee.

"Will you take a check?" Volk testified he once asked Brindell.

No. No checks. Money is what I want—hundreds or better," the labor leader answered. Brindell referred to a demand for $25,000 to settle a dispute on the Gotham National Bank Building as for 25 "berries," a "berry" being $1,000. This was roughly at the rate of $1,000 a floor.

"What's in it for me?" was a question frequently on Brindell's lips, according to the witnesses.

On one of these occasions Volk asked: "Has there got to be something on every job?"

"What do you think?" retorted Brindell.

"The first money I gave you," the witness said he told Brindell, "was my wife's Buick car. The money you now want is my Lancia."

Justice McAvoy threatened to adjudge Mr. Untermyer in contempt of court during the examination of Cohen. Mr. Untermyer tried a number of times to get a statement from Cohen regarding his ability to get contracts since he testified before the Lockwood committee. Martin Littleton, counsel for Brindell, blocked every question by an objection, and finally Mr. Untermyer turned to the Court and said he did not want to make any statement in explanation.

"You're not going to make any statement," said Justice McAvoy. "It's not a question of whether you want to or not," he said. "A statement will be regarded as contempt of court." Mr. Untermyer dropped his line of questioning.

The trial will continue at 10 A. M. today.

PACIFIC COAST TALK IS HEARD IN SPAIN

Wireless Telephone Message Meant for Annapolis Reaches Across the Atlantic Also.

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 20.—An account of a remarkable wireless telephone conversation, extending Wednesday evening from Avalon, Catalina Island, in the Pacific, across the continent and over the Atlantic to Spain and Portugal, is given by Frank Axe, who has an amateur radio station at Escondido, in this county.

Axe said he was listening in when he heard the Avalon operator tell the operator at San Pedro that he was going to try to reach Annapolis. He was successful. The answer from Annapolis, he says, was that the message was heard "loud," and that it had been heard by operators in Spain and Portugal also.

MULE KICKS MAN, BREAKS LEG

Animal Is Shot as Cripple, but Man Will Recover.

HUNTSVILLE, Ala., Jan. 20.—The claims of Joseph Jones of Merrimac to hospital attaches here that he had "some bean" was borne out today when his story that he had been kicked by a mule on the head and that as a result the animal was lying helpless with a broken leg was investigated and found to be true.

Jones said his way was blocked by a stray mule and he made a threatening gesture to frighten it away. It, however, met the assault with a well directed kick to the brow. The mule's leg was broken in two places. It was pronounced a helpless cripple and shot.

Jones will recover.

NEW MAMMOTH CAVE ENTERED IN KENTUCKY

Great Natural Cathedral and Skeleton of Aborigine Found in Galleries.

Special to the New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Jan. 20.—In underground galleries heretofore unvisited by white men a human skeleton has been discovered in Great Crystal Cave in Hart County, says a report from there today. The explorers also found a great natural cathedral which, it is said, will rival the wonders of Mammoth Cave.

An avenue, half a mile long and almost as level as a boulevard, was found. The dome of the natural structure rises 200 feet above the bed of the cave. The skeleton was unearthed on a terraced ledge above the floor of a gallery beneath a pile of drift. The discoverer was Floyd Collins, on whose farm the cave is situated. The skeleton was left where it was found and Dr. E. D. Turner of Cave City was called to examine it. He pronounced it that of an aborigine and perhaps of a race that preceded the Indians in Kentucky.

Many miles of smaller avenues which may disclose other wonders have yet to be traversed. The cave was discovered when Lee Collins, a brother of Floyd Collins, noticed the breathing of a sink hole on his place. At times the air rushed out of the hole with a singing sound. With dynamite the opening was made large enough for a man to descend with a ladder. The first explorer thought he had found unexplored recesses of Mammoth Cave.

The cave is about eleven miles from Cave City and is near Green River. It is nine miles from the main entrance of Mammoth Cave but is a separate cavern.

Prices We Have Left Behind

WHEN announcement was made that "the bottom of the price hill has been reached for the season" at The Man's Shop, there was slight anticipation of the great friendly throng which would meet us at the foot of the slide.

The American tailors who have made The Man's Shop clothes builded better than they knew when they placed their remaining suits and overcoats with us at one-half their previous wholesale prices.

Hundreds of new friendships have been the result of The Man's Shop's consequent offer of all its clothes, except evening dress, at less than they cost the manufacturer to produce.

It has been a re-marking, not a sale—a remarkable re-marking of clothes carefully assembled by this shop as the best that America and England could produce.

Suits of finest imported and domestic woolens, which have been making prestige for The Man's Shop all season at their former prices, consistent with this character of clothing—now $32, $42 and $48.

Most of them of medium-light weight for all-year wear—Spring and Summer as well as Winter—half and quarter lined.

Overcoats for all American weather—coats made in England, and American coats made of highest grade English and American woolens, now $38, $58 and $68—genuine aristocrats, for Winter storm or the sunshine of spring.

And golf suits at $42 and $48—the latter being four-piece suits—such as one would expect at The Man's Shop.

FARRELL'S MIND A BLANK ON FIGHT

QUERIES MADE HIM "SILLY"

Looking Ill and Feverish, He Relates Story of Prayer He Uttered in Wilderness.

Detailing graphically his own version of the flight of the "lost" balloon A-6695 and the incidents attending the rescue of his two comrades and himself, Lieutenant Stephen A. Farrell told the court of inquiry at the Rockaway Point Air Station yesterday that he had no recollection of striking Lieutenant Walter Hinton shortly after the arrival of the aeronauts at Mattice. He declared the insistent questioning of the newspaper correspondents had driven him "silly," and the first knowledge he had that he had assaulted his brother officer was some hours later when Lieutenant Kloor suggested that he apologize to Hinton.

Lieutenant Farrell arrived at the afternoon session of the court accompanied by former Assistant Attorney General Senft, his counsel. Farrell's appearance bore out the statement made the day before by Lieutenant Julius Neuberger, medical officer, that he was a very sick man. His face was bluish in color and he seemed feverish, frequently interrupting his testimony to drink quantities of water. He gave his testimony in a slow, quiet tone of voice.

Describing events leading up to his arrival at Mattice, Lieutenant Farrell said:

"I was absolutely dog tired. The moving picture photographers kept continually bothering me, and I did my best to please them by smiling, talking and smoking cigarettes. I was simply all in. When they got through a man came over to me and said I was to go with him to the Hudson Bay depot. Hinton and Kloor had arrived a half hour before and we had thus became separated. I went with this man, expecting to find Mr. Hinton in this house. When I stepped inside, the man offered me a cup of tea which his mother had brewed. While I was waiting for her to cook some fish, men began entering the room and they all joined in plying me with questions regarding the trip and my own experiences.

Questions Drove Him "Silly."

"I was so dead tired that I was growing impatient, although I answered them as best I could. It seemed as if I could not resist their questions. The result of the questioning seemed to drive me silly. They asked many silly things, such as how big the balloon was and how much ballast we carried. I remember one fellow telling me about some things that had been published in the newspapers about me. I seemed to get all excited, and I really don't know what I did or said, but I heard some one say, 'You must stop swearing.' There was general moving about the place. I seemed to lose all sense of reason. I was shaking all over with nervousness when this man took me out of the place and down to the Hudson Bay store.

"From there I was taken to the car which the Canadian National Railroad had provided for us. I seemed to be dopy and it was suggested that I lie down. I did, but I was so nervous I could not sleep. Mr. Kloor told me after I got up that I had had a mussup with Lieutenant Hinton and the newspaper men. I scarcely remember seeing him. I told him I was going nutty if he didn't look out for me. He made me stay in bed for two hours, when I got up again for dinner, but could not eat.

"The next day Kloor said I had better apologize to Hinton because I had treated him rough. I did so, and he and I have continued to be friends, just as we were before and ever will be."

When Lieutenant Farrell was called to the stand, parts of the testimony of Lieutenant Hinton bearing directly on him were read. Farrell only bit his lip when Lieutenant Hinton's statement regarding the assault at Mattice was repeated. After being informed that anything he said might be used against him Lieutenant Farrell began his story. In its essential features his testimony did not differ from that of the other two aeronauts who have been heard by the board.

Farrell Praises Kloor.

Lieutenant Farrell paid a tribute to the skill displayed by Lieutenant Kloor, in charge of the flight, in conserving the ballast such a long period of time. Relating the experiences of the trio after landing in Upper Canada, Farrell said he and his companions realized the first night that they were "in a pretty serious jam," but said each tried to view the situation in a light vein, at least outwardly.

"Mr. Kloor and Mr. Hinton were very hungry, myself not so much," he continued, describing their second day on land. "Hinton and I wanted to sleep badly but could not. But we were cheerful as three persons could be under the circumstances. We discussed everything under the sun as we sat by the fire trying to keep warm. We wondered who would get our jobs. I related a story that Lieutenant Blackton of the station told, to the effect that when a new commanding officer arrived at the Air Station some one was 'bumped off.' I joked with Hinton over his predicament of having had 1,200 hours in heavier-than-air machines without a mishap only to have one the first time he went up in a balloon. Kloor managed to get a good night's sleep, although Hinton and I were awake all night. The next day we accused Kloor of taking up all the fire.

"It was the morning of Dec. 17 that I said a little prayer asking God to assist us in our efforts, as we all had a 'hunch' we would be saved that day. This was the only prayer said aloud by any of the party that I know of. It wasn't said in a very devout way, but just in the manner an ordinary fellow would try to pray.

Tells of Rough Going.

"That day was rough going, especially for myself. I kept falling behind, and Hinton suggested that I take off my heavy flying suit, and he generously suggested making a blanket roll of it, which he swung over his shoulder and carried for me. During the morning hours I had two bad falls and my stomach felt very bad. I had a torturing thirst and made a couple of trips to the river for water, thus falling behind the party.

"After the second fall I called to Hinton and told him I could go no further, asking him to make a fire for me. 'He 'rassed' me to keep agoing. I told him to start a blaze and I would follow their tracks later.

"'Do you want to make that proposition to Kloor?' Hinton asked. I must have fainted dead away, for when I came to Kloor helped me up and I remembered his saying: 'There's nobody going to follow tracks.' He then made a fire and we all got warm.

"On the day we were saved Hinton, by the look on his face, was nearly through. And I suppose I was in the same category, although I seemed to have had more pep than Mr. Hinton, who up until then had had so much pep himself. Thus we pegged along until we came to an open space, where Kloor, who had gone on ahead, suddenly cried out 'We are saved. I see sleigh tracks.' This was the end of the rainbow, and we were grateful."

Lieutenant Farrell said that on the trip to Mattice he believed Hinton suffered the most, having been troubled with his feet and legs.

"I had two bottles of medicine which an Indian said was good for anything that ailed us," he said. "Hinton rubbed some of the stuff on his legs, but I doubt if it did any good."

At the morning session Lieutenant L. R. Corbin, Paymaster of the naval air station, submitted a list of equipment taken on the trip. The balloon and accessories were valued at $8,740.17, he testified, which he said represented a loss to the Government.

After the afternoon hearing had adjourned Lieutenant Hinton walked over to Lieutenant Farrell and in a solicitous voice expressed the hope that he was feeling better. Farrell chatted in a friendly way with Hinton and gave spectators the impression that he had forgotten any differences he had had with his comrade. The two walked out of the administration building together.

The hearing will be continued this morning.

HARDING LAUDS CLUB WORK.

President-Elect Praises Brooklyn Women's Child Welfare Program.

At the annual meeting of the Brooklyn Division of the National League for Woman's Service, at the Brooklyn Woman's Club, yesterday afternoon, a letter from President-elect Warren G. Harding endorsing the child welfare and Americanization work by the Brooklyn Division was read. The letter was addressed to Mrs. William Hoster of 1,914 Avenue N, director of the social service of the child welfare work, and said:

"I have learned of the very interesting experimental work which you are carrying on in behalf of the child welfare and Americanization in Brooklyn and find myself immensely interested.

"It is a fine thing to be contributing to the health and the upbuilding of the bodies of these young people who are to become the future citizens of the republic, and it is a mighty helpful thing to inculcate the spirit of patriotic devotion and hopefulness which becomes those who are to be the future sponsors for our republic.

"From what I know of your work it is immensely practical in every way, and strikes directly at results without indulgence in fine theories and excessive pretense. I do not know of any single thing which makes a more helpful and practical contribution to American welfare, and out of such practical experiments will come the suggestions of the national policy which will enable us to make a stronger and better America."

FILES NEW FORD BILL.

Wrecking Company Makes Various Corporations Defendants in Suit.

Special to the New York Times.

DETROIT, Jan. 20.—An amended bill in the suit of the American House-Wrecking Company against Henry Ford, Edsel B. Ford; the Ford Motor Company, a Delaware corporation; the Ford Motor Company, a Michigan corporation, and Henry Ford & Son was filed today in the Wayne County Circuit Court. The wrecking company makes all these persons and corporations defendants, stating that the affairs of the Ford interests are so complicated that an outsider cannot tell which of these is responsible.

The suit is for $35,000 damages and asks for a court order for the plaintiff to permit the removal of its property from the Ford property at River Rouge, and an injunction restraining the defendants from interfering with such work. The bill charges a willful conspiracy to obstruct the wrecking company in removing the River Rouge Naval Training Station in order to make it forfeit its rights, and says that the plaintiff "was tricked, duped and lulled into inactivity by promises to buy its interests."

The history of the dealings after the Government advertised for bids on the wrecking of the training station is recited. The bill states that the wrecking company bid $66,500 for the property and the Ford interests $10,000. The wrecking company received the contract, with an allowance of 100 days in which to do the work. Immediately work was started, the bill says, but the company was approached by E. G. Liebold, acting for the Fords, and requested to delay the work, as Mr. Ford wished to buy the property intact. Negotiations were continued till the 100 days had expired, but no sale was made.

The bill also states that a request for an extension was asked and that Lieutenant Keller, U. S. N., in charge of the station, approached Mr. Ford and was referred to Mr. Liebold. The latter said that authorization must come through Commander Farwell of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, but the bill says that when Commander Farwell met Mr. Liebold the request was again refused.

TO DEPORT WOMEN CONVICTS

Bedford Reformatory Will Get Rid of Four Troublesome Prisoners.

Special to the New York Times.

BEDFORD, Jan. 20.—Officials of the State Reformatory for Women in Bedford are taking steps to deport four troublesome prisoners, Anna Windorff, Gussie Sedley, Rose Allen and Rose Weissel.

Mrs. Anna Hedges Talbot, the Superintendent, admitted that she has been in consultation with United States Immigration Department agents about sending the girls back to their native countries. "I think this country has enough to do," said Mrs. Talbot, "to look after its own wayward girls." The girls will be shipped back to Europe as "undesirable aliens."

Vanderbilt Yacht at Havana.

Special to The New York Times.

HAVANA, Jan. 20.—William K. Vanderbilt arrived here today on his steam yacht, the Eagle, with a large party of friends, who had been his guests on a deep-sea fishing trip through the Caribbean waters. Tonight a dinner-dance was arranged at a hotel. Details of the fishing trip are guarded, but it is reported that Mr. Vanderbilt caught two large man-eating sharks and a pargo off Cienfuegos.

You Boss the Job Yourself!

Your "Image" stands at the tailor's elbow in the Royal Sunshine Shops— directing him as he drafts your Royal Suit

VERY likely you know, as millions do, that Royal clothes are strictly "made-to-measure".

But they are more than that. A Royal garment is not only cut to fit your body lines; it is cut to fit your mind; cut to match your every idea and ideal of what's right in clothes.

Are you young in heart and spirit, with a penchant for young-mannish styles?

Or do you prefer the substantial Dun and Bradstreet look—

Whatever your viewpoint, we will fit it—as well as your figure.

T·R·T

Detail by detail, the expert measure-taker here at our wholesale plant writes down the description of the suit or overcoat you want.

You not only name the style of garment you prefer, but the fabric of which is to be made; the length, the contour, the drape of coat, vest and trousers; even the character of the linings and trimmings if you so desire.

And, when your measure blank is put before the tailor in our shops, it is as though you yourself stood beside him—to guide him and direct him in building your suit.

It is a "Yours-to-Command" Service—this Royal Service. You state your wants and wishes. And we make the clothes to dovetail them.

THE NATIONAL THRIFT MOVEMENT

THIS IS THE FIRST WEEK OF A 52 WEEK CAMPAIGN

This letter is meant for everybody, but especially for the employer.

I am trying to get you to join in the National Thrift Movement if for no other reason than to bring a period of prosperity and peace to industry. There is also a moral and humane side to it, which I will not touch upon now.

I hope some of the many people who have spent their lives in charitable and philanthropic work will come forward and show how if we had campaigned hard enough for Thrift a generation ago most of our charitable and philanthropic work would not have been needed in this generation and how if we will do so now many of our otherwise future objects of charity will become thrifty and useful citizens. I also hope some one will come forward and tell in a convincing way how much pleasanter and easier it would be to campaign now to put money in men's pockets, money in their bank account and securities in their strong boxes rather than go out on many campaigns in the future and beg some thrifty citizen to take money out of his pocket or his bank account to provide for those who have become charity objects through lack of thrift.

In this letter I will stick strictly to the selfish reasons why the Thrift and Investment Movement should have your support. We all want better business conditions. In fact, we must have better business conditions. As a pure matter of selfishness entirely aside from the cruelty of it we can't allow hundreds of thousands of men to remain out of employment.

In a long business career in the latter period of which and for more than a quarter of a century last past I have had to take all or a greater part of the responsibility of the enterprises I have led my associates into I have never told them just the rosy side, but have made them recognize first the difficulties which had to be overcome. I have learned not to take aboard faint-hearted partners.

Now, don't let us fool ourselves as to what the present situation is which confronts this country.

Hundreds of thousands of men are out of employment, and the number is still growing.

Import and export business is almost at a standstill.

There was never such need for vast financing and never such seeming handicaps to its accomplishment.

We are still in the period of readjustment and the cost of many things must be brought down before industry can fully resume on a normal basis.

Many merchants, jobbers and manufacturers are overstocked.

We are working under a Federal Revenue Law which is an effective barrier to many special building and business activities that might be undertaken and which law offers serious obstacles to most of the everyday fundamental needs of business.

And last, but not least, many of our aggressive business men have been crimped by losses of capital and their vitality and determination sapped by worry.

The other side of the picture is this:

First of all, we are sobered and are dead in earnest.

Our financial system and our financial institutions have proved themselves able to cope with a situation so severe that it is unlikely it will ever occur again—and this in spite of the fact that they have labored under the greatest handicaps, the worst perhaps being that a large portion of our mobilized bank capital had been practically commandeered to carry the Government's floating indebtedness. In addition to this, most of our banks behaved heroically. Time and time again they advanced money on what they knew might prove to be loans frozen in character for months and possibly years. In spite of all this we have had an improvement in our banking situation over a period of a few weeks which could not have been positively predicted for an equal number of months.

Our stock and bond markets have gone through what was a real panic, but one which not only did not end in collapse but one which has developed a strength which cannot now be broken.

Every previous business depression has been marked by a vast overproduction. If over-production exists at all it is the exception, not the rule. What is pointed to as overproduction is really over-concentration. Because one business concern is overstocked that does not prove that the nation is overstocked. Most factories, wholesalers, jobbers and retailers are either already carrying less than normal stocks or are rapidly getting themselves in that position, just as might be expected in an anticipation of further recession of prices.

Some commodities, like crude rubber, are below their cost of production, and except for temporary price movements there is now no way for them to move but up—and here the experience of the stock market will be repeated in that plenty of buyers will be found at higher prices as soon as it is known that bottom has been touched.

In spite of the fact that wages are high, and production cost of labor still higher, there is an army of men with plans all made and an abundance of capital ready to start all sorts of building and business enterprises, awaiting only the time when they can obtain cash for their operations by the pledge of capital.

There are many enterprises which can go forward whenever they can be financed, where the increased cost of building now can be covered by contracts and amortized over a period of years or where present increased costs can be wiped out against earlier operations. I refer, for example, to the fact that many buildings can be erected in lower New York and long-time leases made at prices which will not only pay a handsome income on the cost of building now but will amortize excess cost down to pre-war costs.

Railroad rates are on a permanently higher basis, requiring more centres of production to offset increased freight rates. Oil now carried by railroads can support a pipe line even at present costs for construction.

The price of coal at the mines will permanently be higher than in the past in spite of any reduction in the wages paid to mine workers, and this makes profitable the enlargement of existing hydro-electric plants and the building of new ones.

The very increase in the production cost of labor opens up great fields for the installation of labor-saving machinery wherein the saving will be more by building now and securing the benefit of earlier operation than by waiting for lower costs.

Here and there factories are starting up which were shut down more from temporary financial stress, or else through fear, rather than by necessity—and the same things shut down many factories which have not resumed.

But all of this recovery depends upon our ability to do the vast amount of financing I have spoken about above. There are reasons why those who have heretofore furnished the funds for our expansion of business can do so no longer. We must develop a new class of investors.

That the wage earners can save and invest large sums of money in the aggregate is no longer a question but is a proven fact, but it requires the co-operation of their employer.

There is no waste so extravagant as the waste due to unemployment.

If you want to know why we must depend upon creating a new class of investors, and if you want to help in creating better business conditions, you can read a letter that I will publish in the papers on Monday.

Yours cordially,

HENRY L. DOHERTY.

OBREGON SETS FORTH MEXICAN POLICIES

Opposes the Granting of Concessions Except Where Work Is to Start at Once.

WANTS FEDERAL SCHOOLS

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 19.—President Obregon received the foreign correspondents this afternoon in the Turkish Room of the National Palace and answered questions for an hour and a half.

Sitting on a small stool, part of the furnishings of the Turkish Room presented by the Turkish Government to the Mexican Government under Porfirio Diaz, President Obregon, who was the picture of health, replied to many inquiries, turning aside some pointed ones with typical Obregon jokes. He said that he was pleased to have the opportunity to know the American correspondents, as he realized that the papers they represented were papers of prestige in the United States.

One of the statements was that the Directors of the Mexican Railways were authorized by the President to enter into arrangements with creditors for fixing the amounts due and to make arrangements so that the railways could be placed in proper condition for return.

"I do not think," he said, "that it is just or moral to return the railways now without giving an opportunity to the creditors to make the amounts known. There is a proper way to settle debts. We used these roads for many years of revolution. Now that they are wrecked, we cannot say 'Take them' without making an honorable and just settlement."

The Wells Fargo & Co. Express, being under contract with the railways, will be returned at the same time, as it is not intended to return one part without returning the entire system with all the contracts.

New Banking System Proposed.

General Obregon, speaking of the banking situation, stated that a new proposal was agreed to in the establishment of six to eight banking zones with a bank in each. These will be banks of emission. The Government will purchase stock in each in order to have control. Local banking will be estimated as private business without the power of emission. The new law is along the lines of a Federal system of banks.

The President added that a number of foreigners had offered money to start the banks, some through Mexicans and others directly to the banks, which have the capital amounting to ten to twenty-five millions. Banks will be established with foreign banks of standing with Mexico have an opportunity to take a place in the program. There will be a meeting of bankers to consider means for payment of the deposits from the banks during the reorganization.

Speaking of the conversation one correspondent suggested that, according to reports from Washington, President Obregon was not expressing his personal views on the Senators. The General, with a laugh, said that was a human trait, but that he personally was unconscious of it. He would endeavor to refrain from it. He considered himself perfectly competent to grasp all phases, and would listen to advisers selected because they were capable men.

Congress, he said, would not take up new laws at this session, as stated when the special session was called, but that probably in December, Article 27 would have first place. A new law on international questions will follow the labor and agrarian laws.

General Obregon stated that a new project which had been studied would revolutionize Mexican commerce. This law will provide for duties on merchandise brought in quantity to Mexico payable when the goods are taken from the Custom House. It will establish deposits of merchandise in the principal cities of the republic, so that a local merchant will be able to select goods to be delivered at once. General Obregon said that at the present time merchants were compelled to take trips to the States to select goods, but with this law effective wholesalers would keep stocks for immediate release. The duties will be lowered.

Favors Open Shop.

Article 123 of the Constitution, on labor, will be considered by Congress. Meanwhile the Government will favor the open shop, except in certain contingencies.

President Obregon spoke of the difficulty of determining whether strikes were just or whether they were forced on owners of businesses in order to break an established wage scale, but he said that in ordinary cases when workingmen decided to strike while others decided to work the Government would be obliged to permit the workers to enter the plants. No worker had the right to restrain another by force.

One correspondent stated that a large number of American workers were striking in Tampico, Mexican workers being discharged in order to make room for them. The President stated that he did not consider this true, as the wages paid to Americans were much greater than to natives, but in case it were true, the Mexican workingmen should expect to have the same rights as Americans. When times were good in other countries Mexicans were at work. Now that conditions were not favorable, Mexicans must give Americans and other foreigners the opportunity to take advantage of conditions here.

He added that he considered the crisis temporary. There were not enough Mexicans for all work in Mexico, so he considered the report overdrawn.

Asked if the election of Socialists in Mexico was considered dangerous to the rest of the republic, President Obregon answered that he did not consider it thus, as its members must abide by constitutional laws. They would, in some cases, give the party an advantage, but working under constitutional law Socialists were not dangerous.

Investigating Carranza Concessions.

The President said that the decrees of Carranza were numerous and it was difficult to say which should be suspected. The Department of Industry under the direction of Rafael Zubaran had orders to suspend all acts, the announcement of which under Carranza decrees, allowed privately owned properties to be denounced for non-compliance with the decrees. Concessions which caused scandal when granted under the Carranza régime were being investigated.

General Obregon said he was personally opposed to granting concessions except to companies which could immediately start work. The majority of concessionaires, he thought, had used means of gaining money without the intention of working. He cited as a reason for being opposed to these grants some cases in the past. Railroad concessions, after being granted, were taken to other countries, he said, while the holders tried to sell them. The Government was unable to sanction other companies which had funds to start work until the time limit of the concessions had expired. He added that personally he would not sign concessions except where it was known that the capitalists desired to start immediate work.

When asked for his personal view on the attitude of Argentina regarding the League of Nations, he answered that he thought it was justified, and that the general opinion in Mexico was the same. He declined to answer further questions as to Mexico's probable attitude toward the League or some form of The Hague court, saying that he had not studied the question enough to give an intelligent answer.

Mexico wanted recognition, he said, but did not consider it necessary that commissions should study conditions here. He was sure that credit for good intentions would be given. General Obregon did not consider it possible for any nation to enforce obligations on Mexico. The Government was desirous of complying with its obligations, and would do so.

He had the letters of Colby and Pesqueira, he said. He understood from ex-President de la Huerta that Pesqueira had orders to explain conditions in Mexico, and the Government's willingness to assume responsibilities, but had no authority to enter into agreements of any kind.

Sees New Era in Politics.

"Mexico is now entering a new era of politics," he said. "We are trying to work on a basis of morality and honesty. I think that along these lines other nations will give us credit. We will not need treaties to force us to meet our moral debts."

General Obregon stated that he was interested in the proposed new agrarian law, which would promote immigration. He wanted to see that each immigrant received an opportunity to secure a piece of land. This would show the world that Mexico was willing to distribute her natural resources. Mexico needed immigrants and would make it possible that all immigrants in good faith willing to work should have an established future.

Answering a question as to whether the Government would offer inducements to Mexican refugees to return, especially political refugees, President Obregon answered by saying that the Administration of De la Huerta had given orders that all refugees be permitted to return. He saw no reason why they should remain away except their personal convenience.

It being suggested that several politicians could help the Government, General Obregon said they could help by entering business which would upbuild the country. He was not asking each individual to return. As for politicians, the Government could not give jobs to those who fought either militarily or politically.

The President stated that he had not considered a loan to re-establish the railways, as a commission was working for their return, but that the Government needed a loan only for the payment of foreign debts. National reconstruction would be carried on with the resources of the country and investments of foreign capital. He would make arrangements that the creditors issue new bonds at a higher rate of interest or in any way possible make an honest settlement. The Government must make arrangements agreeable to both sides.

Education will be taken under the Federal charge by a pending new law providing for the control of schools. The President is interested in governmental control so that the Federal authorities will be personally responsible for a lack of schools.

Wants an Independent Press.

He said he had not favored the establishment of a paid press, as the Government considered that it made impossible the sustaining of an independent press, but he added that cases might arise when foreign interests might pay for press attacks on Government institutions and then the Government must defend itself, but after conditions change the Government will rely on the independent press to tell the truth.

When rumors regarding the health of the President were brought to his attention, he laughed, saying that his appearance would answer these rumors. He said he had worked at top speed for five weeks, sixteen or more hours daily, disregarding his former habits. Eating a late supper and then continuing work had caused a slight form of stomach trouble, but a short rest in a lower altitude had restored him to perfect health.

The President added that he was fortunate in that he always had enjoyed good health, and had a strong constitution. He has a ruddy complexion and bright, clear eyes, but an excess of flesh, weighing about 210 pounds. The President attributes his good health to horseback rides in the early morning.

After the interview General Obregon, saying that he was against a dry State, and knew that the American correspondents must "suffer," ordered drinks brought into the reception room. As a toast he said that he knew that when the truth as told by the correspondents was known in the United States opinion regarding Mexico would undergo a change. When the correspondents were leaving he remarked that it was probable that the Government would resume the Government Information Office for the benefit of correspondents, and that he was personally at the service of the correspondents at any time they needed information.

TO ASK FEDERAL AID FOR INSANE OF WAR

Commission Seeks Repayment of $3,000,000 Appropriated for Creedmoor Hospital.

CHARGE DELAY IN CONGRESS

Wickersham Says Some Members Are Blocking Resolutions—Fear Miller May Withdraw Fund.

The New York State Military Hospital Commission will go to Washington on Tuesday to ask for legislation providing for co-operation by the Federal Government with the State in the building of a $3,000,000 hospital for insane veterans at Creedmoor, N. Y. The State has appropriated the money to build the hospital, with the proviso that the Government repay the money in ten annual instalments. The House has approved the measure, but the Senate has not acted on it.

The need for the hospital was laid before the commission by American Legion leaders yesterday, at a meeting in the Hall of Records. Members of the commission present were Attorney General Newton, Controller Wendell, Hugh Frayne of the American Federation of Labor; State Architect Pilcher and Dr. Thomas W. Salmon, formerly a Colonel in the A. E. F. and now of the Rockefeller Institute. The spokesmen for the Legion were Cornelius W. Wickersham, William F. Deegan, State Vice Commander; Lorillard Spencer, Francis L. Robbins, Parkhurst Whitney and Hugh W. Robertson.

"The greatest duty facing the State of New York today," declared Mr. Wickersham, "is the need of caring adequately for the men who gave their reason for our safety. There are today almost 800 New York boys confined in hospitals and asylums where they are not receiving proper treatment. We should not allow such boys to die in county jails or poorhouses, as is the condition now.

"It is not the fault of this commission or of the State of New York, whose legislature passed in emergency session last year Chapter 958 to permit the erection of a hospital for these men at Creedmoor. The fault lies, for the present, with those members of Congress who are blocking the resolutions authorizing the Secretary of the Treasury to sign the contract for this hospital, by which the Federal Government will cover the cost of erection by paying the ten annual rentals equal to the cost.

"We can teach a man with one eye some vocational work. We can get a crutch for the man without a leg and help him to help himself. We can put an iron hook on the arm of a man who has lost a hand; but the man who has lost his reason is the most helpless and needs the greatest assistance of all our wounded. He is practically dead and we must not allow the Government to forget its duty to endeavor to the utmost either to cure him or make his condition during this terrible illness as pleasant as possible."

Ground for the proposed hospital already has been broken at Creedmoor, near Queens Village. The plans have been completed and call for structure especially adapted to the care of insane veterans. Those who favor the hospital fear that if Congress does not act immediately on the proposal Governor Miller will ask the Legislature to rescind the appropriation, so that the $3,000,000 may be used for other purposes.

LEGION FOR STRONG ARMY.

Representative Opposes Hasty Reduction Before House Committee.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Opposition to hasty reduction of army appropriations was expressed today by representatives of the American Legion before the House Military Committee. They said ill-advised retrenchment would jeopardize the security of the country by "disrupting the development of its military policy."

Wade H. Hayes, New York, Chairman of the Legion's Military Affairs Committee, endorsed the necessity for reducing estimates requested by the War Department, but said appropriations and policy were "inextricably tied together," and that economies should be effected "keeping in mind that the preservation of our potential military strength as developed during the war is a national asset of incalculable value."

Make Vanderlip College Trustee.

DAYTON, Ohio, Jan. 20.—Appointment of Frank A. Vanderlip, New York banker, and Joseph P. Cotton, New York attorney, as trustees of Antioch College at Yellow Springs, was announced today by Arthur E. Morgan, President of the college. The college will use a new plan of combining practical work in factories with theory.

Ford Gains 1,924 on Newberry.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Recount of votes in 1,289 of Michigan's 2,232 precincts, accomplished when the day's work of the Senate Privileges and Elections Committee ended tonight, gave Henry Ford a net gain of 1,924 votes over Senator Newberry in their Senatorial contest. Senator Newberry's plurality was 7,569.

WILSON REPLIES TO LEAGUE.

Gives President of the Council His Answer on Armenian Mediation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Wilson has communicated to Paul Hymans, President of the Council of the League of Nations, who transmitted the League's invitation to the President to mediate between the Turkish Nationalists and Armenia, his decision, just arrived at, respecting his further interest and action in the matter.

No reply has yet been received from M. Hymans, who, it is is believed, is forwarding the communication from President Wilson to the members of the Council of the League. It is understood that the President's note will be made public here either tomorrow or Saturday; also that the President leaves it to the powers to decide whether they really desire him to mediate.

quest of any kind that the Alien Property Custodian denied.

Never Threatened Attorney General.

"(3) I never had an interview with him in Washington or elsewhere in which I pounded the table or made any threat or suggestion of attacking him, nor did an unfriendly word ever pass between us at any interview or at any time, except that in a speech a few years ago I criticised his policies in administering the Alien Property Custodian law in an impersonal way, but I did not suspect that he resented that very legitimate criticism. I am fairly aghast at his statements on that subject. They are not true.

"It is true that some years ago I advised him to withhold a brutal prosecution based on a mere technical charge against a member of my profession who had been a student in my office about twenty years ago. The assertion of the Attorney General that this man, who was one of hundreds of clerks who graduated from our office into practice in the last forty-odd years, was a 'former associate of mine' or my friend is on a par with the reliability of other like statements made by him. The man in question was never anything but a clerk, but I am in keen sympathy with him for I am satisfied he did no wrong and was simply hounded by the Department of Justice, that might have been engaged in better business.

"It is also true that on accepting the counselship of the Lockwood committee I made desperate and repeated efforts to secure the genuine co-operation of the Department of Justice. I found its staff so incompetent, notwithstanding the vast sums that had been put at its disposal, that while I did not offer my own services as a special Attorney General, as stated by Mr. Palmer, I did, in fact, offer any one of the many distinguished men who we have on our criminal staff for the prosecution of offenses disclosed by the committee when I found it was hopeless to get relief in any other way.

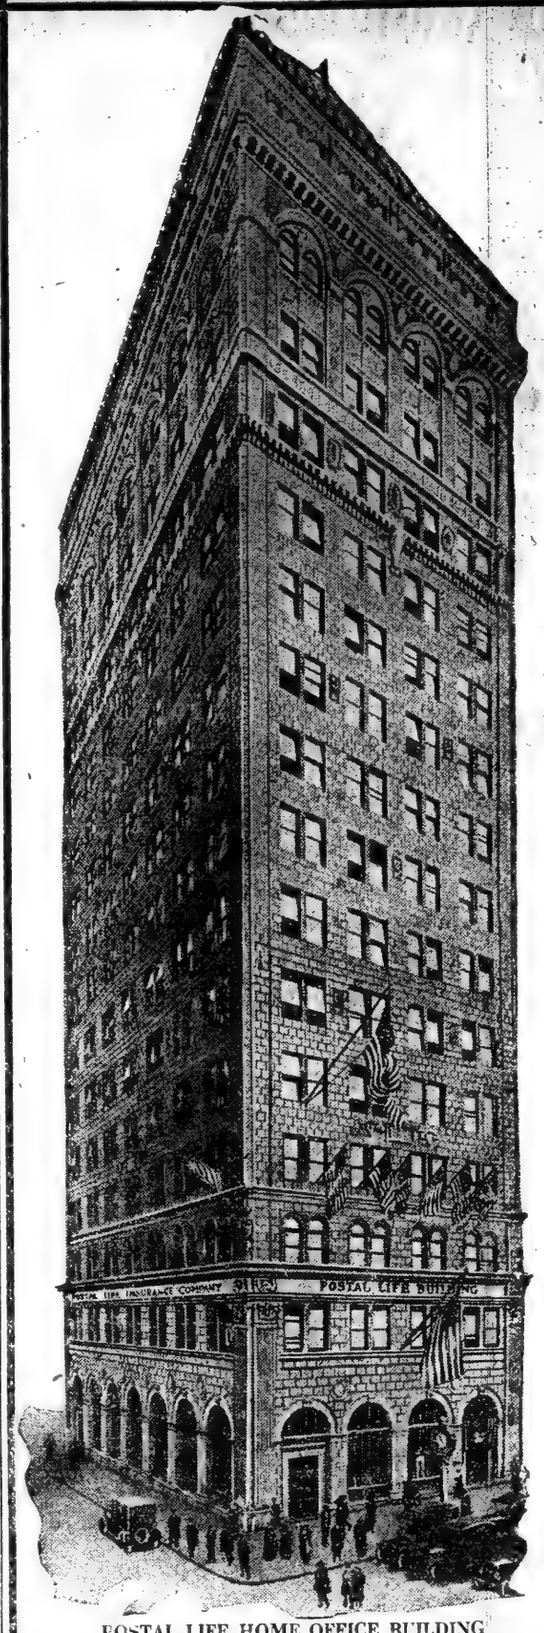
"I also suggested Mr. Hand's name to the United States District Attorney at New York after they had for two months sidestepped their plain duty, but there has not been any co-operation by the Federal authorities, although I am hopeful that with the advent of Messrs. Rand and Kresel, who were appointed only after I had publicly driven and pounded the department to action, there will be genuine co-operation. The mere fact of their enforced appointment after these wasted months in order to act upon the evidence that is being furnished them by our commission is in itself a confession.

"The speech I made, in line with other addresses of the same sort in the hope of whipping the department into action, after having vainly tried gentle means, was not an attack on Mr. Palmer personally or on behalf of any friend or client or any one else (for I have none other than the people of the State of New York). It was directed against his gross inefficiency and absence of intelligence and political honesty in the administration of two great offices. He cannot escape the issue by trying to convert it into a personal controversy, for there is nothing personal about it except possibly the defects in his own personality as a public officer.

"I have no ill-will against Mr. Palmer. I do, however, deeply resent the discredit of his administration and am hoping that the true facts will be brought to light. After all, the public is not interested in what he thinks of me or what I think of him, but in whether he has been guilty of what is charged against him and, if so, what Congress should do to right these wrongs and to reinstate our country in the respect of the world.

"On a par with his many other statements is the assertion that he knew this attack was coming. That seems queer, as I did not know it myself until a day or two before making the speech and mentioned it to no one. If Mr. Palmer were as good a public official as he apparently is as a mind-reader the country would not be honeycombed with criminal conspiracies nor would its honor have been put in question through his genius for blundering."

It was learned that the "clerk" referred by Mr. Untermyer was Nornim R. Lindheim, who was a clerk in Mr. Untermyer's law office twenty years ago. Mr. Lindheim was recently convicted with Edward Rumely in The Evening Mail case. He was counsel to the German Embassy.



POSTAL LIFE HOME OFFICE BUILDING

An Ideal Thrift Institution

Is this the age of the "Don't Care," as the Saturday Evening Post declares?

Are we a "nation of economic illiterates," as Mr. Vanderlip has said?

If so, there is need of a THRIFT WEEK. If not so, there is also need of a THRIFT WEEK. There will probably never come a time when thrift stimulation will be out of order. Conserving what one has, is thrift. Spending so as to get something better than what one has, or more of what one has, is thrift.

Real Thrift

The thrifty are not the stingy, or indeed merely the savers; they are the investors. They discern the situation and organize themselves and their resources. They take stock of the present, with a view to the future. They are forward-looking for themselves and their children. With their eyes on the future they have an anchor to windward; they take out life insurance. They take it out thoughtfully, wisely, and plentifully. They purchase it from the

Postal Life Insurance Company

Assets, $10,000,000 Annual Income, $2,000,000 Insurance in Force, $42,000,000

They arrange their insurance with the POSTAL because they discover they can get more for their dollars here than elsewhere.

The POSTAL'S policyholders are of the discriminating class; they are of the frugal class; the Company's 9½% guaranteed dividend-saving appeals to them.

These facts tell why the POSTAL was the only company, of those organized at the time of the Insurance Investigation, to get on. It generates educational influences that reach, take hold of, and appeal to thinking people, and make the thrifty more economical. The thrifty deal direct, for they know that thereby they save money, or can purchase more for the same money.

Insurance Information

The POSTAL was founded to develop habits of thrift; it is therefore the Company of the Thrifty.

The following booklets, issued by this Company for free distribution, carry educational messages for both the thrifty and the improvident: "Buying Direct," "The Value of Insurance Money," "Do I Need Life Insurance?" "How Much Insurance Ought I To Carry?" "Policyholders' Health Bureau," "The POSTAL Way," and "See How Easy It Is."

The Company of Results

Those who really want to know "what's what" in Life and Endowment Insurance turn to the POSTAL LIFE, whose aim has always been to build up and maintain an ideal thrift institution.

The POSTAL is a non-agency company. Results are not theoretical, but easily demonstrated to all who will accept unbiased counsel with respect to their insurance problems, which may be obtained by calling at the Company's Home-Office or by writing.

Find Out What You Can Save.

Simply use the Coupon in lower right hand corner or write and say "Mail me insurance information as mentioned in THE TIMES of January 21," and in your letter be sure to give

(1) Your full name;
(2) Your occupation;
(3) Exact date of your birth.

When your inquiry reaches us no agent will be sent to visit you. We desire to co-operate with you directly, and have you think out with us your problems from printed documentary matter submitted. Because we employ no agents the resultant commission savings go to you.

Twenty-five thousand thrifty people are now enjoying these Postal economies.

DOCTOR SUES BROKER FOR TAKING WIFE

GOT A DIVORCE, SAYS WOMAN

Ex-Husband Answered Summons, She Asserts—Former Yale Athlete Also Denies Allegations.

William J. Ehrich, one of the best known members of the New York Stock Exchange, who is head of the banking firm of Ehrich & Co. and an athlete of some note during his student days at Yale, was sued in the Supreme Court yesterday by Dr. John Miller of 160 East Thirty-eighth Street for $250,000 damages for alienating the affections of Mrs. Katherine Degnan Miller.

At the same time Dr. Miller sued his wife for a divorce based on allegations that on Dec. 8 last she contracted a "bigamous" marriage with Mr. Ehrich and is now living as his wife at 141 West Seventy-fourth Street.

The two suits reveal the fact that Mrs. Miller went to Ely, Nev., last Summer and established residence there, after which she sued for a divorce. She alleges that she obtained a decree from Judge McFadden on Sept. 9. In her answer she calls herself Katherine Degnan Ehrich, and says that her husband was served with papers in her divorce action at Ely, and later put in an answer, and that the Nevada court, accordingly, got jurisdiction over him. For this reason she asks that his divorce suit against her be dismissed.

The complaint in the alienation suit alleges that Dr. Miller and Katherine Degnan were married at Plainfield, N. J., on Sept. 7, 1915, and that they have a daughter, Dorothy. The plaintiff said that he and his wife lived together until August, 1917, "during which time she manifested great love and affection for me."

Dr. Miller states that in August, 1917, he entered the military service as a First Lieutenant in the Medical Corps and went overseas. He charges that during his absence Mr. Ehrich alienated the affections of his wife by "acts, promises and valuable gifts," and has since compelled her to live apart from Dr. Miller. He alleges that the defendant "enticed her from the plaintiff's home at 160 East Thirty-eighth Street and detained and harbored her and the plaintiff's daughter at 141 West Seventy-fourth Street."

Dr. Miller alleges, finally, that Mr. Ehrich induced Mrs. Miller to "go to Ely, Nev., and institute a divorce to obtain a fraudulent and collusive decree, and on Dec. 8 induced her to enter into bigamous marriage with him."

Mr. Ehrich filed a general denial of all the allegations yesterday.

EGGS DROP 10 CENTS ON CHINESE IMPORTS

Arrivals of 206,000 Dozen From Orient Sends Prices Down on Local Market.

The price of all grades of eggs except cold storage dropped 10 cents a dozen in the last three days due to the arrival of a heavy shipment from China and Japan, Herschel H. Jones, Director of the New York office of the State Division of Foods and Markets, announced yesterday. The Chinese eggs were only thirty-three days en route from Shanghai and the Japanese eggs thirty-one days from the port of shipment. This was said in wholesale circles yesterday to be record time.

On Jan. 7, a train of twenty-eight cars of eggs started across the country from Vancouver, arriving in the East ten days later. All of these eggs except four cars, gathered on the Pacific Coast, came from China and Japan. It is estimated that 206,000 dozen eggs of this shipment were received on this market, with the result that there was a drop in price of 4 cents a dozen in the wholesale market on Tuesday. This was followed by another drop of 4 cents on Wednesday and a still further drop yesterday. The very best grade of Western eggs were selling yesterday at 72 to 73 cents a dozen wholesale and State hennery eggs brought 75 to 76 cents a dozen.

Cold storage eggs remained at about the same price. "There are very few if any eggs left in cold storage in this section," Mr. Jones said.

HIT VETERANS' PROMOTION.

Firemen and Police Oppose Preference in State and City.

Fifteen thousand policemen and firemen in this city have combined with the Civil Service Reform Association and other civic employes' associations to oppose a measure introduced in the Legislature on Wednesday which would give preference in promotion to State and city employes who served in the war, according to a statement issued yesterday by Joseph O'Reilly, representing the policemen and firemen.

He said that at a meeting of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Firemen's Association a resolution was adopted insisting on the maintenance of competitive examinations.

"Exhorted to remain at their posts as a patriotic duty and warned that any man who volunteered for service would never be reinstated," Mr. O'Reilly said, "the patrolmen and firemen are confronted by a proposition that men who served the people well and faithfully, as directed by constituted authority, shall be barred from promotion in their respective departments."

Find Editor's Slayer Insane.

The recent decision of a lunacy commission that Philip Cooper was sane and mentally capable of being tried on the charge of murdering Morris Nimkofsky, editor of the Jewish Daily Forward, was reversed by a jury in Judge Rosalsky's part of General Sessions yesterday, which returned a verdict that Cooper was hopelessly insane. The court committed him immediately to the Matteawan Asylum for the Criminal Insane.

The Cause of Much Winter "Ignition" Trouble

Spark plugs aren't always to blame

It is common knowledge among motorists that what seem to be ignition difficulties multiply when "the cold begins to strengthen"

The real trouble, however, in many cases is the fuel—the grade used—rather than the ignition system. Much gasoline that is satisfactory in summer is unsuited for use at low temperature. In fact, the real test of the quality of gasoline is its behavior during the cold winter months.

"Misfiring" is caused either by poor ignition or poor gasoline—don't always blame the spark plugs.

The Surest Way to Overcome the "Slow-Starting" Annoyance

Avoid the repeated necessity of priming your motor and frequent cleaning of spark plugs by using a clean, straight-distilled gasoline—Socony. You'll find that a regular mixture of Socony starts as quickly as a rich, heavy vapor of less carefully refined motor fuel.

Socony Gasoline is straight-distilled and gets its easy starting and full mileage properties from the continuous chain of boiling-point fractions that it contains. And every gallon, every drop, of Socony is the same, wherever and whenever you buy it.

Avoid the Offensive Fumes of Unburned Gasoline

When you use Socony you will notice the striking absence of strong odors from the exhaust. The smoky fumes of partially burned gasoline are not only offensive, but are an indication of carbon and other troubles in the motor.

Then, too, the fact that Socony ignites quickly winter or summer discourages the habit of "idling" motors rather than stopping and starting them as should be done.

Always Look for the Socony Sign

The many Socony service stations located in almost every city and town of New York State and New England afford a dependable supply of uniform Socony gasoline at all times. Every Socony sign assures you of superior, straight-distilled gasoline and prompt, courteous service.

Too much sex stuff in the movies?

What is it doing to your daughter?

Shall we make divorce easier?

Divorces have increased at the rate of 60 per cent in the last ten years. Does that mean that we are more immoral than we used to be?

What about the times when divorce was easy and everybody was good. Under the Roman Empire, either party could renounce marriage at will. And this was one of the most moral periods in history.

And what about easy marriages? Are they causing the tremendous increase in divorce? Should we make marriage more difficult and divorce easier? Is that the solution?

You will get a lot of new ideas on this subject when you read Genevieve Parkhurst's novel article in Pictorial Review for February. She suggests a brand new solution of the whole divorce problem.

Here are six more remarkable short stories

For the fourth year in succession Pictorial Review has been awarded first place in fiction among popular magazines!

"Aurore—The Evil Dawn" A stirring story of a wild girl's passion in the far North—by Ethel Watts Mumford.

"The Assassins" An astonishing story of the theatre—a tale of sudden failure and unexpected success—by Frederick Irving Anderson.

"His Secrets" A highly amusing story of young love and a younger brother—by Leona Dalrymple.

"The Healer and the Penitent" A weird tale of occultism and revenge—by Don Marquis.

"The Studio in the Rue Tartarin" A chucklesome account of a journalist's adventures in Paris—by H. Collinson Owen.

"In Peter Westcott's Nursery" Hugh Walpole tells how an arrogant man lost his disgust for the world—an unusual character portrait.

SOMETHING is certainly wrong with the movies. Over-emphasis of sex has been played to the limit.

What that something is, is fearlessly revealed by Benjamin B. Hampton, who is himself President of four big motion picture companies and Vice-president of a fifth.

He tells you why we get such titles as these—"Secret Sin", "The Lure of the Other Woman", "Guilty Wives", etc., etc. Why we get such pictures as this—"Her husband drew the girl to him——a long, long kiss—!—this pretty girl, so unlike his wife, her eyes lighted with love-flames, smiling wantonly," etc., etc.

Why must motion picture houses offer this abnormal kind of amusement!

Mr. Hampton tells you things no one on the inside has ever told before. And he gives you besides an interesting peep into the daily lives of many of the stars of movie-land.

He tells you just what is the matter with a certain type of movie and exactly why this sex-stuff is being offered to young girls.

You will be shocked when you learn who is responsible.

"Too Much Sex-stuff in the Movies" is the most startling article ever published on the subject. And most important of all, the author explains exactly how you can change these conditions in your town. Read Mr. Hampton's frank article on page 11 of Pictorial Review for February.

"Too much sex-stuff in the movies"

What chance has Alice?

With a brother who takes her to a dance in a tin Lizzie and plays craps with the negro attendants!

With a father who thinks they have enough because it's "more than he had when he was a boy!"

With no expensive clothes, with no rich, simple house—no "background"!

Absurd Alice swinging her Malacca cane down Main Street! You are sorry for her patiently picking three hundred violets so she can have flowers to wear to the ball. Sorry for her making up her brave little lies that fool nobody.

Poor Alice. About to drink of happiness—when the cup was snatched from her lips. Everyone knows an Alice Adams. There is one in your town. Everyone who reads the newest books will be discussing Alice and her problem. The first big instalment of "Alice Adams" is in the February issue. You can finish it in only three more.

PEGGY MARSH WED TO AN EX-AVIATOR

FIELD SETTLEMENT DENIED

Annual Allowance of $50,000 for Herself and Son, With a $100,000 Home, Reported.

Peggy Marsh, the actress, who has for years sought a settlement from the estate of Henry Field 2d, a grandson of the late Marshall Field, for the support of herself and her son, Henry Anthony Marsh, was married on Jan. 5 last in Greenwich, Conn., to Albert L. Johnson, a nephew of the late Tom L. Johnson, Mayor of Cleveland. It became known yesterday. Mrs. Johnson is at present in Miss Alston's sanitarium here convalescing from an operation for appendicitis.

Mr. Johnson denied yesterday that the executors of the Field estate had finally agreed on a settlement of his wife's claim, it having been reported that she was to get $50,000 a year for the support of herself and her son, and a $100,000 home.

Miss Marsh recently came here from England. She met Mr. Johnson, who was an aviator in the war, at a luncheon in the Ritz. On the evening of Jan. 4 they telephoned to Justice of the Peace Meade in Greenwich, who recently married Constance Talmadge and Dorothy Gish, to stay up awhile, as his services would be needed again. They motored to Greenwich and were married by Mr. Meade in the Court House. Then they drove back to New York, and went to the Great Northern Hotel, where Miss Marsh had been staying with her aunt.

A week ago Mrs. Johnson became ill, and it was found necessary to operate on her at once for appendicitis. For a time it was feared that she might not recover, but she is now convalescing. She also denied the reports of a settlement.

Mr. Johnson said yesterday that he likes Henry Anthony Marsh, who arrived here from England last Saturday, and that the boy will be adopted by him as soon as Mrs. Johnson recovers. He said he had no plans yet, but was willing to do whatever his wife wishes. Mrs. Johnson said she had signed a contract to appear in a play to be produced by Al Woods.

Peggy Marsh met Henry Field 2d in London in 1915, while she was playing there. Although she never claimed to be his wife, she asked after Mr. Field's death that his estate confirm an agreement between him and herself by which she was to receive $100,000 for the support of herself and his child. Mr. Field later married Miss Nancy Perkins.

PEGGY MARSH TO FIGHT FOR FIELD WEALTH

Counsel on Both Sides Deny That Her Marriage Brought About a Settlement.

Special to the New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The marriage of Peggy Marsh to Albert E. Johnson has not altered her plans in the legal fight for a portion of the estate of Marshall Field for her 4-year-old son, Henry Anthony Marsh, on the ground that his father was Henry Field, a grandson of the late Marshall Field. Denial that the marriage had ended the litigation was made today by both Edward E. Dunne, counsel for Mrs. Johnson, and Henry P. Wilson Sr., attorney for the Field estate.

The statement telegraphed from New York that because of Peggy Marsh's marriage the Field estate had agreed to recognize the claims of the boy by settling an annuity of $50,000 upon his mother was also contradicted by the attorneys.

Attorney Dunne explainded that there is now pending in the Supreme Court two writs of error taken from decisions rendered by two jurists of the Superior Court of Cook County on the validity of the lad's claim to his father's estate. The Supreme Court will announce its ruling on the writs in March or April.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN TODAY.

Benjamin Franklin will realize today through the eyes of his great-great-great-grandson, Franklin Bache Huntington, a wish he made in his old age to see America a hundred years hence. Mr. Huntington, who is a New York architect with offices at 7 East Forty-second Street, will impersonate Franklin and will be escorted on a tour of the city. Mr. Huntington, who bears a striking resemblance to his ancestor, has shaved his beard and mustache to make the impersonation more accurate.

The tour, which the New York City Thrift Committee and the Benjamin Franklin Memorial Committee has arranged, will start from the Metropolitan Museum of Art and will include the Public Library, Wall Street, Fraunce's Tavern, the Battery, where a naval seaplane is to be moored for inspection, and the City Hall, where a desk used by George Washington will be seen.

WANT PAYNE TARIFF BACK.

Readoption as Emergency Measure Asked by Protective League.

The adoption of the Payne-Aldrich Tariff law of 1909 as an emergency measure, in place of the tariff laws in operation, was urged yesterday at the thirty-sixth annual meeting of the American Protective Tariff League. A resolution was adopted calling upon Congress to substitute the Payne-Aldrich law and have it "remain in force and effect until a new tariff law that will afford adequate protection and materially increase the revenue can be deliberately prepared, enacted and approved."

Another resolution addressed to President-elect Harding asked that a special session of Congress be called "for consideration of emergency and remedial measures."

A. H. Heisey was re-elected President; Karl G. Roebling, First Vice President; Joseph R. Grundy, Second Vice President, and Wilbur F. Wakeman, Treasurer and General Secretary.

Forego Lunches to Aid Europe.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 20.—Noonday lunches will be eliminated every other day by 1,400 high school students of Evansville until $500 is raised for the starving children of Europe, it was announced today. The students acted following an appeal by J. O. Chewning, Principal of one of the high schools. The $500 will feed fifty children until the harvest season, it was said.

SHERMAN ASSAILS TRADE COMMISSION

Charges Its Reports on Packers Were Designed to Injure Meat Export Trade.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Federal Trade Commission was attacked in the Senate today by Senator Sherman, Republican, Illinois, on the ground that it had "seriously impaired" American export trade in meats by circulation abroad of its reports charging the "big five" meat packers with monopoly.

In a lengthy address opposing the pending bill for Federal regulation of the packing industry, Senator Sherman declared that the Trade Commission's reports were "intended" to injure the American packers' export trade and had actually done so.

"The commission's reports were sent broadcast through the State Department, with a form letter to make it appear that the President was behind its circulation," said Senator Sherman. "In every case it was sent where the most mischief would be done. The reports were sent abroad for the express purpose of turning foreigners against American meat producers."

William B. Colver, former Chairman of the commission, also was attacked by the Illinois Senator, who said Mr. Colver had declared that any official who would injure American commerce would be a "traitor."

"Well, he's furnished his own condemnation," Senator Sherman continued, asserting that Mr. Colver "glories in the fact that he broke down the packers' export trade."

Competing British packers, Senator Sherman said, were "clubbing and destroying us" in foreign meat markets with the commission's report.

Attacks on ownership by the packers of refrigerator car lines recalled "similar attacks" on the United Fruit Company, which he attributed to perfection of the refrigerated ship.

"Our British cousins, who have come to think commercially that the world is theirs, have led in these attacks," the Senator added, "because of the position of Jamaica, a British possession in the banana producing field."

TARIFF BARS 5-CENT CIGARS.

Importers Say Rate Must Be Reduced to Get Cheap Smokes.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The old-time five-cent cigar, once hailed by Vice President Marshall as the nation's crying need in its return to normality, is gone forever unless tariff and tax levies on tobacco drop, according to the testimony of manufacturers and importers before the House tariff framers today. The gloomy forecast emerged from a smoke screen—cigar smoke—that rolled and eddied about the Ways and Means Committee room, arising from samples brought by the tobacco men and promptly put to the test by the committee.

The witnesses asked for a reduction of the 25 per cent. ad valorem duty on Sumatra wrappers in order that cigar prices might go down "in keeping with the trend of the times."

Franzen Now Seeks Divorce.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 20.—A charge of larceny against Pierre P. Auther, who eloped with the wife of Philip M. Franzen two weeks ago, was dismissed today on motion of District Attorney T. G. Lewis, who told the court that in view of the testimony given by Franzen the State could not successfully prosecute. Mrs. Auther and Mrs. Franzen were in the court room. Franzen today served divorce papers on his wife.

SENATORS CALL FOR DATA ON B. R. T.

Seek Facts From Public Service Commissioner for Proposed Inquiry on Fares.

DOCUMENTS WILL BE GIVEN

Receiver Garrison Also Expects to Furnish Material on Operation of Lines.

Senators William T. Simpson and Maxwell S. Harris, who are working with Senator Alvah W. Burlingame Jr. in laying plans for an intensive investigation of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit System, called on Deputy Public Service Commissioner Morgan T. Donnelly yesterday and asked him to collate information needed in the proposed inquiry. Mr. Donnelly said that everything at the office of the commission would be placed at the disposal of the investigators.

There are on file with the commission many printed statements, tables, communications and the like, concerning the franchises of the Brooklyn surface lines. These, Mr. Donnelly said, would be gathered together for the committee, but information of a character not usually gathered in official proceedings could not be supplied. It was suggested that the two Senators were anxious to obtain details of transactions occurring in relation to the receivership. Records of this character are in the custody of the Federal Court.

The two Senators said last night that probably enough information would be obtained from Mr. Donnelly to enable the committee to make a good beginning in the proposed inquiry and that as it developed ways would be discovered to obtain all the facts needful in regard to the receivership, the present financial condition of the surface line properties and the management of them by Lindley M. Garrison, the Federal receiver.

Senator Harris said that he and Senator Simpson would call on Mr. Donnelly at 1 o'clock on Monday, collect the information that had been gathered and carry it to Albany, where it would be submitted to the full committee on Monday night. It is expected that at the same time the committee will receive a report from Senator Burlingame concerning the activities of Receiver Garrison, along with some details of the results of his work in managing the bankrupt properties.

Both Senators Simpson and Harris stated that the proposed hearing in the Borough Hall in Brooklyn had been called off and that there was nothing to the suggestion that a mass meeting was to be held to enable the citizens of Brooklyn to express their opinion of the B. R. T. Company.

It was said yesterday that word from Albany was to the effect that if all the Legislators from this city got together to oppose any legislation looking to an increased fare rate, the rest of the Legislators would stand with them. A feature of the proceedings at Albany, it was said, is an effort now making to bring all of the representatives from this city, or at least a majority of them, into an organization to prevent any advance in the fare.

Attention was called yesterday to the fact that the traffic on the surface lines of Brooklyn increased 19.56 per cent in the last fiscal year ended June 30, that this increase represented 70,836,089 nickels more than were received in the preceding year, and that this improvement in the financial condition indicated that the surface line companies could live comfortably without adding to the burdens of their patrons by making them pay more for transportation.

SET FIRE TO SCHOOL TO INSURE VACATION

St. John's School Student Was Infatuated With Girl at Elmira Home.

Special to The New York Times.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Jan. 20.—Austin L. Ingersoll, 17, the St. John's School student who yesterday confessed that he set fire to three buildings at the Manlius School, will be arraigned tomorrow afternoon before Judge William L. Barnum on three indictments of arson, third degree. He will enter a formal plea of not guilty through his counsel, Richard J. Shanahan, who has been retained by his father, Lucius E. Ingersoll.

It was disclosed today that the youth was infatuated with a school girl in Elmira Heights, his home, and that because he wished to be near her, he set fire to the buildings in the belief school would be dismissed for the remainder of the year. Ingersoll and his roommate, Charles D. Campbell of Alexandria Bay, to whom he confided that he had fired the buildings and who failed to report the crime to the school authorities, were expelled today.

Although no definite move has been made, the appointment of a commission to examine into the schoolboy's mental condition is said to be imminent. General William Verbeck, former Adjutant General of the State and head of the military school at Manlius, said today that he would favor such action.

The father met his son in the courthouse jail this afternoon. The lad was calm and self-possessed. Nothing has been done toward obtaining bail for the prisoner, his attorney awaiting a move on the part of District Attorney Frank P. Malpass.

Campbell is said by General Verbeck to have withheld his knowledge of the crime because of a sense of schoolboy honor. Campbell said today that Ingersoll wrote typewritten letters to the girl in Elmira which covered from five to ten pages, single spaced. He did not tell the school authorities about the confession Ingersoll made to him for fear his chum would be sent to prison for twenty years. Finally he told Harrison Reed of Brooklyn, another cadet, who immediately repeated the story to General Verbeck.

WOULD TAKE MORGAN HOUSE

Senate Committee Will Offer Bill Accepting Gift of Embassy Home.

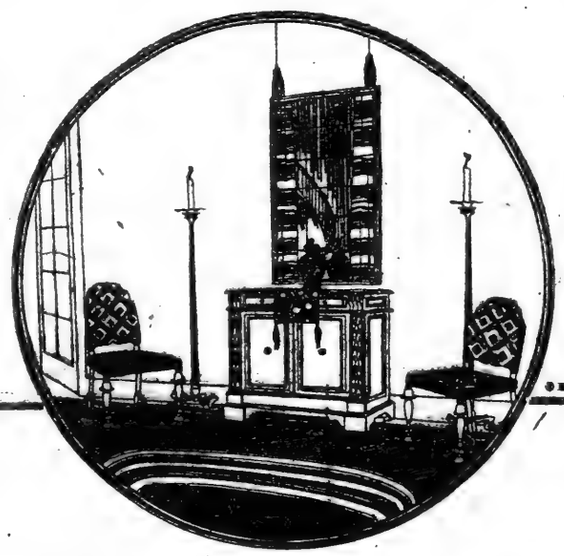
Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The offer of J. P. Morgan of New York to give to the United States the Morgan London residence at 13-14 Prince's Gate, Hyde Park, the house to be used as a residence for the American Ambassador to the Court of St. James's, was acted upon favorably today by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations. The committee authorized Senator Lodge, the Chairman, to draft a bill for the acceptance of Mr. Morgan's offer, and such a bill, as soon as drawn, will be reported favorably to the Senate by the committee.

Mr. Morgan offered his London home to the Government in a letter to the Secretary of State, written on April 17 of last year. The letter was transmitted to the Senate by President Wilson, and has been for months on file in the Committee on Foreign Relations. The house was the London home of Mr. Morgan's father, the late J. Pierpont Morgan, and before that of his grandfather, the late Junius Spencer Morgan.

The house is ample for use as an official residence for the Ambassador, but is probably not large enough for use also as offices for all the members of the embassy staff. However, it is situated at convenient distance from the present embassy, where, in the event Congress accepts the gift, it is understood the offices of the staff will continue to be maintained.

Is Your House Going To Turn Out Right?



DOES your house show signs of getting stiff and classic, just when you wanted it to develop into something nice and rambling? Everything you put into a house counts, from the cement in the cellar to the final wax on the floors. And according to the taste and judgment you use now, when you open your hall door a few months from now you'll walk into a home—or just a house. And that's what House & Garden is for—to encourage homes.

FEBRUARY

HOUSE & GARDEN

On Sale Now

THIS IS THE BUILDING NUMBER

IN this issue there's an article on transplanting architecture that shows how we can borrow some of the old-world charm of foreign buildings. And one on an Italian garden that shows what we could do—and usually don't—with a little walled-in space.

WOULD you like magnolias to bloom in your garden this spring? They're here, with all their hows and whys. You'd rather have a swimming-pool? Certainly—dimensions, foundations and all. You want things inside the house? Very well, here they are.

BRIGHT hangings for your windows, frames for paintings, mirrors of all sizes and shapes. And you'll find three houses—not too large to be livable—photographed in this issue, and their floor plans sitting beside them. There are plans, too, for a garage and service house. And there's an article on the decorative possibilities of rain-water pipe-heads. If you didn't know there were any, you've something pleasant to learn. And you'll find the article on garden axes (plural of axis) very helpful if you'd thought of laying out a garden and didn't know just how to begin.

How the Happy Idea came

How the Happy Idea was worked out

Here's how the Happy Idea works

Many customers have said, "If you would get everybody to try your candy and compare your quality and your values, you wouldn't be able to make candy enough to supply the demand."

Perceiving this to be true and knowing that the only good candy advertising is the word-of-mouth-praise of its quality by happily suited customers, our sales head said, "Let's form a Happiness Candy Club, give the members a candy treat—for example, this week two bozes of candy for the price of one of them—and you will have ten or twenty times as many people spreading the story of United Candy goodness."

And so, we have started the Happiness Candy Club. Everybody who buys United Candies automatically becomes a member. This week we "club together" two good examples of our line—a full pound box of Evangeline Chocolates, sold regularly for $1, and a one pound decorated tin box of our Louisiana Molasses Nutted Kisses, sold regularly at 60c, both for $1.

Friday and Saturday

One pound box of Evangeline Chocolates

Regular Price $1.00

One pound box of Molasses Nutted Kisses

Regular Price 60¢

Both for $1

As this club plan of selling candy is purely an idea for introducing our candies to as many people as possible, we reserve the right to limit the sale to one to a customer.

BYRON MANUSCRIPT IS SOLD FOR $3,300

"Sardanapalus," Most Important Original of Poet, Bought by Gabriel Wells.

G. D. SMITH SALE BEGINS

First Day's Proceeds $27,547—Kilmarnock Edition Burns 'Poems' Brings $2,275.

Books and autographs from the estate of George D. Smith brought $27,547 at the Anderson Galleries last evening. The highest price was $3,300, paid by Gabriel Wells for Lord Byron's manuscript of "Sardanapalus," written at Ravenna in 1821, and considered the most important Byron manuscript in existence.

Mr. Wells also paid $610 for Anacreon, one of two copies printed in vellum in 1554; $2,275 for the rare first Kilmarnock edition, 1786, of "Poems" by Robert Burns; $475 for Jean Grolier's copy of Capella's "Anthropologia," and $1,200 for William Caxton's "Virgilius," 1490.

W. W. Cohen paid $2,625 for Caxton's "Mirrours of the World" by Vincent de Beauvais, 1490. Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach obtained Grimm's "German Popular Stories," illustrated by George Cruikshank, for $900; a letter from Paul Jones to Thomas Jefferson, dated Paris, Feb. 28, 1786, for $1,075, and Ben Jonson's "King James's Entertainment," London, 1604, for $470.

William R. Hearst paid $700 for a presentation copy of "American Notes" by Charles Dickens to Professor C. C. Felton. The Brick Row Book Shop gave $500 for Captain Nathan Hale's manuscript of a poem. J. S. Phipps obtained for $500 the first edition of "Hesperides" by Robert Herrick. G. A. Baker & Co. gave $530 for Ben Jonson's copy of Horace. James F. Drake paid $405 for the first edition of Charles Lamb's "Mr. H., or Beware a Bad Name," Philadelphia, 1813.

The sale will be continued this evening.

TETRAZZINI GETS HEIRLOOM.

Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer Gives Earl's Insignia to Singer.

A costly diamond insignia, which has been an heirloom in the family of Mrs. John King Van Rensselaer for generations, was presented yesterday by Mrs. Van Rensselaer to Mme. Luisa Tetrazzini. It contains thirty diamonds and belonged before the Revolution to Major Gen. William Alexander, sixth Earl of Stirling, and was worn by him at the Court of St. James's.

The gift was made because of Mme. Tetrazzini's interest in Mrs. Van Rensselaer's Americanization work, and because the singer has formed in Italy a patriotic society called the Daughters of the Italian Revolution, organized like the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Major Gen. Alexander renounced his title and came to the American colonies to fight for them after the signing of the Declaration of Independence. He was captured during the battle of Long Island, exchanged, and married Sarah Livingston.

OPPOSES EQUITY SHOP.

Dramatists Society Votes 34 to 3 Against Proposed Plan.

The American Society of Dramatists and Composers, at a meeting in its clubrooms in Forty-fifth Street yesterday afternoon, put itself on record as overwhelmingly opposed to the proposed Equity shop, which would compel all actors to become members of the Actors' Equity Association. The vote against the proposition was 34 to 3. Addresses were made by Owen Davis, Edward Locke, Cosmo Hamilton, James Forbes, Avery Hopwood, Zoe Akins and others.

The Actors' Equity Association issued a statement after the meeting in which it was charged that the vote had been controlled by a clique. Frank Gilmore of the Equity declared that many managers were members of the Dramatists Society, and that they had been influential in swaying the membership.

"CYCLONE" MILLER WINS.

Judge Denies Wife Separation, Hoping for Reconciliation.

In the Queens County Supreme Court yesterday Justice L. B. Faber denied the application of Edna Grace Miller for a separation from Henry C. Miller, who was Major "Cyclone" Miller in wartime. The court rendered no written opinion, but the denial was understood to be based upon a hope that reconciliation would follow the husband's testimony that he dearly loved his wife and was ready to return to her if she would have him. Miller blames his mother-in-law in part for his marital troubles.

Letters written by Miss Maude Bigge, daughter of General Sir Thomas Bigge of Cahaffey Moor, Bourton, Dorset, England, which were offered in evidence by Mrs. Miller, will be returned to her by the court clerk. Mrs. Miller's attorney said his client intended to rent a safe deposit box and keep the missives for future reference. Miller has demanded the letters and there is a possibility of legal action over their possession.

DR. VAN DYKE ON KAISER.

Glad Holland Offered an Asylum to the Fallen Emperor.

The Rev. Dr. Henry van Dyke was the principal speaker at the thirty-sixth annual dinner of the Holland Society of New York last night at the Waldorf. After saying that Holland was the most hospitable and open-minded country in the modern world, Dr. van Dyke said that he was glad Holland had offered an asylum to the former Kaiser, "the most miserable and abject despot in the world." He stated, however, that he believed that Holland would be glad to get rid of the Hohenzollerns if there was a legal way to do so. The speaker said that Holland was not and had not been pro-German, and added: "Have you ever heard of a man being pro-wolf?"

ALIENATION CLUE IN FILM.

THE OPERA

By Richard Aldrich

"Cleopatra's Night" and "Le Coq d'Or."

Henry Hadley's opera of "Cleopatra's Night" is one of the few American operas produced by the Metropolitan Opera Company that have had the good fortune of continuing in the repertory for a second season. It entered last night upon its second season when it was given in conjunction with Rimsky-Korsakoff's fantasy "Le Coq d'Or." The audience was large and manifested a considerable, though not an uncontrollable, pleasure in the performance.

"Cleopatra's Night" was recognized at its first production a year ago, as one of the best of the ten American operas that have been given at the Opera House under the present management. It is perhaps not the most original, but the most skillfully made, the most "viable"; and skillful construction and "viability" are essential for the life of any operatic work. The libretto, written in English by Alice Leal Pollock, is an arrangement for the stage of Gautier's tale, "Une Nuit de Cleopatre," and possesses the important quality of practicability on the stage. But it has few other excellences. It is far from presenting the gorgeous descriptive power, the high flight of imagination, the faculty of reproducing sensuous impressions, that belong to the original. And as for its literary quality, it stands far below the remarkable English translation by Lafcadio Hearn, an artist in prose who had the right to lay hands upon Gautier's work.

The outlines of the opera are slender, but vivid, and present some notably strong dramatic situations. Mr. Hadley has taken advantage of them. He writes with a feeling for dramatic movement, expression and contrast, and for the emotional current impelled and directed by the dramatic movement. The music, however, cannot be said to show strong originality or powerful individuality. However effective it is, there is the impression of something made by skill, experience and judgment rather than from a creative impulse. Of the burning passion, the rapturous intoxication, the luxurious sensuousness of the time and place and the character of the Egyptian queen there is not much in the music.

Nor is the music free from echoes of contemporaries and predecessors in the musical world. The voice of Strauss, the language of some of the modern Frenchmen, and others not so modern, and an undertone of Wagner are not to be escaped. The writing for orchestra is skillful and resourceful and shows an appreciation of dramatic effect in instrumentation. The orchestra does not overwhelm the singers, and it is possible for them to sing and be heard, and even what is rarer, be understood.

Mme. Alda was the Cleopatra, as she was last season. It cannot be counted among the best of her impersonations. There is little to suggest the fascination, the regal passion, the imposing personality of the Egyptian queen that have come down through the ages. She sang well, especially when the music was in the upper ranges of her voice. Mr. Kingston appeared as Meïamoun, as he did in some of the performances last season; he sang the music with sonorous power; but he too created little illusion as the impassioned lover from the desert.

Mr. Papi conducted and did it from memory. In the performance of "Le Coq d'Or" that followed the same singers were heard in the cast as at the last performance, except that Mme. Bérat took the place of Mme. Kathleen Howard in the music of Amelfa. Mr. Bamboschek conducted.

The National Symphony Orchestra.

The concert of the National Symphony Orchestra yesterday afternoon in Carnegie Hall was devoted to compositions of Beethoven, whose music has flowered so luxuriously in orchestral programs this season, the 150th since his birth. The overture to "Egmont" and the Seventh Symphony were the orchestral numbers. Mischa Levitzki was the soloist and played Beethoven's C minor piano concerto.

The orchestra showed the results of the continuous and painstaking work that Mr. Mengelberg has evidently devoted to it, building on the foundation so carefully laid out and prepared by Mr. Bodanzky. The tone of the whole orchestra has been improved to some extent, mellowed and refined. There has evidently been a laborious adjustment and blending of the several choirs.

The playing showed finish and careful preparation; the unfortunate hornplayers fell again, on certain occasions, a prey to nervousness. Mr. Mengelberg's reading of the symphony was a sound and sane one; a deeply musical one, in which no effects were sought other than those that have long been recognized as belonging to the score. The tempos seemed right—unless the trio of the presto movement seemed a little too much "meno presto." The performance was a publication of Beethoven's ideas at once eloquent and sincere.

Mr. Levitzki played the concerto with great beauty of tone, crispness of rhythm and articulation and a true insight into the style of the work. It is far from being a "pupil's" concerto, and it is obvious that the composer in writing it was well freed from the leading strings of Mozart and Haydn. It is wholly characteristic of a period in Beethoven's career in which he was already thoroughly Beethoven. There are profound beauties in it, and especially in the slow movement, of which Mr. Levitzki's playing gave a full revelation. An admirable feature of the performance was the refined and finished orchestral accompaniment, such an accompaniment as is not always supplied to concertos of any sort in New York.

Charlie Chaplin's 'The Kid' Tonight

Charlie Chaplin's latest motion picture comedy, "The Kid," will be shown publicly for the first time tonight at Carnegie Hall for the benefit of the Children's Committee of the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures. "Passion," with Pola Negri in the leading rôle, which ran two weeks at the Capitol Theatre recently, will also be on the program. Both pictures have been loaned by Associated First National Exhibitors, Inc. Michio Itow will dance.

The fund to be raised for the Children's Committee of the National Board will be devoted to the selection of suitable motion pictures for young people.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The special matinees of Ervine's "Mixed Marriage" will be continued at the Times Square Theatre next week.

John Drinkwater will arrive in New York Jan. 28 on the Cedric. He will assist in rehearsals of his play, "Mary, Queen of Scots."

The first performance of "Cognac" took place in Stamford last night. The piece will come to the Princess next Monday night.

Columbia alumni have bought out the Century Theatre for the performance of "Afgar" on the night of Feb. 11.

Tony Sarg's marionettes will present "Rip Van Winkle" at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn on the evening of Feb. 5.

Deborah Bierne's Irish Players, who appeared at the Thirty-ninth Street Theatre last season, will begin their second season on Tuesday night, Feb. 1, at the Sixty-third Street Theatre, which has been remodeled by John Cort. They will present "The Keeper of the Lights," by Frank O'Donnell; "The Ballyculien Band," by Brindsley MacNamara and "Resurrection," by Daniel Corkery.

HAMBOURG TRIO APPEARS.

Gives Matinee Recital, With J. Campbell McInnes, Baritone.

Jan and Boris Hambourg, violinist and 'cellist of a family trio, in which Mark Hambourg, pianist, has now yielded to Alberto Guerrero, gave trios of Schumann, op. 80, in F, and of John Ireland, represented by his second numbered work in E minor, and in one movement, at a well-attended matinee yesterday in Aeolian Hall. Chamber musicians have increasingly of late sought to vary their recitals after the manner of the co-operative Beethoven Association, of tomorrow's Cesar Franck concert, or of Mme. Poldowski's and others here recently, not without popular evidence of approval.

The Hambourgs gave place midway in their program to J. Campbell McInnes, baritone, who sang Schumann's song cycle, op. 48, of "Poet's Love," performing the unusual feat of preparing the entire series in English of Alice Mattulath's translation, and at the last moment singing instead the sixteen original German stanzas of Heine.

Leo Schulz Appears as Soloist.

Leo Schulz stepped from the Philharmonic ranks to appear as soloist at the society's concert last evening in Carnegie Hall, and was cordially welcomed by an audience including many subscribers whose associations with the orchestra spanned as many years as his own veteran service. Mr. Schulz was heard in Schumann's concerto for 'cello, a work of rare sincerity compared with too many sentimental trifles written for that instrument, and of what is called "grateful" quality for the player and interpreter.

Mr. Stransky prefaced the solo number with Mendelssohn's overture, "Fingal's Cave," and closed the evening with a repetition of the first symphony of Mahler, previously performed on Dec. 31 in a Philharmonic matinee series.

Century Promenade to Reopen.

The Century Promenade, which has been closed for several weeks, will reopen on Monday night, Jan. 31, with "Midnight Rounders of 1921." The lyrics of the new production are by Alfred Bryan and the music by Jean Schwartz. The company will include Dooley and Sales, Cleveland Bronner and company, Ethel Davis, Olga Cook, J. Harold Murray, Tot Qualters, Jessica Brown, Ted Lorraine and others. The Promenade has been remodeled in the past few weeks. Boxes have been added and other changes made.

Costume Ball to Aid Frankie Bailey.

A costume ball in aid of Frankie Bailey, long a favorite in the old Weber and Fields productions, is to be given at the Hotel Pennsylvania on the night of Feb. 14. The Committee of Arrangements, of which Mrs. H. Willis McFadden is Chairman, includes David Belasco, Marc Klaw, Joe Weber, Lew Fields, R. H. Burnside, George C. Tyler, Daniel Frohman, Raymond Hitchcock, Louis Mann, Harrison Grey Fiske, Messmore Kendall, Sam Scribner, Charles B. Dillingham and Roy Carruthers.

Willard Mack Melodrama Coming.

"Near Santa Barbara," a melodrama by Willard Mack, will be presented at the Greenwich Village Theatre a week from Monday night, with Mr. Mack in the leading rôle. Also in the cast will be Clara Joel, T. Tomamato, Joseph Sweeney, Zola Talma and others. The play has been acted on tour recently under the title of "Her Man."

MUSIC NOTES.

Anna Pavlowa's return to the Manhattan is to be limited to twelve performances, starting March 10, following which the Russian dancer will sail for Paris. Among promised novelties here are a set of "Mexican Dances."

Florence Easton, E. Robert Schmitz and George Meader have been announced as the artists assisting at a concert on Feb. 3 at the Waldorf-Astoria for the Maternity Centre Association and the New York Diet Kitchen.

Hulda Lashanska, soprano, will sing at the last but one of the Boston Symphony Orchestra's concerts at the Brooklyn Academy on Feb. 4, when Conductor Monteux will present a "Suite Francaise," by Roger-Ducasse.

Alice Nielson is to reappear in her role from "The Singing Girl" at the Mozart Society's concert and ball at the Hotel Astor next Tuesday, in aid of the child patients of the East Side Clinic.

The Hambourg Trio and J. C. McInnes will assist Tertius Noble on Sunday evening at St. Thomas's Church in a program of music of Bach, including an air from the "St. Matthew Passion."

MR. HARDING AND THE SENATE.

The public impression is growing that the Senate has won in its first contest with the President-elect. He has frankly altered his plan. His announced purpose to choose early a Secretary of State and make known his name he has now abandoned. Nothing is settled. The whole Cabinet slate is sponged clean. Mr. HARDING goes off to the Everglades to begin it all over again and to receive any further communications that the Senate may be pleased to send to him.

Power grows by what it feeds on, and the Senate makes no concealment of its determination to assert its power to the limit, and beyond. The semi-public outgivings of Senators increase in arrogance. They speak as men who had measured swords with Mr. HARDING, and no longer fear that he will stoutly assert and maintain the full authority of the Presidency. They talk vaingloriously of having broken the back of one President and being ready to break that of another, if he ventures to oppose them. A Secretary of State? Why, they exclaim, he ought to be just as subservient to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as is the man they hire to record the minutes of its sessions. There are apparently no bounds to which these Senatorial pretensions will not go unless they are resolutely met and checked.

Mr. HARDING is a model of patience and conciliation. Yet it is inconceivable that he could submit to the extreme of dictation from the Senate. He would doubtless go far and do everything reasonable to come to an amicable agreement with Senators, but he cannot yield everything while they surrender nothing. For him to desire to "get on" with them is natural, but he must draw the line at their getting on with him in the sense of getting on his back and riding him wherever they wish. Their present attempt to veto one selection of a Secretary of State and to impose some other upon the President-elect is a beginning of tyrannical rule which Mr. HARDING must resist at any cost.

There has been a consensus of public opinion that either Mr. ROOT or Mr. HUGHES was indicated as the next Secretary of State. No one else has been thought to compete with them in the qualifications needed at the present time. And this feeling has been distinctly encouraged by all that Mr. HARDING has publicly said. But now comes the report that he has assured the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate that he will appoint no Secretary of State distasteful to it. This seems incredible. He may have expressed a general purpose to work in harmony with it. But he cannot have intended to place the appointing power in its hands. A President may be willing to compromise. But no self-respecting man in that office could consent to deliver himself shackled into the hands of Senators. If the Foreign Relations Committee had its way, it would undoubtedly rule out both ROOT and HUGHES. And if Mr. HARDING should now agree to set them both aside, it would be taken by the country as clear proof that he had capitulated to the Senate.

The inference which most people will draw is that the President-elect cannot avoid, in the end, making a stand against the overweening assumption of the Senate. He may do it quietly and with dignity and a good-humored poise, but he will have to do it if he is to preserve the prerogatives of his great office. If the break has to come, it had better be soon than late. The Senate is just now drunk with power. It deceives itself into thinking that the country has approved its course all through and recorded a passionate love for it at the polls last November. This is grotesque. The vote was largely a vote of dislike for a man who had been held up as a dictator. It did not mean that the people would like instead a lot of imitation-dictators in the Senate. If the next President meets them with firm and undaunted front the moment they sally forth to encroach upon his constitutional powers and duties, he will be applauded and upheld, they will be exposed to popular anger and derision.

THE BURNING OF CORK.

Many Englishmen have bewailed the fact that a sort of "curse" seems to rest upon every effort, no matter how well intentioned, that England has made during the last forty years to satisfy Irish aspirations. This curse often appears to take the form of English ineptitude and blundering, so far as Ireland is concerned. The latest example of it is thrust upon the world in the governmental dealing with the incendiary fires in the city of Cork. When the matter first came up in Parliament the Irish Secretary, Sir HAMAR GREENWOOD, indignantly denied that the burning was done by any of the forces of the Crown. The officer in command, General STRICKLAND, was ordered to make a searching military inquiry. Its results, Sir HAMAR asserted, would confound the slanderers.

General STRICKLAND'S report has now been forwarded, yet the Government refuses to make it public. The excuse is that protection was promised to the witnesses and that to print their testimony would both violate that pledge and imperil their lives. But this surely would not apply to the findings of the military court. Those could be given out. Doubtless they would be if they wholly exculpated the police and the auxiliaries in Cork at the time of the burning. The public naturally takes the suppression as a tacit confession. Meanwhile, the Irish Labor Party comes along with a report of its own on Cork, charging in the most sweeping way that the destruction in Cork was a deliberate and planned reprisal. This may not be true; the Labor Party has shown before now that it is reckless in the matter of evidence. But the Government's course has shut the mouths of the defenders. They do not know what to think or how to answer the Labor Party's assertion, so long as the authorities keep back the facts. So far, it has been a flagrant case of official fumbling and stupidity.

TO DESTROY THE MERIT SYSTEM.

There are 125,000 places in the classified civil service within the State of New York. There are about 450,000 men in the State who in one capacity or another served in the great war. By the terms of the constitutional amendment embodied in the resolution introduced in the Legislature on Wednesday evening, these 450,000 men would be set apart as a specially privileged class entitled by determining favor in rating to be appointed to these places in the civil service in preference to all other citizens. This is the annual attempt to destroy the merit system by creating a preferred veteran class whose members would be appointed for reasons altogether apart from proved fitness. The resolution before the Legislature was passed in the session of 1919 and now comes before the present session after another election of Senators, as required by the Constitution. The amendment reads as follows:

Resolved, That Section 9 of Article V. of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

Section 9. Appointments and promotions in the civil service of the State and of all the civil divisions thereof, including cities and villages, shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, so far as practicable, by examinations, which, so far as practicable, shall be competitive; provided, however, that honorably discharged soldiers, [and] sailors [from] and marines who shall have served as such in the army [and] navy or marine corps of the United States in [the late civil] time of war, who are citizens and residents of this State shall be entitled to preference in appointment and promotion without regard to their standing on any list from which such appointment or promotion may be made; provided they were residents of this State at the time they entered said army, navy or marine corps; and provided also that soldiers, sailors and marines who served in the Civil War shall have preference over all others on the same list.

Under this amendment a veteran who in the examination received a rating of 70 per cent., just sufficient to pass, would automatically be advanced to 100 per cent. It will at once be seen that the effect would be to give those who served in the war a monopoly of places in the civil service so far as they chose to apply for them; practically all other applicants would be excluded. Imagine the effect of that in the Police and Fire Departments, for example. There, the examinations are rigid, they are intended to establish the fact of fitness in respect to physical capacity and character. All that would disappear. The determining qualification would be that of having served in the armed forces. Moreover, as the Civil Service Reform Association points out, "a soldier who never left a training camp during the World War" would have "equal rights with the soldier "who served at the front during the "entire period of the war." It appears that women would be excluded altogether. Moreover, promotion as well as appointment would depend, not upon faithful performance of duty, but upon military service of whatever nature. Civil servants of proved competence would be passed over by those below them without any regard to records of industry or attention to duty.

This amendment would destroy the merit system in the State. It would demoralize the service; the cost to the taxpayers through inefficiency and actual inability to perform the duties required would be enormous. In establishing the merit system the people of the country through their Congress, and those of the various States through their Legislatures, deliberately determined that appointments to civil posts should be based upon merit and fitness ascertained by examinations. This amendment reverses that decision of the people, it discards the test of merit and fitness and substitutes as the qualification military service, an entirely unrelated matter.

The people of the State of New York in voting for the distribution of $45,000,000 in bonuses to the soldiers have already expressed their gratitude to the men whose bravery and sacrifice contributed to victory in the war. That token of the sentiment of the people toward the men who bore arms imposes a burden, but one measurable and easily borne. It is not right that in addition to this testimony of gratitude the people should now be asked to consent to the demoralization of the public service and the wrecking of the system of appointment for merit which they have set up. The men who saw service on the battlefield or at home should, through the Legion, and by all forms of organized or individual expression, be the first to denounce this most dangerous form of recognition of what they did in the war. They ought to consider the proposed constitutional amendment as a humiliation for themselves.

RUINOUS DELAY.

Mr. BRIAND, in his statement of the policy of the new French Ministry made yesterday before the Chamber, declared that the restoration of France and of Europe was possible only if Germany executed the reparation clauses of the Treaty. That is true, but there is one provision of those clauses which must be executed by the Allies before reconstruction can begin on a sound basis. That is the provision that the amount of the indemnity must be fixed before May 1.

It ought to have been fixed at the Peace Conference, as the American delegation contended. Much of the uncertainty which has contributed to the economic depression of Europe since the conference, which has offered an easy excuse to the incompetent, the indolent or the malignant, would have been avoided if the Germans had known on June 28, 1919, how much they were expected to pay. It is true that all the efforts of the Germans during the Peace Conference, and most of their efforts since, have been devoted to obscuring the facts and creating a conviction that Germany can pay little, and that only in return for political concessions. That was to have been expected; any defeated Power would do it, and the Germans especially. It was the business of the Reparation Commission to go behind the German evidence, where possible, and try to find out what could actually be done.

The indemnity was not fixed at the conference partly because the leaders of the chief creditors were afraid to admit to their peoples that the sum that could be recovered was less than they had promised; partly because no nation was able, or willing, to submit evidence as to the damage it had actually suffered. That task, too, would have been difficult, but it is the duty of statesmen in a troubled time to find ways of doing difficult things. The Peace Conference ended nineteen months ago; in little more than three months the amount of the indemnity must be announced. And now there is talk of charging fixed sums against Germany for the next five years and announcing the total due at the end of that period. What has that powerful and expensive instrument, the Reparation Commission, been doing in the past year and a half if it has not found out about how much the Germans can be expected to pay? It is hard to imagine anything more likely to make Europe's present economic demoralization permanent, to complete the destruction of our industrial-commercial civilization, than the announcement that Germany must wait five years more to know how much she is to pay, and France to know how much she is to expect.

Estimates given out for effect on the public are still far apart. The Berliner Tageblatt thinks it is ruinous to expect Germany to pay so much as $750,000,000 a year at present, and Mr. LOUCHEUR, the French Minister for the Liberated Regions, thinks she can make an annual payment of $2,000,000,000. But it is incredible that the economic experts have no more trustworthy figures than those estimates. The evidence is attainable; it ought to have been, and probably has been, collected; and before long it ought to be published. There is much sound argument in Mr. LOUCHEUR'S list of economies which Germany could make, though it is difficult to follow him in the conclusion that the Germans have deliberately let their country run downhill in order to protest that an allied receivership is the only possibility. They have, of course, tried to make it appear that they are desperately off; but a receivership would be unprofitable to both France and Germany. The indemnity will be produced if there is a prospect that the Germans will have something to show for their labors, and it ought to be possible so to estimate it that the Germans can lay by something for themselves while meeting the just demands of France. Toward that end the first step is the fixing of the amount due.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER.

The proposal that the body of an unknown American soldier who fell in battle in France be brought home and buried with appropriate ceremonies under the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington or in the Arlington National Cemetery has the support of the American Legion. Doubtless it speaks the sentiment of the people of the whole country when it urges Congress to pass an enabling bill. Two measures have been introduced, one by Representative HAMILTON FISH Jr. of New York, the other by Senator PENROSE of Pennsylvania. Both bills have been referred to the Military Affairs Committees. The question of the place of burial might be settled in conference.

Of the great host of visitors to Washington few are not seen at the Capitol. They inspect the gallery of historical paintings in the rotunda, the subjects of which are all American and appeal powerfully to the imagination. They pass into the National Hall of Statuary and stand before the effigies of celebrated representatives of the States. It is always a serious and reverential gathering in which pride of country is visibly strong. There is no doubt that the Capitol is already, and has always been, in the nature of a shrine to the American people. The resort to the National Cemetery at Arlington is not so noticeable. Many visitors to Washington never cross the river to pay their respects to the illustrious dead there, most of whom in life fought to preserve the Union in the war between the States.

In considering whether the unknown soldier, who might himself have been a Virginian, shall be laid to rest under the Capitol rotunda or in the National Cemetery, Congress should consult the wishes of the people in all parts of the country and its decision should reflect their choice. The District of Columbia is a common meeting place of the American people and is Federal as distinguished from State ground. It does not seem to be the desire of the American people to multiply shrines of the unknown who made the supreme sacrifice in France. A proposal to bring back a New York soldier for burial in Central Park has not met with general favor. There are forty-eight States. In Westminster Abbey Great Britain has honored one unknown soldier of the great war, France one in the Panthéon.

OFFICIAL LAW-BREAKING.

DONAL O'CALLAGHAN, Lord Mayor of Cork, arrived as a stowaway without a passport at Newport News on Jan. 5. Under the Passport Control act of 1918, extended in 1919 till March 4, 1921, and the President's proclamation and executive order thereunder, no alien, without visé passport, can lawfully enter the United States unless the Department of State makes an exception in his case. The Immigration Inspectors at Newport News properly detained O'CALLAGHAN. The acting Secretary of State, sole authority in the matter, held that there was no reason to make an exception of O'CALLAGHAN'S case, and asked the Department of Labor to deport him.

The Department of Labor had no right to interfere. Secretary WILSON, in deliberate contempt and violation of the law, instructed the immigration authorities at Newport News to release O'CALLAGHAN on parole. He went to Washington and testified before the Villard committee. Presumably, the British Government would have given him a passport if he had asked for it. He chose to do otherwise. No blame is to be attached to him. The strongest censure is deserved by Secretary WILSON, who violated the plain letter of the law. To add absurdity to his lawless action he held that the stowaway was a "sailor"; that is, in the view of the law, a man who follows the sea, whose occupation is that of a sailor. The Lord Mayor's sense of humor must have been greatly tickled to find himself described as a mariner. As such, he would be permitted to go back without being deported.

To make his overruling of the law more marked and offensive, the Secretary's "decision" of something he had no right to decide was published the very day after the State Department had ruled that O'CALLAGHAN should be deported. Two weeks after this unlawful arrival the Secretary of Labor, at length forced to come down from his high horse, issues to the Bureau of Immigration instructions that should have been followed at first, recites the law and condemns his previous action, admits at last that aliens unprovided with visé passports must be excluded unless the Secretary of State waives the passport requirements. He speaks of "alien seamen "who follow seamanship as an occupation," a definition that derides his classification of O'CALLAGHAN. Such seamen are to be permitted to land for the purpose of reshipping, "unless the Secretary of State directs "that they be kept on their vessels." Stowaways shall be "reported immediately to the Secretary of State," and they may land to reship unless he directs them to stay on their vessels. O'CALLAGHAN is to be sent back as soon as possible. At last the Department of Labor recognizes the law and the Secretary of State.

In spite of this late compelled yielding, Secretary WILSON has successfully defied the Secretary of State and the law for nearly two weeks, has had his way, has achieved his object. The Assistant Secretary of Labor has repeatedly disregarded the law. Now the Secretary of Labor is seen snapping his fingers at the law and usurping a power and discretion that belong to the Department of State alone. It is bad enough for a private citizen to flout the law. What shall be said of a great Federal officer who flouts and breaks it? O'CALLAGHAN is not important. This official contempt of a Federal act is scandalous and dangerous. Does nobody in Congress dare to say so?

EDUCATION NEWS.

One momentous educational problem has been solved fortunately. Mr. TAD JONES, that accomplished professor of theoretical and applied football, a glory of Exeter, Pawling, Syracuse, New Haven, a player and a teacher of genius, has signed a contract to give his whole time for some years to Yale football. He is a clever, tactful and engaging teacher of the science of sciences. The young Yalensians, all of those at play or watching other lads play, have their heart's desire. The major post in the university has been filled to their complete satisfaction.

Meanwhile old fogy graduates, the ink on whose sheepskins dried long ago, will continue to feel a keen interest and curiosity in the selection of President HADLEY'S successor. It is natural and right that there should be long pondering on that choice. Indeed, Dr. HADLEY'S achievement has been so great, he has kept the standard so high, as to make it mighty hard to find a follower and continuator as admirable.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Some Good Advice for Farmers.

Exhortation to advertise, addressed to a large class most of whom now make no attempt to utilize in their business the potential benefits of publicity—that, of course, will have the approval of all newspapers. Fortunately, however, their commendation of the advice given by Vice President CULLEN of the North American Fruit Exchange to the assembled members of the New York State Agricultural Society, at their annual meeting in Albany this week, can be based on more than journalistic self-interest.

What Mr. CULLEN had in mind was the farmer, not the newspaper; and though he scolded his hearers with some seeming severity for their failure to make themselves better known, individually and collectively, to the purchasers of their wares, they really deserved whatever of harshness there was in his remarks. And, as he said, it is not for lack of good examples of what can be done by the intelligent advertising of a region's products that the New York farmers have allowed their apples and other fruits to go without the reputation in the great markets of the world which they deserve.

The Pacific Coast growers have long been spending much money every year in calling public attention to the merits of their orchards and their vineyards, and in the South, too, the peach men, among others, have done something, though less, along the same lines. In both cases the rewards have been commensurate with the expenditures, but in both the advertising has been preceded by careful organization of the growers, and the whole nature of the business done has been changed by the elimination of the commission houses and the substitution for them of agents working, not for individuals, but for combinations of growers. No more there than here does the consumer buy from the individual farmer, and it is not the latter, personally, who does the advertising and gains the reputation.

Have Made Already a Beginning.

Had Mr. CULLEN gone further into his subject he could have told his auditors that already some farmers in this part of the country have tried and are trying to establish by advertising direct relations with the ultimate consumer. In THE TIMES yesterday, as not infrequently before, a grower offered to send, prepaid and at what seemed to be moderate prices, named varieties of apples to individual buyers. As many others as choose can do the same thing, and there is no obvious reason why thus there cannot be built up a considerable trade and one profitable to both parties concerned in it.

Success depends, however, on the establishment of complete confidence in the minds of buyers that wares bought "unsight, unseen" will be always and fully up to the representations made in the advertisements. The big Western and Southern fruit agencies have done that.

But the present customary method of handling agricultural products is by no means either wholly or necessarily bad or uneconomic. The commission men and the corner grocers perform service and are entitled, when honest, to what they get, while marketing by mail has its dangers as well as its inconveniences both for the customer and for the seller.

Corruption Takes a New Form.

According to Mr. WHITMAN, whose opportunities, both now and in the past, for acquiring information about police graft and police grafters have been unusually great, there has been of late in these matters as in so many others a marked change of fashion. Formerly it was "the powers that prey" and the breakers of laws that were exploited; at present a richer field—that provided by men doing legitimate business and willing to pay for special privileges and protection—is worked.

Accepting this statement as true, and certainly recent revelations give it high plausibility, there is more than excuse for declaring that this is a change for the worse rather than for the better. Inevitably, and sooner or later, some of the "respectable" merchants who pay policemen for doing police duty will pay them for what is the reverse of police duty—the showing of a vicious partiality for the sources of illicit income—and that way, probably, lie greater dangers to the community than resulted from accepting a share in the profits of criminals.

Under both plans, bribes are given and taken, and in both the bribe-giver is at least as bad as the bribe-taker. The plea that only by corruption is it possible to carry on this or that legitimate business is never a sound or defensible one. That is often the easiest way, but those who take it are cowards when they are not villains, and between cowards and villains there is little difference in morals and none in capacity and willingness to do social harm.

The business man to whom due police protection is refused unless he pays for it has an alternative to payment—he and his fellow-sufferers can make the situation known to the public, whereupon its reformation will be immediate and sure. To do so may involve the taking of some trouble and the endurance of some risk until the remedy has been applied, but that is far from being enough to justify failure to perform a civic duty.

He Warned Against a Certainty.

Governor MILLER warns the Republican women to beware of "group government"—the government of small minorities, active and audible, but unwise or unpractical in their demands. The warning is one to be heeded, of course, but its value is weakened by the fact that the world always has been, and probably always will be, ruled by just such minorities, and not less under democratic governments than in monarchies.

Under our political system everybody—now that women vote—has equal political power, but very far from everybody exercises that power to any such extent as do, and will, those with a special taste and ability for doing the work required in electing officials and determining policies.

The ancient custom—which gives no sign of changing—is for the few, expert and industrious, to give others only a narrow choice in casting their votes, and the choice, when made, is called majority rule. While human nature remains what it is, a nearer approach than that to majority rule is impossible in ordinary circumstances.

The only thing that can be done by the ordinary voter, man or woman, is to select with wisdom the "group" to follow. And that is what the Governor should have advised the Republican women to do.

As Republican women he probably would have credited them with the necessary intelligence for the task, and they would have been pleased by that.

IRISH POLITICS IN AMERICA.

Views on the Protest of the Allied Loyalty League.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Our unorganized and ordinarily good citizen, who minds his own business and expects others to mind theirs, is liable at times to wake up to a "fait accompli" in which he does not acquiesce, brought about by organized propaganda of interested and active associations influencing our vote-seeking politicians.

The Irish propaganda now influencing certain politicians, and promoted by some public bodies and associations, is such an insidious influence, with an unreasoning hostility to Great Britain as a basis as much as any real sympathy for the Irish, and it is to be feared that some day we may awaken to the fact that something has been done to exceed the limits of the great consideration and tolerance of our British friends, and cause some disagreeable international friction, which is plainly the aim of this propaganda.

We have a Mayor who assumes in the name of our citizens to bestow the city's freedom on trouble-makers from Australia and Ireland, associations which pass, in the name of our people, resolutions of sympathy with foreign disturbers, Russian, Irish and others. We have politicians who use the commercial oil situation to incite feeling against England, and it would seem as if the whole country were seething with hostility to a friendly nation and a late ally.

Such is not the fact, but the silence and absence of organized protest of the great body of our people, who have no sympathy with these foreign and domestic disturbers, lends a fictitious strength to the propaganda that is going on, and gains it a false respect in the eyes of certain politicians, who will find they have misjudged the psychology of the majority of our people.

Is it not time to object to our streets being made the scenes of disorder and riot, with the prospect of our country becoming a place of warfare and sabotage against all things British, as advocated by the precious Boland, representing his chief, de Valera, and to stowaways being permitted the freedom for no apparent reason other than that they are Irish propagandists?

Is it not time to protest against an Irish commission, misnamed "American," with headquarters in Washington, evidently with the intention of giving it a national character it does not possess?

It certainly seems to be time for the opposition to these and other disturbing activities to become organized and make their disapproval strongly heard, as is urged by the Allied Loyalty League, rather than to be content with mere individual expressions through the press.

A vast number of our citizens, no doubt the great majority, disapprove of such propaganda, and respect the law and order habit of the British element here, who refuse to riot or engage in counter-demonstrations on our soil.

Mrs. R. LESTER FLEMING.
New York, Jan. 12, 1921.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

My attention has often been called to articles in THE TIMES by different persons, taking the people of Irish blood or birth in this country to task for sympathizing with the aspirations of Ireland for freedom. But most amusing of all is the article today, containing a resolution signed by Mrs. Nelson, President of the Allied Loyalty League, and James M. Beck, in which they ask for the deportation of O'Callaghan because he is the "head of a movement against our greatest ally, England." Would Mrs. Nelson refer to the American Revolution as a "movement"? Liberty a movement!

Even if the Irish did associate themselves with the Germans, of which there is no proof, one must remember that England has never done one thing for Ireland, and consequently Ireland did not see what she was going to get out of the war. But this "German" talk is all English propaganda, and statistics show, if one is unprejudiced and will investigate, what the Irish did in the war. And, too, the war is over.

If the writers of the letters who are worrying about the Irish taking part in the struggle of the land of their fathers or freedom would reflect a moment, they would see how inconsistent they are. Has not an Irishman or an Irish-American as much right to be pro-Irish as an Anglo-Saxon or Scotch-Irishman has to be pro-British?

HOW COLD IS CANADA?

Readers' Views on American Misunderstanding of the Land of the Ice Palace and the Peach Belt.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Upon reading in this morning's TIMES the query "Why is it that Canadians are so terribly sensitive?" and the good natured comment that followed it, I was at first moved to compose a hotly indignant denial of the charge that we are touchy on the question of our climate, but fortunately realized in time (from my own state of mind) that it is quite true and that I am probably as sensitive as any of us with regard to the idea, apparently widely held in this country, or at all events in New York, that Canada is an Arctic wilderness.

Canada is nothing of the kind. In fact she is not—any more than the United States—any one thing of any kind. Canada is twenty different sorts of country rolled into one and has twenty different varieties of climate. In some localities it is cold in the Winter, in others it is boiling hot in the dog days, but it would almost seem that whenever well-intentioned friends, both American and English, wish to speak kindly of us they glance at the map, discover that our northern territories extend to the Arctic, and proceed to describe us in terms of Greenland's icy mountains. I suppose it should be enough for us to know for ourselves of the delightful variety of climate and other blessings we enjoy, and all foreign misconceptions should leave us sunnily indifferent, but unfortunately we have others than ourselves to think about—the foreign emigrant—and it is "bad for business" for us to be misrepresented abroad.

In the '80s and '90s the famous ice palaces were the feature of the mid-Winter carnivals held annually in Montreal, and thousands of visitors came from America and Europe to see them—magnificent sights they were, too (usually), and well worth coming for. It was found, however, or at least claimed that the publicity given to these fanciful structures in the European illustrated papers imparted to the potential emigrant a false idea of his future home and was doing us harm. Life in an ice palace did not appeal to him, I suppose. The carnivals were dropped altogether on this account for some years, and met with powerful opposition when revived about ten or twelve years ago.

As a matter of fact there was another reason for discontinuing them—the uncertainty of the climate. The last ice palace was built about 1911 and the feature of the carnival—the storming of the ice palace by an army of snowshoers armed with skyrockets—was held in a drizzling rain with the temperature about 45 degrees Fahrenheit. A quarter of a million people gathered at the base of Mount Royal to view the spectacle, and the sight by rocket light of that square mile of gleaming, wet umbrellas surrounding the ice palace, is one to be remembered. It was a sad day for "Our Lady of the Snows," however, and we spent the rest of the Winter apologizing to our American visitors.

The kind of thing that we foolishly allow to irritate us—and what seems to have provoked your correspondent, Mr. Lewis, into taking his pen in hand—is the reams of hysterical twaddle contributed by the New York newspaper men sent to Cochrane recently to meet the American balloonists who landed by a strange accident on the shores of James Bay. You say that the stuff seems "innocent" enough, and I for one agree that "innocent" is the word. Possibly the reporters' experiences have hitherto been bounded on the north by 125th Street. Possibly, also, our touchiness is the fault of our youth, and you will indulge us in it, but if it be so that we are sensitive, is it not equally true that you are inclined to be just a thought too patronizing towards us?

C. S. HOWARD.
New York, Jan. 15, 1921.

In the Peach Belt.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Your clever article of Jan. 15 regarding Canadian sensitiveness contains this phrase: "But after a while, if the Canadians continue to take offense every time anybody accuses them of living north of the people who live south of them"— But that is just the point! For many Canadians in their so-called "sub-arctic" homes live south of the people who are said to live south of them. All that part of the Province of Ontario which lies between Lake Huron, Lake St. Clair, Lake Erie and Lake Ontario is south of Ogdensburg and Providence. Yes, I am aware that if you look at a map of the Dominion that this small spot lying down among the lakes looks just about large enough to turn one of Mr. Ford's "flivvers" in; nevertheless, it contains nineteen well-populated counties and is as large as some kingdoms over which European monarchs rule.

And though it may not be a "banana belt," it is one of the most lovely peach belts in the world. In the Spring the air is sweet with peach and apple blossoms, and in the Autumn the ripened fruit of the vineyards and peach orchards mingle till the air is fragrant with a winey perfume. Nor do those people of Southern Ontario care whether they are placed, on paper, in the arctic or subarctic. They are a happy, contented people who take time to be courteous.

One Spring day I rode on a street car in the Niagara peninsula. I pushed a button for the car to stop; then, with New York's familiar refrain, "Step lively!" still ringing in my ears I went forward briskly to get off the car. It was raining and the conductor intercepted me at the door and reached for my umbrella. New York had taught me to look well after my personal belongings and I held tightly to the handle. But with a masterful movement the conductor possessed himself of the umbrella, opened it and held it over me until I had descended the steps. "So that I didn't get a drop of rain on my new Spring hat," as I afterward explained triumphantly to my husband.

I do not wish to leave the impression, however, that Canada is one vast peach orchard. I would not deprive the country of its cold, invigorating air, and has not one of our philosophers recently risen to say that a warm climate is a doubtful blessing, and that in the future northward "will the course of empire take its way." Personally, I am particular about climate. I am as particular about climate as Goldenlocks was about her soup. I don't like the South, it is too hot, and I don't like the North, it is too cold, so I am very glad that I have found a spot that is just right—here at Richmond Hill, L. I.

More Ignorance.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I have read with considerable amusement the letters that have been published lately concerning the ignorance of Americans regarding Canada and the consequent surprise and resentment of Canadians.

We will admit that there is a great deal of ignorance of this kind, but just let us compare notes.

A few days ago a visiting London business man, on hearing that I had lived in California, expressed the opinion that it must be "jolly good sport riding over the hills chasing buffaloes, but rather nasty when one runs into a roving band of Indians."

And who among us who were in France doesn't remember the ridiculous questions asked by everybody about the United States. Most of those British Tommies seemed to think that California and Chicago were suburbs of New York and that all west of that city was a howling wilderness of forest infested with Indians, bears and cowboys and covered over pretty plentifully with gold lying around on the ground in basketfuls. All Americans were millionaires, crazy to spend their money, and with manners and ideas of etiquette that they picked up in the gold mines.

MEDIATION IN ARMENIA.

The Powers Not Following Out Their Original Proposals.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The newspapers of Jan. 4 publish parts of a telegram from the British Prime Minister to the President of the League of Nations, in which he suggests that President Wilson cable the instructions with respect to mediation between the Armenians and the Turkish Nationalists to the American High Commissioner at Constantinople. He is further reported as suggesting that the American High Commissioner should act in concert with other diplomatic representatives there.

These suggestions disregard so entirely all that has preceded in this matter of mediation as to arouse at least perplexity over here. Without a word of explanation Spain and Brazil, whose offers of mediation were accepted by the League, drop out of consideration. Without a word of explanation the places of Spain and Brazil are taken by the colleagues of the American High Commissioner at Constantinople. Without a word of explanation the fact that the President has already named Mr. Morgenthau as his representative in the mediation plan is ignored.

When President Wilson accepted the plan of mediation he made it definite that the Government of the United States was not to be involved and yet the British Prime Minister does not differentiate between a mediation commission acting under the authority of the League of Nations and action by representatives of Governments.

All along it has been the policy of the United States not to entangle itself in the European rivalry centring in the Near East, and yet the Prime Minister suggests that President Wilson instruct the United States High Commissioner at Constantinople to take the matter up with his colleagues.

President Wilson had asked for instructions from the Assembly of the League of Nations and the suggestion from London is that he cable his instructions to Admiral Bristol.

Americans welcomed the mediation proposal as evidence that Europe was ready to abandon the drifting policy with respect to Armenia. They were apprehensive that the misfortune which befell the Armenian Republic of being conquered by the Bolsheviki might be used as an excuse to abandon the mediation plan. Friends of Armenia pointed out to representatives of the British and French Governments that territorially the largest part of Armenia, accepting as its boundaries those fixed by the Treaty of Sèvres, is outside Soviet control, and that the mediation therefore could be carried out between the population of this portion of Armenia and the Turkish Nationalists.

There is the expectation here that Europe, which proposed the mediation plan, will take the necessary steps to make it effective. There is a strong desire that the misfortune of having been conquered by the Bolsheviki should not result in the loss to the Armenians of any advantages coming from the Sèvres Treaty. There is the expectation that the Armenians will obtain the benefit of their six years' allegiance to the allied cause.

Although many here regret that the United States has not done more to cooperate in restoring order in the Near East, the universal feeling is that the responsibility is primarily upon the European powers.

Some even go so far as to say that the advantages which Great Britain and France have obtained by the breaking up of the Ottoman Empire places a duty upon them with respect to an ally that helped them in the defeat of the Turks.

One suggestion made here is that the protectorate be established over the Turkish portions of Armenia with a view to the development of these portions into an Armenian home, which may in time become an Armenian Commonwealth.

The suggestion that has gone from London to Geneva is particularly disappointing, because it seems to set aside a course of action that might have been followed up and suggests one which the United States has heretofore consistently refused to take, and is even less likely to take now with the approaching change in administrations.

"I SHALL NOT MAKE A GARMENT OF MY GRIEF."

I shall not make a garment of my grief.
Enshrouding me, for all the world to see;
But I shall wear grief as a secret charm,
Where none may see—close to the heart of me!

I shall not go in mourning livery
So that, as I pass by, the world will say:
"Behold a mourner!" Only night shall know
My tears—for I shall smile by day!

Yet they who grieve shall know the charm is there,
Close to my heart—my secret talisman!
And they will dry their eyes and smile at me,
The smile of those who grieve—and understand!

OF THE KENTUCKIANS

Blue Laws May End Joy Riding, but They Can Never Stop Night Riding, He Says.

CALLS IT STATE OF POETS

He Would Rather Be an Orphan Born There Than Twins Anywhere Else.

Irvin S. Cobb told 600 Kentuckians last night of his pride in hailing from that State, "which," he said, "may be deprived of its joy riding with the advent of the blue laws, but will never do away with its night riding." He was the guest of honor at a dinner of the Kentuckians in the Hotel Plaza.

Mr. Cobb told a story of a man who boasted to his friends that he had been "all over and had seen everything." A stranger, overhearing his boast, asked him if he ever had delirium tremens. The man said he had not. "Well, then, stranger," was the reply, "you ain't never been nowhere and you ain't never seen nothing." A person who had never been to Kentucky "ain't never been nowhere and ain't never seen nothing," said Mr. Cobb.

Evan Shelby, President of The Kentuckians, was the Chairman. In introducing Cobb, he said that the author was another product of the State of which its natives could boast; the others being tobacco, horses and distilleries.

"I might spend a congenial half hour telling the members of the Kentucky Society what they mean in the civic, the social and the economic life of this great city to which they have been transplanted—of what a gap would be left in New York, big as she is, were those who tonight sit here suddenly removed from her midst," said the author. "But all this you know without my recalling it to you. Lack of self-appreciation was never a fault of a true Kentuckian. Some of us are, I may say, almost passionately addicted to ourselves. There is a legend that Kentuckians are greater of stature than the citizens of any other State with the exception of Tennessee. I think this impression is due to the fact that every time a Kentuckian remembers where he came from he rears back so far he seems at least eighteen inches taller than he really is. We are one of the breeds that can strut sitting down.

The Old Days Recalled.

"Unaccustomed as I now am to public drinking, I find that guests at a public dinner do not bear with a speaker so kindly as they did in the days before wine, women and song were succeeded by Bevo, your own wife and congregational singing. But there is one subject touching which I feel that I am on safe ground and that is the subject of our own State of Kentucky. Boneheads may make her bone dry. Her mint patches may languish vainly for the Kentucky julep, which originated before the Revolution and which some people think had a good deal to do with bringing it on. Her distilleries may be converted into fertilizer works, her corner taverns may turn into delicatessen shops, her Colonels no longer be full of corn, and her corn destined never again to bring cheer to her Colonels. The tobacco trust, following the example of its prototype of the insect world the tobacco worm, may cut down the second of her great crops to the vanishing point where no longer the head of Columbia will be wreathed about with the fragrant incense of burley leaf, but all the same, to us she'll forever be the State where the sun shines the brightest—the State which we love and which tonight we toast in sparkling vichy.

"Why shouldn't the Kentuckian be proud? Kentucky in the sisterhood of States enjoys a peculiar and an unapproachable place. If she is deplorably high in illiteracy, let us remember that in the great World War she was one of the foremost among those States which led all the rest in the physical fitness and the willingness to serve of her manhood; thereby duplicating her unparalleled record in the sixties, when Kentucky, gauged on the percentage of the division of sentiment among her people, gave, in proportion to her Union population, more volunteers to the North than Ohio did, and, in proportion to her Confederate population, more volunteers to the South than did Florida; sending to both armies more recruited troops than she had of enrolled voters.

The State of Poets.

"We may not lead the nation in finance, although occasionally we do breed a Coleman du Pont, but we produce more poets to the acre than any like area of the world's habitable surface. Not all Kentuckians write poetry, but all Kentuckians think poetry. Her population may not have grown so fast in the last decade as has that of some of her sister States, west and north, but for that we are consoled by the reflection that it is better for a man to be born a lone orphan in Kentucky than for him to be born as duly authenticated twins in Kansas. Once she was the banner Democratic State of the old Solid South. Lately she has shown a startling increase in the number of young Republicans, which is only to be accounted for on the ground that up in Governor Morrow's end of the State there must be a strong admixture of Belgian hare in the population.

"Her glories can never be dimmed. Blue laws may cut down our joy-riders, but we'll have our night-riders left. Prohibition has destroyed one of the chiefest of our taxable products, but yet may the thirsty seek the recesses of the mountains where the moonshine is stilly. Reformers may work their way with her externals, but so long as bluegrass grows and pennyrile has fragrance, what she has been, always that she will be—the State where hospitality is a religion and kindliness is a creed; the State that produced an Abe Lincoln and a Jefferson Davis, a Boone and a Breckinridge, an Albert Sidney Johnston and a John H. Morgan; a Shelby and a Clay; the State which may yet produce a President of tomorrow fashioned from the Morrow of today."

$40,935 AT PLAZA

A BONHEUR BRINGS $3,100

Canvases Include Those of Barbizon, Modern French, Dutch and American Schools.

The sale of eighty-five old and modern paintings last night in the grand ballroom of the Plaza under the management of the American Art Association brought $40,935. A pastoral scene by Charles Emile Jacque was bought by E. F. Albee for $7,500, the highest price of the evening. Mr. Albee also made the largest number of purchases. A Rosa Bonheur canvas of a stag brought the second highest price, $3,100.

Last night's collection and eighty-two more to be sold at auction tonight, comprized parts of the collection of the late Julius E. French of Cleveland, Ohio; the late John G. Holmes of Pittsburgh, the late Helen C. Bostwick, Mrs. F. S. Smithers of New York City, the late Charles G. Roebling and a deceased collector of New York City whose name was not given. Many of the paintings were of the Barbizon school. The others were chiefly examples of the modern French, Dutch and American schools, while some of the old Dutch painters were represented.

Mr. Albee bought, in addition to the work by Jacque, a picture by Daniel Ridgway Knight, the American painter, called the "French Shepherdess," from the Holmes collection, for $1,750. The picture by Jacque, for which there was lively bidding and which came from the French collection, is 27 by 39½ inches and bears the signature of the artist and the date 1879. It depicts a flock of sheep grazing, watched by a shepherd in a blue smock.

At the right are seen large trees and on the left are a river and distant farming lands. The picture is called "Entering the Pastures." Mr. Albee's other purchases were a work of the French painter Jehan Georges Vibert, called "The Reprimand," for $750, and a pastoral scene by the old French artist François Le Moyne for $250.

Rosa Bonheur's "The Stag Aroused," bought by Mrs. Dodge, also stimulated bidding. It bears the signature of the artist and is dated 1891. A stag rising from the grass occupies the foreground. Mrs. Dodge also purchased for $1,000 "Roses and Thorns," by the German professor, Ludwig Knaus, portraying a girl talking to an old woman. She also paid $300 for a small canvas of a group of cattle by the Belgian artist, Eugene Joseph Verboeckhoven.

W. R. Hearst purchased for $1,950 a picture by the French artist, Jean Charles Cazin, called "A Village in Holland." P. J. Higgs obtained "Returning From the Fields," a picture of a little French peasant girl by the French artist, Leon Augustin Lhermitte, for $2,150. Dr. E. Cadgene purchased a Jehan Georges Vibert called "Old Letters," for $1,300; "The Next Move," by Francois Flameng, for $450; "The Rehearsal," by Ferdinand Victor Leon Roybet, for $625, and "Teasing the Parrot," for $800, by Giovanni Boldini.

Childe Hassam's picture of a scene in West Twentieth Street, New York, in the early nineties excited interest and was bought by E. A. Milch for $1,075. "The Shepherdess," by Bouguereau, was bought by P. Van Veen for $850. "Pastoral," by Nicholas Lancret, was obtained by Mrs. T. Mason for $1,075.

A. L. Sinshein purchased "Autumnal Landscape," by the American artist Blakelock for $320. Sir Peter Lely's "Portrait of Lord Butler" went to the Seamon Company for $400. A Venetian street scene by the Spanish artist Martin Rico, was bought by the Holland Galleries for $575. F. H. Brunell bid in "The Noonday Meal" by the French artist, Charles Moreau, for $500. Jean Leon Gerome's "The Butcher Boy," a small canvas of an Arab boy, was bought by Mrs. C. F. Darlington for $500. The Holland Galleries also purchased the picture of a bootblack and his dog, called "Pals," by the American, John George Brown, N. A., for $470.

Among the pictures to be sold tonight are specimens of Rosa Bonheur, Cazin, Constable, Corot; Daubigny, Jules Dupre, Hobeema, Josef Israels, Anton Mauve, Messonier, Gabriel Metsu, Paul Potter, Teniers the Younger and Troyon.

JAPANESE PRINT SALE BREAKS ALL RECORDS

A Kionaga Sold for $1,500—Spirited Bidding for 231 Prints at Delmonico's Nets $32,292.

What Japanese print experts said was probably the biggest sale of prints, as far as prices were concerned, that was ever held took place last night under the auspices of the Walpole Galleries in the Supper Room of Delmonico's. The prints were those of a noted French collector, whose name was not given but whose prints have been reproduced in many famous books of prints.

The returns for the evening's sale, which is the first of three, was $32,292 for 231 prints.

Collectors from all over the country were present. Howard Mansfield, the New York collector; Miss Buckingham from Chicago, Mr. Fuller from Boston and Miss Ainsworth were among the best known. The Metropolitan Museum and the Cleveland Museum bought prints.

There were exciting competitions when prints brought five and six times their value when two competitors refused to let the coveted treasure go.

EMPRESS'S CHAIRS, $460.

Eugenie's Set Brings Highest Price at Bowie Sale—Total, $21,513.

Empress Eugenie's chairs brought the highest price closing the sale of old furniture of Mrs. William D. Bowie of Baltimore at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, going to J. C. Waterbury for $460. This was a set of satinwood chairs with shield-shape open backs, the settee with three chair-backs of the Adam period and charmingly painted, the seats upholstered with blue silk.

An English mahogany pie crust tip table with ball and claw feet went to Mr. Shea for $125. Another mahogany tip table, on a tripod stand, with three feet, which for many years belonged to the Palmer family living near Wilmington, Del., upon which Washington, who frequently stopped with the farmers on his way to Valley Forge and played cards with his friends, went to Bernet, agent, for $210.

Returns for the day were $8,125, making a grand total for the sale of 754 numbers of $21,513.

Sailed on the France.

Among those who sailed yesterday on the French liner France were: Boris Bakhmeteff, ex-Russian Ambassador; Michel Karpolvich, his secretary; Mrs. William Astor Chanler, Congressman-elect Walter M. Chandler of New York, Oscar R. Cauchois, Freight Manager of the French Line; Baron C. E. Merkens de Moerkerke, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Rensselaer and Mr. and Mrs. Gouverneur Morris of Philadelphia; Mrs. M. Laffan, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Selwyn and E. H. Burnside.

FOR THE FOURTH TIME

Novelist, 42, Marries Miss Catherine S. Burton, 31, in Chapel of St. George's Church.

Miss Catharine Sayre Burton, daughter of Frank V. Burton of 370 Park Avenue, and Owen Johnson, the novelist, son of Robert Underwood Johnson, United States Ambassador to Italy, whose engagement was recently announced, were married at noon yesterday in the chapel of St. George's Church. Only the immediate family and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Dr. Charles P. Fagnani.

Earlier in the day a marriage license was issued to the couple at the Municipal Building. According to the license application the bride is 31 years old, and Mr. Johnson is 42. This was his fourth marriage. Two of his former wives are dead and his second wife divorced him in Reno, on May 21, 1917. There was no intimation that his marriage to Miss Burton was to take place so soon after their engagement had been announced, until they obtained their marriage license.

Mr. Burton gave his daughter in marriage, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Margaret Burton. Harry T. Lindeberg acted as best man for Mr. Johnson.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. Later Mr. and Mrs. Johnson will sail for Italy for an indefinite stay.

Mrs. Johnson is a sister of Frank V. Burton Jr., who married Miss Nora Nickle last August at Englewood, N. J., and of Van Duzer Burton, who married Miss Amy F. A. Sparks, daughter of Sir Ashley and Lady Sparks.

Mr. Johnson's first wife was Miss Mary Galt Stockley of Lakewood, N. J., whom he married in 1900, one year after his graduation from Yale. She died in 1911. A year later Mr. Johnson married Miss Esther Ellen Cobb of San Francisco, who was known as Mme. Cobina on the concert stage, being a professional singer. They were divorced in 1917. Then shortly after the divorce Mr. Johnson and Miss Cecile Denis de Lagarde of Chignes, Haute-Savoie, France, were married in Boalsburg, Pa. The third Mrs. Johnson died in May, 1918.

Mr. Johnson's home is at 326 Lexington Avenue. He has three children, Olivia, Katharine and Robert Johnson. In 1919 he was created a Knight of the Legion of Honor.

Lee—Hewitt.

The marriage of Miss Winifred Hewitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crane Hewitt of Montclair, N. J., to Charles Burrall Lee, son of Mrs. A. R. Lee of Detroit, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Frederick L. Sexton of New Haven, Conn., officiating. Mrs. Lucy C. Craig of Montclair was her sister's only attendant and Mr. Craig served as best man for Mr. Lee. The ceremony was followed by a reception.

Secretary Wilson's Daughter Weds.

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Miss Mary Wilson, daughter of the Secretary of Labor, was married this afternoon to Charles D. Strohecker of this city, the ceremony taking place at Rockville, Md., with the Rev. John R. Henderson of the Presbyterian Church officiating. There were no attendants, and only the members of the two families were present, the ceremony being followed by a family dinner party at the home of the bride's father. Mr. Strohecker is a clerk in the Post Office Department. He and his bride will reside in this city.

Rogers-de Rivas Wedding Feb. 5.

Invitations have been issued by Mrs. Josiah Pierson Howell for the marriage of her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Howell de Rivas, widow of José Cerillo de Rivas of this city and Havana, to Benjamin Woolsey Rogers of this city and Philadelphia, which will take place on Feb. 5 at the Church of the Beloved Disciples. The engagement of the couple was announced last November.

High-Burney Engagement.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The engagement is announced of Lieutenant Commander Charles Dennitown Burney, son of Admiral Sir Cecil Burney, to Gladys, daughter of George Henry High of Chicago.

GUATEMALA REDUCES ARMY.

Cuts Standing Force of 15,000 to $5,000, Saving $50,000 Monthly.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Guatemala's standing army of 15,000 men is to be cut to 5,000, Julio Bianchi, Minister from Guatemala, announced tonight, adding that it was "an action of much interest with the press of the world discussing disarmament."

"The era of petty wars and revolution, I believe, is at an end," the Minister said, calling attention to the recent decision of the Central American Union Congress for a federation of Central American republics.

Guatemala, he added, by reducing her army, proved her belief "that confidence had superseded fear in Central America" and also would save $50,000 a month.

Dinner Parties in Rome.

ROME, Jan. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Glasgow Richmond gave a dinner tonight in honor of Lord and Lady Milford Haven (Prince and Princess Louis of Battenburg). The guests included the British Ambassador and wife, Howard William Kennard, Councilor of the British Embassy, and wife; Mott Gunther, Councilor of the American Embassy, and wife; General Evan Johnson, American Military Attaché; Colonel Eager and Prince Rospigliosi.

General Evan Johnson gave a dinner last night in honor of Baron Romano Avezzana, former Italian Ambassador at Washington, and wife. The guests included General and Mrs. Diaz, Senator and Mrs. Malaspina, Donna Maria Mazzoleni and other members of the Italian aristocracy.

Entertainments.

Mrs. W. Bayard Cutting opened her house, 24 East Seventy-second Street, last evening for a meeting of the Thursday Evening Club. There was a program of Spanish songs, with a chorus by members of the Schola Cantorum, and after it supper was served.

More than $500 was made yesterday afternoon at the bridge given at the residence of Mrs. Francis Minot Weld, 930 Park Avenue, for the benefit of the Social Service Committee of the New York Infirmary for Women and Children. About 100 people played.

A Son to Mrs. Robert Goelet.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Goelet are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son last Monday night at their home, 320 Fifth Avenue. The child will be called Robert Goelet Jr., and is a grandson of Mrs. Ogden Goelet, and a nephew of the Duchess of Roxburghe.

Mrs. Goelet was Mrs. Fernanda Riabouchinsky before her marriage to Mr. Goelet in Paris, on Oct. 22, 1919. She is the daughter of Professor and Mrs. Mariano Rocchi of Pergia, Italy.

Mr. Goelet's first wife was Miss Elsie Whelen, who brought suit for divorce in January, 1914, and has since married Henry Clews Jr. By his first marriage Mr. Goelet had two children, Ogden and Peter Goelet, the former 11 years old, the latter now 18 years old.

IS LAID TO VERONAL

Autopsy Shows Heart Stroke Did Not End Life of Lawyer in Columbia Club.

POLICE ARE INVESTIGATING

Attending Physician Reported Case on Wednesday as Due to Natural Causes.

Cornelius S. Pinkney, 43 years old, member of the law firm of Robinson & Pinkney, 49 Wall Street, died suddenly late on Wednesday afternoon at the Columbia University Club, 4 West Forty-third Street. It was at first reported that death had been caused by heart disease, but an autopsy performed yesterday by Dr. Charles Norris, Chief Medical Examiner, disclosed that he had died from the effects of an overdose of veronal. It was not until yesterday afternoon that the police were notified and a policeman sent to investigate.

Mr. Pinkney came to the club about 3 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. He was a bachelor and lived with his brother, Townsend Pinkney, in apartments at 716 Madison Avenue. He visited the club frequently and sometimes spent the night there. On his way through the lobby Mr. Pinkney met George W. Heywood, the manager, and told him that he was tired and would take a nap. He asked that he be called at 6 o'clock.

A valet sent to awaken him at that hour found the lawyer unconscious. He notified Mr. Heywood. Dr. H. S. Hathaway of the Hotel Walton was in the club. He went up to Mr. Pinkney's room and was joined by another physician. Both worked over the unconscious man, but he died fifteen minutes after they arrived.

Dr. Hathaway said that death was the result of heart trouble and notified Dr. Norris. The latter gave permission for the removal of the body and it was taken to The Funeral Church, Broadway at Sixty-sixth Street. The autopsy was performed yesterday morning. Later in the day Dr. Norris notified the police of the West Forty-seventh Street Station.

When Policeman Arthur Pfeiffer visited the club he was surprised to find that Mr. Pinkney had died on the preceding day and the body had been removed.

PASTORS PREACH IN DARK.

Lights Are Cut Off From Churches in Carnegie on 'Dry' Sermon Night.

Special to the New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—Bootleggers scored in the first round of their battle with the Carnegie ministers last Sunday when they cut the electric wires furnishing current to the Baptist, United Presbyterian, Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal and Primitive Methodist churches during the preaching of sermons on "Prohibition in Carnegie" in each of the five churches at the same time.

The ministers had just launched their sermons when the lights went out. Quick investigation disclosed the main switch controlling the lighting system in each church had been thrown and that the power line outside had been cut.

Despite the darkness the ministers, after telephone communication with one another, decided to finish their sermons. This plan, however, did not prove very successful, as many persons in the congregations left.

Efforts were made to keep the affair secret, and it only became known today.

WHEELER BUST PRESENTED.

Gift to National Gallery of Art Provided For by Prominent Men.

Henry Clews, on behalf of various contributors, on Saturday presented to the National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C., a bust of the late General Joe Wheeler. The presentation was made through C. D. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, which has charge of the National Gallery of Art.

"Several years ago," said Mr. Clews, "a committee composed of Joseph H. Choate, Chairman; Henry Clews, Treasurer, and Theodore Roosevelt was formed to secure funds to provide for a bronze bust of the late General Joe Wheeler, the bust to be made by the sculptor W. R. O'Donovan. The following men, many of whom are now dead, contributed $50 each to make up the cost of the work, which was $1,850:

Theodore Roosevelt, deceased; James Grant Wilson, deceased; W. A. Clark, Major Gen. D. E. Sickles, deceased; Andrew Carnegie, deceased; Levi P. Morton, deceased; J. P. Morgan, deceased; August Belmont, Isaac Seligman, deceased; John D. Rockefeller, Joseph H. Choate, deceased; Whitelaw Reid, deceased; John Jacob Astor, deceased; Jacob H. Mrs. Charles H. Basshor Ill Here.

Mrs. Charles Hazeltine Basshor of 111 Marion Avenue, Atlantic City, mother of Mrs. Raymond T. Baker, is ill at her apartments in the Waldorf-Astoria, but was reported last night to be improving. She came to this city on Tuesday to see her daughter, who, as the widow of Alfred G. Vanderbilt, married the Director of the United States Mint in 1918. It was said that Mrs. Basshor made the journey against the advice of her physicians, who believed that she had not entirely recovered from an attack of influenza last year.

Obituary Notes.

ABRAHAM JALKOFF, a member of the firm of Jalkoff Brothers, furriers in Manhattan, and one of the best known workers in Jewish charities in this city, died in Mount Sinai Hospital yesterday after an operation. Mr. Jalkoff was a third Vice President of the Brooklyn Federation of Jewish Charities. His home was at 351 Eastern Parkway, Brooklyn.

Mrs. CHARLOTTE LATROBE STEVENSON, widow of David Stevenson, President of the brewing company of that name, died Wednesday at the Women's Hospital following an operation. She lived at the Hotel Plaza and was the daughter of the late General L. G. Latrobe of Baltimore.

JOHN H. REAGAN of 432 Fifty-fifth Street, Brooklyn, died Wednesday night in Bellevue Hospital, following a sudden illness at his law office, 320 Broadway. He was born in Oswego in 1860 and had practiced law here since 1897.

DWIGHT V. MONROE, a member of the firm of Rolland G. Monroe & Co., 452 Fifth Avenue, importers of precious stones, died Wednesday in St. Luke's Hospital of complications following an operation for appendicitis performed New Year's Day. He was born in Binghamton forty-seven years ago and lived at 790 Riverside Drive with his wife and daughter.

Mrs. ALMIRA CHURCH ATWOOD, widow of the Rev. Isaac Murray Atwood, General Superintendent of the Universalist Church in the United States and Canada, is dead at her home in Washington, D. Y., and one of her daughters, Miss Nora Atwood, is head of the botanical section of the Department of Agriculture.

DIES MARTYR TO DUTY

Lawyer Succumbs to Maladies Due to Inhaling Fumes While Investigating Factory Odors.

Dr. William J. O'Sullivan, a former Assistant Corporation Counsel of this city, died at his home, 3,681 Broadway, yesterday morning, after an illness of two years. The complication of maladies which caused his death was a direct result of the public work he did in 1915 in the "acrid fumes nuisance," investigation of factories across the North River, from which chlorine and other gases were being wafted to Manhattan. Dr. O'Sullivan was overcome by the fumes while inspecting the Corn Products factory in Edgewater, N. J., and never recovered from the illness which resulted.

Born in Cork, Ireland, in 1869, Dr. O'Sullivan was graduated from Trinity College, Edinburgh, where he studied medicine and chemistry, and came to this country to study law in Yale University. He entered the bar of New York State in 1891, and became known as an authority in medical jurisprudence through his testimony in noted murder trials, among them the Buchanan and Carlyle Harris cases, and more recently the Thaw and Molineux murder trials.

He was appointed Inheritance Tax Commissioner by Governor Glynn. He served as Special Attorney General in the Passaic Valley sewerage case, when this State brought suit against the State of New Jersey to prevent sewerage from being dumped into New York Bay.

Dr. O'Sullivan was a member of the Merchants' Association, Amen Corner and the Yale Club. He is survived by his widow, Emilie O'Sullivan, and a daughter, Mona.

LANGDON FUNERAL HELD.

Japanese General at Obsequies on Dock at Vladivostok.

VLADIVOSTOK, Jan. 18.—A military funeral for Lieutenant Warren H. Langdon, U. S. N., killed by a Japanese sentry, was held today at the Y. M. C. A. Building, close to the dock where the United States cruiser Albany, of which he was the chief engineer, is moored. The Russian and foreign military officials and the civil authorities attended the obsequies. General Oi, the Japanese Military Commander, was among those present.

The coffin was covered with wreaths. It was taken alongside the Albany, mounted on a gun carriage. A salute in honor of the dead was fired. After this a big flag was lowered, cutting off the view of the public.

Samuel Kahn Dies on Train.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Samuel Kahn, 61, wealthy stove manufacturer of Cincinnati, Ohio, was found dead in his berth when a train arrived at Chicago this morning. Mr. Kahn had been ill several months and was on his way to California seeking health. Heart disease was assigned as the cause of death.

Mr. Kahn is survived by his widow, a son, Myron D. Kahn, a student at Harvard University, and a daughter, Mrs. Mark J. Grossman of Cleveland, Ohio.

George J. Corey.

George J. Corey, formerly for four years United States Consul to the Netherlands, died at his home in Ledyard, Conn., on Monday and was buried there yesterday. He was 66 years old. Mr. Corey was a friend of the late President William McKinley and during his two Presidential campaigns he had charge of the activities of the Commercial Travelers Association. President McKinley appointed him United States Consul at Amsterdam, Holland.

MAY INCORPORATE THE AMERICAN BAR

Plan Would Automatically Make All Lawyers Members on Admission to Practice.

CHANCE TO CORRECT ABUSES

National Association Can Only Discipline Own Members, and Others Sometimes Escape.

A proposal to incorporate the American Bar Association so as automatically to bring all lawyers in the United States under the disciplinary jurisdiction of that body instead of subjecting them, as at present, to the discipline of bodies in which membership is voluntary is being investigated by a subcommittee appointed by William A. Blount, President of the association.

The possibility of incorporation has been discussed for some time, and a certificate of incorporation drawn and submitted to the committee for approval if it finds that such action will tend to raise the standard of the bar and to correct certain abuses which the association is powerless to control.

Martin Conboy, Chairman of the Committee on Publicity, said last night that the subject had many angles, and that although incorporation had been advocated for a number of other reasons, that of the increase of disciplinary power is one of the main causes.

"The theory is that the Bar Association would then be a body to which all members in good standing would belong on their admission to the bar," said Mr. Conboy. "It would be done by co-ordinating such action with the licensing power. No lawyer can practice without a license, and through incorporation he would become a member as soon as he gets a license. Membership in the association at present is voluntary, members being elected on their application.

"Incorporation would make all lawyers amenable to the control of the national body, and it would be a particularly valuable function in outlying districts, outside the jurisdiction of the present local associations in large communities. It is hard to prevent abuses of a lawyer's license in these districts at present. Even in the large cities, such as New York, where there are the city and county associations, the corporate power of the American Bar Association would give much greater disciplinary power over lawyers who are not members of the local organizations."

Nurse Sues to Recover Gems.

Louis K. Schwartz, wealthy realty operator, was sued in the Supreme Court yesterday by Gladys S. White, trained nurse of 249 West Eightieth Street, for jewelry valued at $2,500, most of which she is said to have received from him. She charged that she gave him the jewelry to keep when she was about to enter a hospital last November for an operation for appendicitis. The most valuable article is a diamond ring said to be worth $1,500.

SEEK REFUND TO GAS USERS.

Service Commission Would Compel Return of $500,000.

The Public Service Commission held a hearing yesterday to discover some method by which several gas companies serving the Newtown and Jamaica sections of Queens could be compelled to return to their consumers about $500,000 which was impounded between July 1, 1916, and May 1, 1918, pending a court decision as to whether the rate should be continued at the statutory figure of $1 or whether the rate should be from 10 to 15 cents less, the rate fixed by the commission. In the meantime the high rate was charged.

The companies involved in the proceedings are the Newtown and Richmond Gas Companies and the Woodhaven and Jamaica Gas Light Companies.

Twenty Imperiled When Ship Lists.

While longshoremen were breaking out the cargo of the freighter Lake Flatonia at Pier 1, North River, yesterday, the vessel suddenly listed to port and twenty men who were working in the hold narrowly escaped serious injury. Davis Scatsch of 193 Madison Street was taken to the Broad Street Hospital suffering from minor injuries.

JILTED, GETS $10,000 AWARD

Nurse Obtains Verdict in Undefended Breach of Promise Suit.

Miss Mae Swindale, a nurse, living at 247 Fort Washington Avenue, Manhattan, yesterday obtained a verdict of $10,000 by a Sheriff's jury in the Brooklyn Supreme Court in her breach of promise suit against Jack McQuaid, Chicago manager of the United States Title and Guarantee Company. McQuaid is said to be in Chicago. Miss Swindale sued for $25,000 and the action was undefended.

Miss Swindale said she met McQuaid at Ariverne at a social function and that he proposed marriage to her several times in 1917 and 1918. She said she had not seen him since Jan. 16, 1919.

Spell T-h-r-i-f-t in Emphatic Accents

And to the man who realizes that it's twice as easy to make money by shrewd investment as by hard labor they will sound a call to action. The reductions are almost unprecedented: the clothing is of our usual high quality. Study the figures —they tell the story.

If you know how to spend less than you get you have the philosopher's stone.
—Poor Richard's Almanack.

Nor was that the only good line that Ben Franklin ever penned. Another was "Wealth is not his that has it but his that enjoys it."
A dollar wisely spent is a source of solid satisfaction as long as the purchase lasts. And an investment in good appearance is one which pays dividends sixteen hours a day in the knowledge that your clothes fitly represent you. Add to this the fact that the world pays you what it thinks you're worth and it thinks you're worth just about what YOU think you're worth as expressed by your appearance. Then you'll see why to buy at this sale is "common sense in spending," or, as Theodore Roosevelt said, "true thrift."

CALLS FOR TREATY ON DISARMAMENT

Senate Committee Amends Borah Resolution and Then Votes to Report It Favorably.

WOULD NEGOTIATE TERMS

Urges Parleys With Britain and Japan to Cut Navies to "Such an Extent" as Is Agreed On.

WALSH RESOLUTION KILLED

Moves to Join League Effort and to Include France and Italy Are Defeated.

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The Senate Committee on Foreign Relations reported favorably today, in an amended form, the Borah naval disarmament resolution. As amended the resolution calls for the prompt negotiation of a treaty by the United States, Great Britain and Japan by the terms of which these Governments will effect an agreement to begin at once the cutting down of their naval programs, the reduction to be brought about in the next five years.

In its original form the Borah resolution did not mention the word "treaty," but suggested disarmament on the part of the nations concerned "by which the building programs of each of the said Governments, to wit, that of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, shall be reduced gradually during the next five years 50 per centum of the present estimates or figures."

The resolution as reported out does not mention the percentage of reduction to be accomplished, but suggests that the reduction shall be to such an extent and upon such terms as may be agreed upon.

Efforts to have the resolution introduced by Senator Walsh of Montana, which would authorize the President to send an American representative to participate in the proceedings of the Disarmament Commission of the League of Nations, were voted down, as was also a motion to include France and Italy in the naval reduction treaty which it is proposed to negotiate.

Resolution as Reported.

As reported out by the committee the disarmament resolution reads:

"Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States is requested, if not incompatible with the public interests, to advise the Governments of Great Britain and Japan, respectively, that this Government will take up directly with their Governments and without waiting upon the action of any other nation the question of naval disarmament, with a view of promptly entering into a treaty by which naval building programs of each of said Governments, to wit, that of Great Britain, Japan and the United States, shall be reduced annually during the next five years to such an extent and upon such terms as may be agreed upon.

"Section 2. That this proposition is suggested by the Congress of the United States to accomplish immediately a substantial reduction of the naval armaments of the world."

Following the defeat of the motion to report the Walsh resolution Senator Pomerene of Ohio offered the Walsh resolution as an amendment to the Borah resolution. As offered by Senator Pomerene the amendment read:

"Resolved, That the President be, and he hereby is, requested to express to the Council of the League of Nations the earnest desire of the Government of the United States to co-operate with the commission so by the said Council appointed and with the said Council in the formulation of plans looking to a general reduction of armaments, for submission to the several Governments for their consideration and action, and that he be, and hereby is, further requested to appoint with due authority such a representative."

The amendment was defeated by a strict party vote.

McCumber Would Broaden It.

The motion to include France and Italy in the proposed naval disarmament negotiations was made by Senator McCumber of North Dakota. The motion was strongly supported by Senator Williams of Mississippi. The majority insisted, however, on limiting the scope of the resolution to the three powers named in the original resolution, and as amended the resolution was voted out favorably, all of the Democrats, with the exception of Mr. Williams, voting with the majority on the final poll. The failure to include France and Italy was the reason for Mr. Williams's continued opposition.

The entire preamble of the original Borah resolution was also omitted from the final and approved draft. The preamble recited the report published in Japan, that while Japan "sincerely desires to support a program of disarmament" she has been unable to do so because "of the attitude and building program" of the United States.

Senator Borah announced that he would make every effort to have the resolution acted upon by the Senate at the very earliest opportunity, but according to some observers it is doubtful if it will be acted on at this session.

PREDICTS LOAN TO BELGIUM.

Brussels Dispatch Says J. P. Morgan & Co. Will Grant $30,000,000.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A Brussels dispatch to The London Times says it has been learned from an official source that the Belgian Government on Friday will sign a contract with J. P. Morgan & Co. for a loan of $30,000,000.

The negotiations are declared to have been terminated.

Passes Indian Appropriation Bill.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—After extended debate during which attempts were made to strike out many of its items, the House today passed the annual Indian Appropriation bill, the sixth of fourteen supply measures to be sent to the Senate this session. As reported to the House the bill carried about $13,800,000.

Offers Bill for Registration Of Washington Lobbyists

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Luxury - surrounded Washingtonians, "seemingly without visible means of support," have aroused the suspicion of Representative Welty, Democrat, of Ohio. He introduced a bill today to require registration of lobbyists, saying the city was filled with this unexplainable leisure class.

The Welty proposal also seeks information as to who recommends Federal Judges for nomination. His bill would require the President to inform Congress on the point in submitting nominations.

BEN WELCH IS BLIND, BUT ACTS HIS PART

OPTIC NERVES ARE DEAD

He Was Stricken on Sunday Last as He Stepped Off the Train at Washington.

Ben Welch, the comedian, is now playing his rôle in the musical play "Jimmie" in Washington, D. C., although he went blind several nights ago. When he stepped from the train on its arrival in Washington on Sunday things turned black before him, and since then he has been unable to see. An understudy was provided for him, but he insisted on playing his part, and has so far done so, not only to the satisfaction of Arthur Hammerstein, but so skillfully as to conceal his affliction from the audiences. Dr. Wilmer, an eye specialist, states that the optic nerves are dead.

He is led from his dressing room to the spot in the wings from which he is to make an entrance. On hearing his cue he steps out on the stage and there a carpet is specially laid so that by its outer edge he is warned of the nearness of the footlights. Additional help reaches him from the voices of the other principals, and he thus manages to execute the business of his part, sing his comic songs and do his characteristic dance.

Ben Welch is one of the best known Jewish comedians on the American stage. He has appeared for many years as a featured or star performer in burlesque shows, as a "single" in vaudeville and more recently in legitimate productions. He seldom fails to score with his Yiddish dialect, queer clothes and motions. Arthur Hammerstein last night was asked for a verification of the report of Welch's blindness and continued playing and said that it was all true.

SWISS THINK CANADA IS PIRATING THEIR FLAG

Object to New Merchant Marine Ensign With White Cross on Red Ground.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Jan. 20.—The announcement just made here that the Canadian Government has introduced a merchant marine flag showing a white cross incircled by a ring on a red ground has caused consternation in Switzerland. The Swiss flag is, of course, a white cross on a red ground, but without any ring around the cross, and the Swiss press and public are asking their Government whether Canada cannot be prevented from having a merchant marine flag so closely resembling the Swiss flag, especially as Switzerland hopes one day to have her own merchant marine, in view of her long-cherished project of having a canal connecting the Rhone and Rhine or one connecting Marseilles with Lyons and Geneva and also utilizing the Rhone.

Switzerland likewise wants to establish shipping connections with Antwerp by the Rhine, while Italy is planning to connect Venice and the upper Adriatic with the great Alpine passes by means of the River Po and Lake Maggiore, one end of which is in Switzerland.

Before the war German manufacturers once got into the habit of using the Swiss national colors for various toilet articles, but the Swiss Government protested and the custom was abandoned. It is suggested that this new grievance is one which might be carried to the League of Nations, but it is possible that the Swiss Government will merely make friendly representations to Canada.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—Three French Socialists who disappeared between Murmansk and Vardoe, Norway, recently while returning from Russia were killed, it is stated by the Foreign Relations Bureau of the Moscow Internationale, says a dispatch from Helsingfors.

The bureau, however, throws responsibility for their deaths on "agents of the Entente," who are declared to be "systematically opposing the landing at Vardoe of foreign Communists returning home from Moscow."

SENATE COMMITTEE WILL TAKE UP YAP

Asks Assistant Secretary Davis to Bring Documents Relating to Japan in the Pacific.

THESE NEVER MADE PUBLIC

Problem of Island Ownership Is Tangled With Difficulty Over Cables.

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The altered political and strategic position in the Pacific as a result of the present status of the Island of Yap and other former German islands north of the equator and Japan's possession of the former German cables from Yap to Shanghai and the Dutch East Indies will be made the subject of special study by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Japan has possession of the German cables and Yap and of the other former German islands north of the equator in the Pacific, but their status under the mandate plan has not been disclosed, and the agreements made at Paris relative to these matters continue to be State secrets. If possible the Foreign Relations Committee will try to gain the facts before President Wilson goes out of office.

The first step in that direction was taken this afternoon when Senator Lodge had a conference with Acting Secretary Davis, who will appear before the committee Tuesday. Mr. Davis is expected to submit, possibly in confidence, the various Peace Conference documents and agreements. Before the committee's investigation is concluded it is probable that it will go into the question of Shantung, as well as into the occupation of Vladivostok and Korea, Manchuria, Sakhalien and other parts of Siberia.

President Wilson is understood to have been advised as to the proposed inquiry and to have agreed to the disclosure by Mr. Davis to the committee of all State Department secrets.

During the White House conference of Aug. 19, 1919, between President Wilson and the Foreign Relations Committee, Senator Lodge asked whether there had been any recommendation by our naval authorities in regard to our having one island in the Pacific.

"There was a paper on that subject, Senator," President Wilson replied. "I only partially remember it. It was a paper laying out the general necessities of our naval policy in the Pacific, and the necessity for having those islands was mentioned, just in what form I do not remember. But let me say this, there is a little island which I must admit I never heard of before."

"The Island of Yap?" inquired Senator Williams.

"Yap," replied the President, "is one of the bases and centres of cable and radio communication on the Pacific and I made the point that the disposition, or rather the control, of that island should be reserved for the general conference which is to be held in regard to the ownership and operation of the cables. The subject is mentioned and disposed of in this treaty and that general cable conference is to be held."

"I had understood," insisted Senator Lodge, "that our general board of the navy and our chief of operations had recommended that we should have a footing there, primarily in order to secure cable communication."

"I think you are right, sir," replied the President.

The Senate committee is anxious to obtain the recommendations made by the naval authorities. Experts assert that possession of the Pacific islands by Japan, under mandate or otherwise, is strategically detrimental to the United States, not only enveloping Guam, but screening the Pacific. One high military officer says that the effect of Japanese control over the islands is to place a barrier in the form of a half-folded jacknife between the United States and the Philippines.

Senators interested in the subject feel that Japan has maintained a stubborn attitude relative to her interests in the Pacific. One reason why no agreement was reached relative to the disposition of the former German cables in the Pacific was the attitude of the Japanese delegation in the communications congress in Washington in opposition to giving up control over the cables from Yap.

Japan has never accepted the form or mandate over the Pacific Islands recommended by the Allies, but has been holding out for a form of mandate that would virtually incorporate the Marshall, Ladrone and Caroline Islands into the Japanese empire.

MUTINY IN FIUME, WITH HEAVY FIGHTING

Barracks Are Seized by Rebellious Soldiers and Legionaries —Italian Forces Sent.

TRIESTE, Jan. 20.—Heavy fighting has been going on at Fiume, and Italian carabineers have entered the city for the purpose of restoring order.

Some of the military forces within Fiume have mutinied and they together with supporters of Professor Zanella, leader of the Italian people of the city, and some of the remaining Legionaries have been engaged in the fighting, details of which are lacking.

The mutinous soldiers and Legionaries have taken over the barracks.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, former insurgent head of Fiume, arrived in Venice Tuesday, says a dispatch received by the Central News today from Rome under Wednesday's date. D'Annunzio retired to the Barbarigo Palace and refused to talk, the dispatch adds.

GERMANY HAS 60,282,000.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—From official Government statistics, which will soon be made public, it is learned that the census recently completed shows a total population of 60,282,602.

The census shows that the nation owns 3,500,000 horses, 16,500,000 cows, 5,000,000 sheep, 11,500,000 pigs, 4,000,000 goats, 51,000,000 poultry and 7,500,000 dogs.

In 1914 Germany owned about 22,000,000 cattle and in 1916 about 21,000,000. In 1910 Germany had close to 45,000,000 head.

The population of Germany in 1913 was about 67,000,000.

Atlantic and Pacific Fleets Unite; Start South From Panama Tomorrow

BALBOA, Panama, Jan. 20.—The Atlantic Fleet passed through the Panama Canal and joined the Pacific Fleet today.

The plan for the battle manoeuvres of the fleets, given out this evening by Admiral Henry B. Wilson, who will command the combined fleets, provides for departure of the warships from Panama southward on Saturday, the force to exist as a combined fleet until Jan. 28, when the Atlantic Fleet will head for Callao and the Pacific Fleet for Valparaiso, the date set for the arrival of each at its port being Jan. 31.

Each fleet will sail again Feb. 6, the two joining forces on Feb. 7 for the battle manoeuvres and arriving at Panama Feb. 10. The separation of the two fleets will occur Feb. 23.

Admiral Wilson reported the voyage of the Atlantic Fleet here as uneventful, but mentioned the feat of the seaplanes in making the first flight from Philadelphia to the Panama Canal Zone as a noteworthy feature of the operations of his command.

Six Arrests in Chicago in Hunt for $500,000 Looters.

NATIONAL CITY A LOSER

That Company Lost $36,000 Worth of Securities in the Mail Sacks Taken.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Gold bonds totalling $21,800, which are believed to be part of the $500,000 loot of four robbers who on Tuesday stole twelve mail pouches from a truck at the Union Station, were found this afternoon by D. F. Crimmins, in a newspaper, in the doorway of the Crimmins Teaming Company's office at 208 North Wells Street.

Three women and three men were arrested during the day as suspects in the robbery. One woman was released later. No names were given out.

JERSEY STATE POLICE REFERENDUM PROPOSED

A referendum among working men and women of New Jersey on the establishment of a State constabulary was suggested yesterday by Warren C. King, President of the New Jersey State Manufacturers' Council. In a letter to employers, Mr. King declared the recent "crime wave" seemed to prove the need of such a force, and asked for a ballot among employes.

"The crime wave would seem to prove conclusively the real necessity for a rural State police force in New Jersey, similar to the New York and Pennsylvania State police," Mr. King wrote. "New Jersey today would be enjoying the blessing of adequate police protection if the heads of organized labor had not opposed the plan on the ground that a State police force might be used to intimidate labor. The time has come when the working people of the State of New Jersey should have an opportunity to show whether they are on the side of law and order or will follow the labor leaders who claim to speak for them.

"With the highways of the State unsafe, the rural police are as essential as the police in our cities, and opposition to a rural police force can come only from those who intend to break the law or are willing to be parties to lawlessness.

"In order that our legislators at Trenton may be informed of the true sentiment of the people of New Jersey, will you co-operate by taking a ballot among your employes on the question: 'Do you favor the creation of a department of State police for the State of New Jersey?'"

Mr. King sent a similar letter to civic organizations, asking them to canvass stores, banks and offices. Ballots are to be returned to the office of the council in Newark by Feb. 5.

Japan's Heir Apparent Coming Here

TOKIO, Jan. 19.—Prince Hirohito, heir apparent to the throne of Japan, will visit America after his proposed trip to London and other European capitals next Spring, says the Asahi Shimbun of Osaka. The Crown Prince may be accompanied by Admiral Togo and a number of other prominent Japanese leaders, it is asserted.

DEPLORE MISTRUST OF SEA EXPANSION

American and British Admirals Speak at Pilgrims' Luncheon to Niblack.

GRANT HAD HARDING VIEW

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Pilgrims today gave a farewell luncheon in honor of Vice Admiral Albert P. Niblack, commander of the American naval forces in European waters, prior to his departure for the Mediterranean on board his flagship, the cruiser Pittsburgh. In addition to Admiral Niblack, Lord Desborough, Vice Admiral Sir William Lowther Grant, and the Earl of Onslow made addresses.

Admiral Grant discussed the question of naval competition. Incidentally, he said that he believed he knew the feeling of the United States regarding armaments, because, among others, he had talked with Senator (now President-elect) Harding at Washington.

"I am opposed," said Admiral Grant, "to a great program of capital ships, because I am opposed to anything that will bring about shipbuilding competition between our two countries. I believe it is our business to oppose such competition."

Admiral Grant expressed regret at what he said was the beginning of mistrust and suspicion among a considerable section of the two peoples. He paid a high tribute to the work of the American Navy in the World War.

"It is enevitable," said Admiral Niblack in his address, "that Great Britain and America should be rivals in foreign markets. The future of Anglo-American relations must depend upon the spirit in which both sides face this competition and the sporting proposition. The world will recognize the necessity which compels Americans to look abroad and will not view with suspicion their present activities, which seek to salvage from the output of the war such shipping as is required by economic considerations.

"Personally, I think that in the maritime development of America there is no better guarantee of the freedom of the seas, of the rights of small nations and of the balance of power in the world than maintenance of Anglo-Saxon ideals. It is only natural that America should share with England and the other countries the world's seaborne trade."

Admiral Niblack emphasized that the present mission of the American Navy in European waters was purely humanitarian. Incidentally he scoffed at the idea that America would not be able to maintain a great navy through lack of man power.

VOTING ON MOSCOW ISSUE.

Italian Socialists Ballot to Decide Attitude Toward Lenin's Program.

LEGHORN, Jan. 20.—Discussion on the question of joining the Moscow Internationale was definitely closed this afternoon at the Congress of the Italian Socialist Party. Balloting was immediately begun. It was expected this would take up the remainder of the afternoon, and that much time would be occupied in counting the votes.

Up to the last moment the three factions—one favoring adhesion to the Moscow organization, the second desiring to remain aloof from the Internationale, and the third advocating membership with limitations—remained intact, and it was considered questionable whether there would be any secession from the ranks of old socialism to that section of the party which is demanding the adoption of the Russian Communist methods.

Deputy Turati, who represents the moderate element, and Deputy Serrati, who stands for adherence to the Third Internationale with reservations, still appeared to have the largest followings this morning.

A communication from Moscow, read at today's session, demanded the expulsion of the Moderate Socialists and all those opposing the Soviet doctrine of an armed offensive.

Two Bulgarian Soviet representatives, M. Rakovski and M. Kovalkheff, spoke.

RUSSIA COLLAPSING UNDER SOVIET RULE

Transportation Breaking Down on Top of Crop Failure and Coal Famine.

NO MORE MONEY CURRENCY

"Work Cards" Take the Place of Banknotes—Mines and Factories Closed, Trains Stop.

Special to the New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Authentic information just received by the United States Government regarding conditions in Soviet Russia show that there has been a further collapse of the already broken down system of transport which, on top of the crop failure and the coal famine, have developed a most deplorable internal situation as a result of the communistic experiment.

All things in Russia are combining to make it the hardest Winter the Russian people have been compelled to face in more than a century.

Practically all of the mines in the Don region have been shut down because of water in the pits resulting from lack of sufficient fuel with which to operate machinery for pumping out the water. The coal shortage has cut down the number of trains in operation, forced the closing of some of the factories in operation, and even limited the amount of available electric current. Formerly two trains a day had been in operation between Moscow and Petrograd. Now this has been reduced to only two trains a week with an occasional extra train operated under special orders only of the commissariat.

Only five cables for the transmission of electric power are now in use in Petrograd. These five cables furnish current for use only by five services, these being the offices of the Extraordinary Commission, the Smolny Institute, the flour mills, the bakeries, the street railways and the radio station. The street cars are operated only four hours daily in Petrograd, between the morning hours of 7 and 11 o'clock. The report says the street railways face a complete suspension of operation unless fuel is obtained immediately.

Factories that failed to obtain sufficient coal last Summer, the report says, have been obliged to shut down. Repair work on ships has also been abandoned because of lack of fuel, and Odessa and other ports are clogged with vessels for that reason.

The week of Jan. 10-17 was set apart as "fuel week," during which, under orders from Moscow, an attempt was made to take a census of all fuel stocks in Russia. This term has been extended for another week. The reports indicate that all over Russia there is a breakdown of transportation, worse than before, and these on top of poor crops and the fuel shortage have made the situation very difficult.

Beginning with Jan. 1 all currency was abolished as a medium of exchange in Russia and the only such medium now in work takes the form of "work cards" which pass as currency. The existing economic breakdown is the severest Russia has ever experienced, and is regarded as revealing the utter incapacity of the Bolshevist régime to care for the economic necessities of the nation, as well as the failure of the Soviet economic system as an experiment.

TREATY REDS OFFER PERSIA.

Gives Them Military and Propaganda Base Against Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The convention under discussion between the Persian Government and Soviet Russia is outlined in diplomatic advices received here which indicate that, while the document may not yet have been signed, there is prospect it will be ratified, as the Persian Cabinet is reported to favor it.

The treaty if ratified, would make Persia an ally of Soviet Russia and provide the latter with a military base for operation against the British in the Near East and India, as well as a base for general propaganda. It confers on Russia the right to send military expeditions into Persian territories provided Persia is invaded by an enemy of Russia.

Moscow engages not to intervene in the internal affairs of Persia, a right Russia possesses under existing treaties. It undertakes to cancel all Russian loans to Persia, to surrender the Russian bank to the Persian Government, also all post offices, telegraph lines, railroads and post roads operated in Persia by Russia, and to abolish the capitulations now in existence and which restrict the independence and sovereignty of Persia.

The treaty provides diplomatic machinery for the discussion of commercial and customs regulations in the form of a special commission to be made up of Persians and Russians.

DRY AGENTS OUT ON BAIL.

Saloon Keeper Receives Bogus Subpoena to Federal Building.

Arraigned before United States Commissioner Hitchcock yesterday on charges of extortion, Alfred Ketcham and Charles Walters, prohibition enforcement agents on the staff of Federal Supervising Prohibition Agent Daniel J. Chapin, were released in $2,500 bail for hearing next week. The complaint was made by Patrolman Cornelius Wilhelmse, who alleged that the agents extorted $20 each from William Brady, a saloon keeper at 402 Second Avenue, as "protection money."

When he called at the Federal Building yesterday, Michael Pfeifer, a saloon keeper at 1,615 Sixth Avenue, found that he had been served with a "fake" subpoena by three men who pretended to be prohibition agents. Pfeifer said the "subpoena" was given him, after he had served the men beer containing one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol.

Japan Protests on Wireless Plant.

PEKING, Jan. 19.—Japan has lodged a protest against a contract entered into between the Ministry of Communications and the American Federal Company for the construction of a wireless plant at Shanghai. The protest is made on the ground that the contract infringes rights acquired two years ago by a Japanese company, on which the sum of five million yen was advanced.

General Strike in Austria; Union With Germany Demanded

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A general strike is beginning in Austria, according to a dispatch to The London Times from Paris.

Meetings are being held throughout the country at which demands for union with Germany are being made.

The dispatch adds that it is known the Parliamentary Opposition has refused to take the responsibility of trying to govern the country under the present circumstances.

AMERICAN BANKER QUITS VIENNA POST

Unable to Finish His Work of Liquidating the Austro-Hungarian Bank.

BLAMES ALLIED COMMISSION

Complains That Europe Still Seems Inspired by Feelings of War, Not of Peace.

Copyright, 1921, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, Jan. 19.—Edmund A. Whitman, American liquidator of the Austro-Hungarian Bank, leaves Vienna for Boston next Friday. Whitman gave me the following reasons for his withdrawal:

"I am thoroughly disgusted with my experiences, finding that I was unable to continue work according to my plans. My work might have been finished early in the Spring but for the policy of procrastination prevailing in the Reparations Commission in Paris, who seem unable to agree on any question.

"All together Europe, differing from America, seems still inspired by feelings of war rather than of peace as in America. Meantime Austria must suffer terribly from some unfair provisions of the peace treaty."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Disposition of the Austrian situation created by the threatened collapse of the Government may not be made by the Allied Powers without consultation with the United States, it was indicated today at the State Department. The question has been discussed by the Reparations Commission on which the United States has a representative, but how far the United States is prepared to join in any plan for the stabilization of Austria has not been indicated.

Withdrawal of the United States from the Council of Ambassadors and its refusal to send a representative to the meeting of premiers at which the Austrian question is expected to be discussed have given the impression that the American Government will continue its attitude of aloofness.

SULTAN'S HEIR LAUDS VICTORY OF KEMAL

Afghan Emir Offers Aid of His Army to the Nationalist Leader.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 19.—Abdul Medjid Effendi, heir apparent to the Ottoman throne, tonight gave a dinner in celebration of the victory claimed by the Turkish Nationalists over the Greeks at Eskishehr, in Asia Minor, southeast of Brussa.

The Emir of Afghanistan, who is a candidate for the Caliphate, has sent the following message to Mustapha Kemal Pasha, the Nationalist leader:

"I should like to have a permanent mission to reorganize my army, which is ready to take the field for the emancipation of our brothers."

Ixzet Pasha, chief of the Peace Mission in Angora, reviewed the troops at Eskishehr and congratulated them on their victory.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The Greek Legation here declared today that the military situation in Asia Minor was most satisfactory.

Recent Constantinople dispatches stating that the Turkish Nationalists had entered Brussa, fifty-seven miles southeast of Constantinople, had no foundation in fact, the legation asserted.

TAXIED NC-5 THROUGH GALE.

Commander Tells of Experience in Storm That Wrecked Seaplane.

SAN JUAN DEL SUR, Nicaragua, Jan. 20.—Lieutenant H. V. Baugh, commander of the seaplane NC-5, which was wrecked and sunk when it ran into a hurricane last Saturday about forty miles north of this city during its attempted flight from San Diego, Cal., to Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, told of his experiences today. The seaplane was one of the twelve which left San Diego Dec. 30 for the Canal Zone.

"When we ran into the hurricane on Saturday our engine was giving trouble," he said. "The wind was blowing about forty-five miles an hour and the plane was flung about like a boy's kite. Eventually it fluttered to the surface of the sea about twenty miles from land. We 'taxied' to the beach under tremendous difficulties in the very teeth of the storm, striking the coast twenty-five miles north of Diganto, where the NC-6 also arrived eventually after radiographing to the ships following us the position of the NC-5.

"The Kanawha arrived and took the NC-5 in tow, later handing it over to the destroyer Munford. The latter took the crew aboard and continued towing the seaplane. The line parted frequently owing to the heavy sea, however, the NC-5 eventually sinking."

HAMBURG'S TRADE GROWS.

Ship Tonnage Arriving at the Port in December Was 644,391.

HAMBURG, Jan. 20.—Statistics submitted to the Citizens' Council record a revival of the shipping activities of the port of Hamburg. The statistics show arrivals in December of 644,391 tons. In December, 1918, the arriving tonnage aggregated 23,800 tons, which was equal to Hamburg's shipping for the year 1855. The tonnage for June, 1919, was 171,479 tons and in December of that year it was 240,000.

DECIDES TO REDUCE THE ARMY IN INDIA

Viceroy's Council's Vote for 32,500 Cut Causes Uneasiness in Face of Unrest.

OPPOSED BY ARMY COUNCIL

But the Proposal Was Carried Through by Means of Non-Official and Native Votes.

NEW BOLSHEVIST MENACE

Red Division Sent by Moscow to Northern Border to Stir Afghans and Hindus to Revolt.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—A Reuter dispatch from Delhi says:

"Much uneasiness prevails at the moment in the Indian Army at the decision of the Government to demobilize about a dozen Indian cavalry and over thirty Indian infantry regiments. This means that about 30,000 men and 2,500 British officers will be discharged from the service by the end of March. It is also believed probable that the British forces in India will be reduced by the sending home of two British cavalry and of four British infantry battalions.

"These measures are being adopted partly because the great war is ended and partly owing to the withdrawal of troops from Mesopotamia and to the bad financial outlook in the country and the consequent growing Indian outcry at heavy army expenditures. The Government of India is now considering ways and means of meeting the heavy budget deficit which seeems inevitable owing to the fall in exchange and severe trade depression."

The Daily Telegraph in an editorial headed, "Are We Giving Up India?" takes a very serious view of the announcement contained in this dispatch. It says the reduction of the Indian army was not recommended by the Commander-in-Chief in India nor by the Army Council at home, nor by the Viceroy's military advisers.

"These responsible authorities," it says, "are entirely opposed to any diminution of the small amy of European soldiers which guards India against invasion and rebellion. It is regarded with equal disfavor by the most highly placed and experienced officials of the Indian Civil Service. Nevertheless it was carried in the Viceroy's Council by the votes of non-official and native members. They objected to the increase of taxation which would be required to maintain the army at its present establishment. The Viceroy was unable or unwilling to insist on this necessary addition to the military budget, and on division the party in favor of ruinous economy was in the majority."

Danger of Rebellion Pointed Out.

The Daily Telegraph then dwells upon the serious consequences that might follow upon a reduction of the Indian army. It says:

"India is restless and perturbed. A most determined and thoroughly unscrupulous group of agitators is working indefatigably to inflame the public mind and fan all the embers of discontent into a roaring flame. It is and openly professes to be engaged in a crusade of sedition, rebellion and racial hate. It has proclaimed that one of its objects is to make India uninhabitable for English people and impossible for English trade. It does not deny that it will raise an insurrection whenever it thinks it can do so with some chance of success. And what stands between it and this alluring prospect? Nothing but two armies, the white and the brown, and more particularly the former. Take that away, or let it drop below safety mark, and Mr. Ghandi and his Swaraj friends may pass from non-co-operation to active revolt.

The Daily Telegraph concludes:

"If we really think our mission of usefulness in Southern Asia has reached its limit and that we should now transfer not only the Government of India, but its defense, to its native-born population—if that is what we mean, we had better act up to our convictions and prepare to withdraw with all convenient dispatch from the territory. It is suggested that there are influential persons in high places who do, in fact, favor this policy. Then they should tell us so plainly, in justice to our own people who are still remaining in India and still encouraged to take service or to settle there.

"But if, on the other hand, it is the determination of the English people still to fulfill the great and solemn responsibilities they have undertaken in the East, still to retain India within the orbit of the British Empire, still to discharge their high duties of guardianship and supervision, there must be no playing with the suicidal policy of scuttle and shirk and no reduction of our armed forces below the necessary minimum, whether it pleases the native politicians of the Viceroy's Council or not."

Red Division on the Borders of India.

In emphasizing the dangers of the reduction of the Indian Army, The Daily Telegraph refers to the menace of the Bolshevist allies of Ghandi and his Swaraj friends, who, it says, have keen eyes turned toward Afghanistan and Persia.

That the Bolsheviki have not abandoned their designs on India is shown by a proclamation issued to the Red division in Tashkent by the Chief Commissary on the Turkestan front, a copy of which has been received in London. It reads:

"Comrades of the Pamir Division: You have been intrusted with a responsible task. The Soviet republic sends you to garrison the posts on the Pamir, on the frontiers of the friendly countries of Afghanistan and India. The Pamir tableland divides revolutionary Russia from India, which, with its 300,000,000 inhabitants, is enslaved by a handful of Englishmen. On this tableland you, the signallers of the revolution, must hoist the red flag of the army of liberation. May the peoples of India, who fight against their English oppressors, soon know that friendly help is not far off. Make yourselves at home with the liberty-loving tribes of Northern India. Promote by word and deed their revolutionary progress. Refute the mass of calumnies spread about Soviet Russia by the agents of the British Princes, Lords and bankers.

"Long live the alliance of the revolutionary peoples of Europe and Asia! Long live the world liberation of workers!"

MAY END IN COURTS

Boxers' Attorney Threatens Action Against Promoters Abandoning $500,000 Contest.

BRADY READY TO FIGHT

Denies Lawyer's Contention That Agreement for Dempsey-Carpentier Battle Was Not Broken.

Instead of being fought in the ring, the $500,000 Dempsey-Carpentier bout may become a subject for battle in the courts. Attorney Harry Saks Hechheimer, authorized under the original contract for the bout to act for Dempsey and Carpentier, announced last night that a suit for specific performance of the contract probably would be brought against such of the three promoters, William A. Brady, Charles B. Cochran and Tex Rickard, as abandon the half-million fracas to its fate. Mr. Hechheimer insisted that his principals have fulfilled their contractual obligations and intimated that the next important move in the tangled affair might be court action.

Mr. Brady, on the other hand, in discussing the situation at his office in the afternoon, stated that he was ready to fight the matter in the courts if this were necessary to protect his interests.

Attorney Hechheimer takes the attitude that there has been no violation of contract, the ground on which Mr. Brady withdrew from the affair for himself and Mr. Cochran of London, for whom Mr. Brady said he is authorized to act. Promoter Tex Rickard, who, with Messrs. Brady and Cochran formed the boxing triumvirate, took the same position as Attorney Hechheimer on the contract.

Mr. Hechheimer holds there was no violation of contract by failure to make stipulated deposits, because of a clause in the contract which invests Robert Edgren, as arbiter, with power to decide any differences which may arise between participants and promoters prior to the bout. Edgren, the attorney said, has not yet declared a forfeiture by any of the parties to the contract. Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, had informed him of the arrangements concerning the champion's bond, Mr. Hechheimer said, but he added that there had been no positive information from Kearns that the bond had been properly posted.

Brady Ready for Legal Battle.

When Mr. Brady was asked as to the status of Edgren in the case, he declared there could be but one decision from Edgren, and this would be favorable to the Brady contention. If it was against him, Mr. Brady said he would carry the case to the courts.

"I have been in sports for thirty years," said Mr. Brady, "and I think I should be familiar with the terms of a contract, particularly in boxing. If I contract for a certain thing on a certain day, and don't do it, the agreement is broken. For instance, if I sign a boxer to a contract stipulating a bout at 118 pounds, post a $2,500 forfeit for the weight, and the boxer fails to make the notch, I lose my $2,500, don't I? The same thing applies here. Conditions agreed to have not been fulfilled and I am out. In withdrawing, I also withdraw on behalf of Mr. Cochran, for whom I have written authority to act in his matters in this country. I have the business man's prerogative of withdrawing for breach of contract without explaining my actions or supplying any reasons. I have simply exercised this prerogative.

"This is strictly a business proposition. The matter involves three-quarters of a million dollars, and, therefore, there is no room for any gambling chances. It is not a game of marbles, but a hard and fast business affair of importance, in which conditions agreed to have not been complied with. I do not want my action construed as a conspiracy against any of the parties to the contract, and I am not trying to make a goat of Dempsey in this matter.

Carpentier Deposit No Protection.

"The fact that Carpentier's money is on deposit in France does not satisfy me. The French Government has refused to permit the removal of the money because of the financial stringency in the French Republic. This does not protect us against emergency.

"Mr. Rickard discussed the situation with me today, and in the course of our conference brought up the question of my authority to act for Mr. Cochran in this matter. In order to convince Mr. Rickard I immediately cabled my partner, who is ill in London, stating Rickard's side of the question and mine. I am awaiting a reply. There is a possibility that Mr. Cochran will not subscribe to my action, but it is only a bare possibility, founded on conditions which I am not at liberty to disclose. I have been associated with Mr. Cochran for the past twenty-five years, looking after his interests here while he looked after mine abroad, and there has never been any dissension between us on any matter in which we were associated. However, if Mr. Cochran disagrees with my judgment in the present case he is perfectly at liberty to proceed on his own initiative. His action in that event would not offend me in the slightest.

"Of one thing there is no doubt. I have positively withdrawn and, until I hear otherwise, Mr. Cochran has withdrawn also. I told Mr. Rickard today that I was prepared to assign my interest in the battle to him and would follow a similar course with Mr. Cochran's interest upon advice from Mr. Cochran in this respect."

Statement by Trust Company.

Announcement from the Central Union Trust Company, designated as the depository for the forfeits in the bout contract, verified Mr. Brady's statement that there had been no deposits according to contract. F. J. Fuller, Vice President of the Central Union Trust Company, gave out the following statement:

"Dempsey has made no deposit whatever with us. We have never heard from him except as to an assignment of rights in the moving pictures of the bout, which have nothing to do with the deposit required of him. Carpentier has made no deposit as required by the bout contract. He has deposited some French securities with Morgan-Harjes & Co., Paris bankers, but these cannot be exported to this country under the French law of April, 1916, which calls for previous consent of the Government of France.

"Charles B. Cochran, the British promoter, has deposited the money required of him, and William A. Brady and Tex Rickard, the American promoters, have covered their deposits with surety bonds, as allowed by contract.

"That is the whole story of who has deposited and who has not. Carpentier's difficulty seems to be the French Government law, and although he has put up security for his part in the bout he has not put it up with the depository, as is required by the bout contract."

Promoter Rickard reiterated his determination to proceed with the bout, regardless of the withdrawal of Brady and Cochran. The Western promoter declared he would not accept the withdrawal of Cochran through Brady as authoritative until he had received advices direct from Cochran. Promoter Rickard has cabled the British promoter for a declaration of his position.

Rickard Willing to Go On.

At his offices in Madison Square Garden, Mr. Rickard emphasized that he was prepared to conduct the contest alone, under the original terms, which provided for a purse of $500,000 for the principals, $300,000 to Dempsey and $200,000 to Carpentier.

"The bout, to the best of my judgment, still is the greatest enterprise in the history of the ring sport," said Rickard. "It is bigger and more attractive today than ever before. I have had personal indication of this through the frequent inquiries on the match from sources with which I am in daily contact. I am more determined than ever to go through with the bout. I have no intention of letting it get away from me despite the present situation. If Brady and Cochran are out I will go through alone on the original agreement if the boxers hold me to the contract and compel me to. If they adjust themselves to conditions, however, and agree to work on a percentage basis, the conditions would be improved and in addition there would be a greater assurance of success for the match."

Mr. Rickard declared there are several places available on this side of the ocean where the match could be held. He said he was not prepared even now finally to declare the match lost to the United States despite the $15 maximum price on admission tickets to championship bouts. The Garden promoter stated he was seriously considering a Canadian proposition, understood to be from Montreal, which has been submitted along with other offers for the bout. Rickard said he was not prepared, however, to disclose his plans beyond the fact that the battle would be held on July 2 and that he would either promote the contest independently or participate in its promotion.

Statement by Edgren.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 20.—The contract for a heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Georges Carpentier has not necessarily been violated if Dempsey's forfeit is not on deposit with the Central Union Trust Company of New York, Robert Edgren, named in the contract as "sole arbiter," said here tonight.

The contract provides that the forfeit shall be deposited with the bank or with the promoters, Edgren said. "Tex Rickard, promoter, wired me today that Dempsey's money was posted and I have no reason to doubt his statement," said Edgren.

Edgren stated that he did not consider the situation one that called for action by him as arbiter.

OAKLAND, Cal., Jan. 20.—Reiteration of his past statements that the necessary forfeits for the Jack Dempsey-Georges Carpentier heavyweight championship fight have been deposited for two months with the Central Union Trust Company of New York was voiced here today by Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager.

"The Dempsey-Carpentier contest will promote itself," Kearns continued, "even if Brady and Cochran want to withdraw from the proposition. That forfeit stuff is a very minor consideration.

"London wants the match and may get it. Tex Rickard is going to be the promoter if Cochran and Brady are out, and he will stage it where it will draw the most money.

"I do not know if the Willard match, which is booked for March 17, is on or off, but it may be found advisable to postpone it until warm weather when it can be staged outdoors." Kearns said the bout would not pay if staged in Madison Square Garden.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—Charles B. Cochran, the English boxing promoter, was ill today, and visitors seeking information regarding the reported abandonment of the Carpentier-Dempsey boxing bout were unable to see him.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—It was reiterated this morning by sportsmen from Ottawa and Hull, just across the river, that the offer to hold the Dempsey-Carpentier heavyweight championship bout at Hull next Summer still holds good, and that it was hoped Tex Rickard will come to Canada to discuss the proposition, along with other plans submitted from Canada.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 20.—The Legislature has before it a proposal to impose a 15 per cent. tax on gross gate receipts of all racing associations. The legislation is suggested in a bill introduced today by Assemblyman Charles H. Betts of Wayne County. Imposition of such a tax would net the State Treasury about $900,000, according to Mr. Betts. Legislation may follow to place a track license tax of from $2,500 to $7,500 a day as at present imposed in Maryland and Canada.

TODD WINS SHOOT TROPHY.

Leads Field in Preliminary Handicap Round at Pinehurst Traps.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., Jan. 20.—T. T. Todd of Greenwood, S. C., won the preliminary handicap trophy in the midwinter trap shooting tournament at Pinehurst today on the second shoot-off of a tie at 95 with Dr. F. J. Buzzard of Portage, Pa. Both shot from the 18-yard mark. They tied with 23 each on the first shoot-off and Todd won, 23 to 22, on the second attempt.

Two 19-yard men, H. F. Bopp of Lansing, Mich., and C. D. Stickley of Vancluse, Va., tied at 94, with J. H. Dreher of Wilmington, N. C., 17 yards.

Elmer C. Wheeler, Oklahoma State champion and an Osage Indian chief, broke 93 from the 22-yard line and tied at that figure with Major E. M. Roberts of New York, the well-known ace, a 17-yard man, and with four other guns.

Chief Wheeler was the only one of the maximum distance shooters to finish in the money. The twenty-eight leaders, all of whom broke 90 or better, collected $1,290.

One hundred and forty-six contestants took part in the event. Major Roberts led the metropolitan contingent at 93 from 17 yards, and was followed by Martin McVoy Jr. of the New York Athletic Club, who broke 91 from the 20-yard line.

Tracey H. Lewis, the New York A. C. singles target champion, shot from the 21-yard mark and broke 80. This gives Lewis a good lead in the general average contest with a total of 524 out of the 550 targets thrown in the 450 target race at 16 yards and today's handicap event. The general average contest also includes the 100 targets to be thrown in tomorrow's midwinter handicap, the culminating event of the tournament.

Paul Earle, who led Lewis by two targets in the 450-target affair, failed to finish in the money today, and the same applies to Allen Heil, the Pennsylvanian champion, who wound up a target behind Lewis in that event.

Harold Ellsworth of Irvington-on-Hudson shot from the 17-yard line and tied Lewis at 89. W. B. Stillwagon of Mattawan, shooting from the same distance, broke 86. F. A. Seibert of New York broke 81 from the 21-yard line, and was tied at that figure by John Philip Scusa, who shot at 17 yards.

The twenty-eight money minners in the preliminary handicap, who collected an aggregate of $1,200, were:

COMMISSION'S STAND

Says Higher Authority Will Be Sought to Force Boxing Body to Join New Association.

Tex O'Rourke, Secretary of the newly formed National Boxing Association of the United States, last night issued the following statement relative to the refusal of the State Boxing Commission to join the country-wide organization:

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of Jan. 10 seventeen delegates officially appointed by the Governors of seventeen States, opened a convention in this city, having for its object the formation of a national body for the control of boxing. Present at this gathering was Joseph Johnson, Chairman of the New York State Boxing Commission.

On the two succeeding days the delegates continued in session. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon of the concluding day Joseph Johnson left the meeting, giving as a reason important business elsewhere. He left this meeting, knowing full well that within the next hour the constitution of the newly formed association would come up for final consideration, and that one of the clauses therein left each commission supreme in its own State, and that the national body should do nothing at any time contrary to the laws then existing in the States represented by the various delegates.

Within three hours of his departure a statement was rushed into print, to the effect that the New York State Boxing Commission could not join the national body because it would subordinate the functions and authority defined in the Walker law to the jurisdiction of an outside unofficial body. Why the violent haste? Before committing itself irrevocably to such a momentous decision, should it not, if it were in sympathy with the proposed national body, have waited and acquainted itself with the final terms of the constitution and by-laws? But, if Mr. Johnson and his colleagues were anxious to introduce a discordant note into the general harmony which had prevailed from the first moment to the last in the deliberations of the convention, he would have pursued the precise course which he has adopted from the outset.

On Jan. 15, the President of the new body informed Mr. Johnson that when rulings of the association conflicted with those of New York State, they could be ignored, and if Mr. Johnson had been in sympathy with the aims and objects of the new governing body, he would have admitted his error and expressed satisfaction at the opportunity of joining the association. But, if Mr. Johnson found himself unable to justify the untenable position which he had taken up, he would have remained silent. This is precisely what he has done. The matter cannot, however, end in this way. Mr. Johnson is a paid official and whatever his personal view may be, he must fulfill the obligations attached to his office, and unless he does so, the matter will be taken out of his hands and submitted to a higher authority.

Efforts to reach members of the Boxing Commission and the License Committee last night, for comment on Secretary O'Rourke's statement, were unsuccessful.

BOB MARTIN GETS LICENSE.

Application of A. E. F. Champion Approved by Boxing Commission.

The License Committee and Boxing Commission, governing professional boxing in this State, yesterday approved applications for licenses from 136 individuals at its joint weekly meeting. Bob Martin, A. E. F. heavyweight champion, who is matched against Bill Brennan for a bout at Madison Square Garden, was the most prominent boxer licensed in a list of seventy-three applicants whose requests received favorable action. Thirteen managers were licensed and forty-seven seconds received permits to work under the provisions of the Walker law. The other licenses went to two judges, Albert O'Connell and John C. Rankin, both of Brooklyn, and one as referee to H. J. O'Hearn of Cohoes, N. Y.

TWO BOXERS DISQUALIFIED.

Finalists in Crescent Amateur Tourney Draw Ire of Referee.

The unusual spectacle of two amateur boxers being disqualified in the final for a prize in a local tournament was furnished last night in the closing bouts of the monthly tournament at the Crescent A. C., Brooklyn. The lads involved in the disqualification were J. Della, unattached, and J. Cope, Paulist A. C., principals in the prize battle at 128 pounds. The boxers are cousins, and their work, in the judgment of Referee Eddie Forbes, reflected this relation in unmistakable manner. As a consequence, Referee Forbes disqualified the lads on the ground that they were providing an unsatisfactory bout. The end came in the first round. The summaries:

135-Pound Class; Semi-Final Round—S. Kovey, Educational Alliance, defeated F. Dugan, One Mile Social Club, four rounds, judges' decision; E. Condon, Bronxdale A. C., defeated J. Goldberg, unattached, three rounds, judges' decision.

128-Pound Class, Semi-Final Round—J. Della, unattached, defeated H. Feldman, Trinity Club, three rounds, judges' decision; J. Cope, Paulist A. C., defeated L. Liss, Bronxdale A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

Final Bout—Della and Cope were disqualified for an unsatisfactory bout.

110-Pound Class; Semi-Final Round—J. Rafferty, Paulist A. C., defeated J. Sullivan, South Brooklyn A. C., three rounds, judges' decision; E. Leary, University Settlement A. C., defeated N. Demas, Greek-American A. C., three rounds, referee's decision.

118-Pound Class, Second Trials—N. Feldman, Trinity Club, defeated J. Franklin, Greek-American A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

Semi-final Round—L. Guglielmine, unattached, defeated P. Reilly, People's Palace, three rounds, judges' decision; Feldman defeated S. Cohen, Cleveland A. C., three rounds, judges' decision.

Final Bout—Guglielmine defeated Feldman, two rounds, referee's decision.

POULTRY SHOW EXTENDED.

Garden Exhibition Will Not Close Until Sunday Evening.

So great is the desire of New Yorkers to convince themselves that not all eggs come from the delicatessen shops, and there really is such a thing in the world as a hen, that the management of the Poultry Show at Madison Square Garden has decided to extend the duration of the exhibition one day. The show, which was scheduled to close on Saturday night, will not close until 10:30 on Sunday evening.

Yesterday was a busy day for the judges at the Garden, awards in some forty-two classes of poultry being given out. E. B. Thompson of Amenia, N. Y., a well-known breeder of barred Plymouth Rocks, received all the possible ribbons for that breed.

Alfred Birch, of Liverpool, England, who came over expressly to attend the show, was awarded first prize in dark Cornish classes, cock, hen, cockerel and pullet. In the canary exhibit Edward Burns, of this city, captured six prizes with a total entry of fifteen birds.

One feature of the show which is attracting the attention of visitors is the series of lectures on poultry raising by J. M. Kinghorne, Director of the National Poultry Institute, Washington. A great many men throughout the country are turning to poultry raising, Mr. Kingborne said, especially since the declining cost of feed is making the business more profitable.

Charles A. Stoneham, part owner of the Giants and who also has quite a racing stable, added to his string of horses yesterday by purchasing from R. T. Wilson Jr. the four-year-old Yellow Hand and the three-year-old Dry Moon. Both of these horses were consistently good performers last season. Yellow Hand ran with some of the best performers in the handicap division and had the distinction of once chasing Man o' War. Dry Moon won several purses among the juveniles.

YALE BASKETBALL TEAM LOSES AGAIN

Bows to Dartmouth by 22 to 16 After Tying Score Early in Game.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BASKETBALL LEAGUE STANDING

Teams.	G.	W.	L.	P.C.
Dartmouth	3	3	0	1.000
Penn	1	1	0	1.000
Cornell	3	2	1	.666
Columbia	2	1	1	.500
Princeton	2	0	2	.000
Yale	3	0	3	.000

Special to the New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 20.—Dartmouth, leader of the Intercollegiate League, tonight defeated Yale, the tail-ender, 22 to 16, at basketball, the match probably proving Yale's only probable chance for taking an intercollegiate match this season. Although the Elis got away to a lead, they were passed by the Green Mountaineers after three minutes of play, and although they tied the score at 7—all, they did not afterward forge to the fore, the first half closing with Dartmouth leading, 12 to 8. Millar's goal tossing from the floor featured the offense of both fives, netting 8 points, while his goal throwing from foul gave 2 more. All the goal attempts from foul were below standard, Alderman missing 9 out of 16, Millar 3 out of 5 and Cullen, 7 out of 9.

Yale adhered to the long passing game defensively but was clearly outplayed, although Alderman and Peck each tossed a spectacular basket. The total of 31 fouls was the greatest of the season, but nearly all were technical in nature. Captain Brown of Dartmouth watched the game from the sidelines. Yale's large home crowd cheered the team to the echo, but could not produce success, despite a desperate final five-minute rally.

The line-up:

DARTMOUTH (22).		YALE (16).
Cullen	R. F.	Sheldon
Yuelll	L. F.	Balther
Chamberlain	C.	Alderman
Millar	R. G.	Peck
Heep	L. G.	Flynn

Substitutions—C. Ohley for Sheldon, Sheldon for C. Ohley, W. Ohley for Alderman.

Referee—Thomas Thorp, New York A. C. Umpire—Ed Thorp.

LAST-MINUTE GOAL WINS.

Gives Colgate Five Victory Over Mountaineers, 30 to 28.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMILTON, N. Y., Jan. 20.—With one long sweep of his skillful arm, Hersch Mosier, the tall and lanky Colgate centre, dropped the ball through the basket in the last five seconds of play that won the nip and tuck basketball battle between Colgate and West Virginia for the home team here tonight. The score was 30 to 28.

Both teams started the game with a rush and seesawed point to point to a 15 to 15 tie at the end of the first half. The second half proved to be a duplicate of the first, featured by the scintillating work of Mosier. Hermann, the star Colgate guard, rivaled Mosier as the star of the game throughout.

Captain Martin of Virginia led his team in one of the finest exhibitions of interference play that have been seen on the home court this season, and the consistent work of Linnehan and Hermann was the only barrier between him and victory for his team. Kiger, the West Virginia centre, was after Mosier the entire evening, and proved himself to be the strongest West Virginia offensive player.

The Colgate team showed superiority over the visitors in their passing work, which at times was so swift as to puzzle the much heavier men of the mountaineers. In spite of this, however, the visitors showed themselves unusually quick at intercepting throws at the basket.

The line-up:

COLGATE (30).		W. VIRGINIA (28).
Anderson	R. F.	Martin
Barnes	L. F.	Hill
Mosier	C.	Kiger
Linnehan	R. G.	Bowers
Hermann	L. G.	Parker

Field goals—Anderson (2), Barnes, Mosier (5), Hermann (2), Martin (3), Hill (3), Kiger (4), Bowers. Goals from foul—Anderson (10), Martin (8).

Substitutions—Colgate: Murphy for Hermann.

Referee—Dr. Graham, Springfield. Time of halves—20 minutes.

SETON HALL TO PLAY HERE.

Will Clash Tonight With Fordham in Basketball Match.

Fordham and Seton Hall College will meet at the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory tonight in the first contest of their annual series of home-and-home basketball games. The Maroon athletes have suffered defeats in the last three contests in which they have engaged and they are determined to break their losing streak in the tussle with the Jerseyites this evening.

It is a matter of conjecture just how the Maroon will start against the South Orange team, but Fallon will probably move up to one of the forward positions, and Kelly, who substituted very capably for Culloton during the latter's illness early this month, seems likely to occupy the berth left vacant by Fallon.

60 ATHLETES ENTER GAMES.

Threescore Harvard Track Men to Start at B. A. A. Meet.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 20.—Harvard athletic officials tonight submitted a list of sixty Crimson entries for the Boston Athletic Association games to be held in Boston on Feb. 5. At least one Harvard man is listed for each event.

Captain Dennis O'Connell and Bayard Wharton of last year's track team won their heats in a tryout today for places on the four-man relay team that will represent the Crimson against Yale in the feature race of the program. This was said practically to assure the placing of these runners on the quartet.

George Bemis was elected captain of the Harvard cross-country team today.

Lawson After Promising Youngster.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—Hans Wagner, former "grand old man of baseball," is among the players desired by George Lawson for his new Continental League, it was learned here today. Wagner last year coached the Carnegie Tech squad and played on an all-star team bearing his name.

St. Ann's Academy Wins.

St. Ann's Academy basketball team defeated St. Patrick's A. A. last night on the former's court by a score of 28 to 14. Bross, Nolan and McColgan starred for St. Ann's, while O'Brien and Prickert did well for St. Patrick's.

VICTORY BY A NOSE

North Shore Colt Wins New Orleans Feature in Final Stride—Fizer Runs Second.

Special to the New York Times.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 20.—Running to his best form, the North Shore Stable's St. Allan gave the racegoers at the Fair Grounds here a mild surprise this afternoon by getting up in the last few strides to win a close decision in the Blue and Gray Handicap, a mile event that was the feature of the program. St. Allan nipped the long end of the purse from Fizer with just a nose to spare as he shot over the line, while Botheration was third.

As the race was run it appeared that Botheration was best and might have won with fair racing luck. He was totally unprepared when the barrier went up and was as good as left at the post, but closed fast enough to take third easily. Trooper, which was the favorite, proved a bitter disappointment and folded up like an opera hat when the real test came.

Trooper was away with a rush and held sway for six furlongs, with Vice Chairman running second. Both had enough at the three-quarter pole and retired as Fizer and St. Allan moved up, the former taking the lead at the head of the stretch. Fizer appeared to be the winner, but St. Allan closed with a rush in the final furlong, and, catching Fizer, raced him down and got his nose over in front. Botheration did not get a fair chance to run until reaching the stretch, when he found his way clear and disposed of the horses trailing.

There was another thrilling finish in the Diplomat Purse at a mile and a sixteenth, when Snapdragon II. got up in the last few strides to defeat Louis A. by a neck, with Dr. Carmen third. In this case, Snapdragon was the favorite and he gave his backers a few uneasy seconds in the stretch run when it looked as though he might not make up the ground in time. With his usual sluggishness at the start, Snapdragon was far out of it in the back stretch and did not appear to have a chance. Day of Peace and Mahoney were racing with each other in front. After trailing for six furlongs Snapdragon began to close up on the field and gradually improved his position. At the sixteenth pole he was right abreast of Dr. Carmen and Louis A. and the three fought it out. Dr. Carmen tired within sight of the finish, but the others hung on to the end, where the winner got a narrow advantage. Day of Peace and Mahoney were the trailers at the finish, having raced each other to pieces with their early pace.

George Starr led home a field of good sprinters in the third race at six furlongs, but had to be put to a drive to win by half a length from St. Isidore, with Ultra Gold third. The winner was in front all the way, but could have shake off St. Isidore, and was forced to take several lashes from the whip. St. Isidore was taken wide after the start, and was so badly ridden that he had little chance until the stretch was reached. Woodstock toppled off Liquid Fire as the barrier went up.

BUYS CHAMPION TROTTER.

William Crozier, Hartford Turfman, Purchases Peter L.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 20.—Word has come from W. H. Gocher, Secretary of the National Trotting Association, that William Crozier of this city has bought Peter L., the champion four-year-old trotting stallion of 1920, at Memphis, Tenn. The price is understood to have been about $15,000. Peter L. will be brought here.

Last year, in eleven races won, his best mark was 2:00¾.

Carter to Lead Cornell Harriers.

ITHACA, N. Y., Jan. 20.—C. C. Carter, a junior, who finished second in the Cornell-Oxford-Cambridge meet in England last month, was elected Captain of Cornell's 1921 cross country team today. Carter's home is in Rock Island, Ill.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 20.—Satisfaction is expressed by The Yale News today over the selection for a term of years of Tad Jones as university football coach. It says his time will be devoted "to building up a new Yale system," and "he will have time in which to build up a system such as has been utterly lacking since the days of Ted Coy."

HILDRETH HORSES SOLD TO SINCLAIR

Sam C. Hildreth, who for several years has raced one of the strongest stables in the East, has sold out his interest in the horses to his partner, Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate, it became known yesterday. The sale included the interest in all the horses which have been appearing under the Hildreth colors except Stromboli. Besides the three-year-olds and older horses there are nineteen two-year-olds in the lot. Hildreth will remain as trainer of the horses.

It is said that Sinclair will race the horses under the name of the Rancocas Farm, which is the Winter quarters for the majority of the string. This is to be the training ground as well as the breeding establishment for the Sinclair horses in future.

The most valuable, perhaps, of the horses involved in the sale is Inchcape, the youngster which was purchased last season for $150,000. Inchcape contracted a skin disease and had to be taken out of training, but is reported to be coming to hand now and it is expected he will be pointed for the Kentucky Derby. Grey Lag is another of the most promising of the three-year-olds and may also be a Derby candidate.

Other horses involved are Purchase, Lucullite, Mad Hatter, Thunderclap, Dominique and Cirrus.

OUTSIDER PAYS BACKERS.

Lenora P. Wins Havana Race and Yields $106 on Mutuel Ticket.

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 20.—Lenora P, showing startling improvement over recent efforts, sprang a surprise when she gained the decision in the fourth event at Oriental Park today. The daughter of Zeus-Boneda was a despised outsider in the betting, paying 20 to 1 in the books, while in the mutuel pool the price paid on a $2 ticket was $106.30, or $52.15 to $1.

The mare ran a very game race. She was in close quarters in the early part of the running. But she found an opening at the stretch turn and went into the lead, and just lasted to win by a length. Bianca, another long shot, was second. The favorite, Blazonry, finished sixth.

Belle of Elizabethtown, the favorite, scored her second victory of the meeting when she won the La Lucha Handicap, a sprint event at five and a half furlongs. She ran a remarkable race. The mare was away very poorly, but gradually made up lost ground, and won going away by three-quarters of a length.

The summaries:

FIRST RACE—Purse $700; for three-year-olds; claiming; six furlongs. Maricusa, 101 pounds (Lancaster), 3 to 1, 6 to 5 and 3 to 5, first; Molinero, 101 (Wilson), 6 to 1, 5 to 2 and 6 to 5, second; Sleepy Dear, 106 (Francis), 5 to 2, even and 1 to 2, third. DICKERSON TO MEET RICE.

Players Will Be Finalists in Belleair January Tournament.

Special to The New York Times.

BELLEAIR HEIGHTS, Fla., Jan. 20.—Dr. L. B. Dickerson of Clearwater defeated Burton Preston of Mansfield, Ohio, today in the Belleair January tournament by 2 up, and as a result will meet Grantland Rice of Englewood tomorrow in the final. Dickerson was 1 down at the ninth hole, but a birdie 3 won the tenth for him, and he also took the fourteenth when Preston missed a short putt. This gave him a lead of one and another win at the seventeenth settled matters by 2 up.

Rice had no trouble in disposing of W. Ingersoll of Rockford, Ill. He won three out of the first four holes, and gained a lead of 3 up, which was reduced to 2 at the seventh. Rice started a string of par holes at the tenth and ended the match at a 6 and 5 victory at the thirteenth after winning four in a row.

In the second sixteenth L. Beecher of Hillsboro defeated D. H. Worcester of Glenview by 4 and 3. E. A. Engler of Glenview defeated D. L. Robinson of Portage Lake by 6 and 5.

Dean Briggs of Harvard, Believes Outlay for Collegiate Sports is Excessive.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 20.—Football is given due credit for the potent part it plays in Harvard athletic life by Dean Le Baron R. Briggs, who in his annual report to the Harvard governing boards declares that the proceeds from the popular Fall sport not only helps support most of the other athletic activities but aids the university itself in the upkeep of its real estate holdings on which athletic games are played.

Dean Briggs finds expenditure for football good business. He believes, however, that it might be well for colleges to limit by agreement their expenses in preparing athletic teams. No matter however much one may wish for the day when only Harvard men may see their teams perform and then without admission charge, the Dean says, they are now faced by the reality that if it were not for football there would be not so much hope for other sports, and the students and the university itself would be the sufferer.

Depend on Gridiron Receipts.

"The Athletic Committee, through the graduate Treasurer, provides facilities for the prescribed athletics of the freshman class, for the practice and the games of thirty-seven teams engaged in intercollegiate athletics, and for the voluntary athletics of the university generally, or at least of those members who live in Cambridge. It gives facilities to some 2,000 persons of whom not more than a quarter can be members of teams; it provides costly boats and oars, all manner of athletic material, and no little additional instruction; it keeps the stadium in repair. For these many purposes the only considerable income is the sale of tickets for football games, and however much we may wish for a time when none but members of the university shall be admitted to games on university grounds and no charge shall be made for their admission, it is obvious that if the income from football were not exceedingly large, not merely the teams but the students generally and the treasury of the university would suffer.

"I am far from denying that the enormous popularity and the unpleasant publicity of college athletics have led to excessive expenditure in preparing teams for intercollegiate contests, and that it might be well for competing colleges to limit by agreement expenditure for this purpose; I am merely pointing out that the gate receipts from football are not used for 'gladiators' only, but may help to equip some of those very persons who are offended by the size of a crowd at the gate and the amount of money handled at the office of the Athletic Association.

Favors Coast Trips.

Talking about Harvard's transcontinental trip to play Oregon in football, Dean Briggs declared:

"Championships in college football are impossible, since means of comparison are totally inadequate. Far from claiming the 'championship of the world,' a team that barely tied Princeton would be impudent in claiming even the championship of the East—if such a thing existed. Oregon had a good team in the West; Harvard had a good team in the East. It was interesting to see how two teams so far apart would compare. Reporters did the rest.

"To some persons the mere thought of sending students across the continent to play football is disgusting; to others it means a desirable meeting of Eastern and Western youth in friendly and wholesome rivalry, which diminishes the provincialism of both. The game between an Eastern and a Western college at Pasadena, under the management of the Tournament of Roses, was not a new undertaking; it was new to Harvard."

Stewart to Coach Clemson Eleven.

GREENVILLE, S. C., Jan. 20.—B. J. Stewart of Lincoln, Neb., former football coach at the University of Nebraska, has accepted the position of athletic director and football coach at Clemson College, it was announced today by the college authorities. Stewart will begin his work here next month.

YALE AND HARVARD WINNERS AT SQUASH

Blue Players Defeat Princeton Club by 6 to 1 and Crimson Triumphs Over Crescent A. C.

ELIS IN SECOND PLACE

Cordier Has Interesting Match With Mixsell — Appel Scores Easy Victory Over Torrance.

METROPOLITAN LEAGUE SQUASH TENNIS STANDING, CLASS A.

Club.	Won.	Lost.	P. C.
Harvard	5	1	.833
Yale	4	2	.666
Columbia	3	2	.600
Crescent	2	4	.333
Princeton	0	5	.000

There were two club team matches in the continuation of the metropolitan squash tennis Class A tournament yesterday, the Yale Club winning from the Princeton Club team while the Harvard Club seven defeated the Crescent Athletic Club combination. As a result of the day's matches Yale took second place in the standing of the competing clubs, displacing the Columbia Club, which drops back to third place.

The Harvard Club's seven accounted for six out of the seven matches played in Brooklyn against the Half Moon team, the solitary victory scored by the Crescent team being that of K. F. McVaugh, who won from L. I. Grinnell by the scores of 18—15, 8—15 and 15—10 in a keenly contested match.

In the Yale Club match against the Princeton Club, Robert Monks tallied the only victory for the Tiger aggregation in his match with Stuyvesant Wainwright, which he won by scores of 18—17, 7—15 and 15—12. Three matches went to Yale by default. J. Taylor, A. W. Riley and Harold Tobey of the Princeton Club, who were to have met Thomas Coward, L. Platt and H. R. Stern, respectively, failed to put in an appearance, which meant that the Yale Club players had to win but one individual match to win the team match.

Cordier in Good Form.

Auguste J. Cordier of the Yale Club, the national champion, was the first of the sons of old Eli to score a victory. He met and in a most interesting and keenly contested game defeated Harold R. Mixsell, the mainstay of the Orange and Black. The score was 17—18, 15—12, 15—6. C. J. MacGuire took H. D. Harvey into camp to the tune of 9—15, 15—2 and 15—11. Like the other matches, it was so closely contested that it called for an extra game, but the Yale Club team added an extra score and made it still one more when D. S. Baker defeated Leonard Beekman.

The victory of Cordier over Mixsell is practically the first victory he has scored recently over a high-class player. Charles M. Bull of the Crescent Athletic Club, who met and defeated Cordier last week, on Thursday, was operated on for appendicitis last Saturday. Close followers of the sport were surprised that R. H. Monks defeated Stuyvesant Wainwright in their match, as the latter is generally conceded to be a far better player.

Women See Matches.

The Crescent Athletic Club opened its gallery to women last evening, and Mrs. Anderson Dana, who was one of those present had the opportunity to watch her husband play. It was the first time she ever saw him play, and his game happened to be quite different from the ordinary game he puts up. He played a defensive match for the greater part and won, but it was one of those three-game matches.

John W. Appel Jr. arrived quite late for his match with F. Torrance, but it did not take him long to win when he started in to play. The score was 15—6, 15—6. McVaugh's victory for the Crescent Athletic Club team was more due to the fact that L. I. Grinnell was way off in form more than anything else. Grinnell has had very little practice of late.

The summaries:

Yale Club 6, Princeton Club 1.

Auguste J. Cordier, Yale Club, defeated Harold R. Mixsell, Princeton Club, 17—18, 15—12, 15—6; T. Coward, Yale Club, won from J. Taylor, Princeton Club, by default; C. J. MacGuire, Yale Club, defeated H. D. Harvey, Princeton Club, 9—15, 15—2, 15—11; L. Platt, Yale Club, won from A. W. Riley, Princeton Club, by default; H. R. Stern, Yale Club, won from Harold Tobey, Princeton Club, by default; R. H. Monks, Princeton Club, defeated Stuyvesant Wainwright, Yale Club, 18—17, 7—15, 15—12; D. S. Baker, Yale Club, defeated Leonard Beekman, Princeton Club, 15—11, 15—10.

Harvard Club 6, Crescent A. C. 1.

Anderson Dana, Harvard Club, defeated R. E. Fisk, Crescent A. C., 15—8, 11—15, 15—9; F. M. Morrison, Harvard Club, defeated James Doig, Crescent A. C., 15—4, 15—11; John W. Appel Jr., Harvard Club, defeated N. F. Torrance, Crescent A. C., 15—6, 15—6; Ralph G. Coburn, Harvard Club, defeated Andrew Baxter Jr., Crescent A. C., 15—10, 5—15, 15—3; K. F. McVaughn, Crescent A. C., 15—8, 8—15, 15—10; F. S. Whitlock Club 18—15, 8—15, 15—10; A. H. Tomes, Harvard Club, defeated C. W. Dingee, Crescent A. C., 15—8, 8—15, 15—10; F. S. Whitlock, Harvard Club, defeated C. W. Dangler, Crescent A. C., 12—15, 15—12, 15—10.

NAVY ADDS TO SCHEDULE.

Midshipmen Will Meet Dartmouth and Tufts in Wrestling.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 20.—The Naval Academy wrestling schedule will contain teams from a greater variety of sections than ever before, due to the fact that many of its former opponents from comparatively nearby colleges failed to accept its invitation to wrestle this year. The latest additions are Dartmouth, which will have its team here Feb. 5, and Tufts, which will wrestle here March 5. Neither has sent its teams to Annapolis previously.

The other opponents of the navy team will be Pennsylvania State, University of Pennsylvania and University of West Virginia. Virginia Military Institute, which was expected to send its team, cannot do so, as the Board of Trustees of the institution objects.

PITT DECLINES OFFER.

Panthers Unable to Play California Eleven on Coast Next Fall.

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 20.—Karl L. Davis, graduate manager of athletics at the University of Pittsburgh, announced here today that he had rejected an offer made by the University of California to have the Panthers play at Berkeley on Oct. 22. He said that the offer was declined because the Pitt football schedule had been definitely decided upon for next year. Such a trip would necessitate the cancellation of two other games on the Pitt schedule and would make the players lose two or three weeks of school.

AUSTRALIANS WIN TITLE.

Defeat English Cricket Team Three Straight in Championship Series.

LONDON, Jan. 20. — The English cricket team which is touring Australia suffered a reverse in a series of five championship games there, the Australian team winning three consecutive victories. In the first game, played Dec. 17, Australia won by 377 runs, and in the second, played Dec. 31, Australia won by an inning and 91 runs, while in the third game, which was concluded today, Australia won by 119 runs.

Hoppe Prefers to Play 18.2 In Cue Match With Horemans

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 20. — Conditions under which Willie Hoppe, champion billiardist, will contest in a title match with Edouard Horemans of Belgium were made public tonight by R. B. Benjamin, the champion's manager. Mr. Benjamin asserted he would not agree to play two matches, as suggested by Horemans—one of 2,000 points at 18.1 balkline and one of 3,000 points at 18.2 balkline.

"Only one match, preferably the 18.2 balkline of not more than 1,000 points, will be played," Mr. Benjamin explained. "If Mr. Horemans sees fit thereafter to challenge for the 18.1 title that will be arranged later. The match must be winner take all the gate receipts and also must be for a stake of from $1,000 to $2,500." Mr. Benjamin added that the proposed contest would not be held before next Fall, as the champion has an extended exhibition tour to complete.

GIANTS SIGN TRIO OF YOUNG PLAYERS

Barcroft, Grodie and Burkett, Graduates of Polo Grounds School, Send in Contracts.

Secretary O'Brien of the Giants announced yesterday the receipt of the signed contracts of three young players, each of whom is believed to be worth the giving of at least three cheers and, perhaps, a tiger in addition. They are Robert C. Barcroft, an outfielder; Howard W. Burkett, an infielder, and Robert W. Grodie, a pitcher.

The chief cause for gladness in the Giants' encampment over the acquisition of this trio is that they have been already tried out and not found wanting. They are not ordinary recruits who have been press-agented, watched for a couple of games by a scout, and then taken on for a training camp test. They are the sole living survivors of a school conducted at the Polo Grounds last Autumn, and are thought to be real examples of the survival of the fittest.

When the Giants returned from their final Western tour of the season of 1920 they brought with them several promising prospective recruits, and summoned to New York hosts of others until between seventy-five and one hundred youngsters from college and other amateur nines, as well as from the ranks of the semi-pro and minor leagues, had been collected. Thereupon the Giants' kindergarten was founded, with an eminent faculty, consisting, at the outset, of Professor Evers, and later personally conducted by the eminent Dr. McGraw.

Sessions in Morning.

The sessions were held in the morning hours, and the players were put through all the paces they knew and a lot that they had never heard of before. Keen eyes were on the outlook for talent, either already developed or latent, and when the curriculum was over the student body was boiled down to exceedingly small size. In fact, it consisted of the three mentioned above.

Bob Grodie, the young twirler who has been signed, is a right hander who has been performing in semi-pro circles hereabouts with great success. He is a New York boy, and McGraw thought in the Fall that he recognized in him the possession of much promise.

Barcroft, the outfielder who has survived the stiff course, comes from Lawrence, Mass. He played last season with the New England Independent League, and is reported to have much prowess with the cudgel, as well as being a fast and accurate fielder.

The third of the recruits bears an eminent name and is believed to bear it worthily. This is Howard Burkett, who is a son of Jesse W. Burkett, recently coach at Holy Cross, and now attached to the Giants' organization in the capacity of coach. Up at Worcester the elder Burkett developed some players who have already made good in fast company and others who appear likely to uphold the tradition. Among these is Bill Ryan, the Giants' twirler, who was with Toronto a while last year.

McGraw Has Faith in Ryan.

Apropos of Ryan, McGraw expects great things of him in the coming season. He showed a wealth of stuff in the Spring of 1920, especially on the trip northward in the series with the Red Sox. He is the possessor of a freak delivery, in the course of which he seems to dig his thumb nail into the seam of the ball, the result being much the same as when the shine ball is used. The Sox didn't care much for the effect when it was used against them, and Bill Klem, who umpired the series, called for the ball many times in order to subject it to microscopic examination. He never found anything except thumb prints, however.

Young Howard Burkett is an infielder and carries himself, it is reported, like a regular ball player. He probably is, or else his father would never have raised him. These three youngsters will go South with the Giants' regulars and other recruits late next month.

Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, is expected to return to this city early next week from Dover Hall, where he has been with a hunting party of baseball officials, players and writers.

KERR WANTS MORE SALARY.

Southpaw Says $6,500 Is Too Little —White Sox Not Worried.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Jan. 20.—Dick Kerr, star left-hand pitcher of the Chicago American League Baseball Club, said over the long-distance telephone from his home in Paris, Texas, today, that he had returned a contract calling for a salary of $6,500, stating that he would not sign unless the figure is increased. He said he felt confident, however, that a satisfactory agreement would be reached.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—At the office of the Chicago White Sox today it was said that the officials were not worrying about the reported holding out of Dick Kerr. It was said that when Kerr signed his contract last year there was a clause which took care of the coming season. Officers said they were confident Kerr would be on hand when the club departs for training quarters.

CREWS BEGIN PRACTICE.

104 Candidates Report at University of California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—Crew practice, with 104 candidates for varsity and freshman crews, has been started by Coach Len Wallis of the University of California, it was announced today. Varsity men are at work on the rowing machines and the freshmen are being coached for crew work and will be given more arduous practice soon.

With Stanford University out of the Pacific regatta, the principal race locally will be with the University of Washington, and should California win it is probable that the crew will be sent to represent the West in the Intercollegiate Regatta at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

De La Salle Team Victorious.

De La Salle Institute's second basketball team met and defeated the second team of the McBurney School yesterday by the score of 14 to 11. It was the seventh victory for the De La Salle seconds, and the excellent work of Regan and Conroy proved to be the feature of the game.

EAGLE AND LEAK ARE CUE VICTORS

Defeat Servatius and Laubach in State Amateur Three-Cushion Tourney.

Two games were played yesterday in the continuation of the New York State amateur three-cushion billiard championship tournament at the National Recreation Academy. In the first George Eagle crossed cues with Louis A. Servatius and defeated him by a score of 30 to 25 in fifty-eight innings, both having high runs of four points.

The other game was between M. Leak and George Laubach. The former won by a score of 30 to 29, and it was one of the hardest fought competitions of the tournament. The game lasted for sixty-two innings and both had high runs of four points.

In the forty-seventh inning Laubach was the leader, the score at that time being 28 to 22. He needed only two more points to win, but Leak played a brilliant safety game which made it impossible for Laubach to score, while Leak managed to gain the necessary additional points to run out. Gus Gardner meets Laubach tomorrow and Harold Turk is scheduled to meet Robert Crespi.

PANTHERS LOSE CAPTAIN.

Brady, Leader of Pitt Baseball Team, Declared Ineligible.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Jan. 20—Gerald Brady, Yonkers, N. Y., Captain-elect of the 1921 baseball nine of the University of Pittsburgh, was today declared ineligible to play next Spring by the Athletic Council.

Brady, it was said, was disqualified for giving inaccurate information to the athletic authorities regarding his eligibility under the one-year residence rule of the university. Brady played second base.

BOSTON COLLEGE OUTCLASSES GREEN

Hub Ice Seven Holds Dartmouth Scoreless in a One-Sided Match—Wins 4 to 0.

Special to the New York Times.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Dartmouth's varsity hockey team was very much outclassed by Boston College at the Arena tonight, the local collegians winning, 4 to 0, and scoring two goals in the first and third periods of play. Boston College played better together as a team, keeping the play at Dartmouth's end of the rink practically throughout the entire match. Urban, the Boston goal keeper, had only four stops all evening.

In the first period Healy and Holmes counted with pretty shots for Boston College, and in the final period Garrity and then Curry broke through the Dartmouth defense for goals. The Dartmouth goal keeper was peppered with shots from one end of the match to the other. Dorney was the most effective Dartmouth player, but Boston soon covered him.

The summary:

BOSTON COL. (4).		DARTMOUTH (0).
Urban	G.	Neidlinger
L. Morrissey	F.	Dorney
F. Morrissey	C. P.	Foster
Garrity	L. W.	Ross
Hughes	C.	Rothchild
Curry	R.	Calder
Healy	R. W.	Perry

Goals—Healy, Holmes, Garrity, Curry.

Substitutions—Dartmouth: Sands for Perry, Perry for Sands, Furey for Rothchild, Palay for Calder, Smith for Ross.

Referees—Gaw and Doody. Goal umpires—Edwards and Larocca. Timekeepers—Kanaly and Murphy. Time of periods—Three of 15 minutes each.

Silver Outscores Grogan.

L. Silver defeated Charles Grogan yesterday by the score of 125 to 80 points in the continuation of the New York State pocket billiard tournament at Lawlor's Academy. Silver's high run was 42, while Grogan's was 14. The winner assumed the lead at the start and held it throughout. Arthur Church and Frank Quinn meet tonight in the continuation of the tournament.

LAYTON TO PLAY DE ORO.

Three-Cushion Champion Will Match Cues With Cuban Expert.

After prolonged negotiations, a billiard match that followers of the game have hoped might be brought about was consummated yesterday. John Layton of St. Louis, three-cushion champion, will meet Alfredo De Oro in a 300-point contest on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons of next week at Kline's Strand Academy for a purse, a side stake and the entire gate receipts.

De Oro is the only man who defeated Layton in the tournament at which the present titleholder won the championship by winning ten straight games after losing one to De Oro. In the final round-robin Layton wrested the crown from Robert Cannefax. After the championship tournament Layton triumphed in a series of contests with Clarence Jackson, James Maturo and Charles Otis. The only scratch on his otherwise clean record of victories was administered by De Oro, who, at the present time is rated by his admirers as being as good as ever, despite his recent retirement from active participation in the game.

NAVY ASKS FOR AIR STATION SITE AS GIFT

Sinking Fund Commission Hears Admiral Glennon's Request for 194 Acres of Rockaway Park.

MAYOR HYLAN DEMURS

Navy Won't Buy Because Improvements Costing $2,000,000 Have Already Been Made.

The Sinking Fund Commission was asked yesterday by Rear Admiral John H. Glennon, Commander of the Third Naval District, to deed to the navy the land at Rockaway Beach now being used as a naval air station. The land consists of 194 acres and is part of the Jacob Riis Park. It was bought by the city during the Mitchel Administration for $1,400,000. The Mayor thought this a high price to pay for land to be given away, and set next Thursday morning as the time to hold a public hearing on the matter.

Dock Commissioner Hulbert, while not opposing the plan to turn the land over to the navy, thought the Federal Government should pay something for it. He admitted that the Navy Department had been the only Federal department that had done anything for the city in return for what the city had done during the war. He cited the fact that Secretary of War Baker had just decided against the city in the matter of pier extensions on the Hudson River and had ordered the extensions to be removed by May 1.

"He's going out of business on March 4, is he not?" inquired Chamberlain Berolzheimer.

"Bet your life he is," responded the Dock Commissioner, "and many people are glad of it."
